CC to host fall play on December 2, 3

The Clarendon College Theatre Department will present their fall production "When We Dead Awaken" on Wednesday and Thursday, December 2 and 3, in the Harned Sisters Auditorium.

Performances each night will begin at 7:30 p.m., with doors open at 7:00.

This is the last play written by Norwegian dramatist Henrik Ibsen. Published in 1899, the play features an artist who made a poor decision - he gave up his muse. Now with a wife who does not interest him, he happens to stay in the same hotel as his muse. As the husband and wife drift apart, can the artist rekindle the spark?

Starring in this production are Yaneth Acosta of Canadian; Rhoan Cox of Skellytown; Char-mayne Hampton of Wheeler; Dar-ianne Harper of Shamrock; Angel Paniagua of Grand Prairie; and Debora De La Rosa of Memphis.

State shot clinic to be held on Dec. 10

The Texas Department of State Health Services will hold an Immunization Clinic in Clarendon on December 10 at the Burton Memorial Library from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Courthouse lighting, chili cookoff this Saturday

The Christmas season will start in a big way in Clarendon this week-end with merchant sales, the lighting of the Courthouse, and the third annual Chili Challenge.

Local merchants are ready to help you find something for everyone on your Christmas list with their Black Friday and Small Business Saturday specials on November 27 and 28. Details on local sales were printed in the Holiday Gift Guide included in last week's Clarendon Enterprise and now available at ClarendonLive.com.

Small Business Saturday began in 2010 when American Express founded it to help small businesses get more exposure during one of the biggest shopping weekends of the year.

According to small business advocates, every $100 spent in locally-owned stores returns $68 to the local community through taxes, payrolls, and other expenditures. That same money spent in another town returns nothing to your local community.

Saturday's highlight will be the second annual Courthouse Lighting Celebration, beginning at 5 p.m. with an appearance by Santa Claus and caroling featuring local children's groups. The formal lighting will be at 6 p.m.

The Clarendon Chamber of Commerce invites everyone to visit local merchants following the Courthouse Lighting to close out Small Business Saturday and participate in the third annual Great Bowls of Fire Chili Challenge with a chance to win $250 in Clarendon Cash.

Chili Challenge ballots and a list of participating merchants will be available for $5 each from the Clarendon Visitor Center at Mulkey Theatre immediately following the Courthouse Lighting. Chili tasters then visit each of the participating merchants to sample the chili in their stores, have their ballot stamped, and cast vote for their favorite chili. The merchant with the most votes will get bragging rights and a handsome plaque, and the ballot of one lucky taster will receive $250 in Clarendon Cash from the Chamber.

Also on Saturday night, the VFW Ladies Auxiliary will hold a soup dinner at the Clarendon Lions Hall for $5 per person featuring homemade chicken noodle or potato soup and regular or jalapeno cornbread.

Shop at home this holiday season and remember the important role your local merchants play in keeping your community strong.

Fire damages Hedley home

A Hedley couple's home suffered major damage last Wednesday, November 18, when a fire broke out in the master bedroom.

Emergency personnel were dispatched at 8:55 a.m. to the home of Jerry and Pat Farris in the 400 block of Line Avenue.

Hedley volunteer firemen knocked down the fire, and Clarendon firefighters also responded.

Clarendon Fire Chief Jeremy Powell said officials could not determine what started the fire and said fire damage was mostly in the master bedroom and a bathroom.

The rest of the home suffered major smoke and heat damage, he said.

The Farris were not home at the time of the blaze. Four Clarendon firemen entered the home to make sure it was not occupied.

The family did lose a dog, a cat, and a bird in the fire, Powell said.

CC regents approve project to cool gym $1.2 million job will replace aging equipment and conserve energy

Clarendon College Regents last week approved a $1.2 million project to heat and cool the Bulldog Gym and upgrade other equipment around campus to result in a net energy savings.

During their regular meeting November 19, regents listened to the final report on a proposal from Trane that will replace heating and cooling systems in the Bairfield Activity Center, the Harned Sisters Fine Arts Center, and the Courson Ranch Operations Center.

"Much of this equipment is original to the buildings," said CC President Robert Riza. "Some of it is as much as 47 years old. Parts are not readily available and replacing it piecemeal is not as efficient as one big project."

The project will also replace boilers in Vaughan and Phelan Halls and update control systems to allow resident hall students greater ability to adjust temperatures in their dorm rooms.

