Steam engine rolls into town Ceremonies planned to honor vets

Union Pacific celebrates its 150th birthday

The smoke, the steam, and a loud, long whistle that only a few folks had heard before. A piece of railroad history steamed into Clarendon Saturday morning and gave residents a glimpse at what life might have been like seven decades ago.

Union Pacific's last steam engine, No. 844, was greeted by a large crowd as the gigantic locomotive stopped at the Kearney Street cross just a few feet from where the old Ft. Worth & Denver Depot stood for years. In addition to local kids of all ages, the train was greeted by railroad enthusiasts from as far away as Lubbock who eagerly took pictures and videos of the rare occasion.

It's not clear when the last steam engine rolled through Clarendon. One Enterprise reader said they recalled one in about 1966 or 67, and one railroad enthusiast website says the American Freedom Train steamed up "the Denver Road" in 1976.

No. 844, which was built for UP in 1944, was on the final leg of its nationwide tour, celebrating the company's 150th anniversary. The 454-ton train left its home in Wyoming in March to begin crisscrossing America. It left Houston on October 27 on the sixth and final leg of its anniversary tour and will arrive back in Cheyenne on November 8.

Crew members told the Enterprise they were enjoying their tour but were ready to get back home. The railroad periodically flies family members to meet up with them, they said.

A high-speed passenger engine, the 844 pulled such widely known trains as the Overland Limited, Los Angeles Limited, Portland Rose and Challenger. When diesels took over all of the passenger train duties, No. 844 was placed in freight service in Nebraska between 1957 and 1959. It was saved from being scrapped in 1960 and held for special service. Since then it has served as the company's goodwill ambassador. Several passenger cars also made the tour. When it gets home on Thursday, it will have traveled 13,000 miles on this tour.

It was 150 years ago that Abraham Lincoln signed the Pacific Railway Act of July 1, 1862, creating the original Union Pacific. To learn more, visit www.UP150.com.

Veterans of the United States' armed forces will be honored during several public ceremonies in Donley County over a four day period.

The first service will be held at 10 a.m. Friday, November 9, by the Adamson-Lane Post 287 of the American Legion at the Rowe Cemetery near Hedley. Prior to the service, post members will place flags on the graves of 220 veterans buried in that cemetery, and the flags will remain there through November 11.

The Friday service will be conducted by members of the Legion, and William S. Thompson, who served in the US Army from 1984 to 1992, will deliver the address. Thompson received his officer's commission and served in many positions within the Fourth Infantry Division, 56th Field Artillery Command and the Seventh Corps Support Group throughout his career. In November 1991, as a captain, his unit was deployed from Crailsheim, Germany, to Operation Desert Shield /Desert Storm in Saudi Arabia.

The program will also include a ceremony honoring those listed as Missing In Action or Prisoners of War.

Following the Rowe ceremony, Hedley ISD will honor veterans with a meal and special program. The address at the school will be given by Troy Wilson, who served three years on active duty in the Army as a medic. He served as a flight medic with the 507th Medical Evacuation Company, logging over 300 missions.

The Donley County Memorial Post 7782 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will hold a special service at noon on Saturday, November 10, at War Memorial on the Courthouse Square.

The Clarendon Lions Club will put out US flags at local businesses on Monday, November 12.

The Clarendon Elementary School will have a service for veterans on Monday, November 12, at 12:15 p.m. in the Bronco Gym.

The final ceremony will be at Clarendon College on Monday, November 12, at 7 p.m. in the Harned Sisters Fine Arts Center Auditorium.

The Veterans' Celebration will feature a Roll Call and Military Recognition for members of each branch of service. In addition, the Clarendon Community Choir will perform and taps will be played by

Donley Co. Pregnancy Center to open this weekend

After three years of planning and praying, the Donley County Pregnancy Center will officially open its doors this Sunday, November 11, with an Open House from 2 to 4 p.m.

The center, located west of Clarendon at 12105 FM 2362, be open regularly on Tuesdays from 1:00 to 5:00 for walk-ins and appointments and on Wednesdays from 1:00 to 4 p.m. for appointments only.

"As we grow, we will be open more," said center director Lynn Like.

The Donley County Pregnancy Center is a free, outreach ministry based on the Care Net centers established in 1995 by Billy Graham.

Supporters say the center will minister to children starting at eight years old to college and will teach them who they are in Christ, abstinence before marriage, and let them know that God loves them and has a plan for their lives even though everyone makes mistakes.

The center's location out of the city limits helps provide some privacy for the people who choose to avail themselves of the center's services.

Classes will be available on prenatal care, a five-week child birth class, and newborn care.

The center also provides free pregnancy tests, options counseling, parenting classes, and adoption referrals and will supply clients with baby clothes and diapers.

The center offers free and confidential services, and loving volunteers will present accurate information for good choices and provide emotional support and assistance to help women carry their babies to term.

Clarendon must focus on improving

At a meeting in Amarillo Monday, community leaders from across the Panhandle gathered to discuss the problems facing their towns and ideas for how to raise funds for those programs.

Your humble editor represented the Clarendon Economic Development Corporation at the meeting, which was hosted by the Amarillo Area Foundation. To kick off the morning, participants were asked to do a "dreaming" exercise. "What would you do," the speaker asked, "if I gave you $1 million a year to do anything you wanted to in your community?"

The wheels began turning for 30-plus people in the room, and we soon each had a list that filled an entire page. As participants took turns giving ideas from their lists, it became clear that we all face many of the same problems. From Tulia to Childress to Pampa to Spearman to Chillicothe, towns of all sizes are grappling with the same issues that Clarendon faces. Each community wants more "quality of life" improvements – whether it be youth centers, park facilities, or entertainment venues. Each place has infrastructure needs and must consider how best to use the tax dollars at their disposal, and in almost every town there is a shortage of good, middle-income housing.

One participant blamed part of his town's problems on previous community leaders who failed to plan for growth and failed to give the present generation the tools necessary to address the problems of today.

And that, dear readers, is where Clarendon now finds itself.

We have been shortchanged, in many ways, by city leaders over the last 20 or 30 or more years who failed to stringently enforce zoning, and codes, and ordinances, who were perhaps too complacent when it came to taking care of infrastructure, and who have left us a city that needs new streets, new water and sewer lines, and a firm hand when it comes to enforcing the rules.

This situation has left Clarendon in a position where it largely tries to just patch things together and hobble along because it doesn't have the funds to address any one issue. The city is spending about $25,000, for example, on a comprehensive study of its waterworks, but what will we do when it is completed? It's going to take money and a lot of it before the discolored water experienced by some citizens can be permanently fixed.

Our current city leaders allow themselves to get bogged down in the political nonsense of whether the city administrator should attend professional conferences or other trivial pursuits when they should be focused on what can we do long term to improve our city.

Instead, City Hall is embroiled in the fate of City Administrator Lambert Little and faces the real prospect of losing yet another administrator. Little's exit would no doubt please some people; but while he has made mistakes, it is unlikely that any man – or woman – can come in here and fix in one or two years the mess that has been created over a couple of generations. And probably no city administrator could ever please some people who essentially want to run this city by committee (the board) instead of letting a professional do what needs to be done.

We need to set all this aside and start looking to the future. We need to put aside the negative attitudes of the complainers and realize that we're going to have to raise taxes because it takes money to fix problems. We're going to have to be pro-active in cleaning up this city and every person here has to come to understand that we all have a stake in making things better. Whether it's a citizen simply cleaning up a vacant lot or a city employee putting up street signs, all the little things that we can do will make a big impact. And we have to dream big to make this the city it ought to be.

Clarendon has a lot of positive things, and this column has talked about all of them in the past. But we need to build on those and actively work to make things better. That should be the focus of the city and its citizens.

Halleluia! The elections are over!

Whew! Finally! Our trials and tribulations have ended, at least for a few months. Even as my fingers swiftly fly over my keyboard in a futile effort to edify the masses, at least the Donley County portion of the masses, the American people are speaking – with a lip.

I'm not sure who the winners are. I do, however, know who the losers are, namely truth and integrity. Perhaps the biggest loser was the American electorate. One of the fact checking organizations reported that Mitt Romney spewed forth 19 "pants on fire" untruths, whereas President Obama put forth a puny effort of only seven "pants on fire" lies. ("Pants on fire" lies are better known as whoppers.)

Of course, Mitt's whoppers were much more egregious, but let's not quibble – a lie is a lie. I will never forget the startling words of Mitt's pollster, Neil Newhouse, "We're not going to let our campaign be dictated by fact checkers." What? Did he really say that?

For sure, the Obama campaign has certainly had its own share of deception and distortion. They lied about Mitt's positions on abortion and foreign aid. Even so, nothing in it has equaled the efforts of the Romney campaign in this realm. Its flagrant disdain for facts is beyond disappointing.

Yet, We the People don't seem to recoil against these cynical manipulations of the truth. Regardless of who wins and who loses, the Romney campaign has placed a big and historic bet on the presumption that facts can be ignored, for the most part, without consequences.