The centerpiece of the project will be air-conditioning and heating the Bulldog Gym, also known as the "Dawg House." The 1968 gymnasium was not built with later summer/fall sports like volleyball in mind, and the lack of a good ventilation system creates sweltering conditions for student athletes and spectators alike.

Riza said air-conditioning the gym is good for the safety of student athletes and also will give the college the opportunity to utilize the gym for playoffs and ball camps.

Trane's engineers estimate that even with adding the cost of cooling the gym, Clarendon College will net more than $30,000 in annual energy savings from upgrading HVAC and lighting systems on campus as well as adjusting some plumbing fixtures to be more efficient.

The project will start with upgrading exterior lighting fixtures, and work should begin on that phase before students return to class for the spring semester, Riza said. The remainder of the project should be completed before the start of the fall semester.

The college will utilize financing through Trane to pay for the project over ten years. Riza said the college's existing budget line item for equipment replacement will cover the annual payment, and CC still has contingency funds if something unexpected breaks down.

"We know as soon as we do this, something we didn't replace will fail," Riza said jokingly.

The Riza administration has been working with Trane for several months on this proposal, and a committee appointed by the Board of Regents in October reviewed and prioritized plans prior to last week's meeting.

"This is the start of getting a lot of our equipment updated," Riza said. "It's already in the budget, but this will allow us to get ahead and plan for the next phase of improvements."

In other college business, the board approved bids on delinquent tax property as presented by the Donley Appraisal District and approved a motion to give the college district's support to electing Edwin Campbell to the appraisal district board.

Regents also authorized spending $66,397 in grant funds to purchase nursing equipment and, in a separate agenda item, awarded a contract to RunBiz for the purchase and installation of 127 Dell computers for $110,529, a project that will replace about one-fourth of CC's computers.

In personnel, the board ratified the hiring of Brent Childers to oversee the college's new Industrial Maintenance program and the promotions of Tex Buckhaults as the Executive Vice President of Academic & Student Affairs and Daniel Trejo as the Director of Vocational Nursing starting in January.

CEDC purchases former steakhouse building

The Clarendon Economic Development Corporation has purchased the former Clarendon Steakhouse building at the corner of US 287 and Kearney Street.

CEDC Executive Director Jack King said the deal was closed last week for a final price just over $30,000.

"It is not our intent to keep the building but rather to attract a business to go in there," King said, noting the CEDC hopes to work with someone on a lease-purchase agreement.

The CEDC Board approved purchasing the building in October and this month approved a proposal from J. Ferg Roofing to replace the roof of the building for $34,820.

"We're going to put a new roof on it to prevent any structural damage," King said. "Then our intent would be to work with Texas Tech University to put the front back to something in keeping with the historic look of downtown."

Earlier this month the CEDC contracted with the Texas Tech College of Architecture to perform digital scans of Clarendon's central business district as the first step in creating a master plan for downtown.

King said he has conducted interviews with people potentially interested in placing a business at the location but no deal has been formally proposed or finalized.

"This location should not just be considered as a possible restaurant," King said. "Any type of business could be located there."

Mary and Bubba Ford family operated the Clarendon Steakhouse in the building for about 15 years. Before that, the Clifford family had a grocery store in the location for several decades.

King said this project is being funded by Clarendon's half-cent economic development sales tax.

For more information or to inquire about the property, contact King in the Clarendon Visitor Center at 806-874-2421.

WARNING: The following column is an editorial (i.e. an opinion, a point of view) and may contain ideas with which some readers may freely disagree.

Support local merchants this season

Continuing a tradition, our family has again set the goal of getting as much of our Christmas shopping done right here at home this Friday and Saturday.

Always remembering which side our bread is buttered on, our intention is to make 90 percent or more of our purchases from local merchants – the men and women who support our community and our newspaper.

editor's commentary
by roger estlack

The ENTERPRISE has always supported the “shop at home” theme and encourages people to “be loyal and buy local” whenever it is possible. And likewise, our local merchants have always gone out of their way to try to make shopping Clarendon attractive and fun.

It's easy really. Our merchants are playing off the national trend of promoting Black Friday and Small Business Saturday and have prepared some really nice sales and promotions for this weekend. Those deals were printed in the ENTERPRISE's annual Holiday Gift Guide last week; and if you missed it, you can still find it online at ClarendonLive.com.