This election may go down in history as the moment when truth and lies lost both their honor and stigma, respectively. The Mittster has demonstrated an unrepentant willingness to say anything and everything to win this election. Yet he is running dead even with the president, who's lies and untruths are not quite so flagrant, but just as destructive to our trust in the democratic system.

What does this say about the American people? What does it say about the value of integrity?

The list of the candidates' out-and-out lies is too long to list here. Neither candidate wouldn't acknowledge the truth if it bit him on the butt. They seem to have decided that the only things standing between them and the White House are those irksome little facts. They continue to roll right over them. Perhaps Jack Nicholson was correct when he uttered, "You can't handle the truth," in his role in the movie A Few Good Men.

The question becomes: will this outrageous tactic work?

There is a growing body of evidence that suggests that facts and the people who check them don't carry the same weight that they once did.

The extremist on the far right and far left have created marvelous disinformation machines, which both explicitly and implicitly make the argument that facts are exchangeable and have been co-opted by nefarious operatives on the other side. Both sides have declared war on facts in what they claim is an unscrupulous war on the truth. This is patently false and untrue, but it works on some.

How is it that so many people are willing to support men who they don't believe are honest and trustworthy? Voters also don't really believe that Obama and Romney really care about their problems. Who votes for men who the quick, the dead, & fred

by fred gray

they think don't care about them?

Knowing what we know about the president and Governor Romney we must ask ourselves this question: are we granting them the liberty to lie? If so, why?

Until We the People rise up as one as say, "enough is enough," this absurd folly will continue.

Now, I realize that in days gone by, politicians conducted venomous personal attacks on each other. James Madison, in one election, was accused of pimping out Dolly and her sisters for votes. Accusations of miscegenation (which later proved to be true) were directed against Jefferson. Jefferson's supporters flung accusations of bestiality and other assorted sordid activities at John Adams, at one time or another.

Adams' supporters responded by slamming Jefferson with, "Jefferson is an atheist, mean-spirited, low-lived fellow, the son of a half-breed squaw, sired by a Virginia mulatto father." Unfortunately, such a sacrifice is not unknown to our modern campaigns as we continue to witness the intense desire of political hopefuls (presidential, congressional, and state) who seem willing to sacrifice anything – their families, friends, and even their integrity to get elected. I could go on ad-infinitum.

Now, thanks to the Citizens United ruling by the United States Supreme Court, the candidates' supporters can spend billions of dollars in good, creative lies and untruths. Wow! Lucky us. Can you image, spending billions of dollars trying to land a job paying a few hundred thousand dollars a year? Is it just me, or do things seem a bit out of balance?

It now falls upon us, We the People, to put a stop to this madness. Then again, we seem to tolerate the demeaning way our politicians treat us rather well. Perhaps we deserve what we get.

Letter counters Owl football article

I am writing in response to Fred Gray's article entitled "Motley County Outscorers Hedley, Owls Outclass Motley Matadors." I was shocked to see such a negative representation of Motley County's coach and football team. I am a parent of children attending Motley County schools. My husband is the vice president of the school board, and my oldest son is on the junior high Mavericks football team. We have known Coach Bigham since he first came to Motley County. He is a top notch football coach, but football is not all that he teaches his players. He instills in them a desire to show respect, teamwork, and good sportsmanship. He helps these boys develop into nice, respectable young men. When you see one of his football players off the field they will shake your hand and say "Yes, ma'am" and "Yes, sir."

Concerning the football game against the Hedley Owls, Mr. Gray states that Motley County "exhibited a remarkable disdain for good manners and good sportsmanship." I have to wonder if he even attended this game. Motley County fans are very dedicated and energetic when it comes to supporting our team. The music we play is a reflection of that enthusiasm, considering we do not have a school band to play when we score, etc. However, I do not see how the music being played makes our coach and players classless. As far as the game itself, our coach and players did nothing to show poor sportsmanship.

The Hedley coaches were upset due to the bad calls made by the officials. I have never heard of a head coach being thrown out of a game for "defending his players." Coaches are thrown out for showing poor sportsmanship. The Hedley Owls also had a fan who stood on the sidelines repeatedly using profanity toward our players. This man was escorted out of the game.

Lastly, regarding Mr. Gray's suggestion that Coach Bigham should have kicked the ball deep to give Hedley a chance, I really doubt that the Hedley players would want to be pitied and given the ball. In that situation where his team was leading by large margin, Coach Bigham's goal is to end the game so as to prevent unnecessary injuries to our players. Good sportsmanship does not mean giving the ball to the other team because they are down. It's a competition. I know that I am not alone in stating that Motley County parents and fans fully support our football team and Coach Mike Bigham. I just wanted your readers to have a chance to hear the rest of the story.

Lauren Drum, Roaring Springs

Who is 'prominent'?

In regard to Fred Gray's address to the aldermen, who are the "prominent citizens"? Would you put in print your list? What are the qualifications to be on your list? I might want to be a "prominent citizen." What about the rest of us, does our opinion not count?

Clarendon is trashy, shows lack of pride

Last Friday my husband and I had the opportunity to go to Groom. We were very impressed with the neatness overall cleanliness of the little town. This is a little town that takes pride in their town and how it looks. Another town that takes pride in their community is Canadian. We couldn't help but wonder what is Clarendon's problem?

Years ago when I moved to Amarillo and was attending a school there a lady asked me where I was from, when I replied Clarendon, she said, "Oh yes, that trashy little town." I was so offended, but you know trashy indeed! I have never been to another town that is so nasty and trashy! I have seen neater and cleaner dump grounds! You know you don't have to have a lot of money to be clean. We are all so proud of the Mulkey Theater being redone. Won't it look all nice and pretty, sitting there next to that dump of a hotel? Why bother?

We hear that the college rodeo was so good for Clarendon and brought business to this town and there's always talk of bringing people to town. I must ask why in the world would you want to show off this trashy, nasty mess? When my house is needing cleaned, the last thing I want is company to see it! This has happened because of a lack of management. People should never be allowed to keep their properties looking like a trash pit. They should be warned once and if not cleaned up, then the appropriate action should be taken. I do know that the towns of Canadian and Groom do not tolerate it.

I wonder where are these people's pride? How can they stand to live like this? The people of Clarendon need to band together and put a stop to this. Also, the streets in Groom, well it wasn't like we were driving an obstacle course! Here in Clarendon we look like drunks, dodging all the potholes! I don't believe Groom is a rich town either! They just manage what they have. So Clarendon I say to you people, you know who you are - get this mess cleaned up! Cleanliness is next to godliness! And our Lord does not like filth! And neither do I!

Donna Barnes, Clarendon

Arrow has nothing to do with football

In response to the November 1 letter to the editor from Gary "Punk" Campbell:

Having been associated with the Texas Historical Commission's Heritage Trail Program, we take great pride in informing outsiders about the importance of individuals whose rural lifestyles greatly contributed to creating our great state.

The rural tourism project for our area of the Texas Plains Trail Region is called the Quannah Parker Trail. Each county will install a metal sculpture representative of a Comanche arrow (22ft. long) at a historic or general location in the county. The objective is threefold:

- 1) To establish a direct relationship with surrounding counties and communities to build a partnership to enhance economic growth through rural tourism;
- 2) To educate citizens of the county, students, visitors and officials at large to the historic significance of each region; and
- 3) To honor and illuminate the history of Quannah Parker (warrior, cattleman and Native American statesman) and the Southern Plains Comanche by museum displays of cultural artifacts, tours to historical landmarks, lectures, presentations and festivals.

Quannah Parker convinced his tribe that they must give up the Indian way of life and adapt to the ways of the white man or they would eventually all be killed. They moved to the Reservation in Ft. Sill, Oklahoma, for they were tired of running. As a guest of Col. Charles Goodnight, Quannah Parker returned to Donley County for one last buffalo hunt.

The location for placement of the Quannah Parker arrow is undecided at this time.

Roger Estlack, Publisher & Editor

Clarendon's newspaper was established as The Clarendon News on June 1, 1878, at Old Clarendon by Rev. L.H. Carhart. It was the first newspaper in the Texas Panhandle. In 1887, the paper moved to New Clarendon under the direction of publisher William Grant when the town moved to the railroad. Over the years, the paper operated in several locations under different names and owners. The Estlack Family published The Donley County Leader from 1929 to 1974 before selling it to Dean Singleton's Clarendon Press. The newspaper moved to its present location in 1983 under publishers Helen and J.C. Woody. In 1995, Roger Estlack purchased the paper and re-named it The Clarendon Enterprise in 1996.

The Clarendon Enterprise is the oldest newspaper in the Texas Panhandle and provides the people of Donley County with news and information and serves as an advertising vehicle to connect local merchants with their customers. In addition, the Enterprise extends its reach with its website and through Facebook. The Enterprise also offers printing and design services, specializing in business cards, posters, and brochures.