Why spend the money on gas, the time on the road, and the Tylenol on the big city headaches when you can stay Clarendon this weekend and park right in front of your favorite store, be greeted by the business man or woman who knows your first name, and find great gifts for great prices? Stay home and be pleasantly surprised by the selections, the savings, and the service that you can get right here in Clarendon.

Your local merchants are the ones who pay taxes here to support your city, county, college, school, and ambulance service. They are the ones who pony up every time a kid comes in raising money for the third or fourth “worthy cause” this week, and then when they go to the grocery store, they will dig into their pocket and find money for the cookies or pies at the bake sale of the week.

The money we spend in Amarillo pretty much stays in Amarillo. It pays for streets in Amarillo, supports their dream of a new baseball stadium, and supports their schools and their kids. It doesn't come home, it doesn't keep the lights on in our school, and it doesn't keep our senior citizens centers running.

This is not to say it's bad to shop in Amarillo, but rather it is to say that we need to think about our purchases. It makes a difference when you shop at home. It is simple economics, and it is common sense. The more you spend in Donley County, the more our local businesses can put right back into the local economy.

We all win when we shop at home.

With our heartfelt thanks...

We would like to take this time to thank those of you who make this newspaper possible and therefore keep food on our table and shoes on our kids.

As always my wife, Ashlee, deserves a huge thanks for all she does to keep me going and for all the behind the scenes things she does for this newspaper. She's a part-time writer, part-time editor, part-time photographer, and full-time thinker and sounding board. Then in her free time she works full time at the college and does a great job as the mother of two wonderful kids, who are working to become journalists in their own rights – Ben with his Cub Reporter column and Ella with her camera.

Our staff deserves special recognition also. Tara Allred and Morgan Wheatly keep things humming and keep your editor lined out. Their work and talent makes my job easier without a doubt.

Our contributors – Sandy Anderberg, Kari Lindsey, Alice Cobb, Peggy Cockerham, Kathy Spier, and Bob Watson – are our extra hands and help us cover a whole range of subjects that we couldn't get done without them. We thank each of them for their parts in making this a paper that does its best to cover all of Donley County.

And of course we have a host of volunteers who provide us occasional photos and articles. It is all these folks – both paid and non-paid – who truly put the “community” in our community newspaper.

And last but certainly not least, we salute our readers and advertisers. Without them, there is no Enterprise, and from the bottom of our hearts we thank them for their continued trust, faith, and support. We will continue to do everything we can to be deserving of all of you who have made it possible for this paper to deliver the news as it has for more than 137 years.

Thank you all very much. We are proud to serve Donley County, and we are thankful to call this place “home.”

The best season of all to visit Branson

Americans searching for “musical mountains” – and clean programming in the range of “hound's tooth” hygiene – agree on one destination: Branson, Missouri.

For more than a half century, the Ozarks have been enlivened by hundreds of musical groups migrating to Branson. Most bands are full-blown – with fiddles, of course, and their massive impact on the mountains nearby might overwhelm mere hills. At the very least, Branson is the Sound of Music on steroids.

With more than 100 venues now seating from a few dozen to a few thousand, Branson offers world-class family entertainment devoid of “blue” humor. Deer and antelope on Texas prairies have heard more discouraging words than visitors hear in Branson. Repeat visitors – and most of them are – know it's safe to bring children and grandchildren along. What happens in Branson is likely to be repeated again and again back home, and that's okay....

Like hunters pursuing anything that will run from ‘em and fishermen contending that good days for fishing are any when they've got lines in the water, visitors are attracted to Branson throughout the year.

Personally, I'd suggest the period between Halloween and Christmas to be best.

Rolling into Branson about this time – and most visitors arrive in cars and buses – “ooing” and “ahing” at beautiful fall foliage is common.

We found it so during the long weekend prior to Veterans' Day. Branson already had begun its transformation to Christmas, and veterans were there by the thousands. We saw numerous “gimme” caps atop veterans of all ages from throughout the country. One vet, wearing a cap with a Spanish-American war patch, said it was a “hand-me-down.” At every show – and we saw seven during our 60-hour visit – veterans were warmly recognized, awash in prolonged, well-deserved ovations....

the idle american
by don newbury

Much was “retro,” and that's good. At the Andy Williams' Moon River Theater, the annual Christmas Spectacular included performances by two Osmond Brothers and the Lennon Sisters, all dazlers in holiday wear.

SIX features half-a-dozen brothers with enough musical “savvy” to sound orchestral. And, their finale features their widower dad at the piano and several of the six guys' children in a chorus line. (The SIX group has four siblings. They, too, are male, but perhaps non-musical?)