The Clarendon Enterprise has three employees as well as six local freelancers.

The Clarendon Chamber is proud to have The Clarendon Enterprise as a member, and we want to recognize Roger Estlack and all of the Employees, Staff and Freelancers that make the Enterprise the progressive, innovative, up-to-date, top-of-the-news, and successful newspaper that it has become for our city, county and the surrounding area.

Beware fake disaster relief charities

In the wake of Hurricane Sandy which has threatened the northeastern regions of the U.S., BBB urges givers to check that their donations will go to legitimate and reputable charities and relief efforts that have the capability to help those in need. “As with any disaster, well meaning people will want to help in any way,” said Janna Kiehl, CEO of the BBB. “Unfortunately, people with not so good intentions will attempt to gain from this disaster.”

Take your time, do your research to make sure your donation will benefit those that need it most. The need to help will still be there for some time so it is not necessary to give into pressure.

Donors will want to be certain their donation of money and/or goods will benefit those in need and that those donations go to agencies equipped and experienced to handle the unique challenges of providing assistance.

Tips on Helping:
Ask if the charity has a presence at the sight of the disaster or nearby. It will be difficult to get new aid workers in the affected areas to quickly provide assistance; so unless the charity already has staff in those areas, ask how they plan to address immediate needs.

Ask if the charity is providing direct aid or raising money for other groups. Some charities may be raising money to pass along to relief organizations. If so, you may want to consider “avoiding the middleman” and giving directly to charities that have a presence in the region. Or, at a minimum, ask who the end result recipients of your donation will be and what percentage of your donation will directly benefit victims or go to re-building efforts.

Rely on expert opinion. Be cautious when relying on third-party recommendations such as bloggers or other web sites, as they might not have fully researched the listed relief organizations. “Vetting an organization also eliminates the deception of ‘sound alike’ charities,” said Kiehl. Go to www.bbb.org/charity to research charities and relief organizations and verify that they are

Remember those who served on Veterans Day

What beautiful weather we are having after the freeze with temperatures in the 70°-80°. This is usually called Indian Summer, the warm time following the first hard freeze and a time to continue harvesting crops. Cotton in the fields looks good and I hope the farmers make money this year.

Veterans Day is coming, the day set aside to honor all veterans but how did it begin?

WWI was bad, involving at least 35 countries in the world, 70 million men mobilized, over nine million killed and who knows how many were wounded. The first war using chemicals like mustard gas and airplanes. The war began in 1914 with the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria, but it had its roots in the imperialistic foreign policies of European countries which led to immediate involvement by those treaties. The people of the US were strongly against the war but did support the effort to ship supplies to the British. Americans were outraged with the sinking of the ship “Lusitania,” a British ocean liner, by German U boats in 1915, killing around 1,200 passengers including 128 Americans. This began the change of heart in America and with the continued sinking of US supply ships by the U boats, the United States declared war on Germany April 6, 1917. Over 2.8 million men were drafted in the US, and shortly 10,000 men a day were leaving for France. More than 116,000 Americans died during the war, an event that led to changes here at home.

The war ended with a truce at the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month 1918 and called Armistice. By the next year people were holding ceremonies at that time to honor the men killed in that horrible war, the war to end all wars. Congress voted Armistice Day to be held 11-11 each year and the tradition of a moment of silence, a parade or just gathering together began.

Recycle for your city

By City Administrator Lambert Little
For many years, the City of Clarendon has been involved in recycling activities. Glass, metals, plastics, paper, and cardboard are all recyclable.

Recycling activities help the City achieve several goals. Foremost, recycling is the right thing to do—it’s obviously better for our environment. At least nobody can argue that recycling is the WRONG thing to do.

Secondly, the City can generate a modest revenue stream by recycling. Metals, especially aluminum, is easily processed and used again, so there is always a strong market for it. And every time we ship a load of baled cardboard, we generate almost $2500! If we could do this regularly, it would make a real difference.

Finally, the City saves money when citizens recycle. Every pound of recyclable material that is diverted from the landfill saves not only the transportation costs but the dumping costs and State fees as well. Clearly, we could save money by hauling less waste.

Preserve the environment, make money, and save money—recycling is a win-win-win situation!

This year’s budget reflects a 5% increase in sanitation rates. If everybody recycled we likely would have fewer rate increases.

The City of Clarendon makes recycling easy! Dumpsters located at the northeast corner of First and Kearney Streets are clearly marked for what materials can be placed in them. These dumpsters are not for household garbage, but rather for products to be recycled. Glass, paper, tin cans, and cardboard are the easiest to drop off.