The Sons of the Pioneers, organized in 1934, initially included a singer named Leonard Slye. (Later, he was better known as Roy Rogers, “king of the cowboys” in old-west movies.) Continuously performing for 81 years, the group has had fewer than four dozen “regulars” across the years. “Little brother” Tommy Nallie was kidded by older brother Luther, who retired a few months back after 45 years with the group. Luther joked about changing Tommy's baby diapers. Now, it's Tommy's turn. He says, “Now I change Luther's diapers.”...

We enjoy repeated visits to Pierce

Arrow, A Tribute to John Denver and the immitable violinist, Shoji Tabuchi.

Tabuchi, the “showman's showman,” is now a grandfather, but is still up for two shows most days. Recalling his move eastward long ago from California, the colorful entertainer – who speaks Japanese far more fluently than English – admits he was initially buffaloed by expressions unique to our part of the world.

“I had breakfast in Chickasha, OK,” he said. “As I headed for the door, I heard the cashier say, ‘Y'all come back.’ So I did.”...

At the Welk Theater, The Million-dollar Quartet is featured. The Tony Award winning play has a refreshing twist. It centers on a certain night in 1956 when Sam Phillips of Sun Records secretly recorded a jam session featuring Elvis Presley, Johnny Cash, Carl Perkins and Jerry Lee Lewis. (It also is playing in Las Vegas and Chicago at much higher prices, of course. And, it's hard to imagine any performance that would top Branson's.)

“Lewis,” who plays the piano brilliantly – even with his feet – never tires of athletic moves. He brings to mind the old line Bob Murphey used to describe Elvis' “movements.” He joked, “When our hound dogs wiggled around like that, we gave ‘em worm medicine.”

There's a bunch more in Branson and the Ozarks – all very much alive – with venues priced to attract families. Oh, you can pay much more at other destinations. But, why?....

Showcasing impact of shopping small

By Yolanda Garcia Olivarez, SBA

As the voice for our nation's entrepreneurs, the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) celebrates small businesses on a daily basis. When our small businesses do well, our communities do too. Therefore, as part of our annual tradition, I encourage you to join millions of Americans and “shop small” on Small Business Saturday®, Nov. 28. Small businesses represent the dynamic demographics of the United States, encompassing everyone from your mom and pop shops to your neighborhood's recently opened specialty boutique or traditional manufacturer.

On the heels of Black Friday, shopping small is a concrete way to support small businesses – the same businesses that generate two of every three net new jobs, and deliver essential goods and services to America's communities 365 days a year. Shopping small packs a big punch to the U.S. economy. Last year, there were 88 million consumers “Shopping Small” on Saturday. 77% of consumers said Small Business Saturday® inspires them to “Shop Small” through the year and not just for the holidays. In addition, 66% of consumers state the main reason they support small businesses is because of their contributions to the community.

You can do your part with these six simple steps:

1. If you're a business owner, make sure you're prepared for the holiday season by checking out helpful advice at <http://www.sba.gov/smallbusinessaturday>.
2. If you're a customer, commit to making at least one purchase from a locally-owned small business retailer. Get to know the owner, and make your gift more meaningful by sharing their story as part of what you give your loved ones.

3. Also, after a day of shopping I encourage you to continue to support small businesses by dining small at your favorite small business restaurant.

4. Enjoy the experience. Travel outside your comfort zone – and away from your computer screen – to discover an out-of-the ordinary shopping district with some trendy local stores.

5. Take part in Small Business Saturday® on social media, using the hashtag #SmallBizSat, #ShopSmall and #DineSmall to amplify your support. If you find a great small business retailer with unique products, Tweet or Facebook your find so others can enjoy it too.

6. When you open your gifts, start a conversation about which one came from the most distinctive and creative sellers. This can make for great debate over egg nog or your holiday drink of choice.

I know I'll be shopping small with my friends and family on Saturday, Nov. 28. I encourage you to do the same – and remember that “shop small” refers to whom you buy from, and not how much you buy!

DPS urges responsible, sober during Thanksgiving

AUSTIN – The Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) is urging Texans to always celebrate responsibly and to make safe driving habits a priority during the heavily travelled Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

“As Texans travel to be with family and friends this Thanksgiving season, we urge all drivers to use extra caution on roadways and always drive sober,” said DPS Director Steven McCraw.