Thank you, Clarendon, for helping to save the environment and for helping the City keep garbage rates low through recycling!

Lovins, McCoy win Two-Person Scramble

By Sandy Anderberg

The Clarendon Country Club held their last golf tournament of the season Saturday and Sunday, and the team of Travis Lovins and Josh McCoy won big with a total of 114 for the two-day, thirty-six hole contest. Local golfers Mike Santos and Junior Rodriguez finished second in the Championship flight with a total of 124.

David Majors and Doug McCain won the first flight at 128, and John Goodwin and Jerry Baker finished second at 129. P.J. Lemons and Mark Morris tied for third with Byrd Adkins and Kim Burnett with a 130.

Brothers Chris and Kelly Linquist won the second flight with a score of 135 and there was a tie for second place between Bo Morrison and Tom Stauder and Bruce Ferguson and Kevin Wood with a 137.

Bob Permenter and Dan Luther won the third flight with a 146. Bret and Randy White finished second at 147, and John Myers and Tony Hoover took third with a 154.

Closest to the pin on number 15 was Josh McCoy at 7” and P.J. Lemons had the longest putt on number nine at 10’.

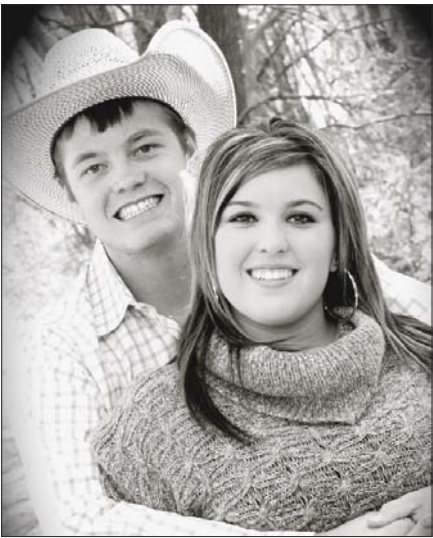

Bruce Ferguson won the weekly men’s game with a gross 76, and Neil Conrad won low net at 68. Sherol Johnston won low gross on Thursday in the women’s game with an 87, and Mary Ann Sawyer was low net at 72.

accredited by the BBB and meet the 20 Standards for Charity Accountability.

Be cautious about online giving, especially in response to spam messages and emails that claim to link to a relief organization. In response to hurricanes Katrina and Rita and the Asian tsunamis, the FBI and others raised concerns about many web sites and new organizations that were created overnight allegedly to help victims. Many, it turned out, were scams.

Be suspicious of claims that 100 percent of donations will assist relief victims. Despite what an organization might claim, charities have fund raising and administrative costs. Even a credit card donation will involve, at a minimum, a processing fee.

Should you give items such as clothing, food or other in-kind donations? In-kind drives for food and clothing, while well intentioned, may not be the best or quickest way to help those in need. Even if the organization has the means to be able to properly distribute such aid, a monetary donation may be far more helpful to a charity that is responding to a crisis situation.

Be aware of wildfire threat during hunting season

COLLEGE STATION – With hunting season under way and some areas of the state still recovering from last year's drought, Texas Forest Service officials are urging caution for those heading outdoors.

Hunters should refrain from building campfires and burning debris during windy or dry conditions. More than 90 Texas counties currently are under a burn ban.

Keep in mind the following wildfire safety tips:

- If there is no burn ban in place and conditions are right, you may safely build a campfire. But keep the fire small, never leave it unattended and remove flammable leaves and other materials from the area surrounding the fire.
- Make sure the fire is extinguished and cold to the touch before you leave it.
- Clear combustible materials and vegetation away from your camp house to reduce the likelihood of a wildfire to spread.
- Keep water nearby when welding on stands.
- Drive only on designated trails. Don't park or idle vehicles in tall, dry grass, which can be ignited by contact with a hot muffler.
- Use caution with cigarettes and matches.
- Use spark arresters on all power equipment.

Drugs in the News

Heart Attack Stroke Prevention with Multi-Drug Pill

According to the results of a study discussed in a recent issue of the online journal PLoS One, a multi-drug pill given to study subjects over the age of 50, produced a significant drop in LDL cholesterol and blood pressure at the end of a three month period. The pill, which is referred to as the Polypill, consists of four drugs, three for lowering a person's blood pressure and one drug for reducing LDL cholesterol. They include losartan, hydrochlorothiazide, amlodipine, and simvastatin.