“The increased traffic and potential for inclement weather and impaired driving can make holiday travel especially challenging, and DPS troopers will be working non-stop to keep the roads safe for everyone.”

DPS troopers will be patrolling Texas roadways throughout the holiday weekend looking for drunk drivers, speeders, seat belt violators and other drivers who are endangering themselves and others.

During the Thanksgiving weekend in 2014, DPS troopers arrested 242 individuals for driving while intoxicated, issued 5,223 speeding citations, 682 citations for no insurance and 599 seat belt/child safety seat citations. DPS patrols also resulted in 135 fugitive arrests and 97 felony arrests during the same time period.

DPS offers the following tips for safe travel during the Thanksgiving holiday:

- Don't drink and drive. Designate a driver or take a cab.
- Slow down – especially in bad weather, construction areas and heavy traffic.

- Eliminate distractions, including the use of mobile devices.

- Buckle up everyone in the vehicle – it's the law.

- Slow down or move over for police, fire, EMS and Texas Department of Transportation vehicles and tow trucks that are stopped on the side of the road with emergency lights activated – it's the law.

- Don't drive fatigued – get plenty of rest before trips or take breaks as needed.

- Drive defensively, as holiday travel may present additional challenges.

- Make sure your vehicle is properly maintained before your trip begins.

Pass on scam tips to others

Hi, gang! Merry Christmas! God has blessed us with this great country. We must thank Him by working to bring our country back to a God fearing nation. Remember to say Merry Christmas. Be careful the thieves and scammers are active. It is much safer to shop local now, due to the car thieves operating in Amarillo's parking lots. Two stories this week. One with a suggestion and one warning for our Veterans.

“Pass it on’ at the holidays” by Lisa Weintraub Schifferle, Attorney, FTC.

Home for the holidays? This year, when you pass the turkey, latkes, or veggies, why not also pass on your knowledge about avoiding scams? You know a lot about scams. Sharing what you know can help protect someone who you know from a scam. That’s why the FTC created Pass It On – articles, presentations, bookmarks, activities, and a video – all designed to help you talk about scams and how to prevent them. There’s something for everyone at your holiday gathering.

For your generous uncle, who can’t say no to anyone, pass on your knowledge about charity fraud. Remind him: Take your time. Tell callers to send information by mail before you’ll donate.

Never give to charities by wiring money or sending a prepaid card. For your older niece who is convinced that any day a sweepstakes will change her life, remind her about scams that claim you’ve won something. Share this advice: Keep your money – and financial information – to yourself. Never wire money in order to claim a prize or winning. And everyone can benefit from talking about identity theft. Remind your friends and family to protect personal information, read monthly statements, and check credit reports at www.annualcreditreport.com.

“Veterans: Don’t let scammers bilk your benefits” by Carol Kando-Pineda, Counsel, FTC’s Division of Consumer & Business Education

According to the U.S. Census Bureau, the nation had more than 9.3 million veterans aged 65 and older in 2013. For most of us, Veterans Day means a time to thank all our former service members. But it’s a sad truth that scammers operate out of greed, not gratitude. Not-so-honest people target older veterans and their families to cheat them out of their hard-earned benefits.

In one type of scam, unscrupulous advisers claim to offer free help with paperwork for pension claims. But these attorneys, financial planners, and insurance agents persuade veterans over 65 to make decisions about their pensions without giving them the whole truth about the long-term consequences. They tell veterans to transfer their assets to a trust – or to invest in insurance products – so they can qualify for Aid and Attendance benefits.

What they don’t say? The transaction could cause the veterans to lose eligibility for Medicaid services or the use of their money for a long time.

For veterans experiencing cash flow trouble, there’s a different pitfall. Some companies offer an advance on your pension to get you the funds you need fast. You sign over your monthly pension checks for, say, five or 10 years, in exchange for a lump sum payment of a lesser amount. Pension advances aren’t a cheap way to get cash; fees can be high. And what’s more, the company often requires retirees to buy a life insurance policy – with the pension advance company named as the beneficiary – to make sure that the repayments continue.

If there are veterans in your life, fill them in about these scams. Encourage them to pass it on to their friends, family, and community to help more veterans dodge a bad deal.

There’s more at Pass It On, but why stop there? The FTC has lots of other helpful free information to share at the holidays: For a kid who just got a tablet or smartphone, tips about online safety. Find advice about starting that conversation in Net Cetera: Chatting with Kids About Being Online.

For that young adult heading out on her own – or for anyone who wants to get a better handle on her finances in the new year – share the FTC’s budgeting worksheet.

For your Spanish-speaking friends and family, share tips from www.ftc.gov/pasalo and www.ftc.gov/consumidor. This holiday season, no matter how you celebrate, when you pass the gravy, pass on your knowledge about scams and consumer safety.

Stay safe out there!

Amanda and Chuck Robertson.

Dog gobbles up Thanksgiving turkey

Happy Thanksgiving, everyone! After 62 years of marriage Ole Jim and I have celebrated many Thanksgivings together, and in the first 20 years of marriage, we spent many apart because of his commitment to the Air Force. In looking back I don’t remember the day of a perfect meal. What I remember are the disasters. I’ve told the story of “the day the dog ate the turkey,” but I may have some new readers, and it needs telling again.

This was the year 1965, Ole Jim was enjoying the wonders of the Far East, the four kids and I lived near my Mother and I cooked the turkey, a perfect bird. We were planning to celebrate the day at her house along with other family members, about 15 in total. As we drove up everyone grabbed an arm load from the car with plans to bring the turkey inside on my last trip.

The car doors were all left open; and a sneaky, mangy, homeless, stray dog grabbed that turkey out of the car and was seen dragging it across the dry Texas yard. I remember screaming, yelling, chasing and my Mother with a big stick running that dog off the turkey and proclaiming, “We may not eat that bird but neither will you!”

Mom and I looked at each other, wondering what we will do to replace the turkey; and she pulled from the freezer a chicken. The photos we sent to Ole Jim showed the group standing around a table laden with food, the focal point was a three pound chicken.

Then there was the year I had

read about putting the bird in the oven the night before and cooking him at a low temperature and our son waking us up about 4 a.m. to a house full of smoke. There was also the pie made with Sweet and Low – a disaster folks; don’t try that.

One thing I look forward to all year is homemade cornbread dressing made with turkey drippings. Our last disaster was a turkey smoked on our smoker and dressing made with those drippings. We may have gone away hungry that year. At one point, our family were all away and we decided to eat at the Cracker Barrel in Amarillo. On the way home it was decided if we only had two people we would cook our own food because it wasn’t the same and we didn’t have any leftovers.

If you have a kitchen disaster this year, give thanks anyway and know you will be telling that story at your table years from now.

Things to be thankful for

This year I am thankful for my family and friends that play with me and help me. I am also thankful for having good parents that take care of me. They get me toys, clothes, and food. They also take very good care of me when I am sick. I am also thankful for my sister for playing with me. I am also thankful for having good cousins that are always home to play with me and they take care of me sometime.

A Blood Thinner Reversal Drug Approved

The Food and Drug Administration recently approved the first medication, to reverse the effects of the blood thinner drug, Pradaxa (dabigatran). It is called Praxbind (idarucizumab). The new drug is used to help manage atrial fibrillation, a condition of abnormal heart beat. People with atrial fibrillation have an increased risk of developing blood clots which can lead to a stroke. Pradaxa blocks the formation of a necessary step required to create a clot. Blood thinners have an increased risk of bleeding. This new reversal agent Praxbind is used to help manage bleeding events and may be used before emergency surgery to help reduce the risk of bleeding.

The results of one clinical study showed that Praxbind reversed the effects of Pradaxa in almost ninety percent of the subjects who needed emergency surgery or experienced bleeding while taking Pradaxa. It blocks the binding of Pradaxa to the receptors it needs to function and thereby reduces the risk of bleeding.

CHS engineering team wins area competition

Clarendon High School physics students recently competed against one another to see who could make the smallest device capable of protecting an egg from breaking after a twenty-foot fall onto concrete.

Their practice competition paid off handsomely as one of the teams walked away with the top prize in the Don Harrington Discovery Center's area engineering competition against more than forty 11th/12th grade teams.

Briley Chadwick, Ana Araujo, Mackenzie Roark, Kelsey McAneer, and Sterling King used a discarded Pringles' can, the tube from a paper towel roll, and paper to produce the winning project against some of the area's top engineering students.

There were teams from Lubbock, Palo Duro, Dumas, Highland Park, Canyon, and other schools who sought first place in the second annual meet organized by the Discovery Center and the Texas Association of Minorities in Engineering (TAME).

"I'm very proud of the girls for their hard work and ingenuity," said sponsor Bruce Howard. "All the students did a good job of initial design, testing, and then making adjustments that led to better projects."