Researchers connected with the study at the Wolfson Institute of Preventative Medicine and The London School of Medicine & Dentistry feel their findings will lead to a sixty or greater percentage cut in the rate of heart attacks and strokes worldwide. They also indicate that the Polypill would be beneficial, even if it was not taken until people were 50 years of age. Other health experts are being more cautious, saying that medicines are no substitute for the promotion of healthy life styles (diet, exercise and not smoking) among all age groups.

Hedley Owls Fall to Groom

By Fred Gray

Last Friday night, November 2, the Hedley Owls fell to Groom Tigers, 62-14. The loss in their last home game of the season knocked the Owls out of a playoff spot. Even though the Owls played hard, the Tigers steadily pulled away throughout the course of the game, and handed Hedley another frustrating loss.

Trailing 16 - 0, with 23 seconds left in the first quarter, Hedley got the ball on their own 35, and drove the ball to the Groom 10 yard line, the result of a long 4th down pass from Coltin Kingstone to Bryan Evans. The Owls then punched the ball across the goal line when Brandon Evans bulled his way through the middle on a dive play. The PAT failed on a bad snap.

Midway through the 2nd quarter, Hedley scored again when they drove the ball from their own 23 to the Groom 35 in two plays. Colton Kingstone then hit Tanner Chambliss (who made a sparkling finger-pitch) with a 35 yard touchdown pass. This time the PAT was good and Hedley cut the Groom lead in half, trailing 28-14. That was as close as they got for the rest of the game.

Hedley closes the season with a road trip to Silverton this Friday, November 9. Kickoff is 7:30 p.m.

Clarendon Church of Christ THERE'S A RECIPE FOR EVERYTHING

Here's a recipe for Ice Cream Pie by a ladyl attended church with in Mississippi.

1 1/2 gallon vanilla ice cream/ 1 large cool whip topping
2 crumb pie shells/ 1 large frozen lemonade Mix ice cream, frozenlemonade and 2/3 of cool whip topping together. Divide the ice cream mixture in half into the 2 crumb pie shells. Spread the remaining 1/3 cool whip on the top of the 2 pies. You can drizzle chocolate topping and sprinkle with crushed butterfingers. Freeze pie when complete.

I'm hungry already! Now, here's a question: Which of the 4 main ingredients above could you remove and still have the same ice cream pie? None of course. You would have something, but not the original and intended dessert the recipe will deliver.

Now, take that same logical approach to the New Testament. Which of Jesus' commandments can you ignore and still get to heaven? I would say none, but there are a lot of people who believe that they can pick and choose from Christ's words and still get the same desired result, salvation. Christ tells us in many passages that we are to do God's will and not our own. (Matthew 7:21) "Not everyone who says to Me, 'Lord, Lord,' shall enter the kingdom of heaven, but he who does the will of My Father in heaven." He even gives us the motivation, reason, or the why we should follow His commands. (John 14:15) "If you love Me, keep My commandments."

Why is it we understand the concept of following a recipe to get a desired result and many don't translate that logic to the words of our Lord? We are a buffet society, we like picking and choosing what we like and I admit many of us "tweak" a recipe when cooking. The difference in changing a recipe and changing the words of God must be obvious. You can improve upon a man's words but you can't improve upon God's. We don't have the wisdom to do so.

When the world ignores or adds to God's word, they are creating a recipe for spiritual disaster. If we don't follow the Bible, why would anyone expect a desired result or one that God wants? I've seen a lot of shortened "recipes" for salvation. I've seen some that were more involved than what the Bible says. Neither will get you what you are looking for. I pray that you will go by the book when seeking salvation. It is a recipe that can't be tampered with. When followed, it always produces what God intended.

Troy Wilson, a Vietnam War Veteran. Ernie Houdashell, Randall County Judge and Vietnam War Veteran will be the guest speaker.

In 1966, Houdashell, a graduate of Hedley High School, joined the army to fight in Vietnam and served as a helicopter mechanic. He served two tours in Vietnam, the second of which he volunteered for. During that second tour, he served as a gunner on a Huey helicopter and earned the prestigious Air Medal for his participation in 25 aerial missions in a period of six days.

He was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Randall County Judge Ted Wood in the summer of 2002 and was elected to that fall.

In 1991, as a response to protesters who were second guessing the first Gulf War, Houdashell was prompted to write a narrative from his heart entitled "Don't Weep For Me," about freedom, patriotism, and the military and war. Since that time he has been asked to read it at public events and he has recorded it on CD complete with a music background.