Of the six Clarendon teams who competed, three had successful designs that kept the egg unbroken during the fall.

"Since only about one out of seven designs actually protected the egg during the competition I would say all of our students did very well compared to other schools," Howard said.

Physics students next get to construct balsa wood bridges in the school's annual contest for bridge strength conducted next month.

CHS students Briley Chadwick, Mackenzie Roark, Kelsey McAneer, and Ana Araujo show off their first place medals.

CISD recognizes servant leaders

Clarendon CISD has recognized 12 students as its October Servant Leaders. These students were chosen by their teachers because they displayed the characteristics of being servant leaders. For example, they are respectful to adults and peers through their manners, often assist classmates with difficult material many times voluntarily, are the first to help clean messes or pick up areas, encourage others and ensure that all have an opportunity to assist in group projects, include their peers and make new students feel welcome, and work hard to succeed in whatever they are doing. Students recognized at Clarendon Elementary are Kindergarten-Bruce Campbell, 1st grade-

Shaun Boatwright, 2nd grade- Kyler Bell, 3rd grade- Tandie Cummins, 4th grade- Avery Halsey, and 5th grade-Taylor Halsell. Clarendon Junior High servant leaders are 6th grade-Josiah Howard, 7th grade-Malerie Simpson, and 8th grade-Tanner Burch. Clarendon High School's Servant Leaders are 9th grade-Noah Elam, 10th grade-Andy Davis, 11th grade-Cire Jauregui, and 12th grade-Chesson Sims. We are all faced with choices everyday, and servant leaders make decisions that signal a willingness to put the needs of others first. Clarendon CISD joins with these students' families in saying, "Congratulations, and we are very proud of you and your decisions."

Clarendon Elementary Students are (back) Tandie Cummins, Taylor Halsell, Avery Halsey, (front) Kyler Bell, Bruce Campbell, and Shaun Boatwright.

Lady Colts travel to Quanah

The seventh and eighth grade Lady Colts traveled to Quanah last Thursday night and despite playing hard, suffered two losses. The seventh grade lost 22-34 and the eighth grade narrowly lost at 22-25. The seventh grade Lady Colts trailed early, but came storming back in the second quarter of play to close the gap to two points. But the second half belonged to Quanah, as they were able to pull away from the Lady Colts. Zhala Bassett led the ladies on the board with eight points and Ashlynn Newsome put in six. Jade Benson helped with five and Amnesty Oatman added one. The eighth grade Lady Colts were led by Kira Weatherton with eight, Raynee Newsome and Darcie Hunsaker each with five, and Madisen Gay with four. The Lady Colts played a strong first half and only trailed by two points at the break. But Quanah came out on fire and took a six-point lead in the third quarter. The Lady Colts worked their way back, but ran out of time. "I was very proud of both the seventh and eighth grade teams' effort," coach Carrie Hicks said. "They fought hard, but just had a difficult time shutting down Quanah's offense. We definitely know what to work on." Both Lady Colt teams will travel to Shamrock December 7 and play at 5:00 p.m.

Clarendon Junior High servant leaders are Tanner Burch, Malerie Simpson, and Josiah Howard.

Colts split games with Quanah

The Clarendon Colts lost one and won one against the Quanah Indians at home Thursday, November 19. The seventh grade lost 21-35 and the eighth grade won 21-8. The seventh grade Colts suffered a slow-scoring second quarter that put them in a hole and allowed Quanah to go up by 10 points at the break. From there the Colts held their own, but gave up too many points to recover. "I was very proud of the seventh grade," coach Brad Elam said. "I thought they played a good game. We still have a lot to learn but for their first game, it was very positive." Scoring: Aaron Roys 9, Ivan Gonzalez 8, and Chase Gwinn 4. Also playing for the Colts are Gain Hall, Travis Thomas, Ethan Babcock, and Tyler Paul. The eighth grade Colts shut down anything the Indians tried defensively and found a rhythm on the offensive side. Jamal Butler played solid and turned in nine points, and Clay Ward had six to lead the Colts. Zane Sneathen put in four and Trent Smith added two. The Colts began slow, but stormed back in the second quarter while holding the Indians to only one point. They picked up after the break and repeated their performance to take a commanding lead to get the win. "The eighth grade played well," Elam said. "Defensively, I thought the kids played outstanding. Offensively, we struggled to score at times and need to work on some things. But overall, the kids played hard and showed improvement from last year." The Colts will play Shamrock at home December 7 beginning at 5:00 p.m.

Clarendon High School's Servant Leaders are Cire Jauregui, Noah Elam, Andy Davis, and Chesson Sims.

Lady Bronco JV loses by eight

The Lady Bronco junior varsity went up against Highland Park on the road last Friday night and fell short at 29-37. Defensively, the ladies played well, but struggled offensively keeping their momentum going. The Lady Broncos only trailed by one point at the end of the first seven minutes and overtook the Lady Hornets by two at the break. A slow third quarter derailed the ladies offensively, and HP was able to regain the lead. "We played hard, but fell off offensively," coach Kasey Bell said. "Sandrea (Smith) got in foul trouble, but still had 16 points. We will work on our defense in practice to clean it up and also our offensive execution." Smith led the ladies with 16, Emily Johnson had five, Allyson Hogan put in four and Brandalyn Ellis and Zaryia each had two. The Lady Broncos will play River Road Tuesday, December 1, at home at 4:00 p.m and then participate in the RR Tournament December 3-5.

Bronco JV lights up the Hornets

The Bronco junior varsity left little doubt to how their 2015-16 basketball season will go as they easily defeated Highland Park 51-14 last Friday night. Inside man Isaac Dunham led the team with 15 points, while Payton Havens helped with 11 and Noah Elam racked up 10. The Broncos took off running when their feet hit the court and never looked back. They scored 17 points the first quarter while holding their opponent to two points. Their defensive attack was strong throughout the third quarter of play holding the Hornets to single digits. "It was the first game of the season," coach Alton Gaines said. "The boys played hard. I was really impressed how they responded with this being most of these guy's first high school action as a basketball player. All in all, job well done as a team defensively and offensively." Finishing out the scoring was Ryan Ward 8, Preston Elam 4, Caton Grahn 2, and Daquanwe Oliver 1. The Broncos will play River Road at home Tuesday, December 1 at 5:00 pm and play in the Borger Tournament December 3-5.

Broncos annihilate Hornets in season opener

By Sandy Anderberg

Five Broncos finished in double figures in their season opener on the road at Highland Park last Friday night.

Senior Junior Cenicerros led the Broncos on the scoreboard with 14 points, and Chance Lockhart and Bryce Grahn finished with 11 each. Colt Wood and Damarjae Cortez each finished with 10 points in the win.

According to coach Brandt Lockhart, the Broncos played hard in their first outing.

"I thought we played well in our first game," he said. "We did a good job on defense, but we still need to improve. The only negative we had in the game was too many turnovers."

The Broncos jumped on the Hornets early going up by 31 points in the first half of play. The Bronco defense played like a well-oiled machine holding HP to one point in the second quarter and one point in the third.

Freshman Bear Smith finished the game with six points but made a great showing under the basket grabbing 11 rebounds. Lockhart and Wood helped with eight rebounds each. Wood also had five assists and three steals, while Lockhart had four steals.

Grahn helped with four assists. Finishing out the scoring was Marshal Johnson with four points and Keandre Cortez with three. As a team, the Broncos shot 75 percent from the bonus line.

The Broncos will take on River Road at home December 1 beginning at 8:00 p.m.

Chance Lockhart scores for the Broncos during the boys game last Friday against Highland Park. The Broncos next game will be at home on December 1 against River Road.

Lady Broncos fall to Lady Hornets

By Sandy Anderberg

The Lady Broncos played hard against the Highland Park Lady Hornets but struggled to get anything going in their 28-39 loss.

Defense was the ladies' strong point in the game, but they could not find their rhythm on the opposite end of the court.

Hannah Howard and Briley Chadwick led the ladies on the scoreboard with seven points each. Briana Butler helped with six, Berkeley Alexander put in four, Jensen Hatley had two, and Sterling King added one.

"Our scoring was balanced, but we are looking for all nine girls to score to push our numbers up," coach Kalen Grahn said.

"They played hard throughout the game, we just need to get more scoring."

Grahn thought the Lady Broncos did a good job on the defensive side.

"Defensively, the girls played well," Grahn said. "We struggled in the first quarter shutting them down, but the rest of the way we played well."

The Lady Broncos will play River Road at home Tuesday, December 1, at 6:30 p.m. and play in the Claude Tournament December 3-5.

Briana Butler drives to the basket during the Lady Broncos game last Friday in Amarillo. The Lady Broncos will play at home December 1, at 6:30 p.m.