Refreshments will be provided after the celebration by the VFW Ladies Auxiliary. This program will honor veterans of all wars and everyone in the community is invited to attend.

Broncos overpowered by Sunray

By Sandy Anderberg

The Sunray Bobcats showed their strength Friday night in Bronco Stadium and defeated Clarendon 49-13. The loss left the Broncos stunned as their hopes for a return playoff appearance were dashed.

Head coach Gary Jack acknowledged that the Bobcats are a strong team and things just got away from the Broncos.

"It was a tough game. They just got after us," Jack said. "We caught a little break in the third quarter when we scored and got back into the game, but then it got away from us. They just didn't go away."

Once again the Broncos were plagued with injuries.

"We've got too many guys standing on the sidelines with injuries, and now we have a couple more," Jack said.

"We've been up and down all season. We just hope we're healthy enough to play a good game against Memphis on Friday."

The Broncos were rolling early in the season and things looked favorable for another season to go deep into the playoffs, but the overtime loss to Panhandle was hard on the Broncos.

"That overtime loss really hit us hard," Jack added. "If one or two plays had gone the other way, it might have been a different season. That loss really took it out of us and that's where most of our injuries came from. With more injuries from the Sunray game, we just hope we're healthy enough to make the Memphis game competitive. It will be a pride game."

While the hope of a playoff appearance is gone, the Broncos will still have something to prove on Friday at 7:00 p.m. when they meet up with the Cyclones on the road. Jack just wants to finish the season strong with a big win over an old rival.

Clarendon senior Jonah Sell speaks to fellow players following the loss to Sunray last week.

The catch

Senior Tyler Burch catches a pass at last Saturday's game against the Sunray Bobcats. The Broncos were defeated 49-13.

Colts fall to Sunray Bobcats

The seventh and eighth grade Colts fell to Sunray last Thursday night on the road 20-28 and 14-42 respectively.

Both teams struggled against good Bobcat teams, but the seventh grade Colts nearly pulled out a come-from-behind win.

According to coach Brandt Lockhart, the Colts were trailing by six points in the fourth quarter when Colt Wood ran it in from ten yards out to tie the game. But Sunray bounced back and found the end zone with 25 seconds left on the clock on a pass play. Wood was also responsible for the other two Colt scores from thirty and twenty-five yards out.

"We played well and Josh Cobb did a good job running the offense," Lockhart said. "Nathan Shadle, Justin Christopher, and Zach Caison did well on defense and Payton Havens had an interception."

The eighth graders played hard, but could not overcome a 12-point deficit at the half. The two Colt scores came when Riley Shadle took it across from two yards out and Chance Lockhart scored on a 40-yard pass from Shadle. The players teamed up and made good on the two-point bonus, as well.

"Riley threw the ball well and Nick Shadle, Marshal Johnson, and Clay Koetting played well on defense," Lockhart said. "I was pleased the way both groups played, especially since we were short-handed."

Both Colt teams will finish their season Thursday night, November 8 at home when they take on Memphis beginning at 5:00 p.m.

Shelton runs to State meet

By Sandy Anderberg

Senior cross-country runner Audrey Shelton ran her way to a third place finish with a time of 12:14.72 in the Regional Cross-Country Meet held Saturday in Lubbock at Mae Simmons Park.

The third place finish in the two-mile course qualified her for the State CC Meet to be held Saturday, November 10 in Austin. This is Shelton's third trip to the state meet in cross-country.

"I am extremely excited for Audrey," coach Molly Weathered said. "This is going to be her third trip to state and I know she wants to do well. She is one of the hardest working athletes that I have ever seen and it is an honor to coach her."

Freshman Caleb Cobb was the lone Bronco to run the three-mile race and finished with a time of 19:27:29 for 74th place. Cobb did not advance to the state meet, but gained a lot of experience for next year.

"I was proud of Caleb for making it to regionals," Weathered said. "Not very many freshmen do that. He worked really hard and it is nice for him to get some experience. Now he knows what to expect."

Getting the blues

Workers continued the renovation of the Mulkey Theatre exterior last week with a new coat of blue paint on the corrugated panels on the front of the building. Electrical work for new neon and work on the porcelain tiles will be the next activities as Phase One of the project continues. The Clarendon Economic Development Corporation, which owns the theatre, will hold a Public Hearing during its regular meeting Monday, November 12, at 5:15 p.m. in the Board Room of City Hall. During the hearing, the CEDC Board will take comments from the public regarding a grant application that will seek funding for Phase Two interior renovations to the Mulkey.
