2 Fred says government spying is worse than we first thought. 4 The Morrow Family holds

their annual Clarendon. reunion The Clarendon Country

5 Club hosted a Jack & Jill Tournament.

8 And the Broncos are getting ready for the season.

All this and much more as The Enterpri-reports in this week's amazing edition!

Food bank to assist with applications

The High Plains Food Bank will be offering application assis-tance next Wednesday, August 14, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Clarendon Housing Authority office at 103 E. Fourth Street.

Assistance in making applications will be given to those interested in applying for Food Stamps, TANF, CHIP/Children's Medicaid, Adult Medicaid & Women's Health Care, or Long Term Care.

Term Care. Interested persons should bring a copy of the following information: Social security cards, ID and or birth certificates for everyone in household; Proof of all income: Social Security, Last (4) Stubs, ect.; Receipt for rent or lease agreement or mortgage payment; Most recent tele-phone, electricity, gas, water, insurance premium, medical bills, and prescriptions; Proof of resources, such as checking or savings account statement or passbook, life insurance policies, tax statements for real estate; and Immunization Records (TANF and Children's Medicaid only).

Scam claims to be helping firefighters

A new scam is preying on people's good will toward fire fighters, Donley County Sheriff

Butch Blackburn reports. Residents have said they have received phone calls or Facebook messages claiming to raise money for local fire departments, but the fundraisers are phony. Blackburn says if people want to support their local fire department, they should give money directly to that organization.

Sign-ups continue for city aldermen

Sign-ups continue for three vacant seats on the Clarendon Board of Aldermen this week.

There are two positions that expire in May 2014. Another vacant seat expires in May 2015, and filing for all three positions continues through August 26. All positions are at-large, but candidates must specify which terms they are seeking. Donley County Commis-sioners will meet on August 12 and formally call for the special city election, which will then be held on November 5.

Local man to be honored in Pampa

A Clarendon man is among six individuals who will be inducted into the Panhandle Hall of Honor at the Freedom Museum

USA in Pampa next week. George W. Howard will be inducted August 17 at the Pampa Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1657. The ceremony will start at 6 p.m. and will be preceded with a barbeque dinner. Tickets will be $15 for individuals and $25 for couples. This event is open to the public and everyone is encouraged to attend and show their appreciation for those very worthy recipients.

Jack Shely amassed a lifetime record of 206 wins - 93 losses - 3 ties as a head coach or an assistant coach in his remarkable career. As a head coach his record is an amazing 159-78-3. He was inducted into the Texas Six-Man Coaches Hall of Fame in 2007.

In the past he has earned the fol-lowing awards and honors: Named South Plains Coach of the Year in 1985 and 1993; Amarillo Glove News Coach of the Year in 1985; Henderson County Coach of the Year in 1991; Recipient of the Sam Adams Award in 1995; Coached in the Six-Man All Star Game in 1986 1995, and 2003; and Served as direc-tor for the Six-Man Coaches Association and as Executive Secretary cration and as Executive Secretary for 16 years. Coach Shely started the six-man programs in Higgins (Panhan-dle) and Trinity (East Texas), Texas. He took Silverton to the playoffs for the first time in 37 years, and coached Amherst to back to back Texas Six-Man State Championships 1994 and 1995, falling just short of the championship in 1993. While at Amherst his record was 9-2 in 1993, 13-1-1 in 1994, and was a per-fect 15-0 in 1995. He also coached in Carizzo Springs, Jonesborough, and Terrill County

Coach Shely will not simply focus on offense and scoring. He believes that defense wins championships and will spend the necessary time to develop a defensive minded football team. This year, the Owls are a little thin, due to the large graduating class last year. This year and next year will be rebuilding years, and it will take awhile for the players to learn Coach Shely's philosophy and system.

Couple faces charges of child neglect

A Clarendon couple is facing felony charges after their child was found playing in the street about a block from their home.

Sheriff Butch Blackburn said the child, appearing to be two-years old, was spotted playing at Third and Goodnight before 11 a.m. the morning of July 27. A deputy attempted to locate the child's parents and found a second pre-school aged child inside a locked vehicle.

The parents were found asleep side a house in the 200 block of S. Carhart Street, and an infant was in the house

Brandon David Goodwin III, age 24, and Anna Christine John-son, age 19, were arrested July 31 and charged with two counts each of Abandon Endanger Criminal Child Neglect, which is a state jail felony Bond was set at $20,000 for each charge, which is $40,000 per person. Blackburn said Friday that the three children were placed in the care of grandparents. As of Tuesday afternoon, Johnson remained in cus-tody in the Donley County Jail, and Goodwin had been freed on bond.

Texas sales tax holiday this weekend

Texas Comptroller Susar Combs reminds shoppers the annual sales tax holiday weekend is scheduled for this Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, Aug. 9-11. Families can save money by not paying sales tax on most clothing, footwear and school supplies priced under $100. Lists of tax-free items can be found at www.TexasTaxHoliday.org.

Shoppers are expected to save an estimated $78.9 million in sales taxes during the sales tax holiday.

A complete list of Back to School supplies for Clarendon and Hedley students was printed in our July 25 supplement. Back issues are available at the Enterprise office, and the supplement is also available online at www.ClarendonLive.com.

As in previous years, the law exempts most clothing, footwear, school supplies and backpacks priced under $100 from sales and use taxes, which could save shoppers about $8 on every $100 they spend. Retailers will not be required to collect sales tax on most footwear and clothing that are sold for less than $100 during the holiday. The exemp-tion applies to each eligible item that sells for less than $100, regardless of how many items are sold on the same invoice to a customer. For example, if a customer purchases two shirts for $80 each, then both items qualify for the exemption, even though the customer's total purchase price ($160) exceeds $99.99. Backpacks under $100 and used by elementary and secondary students are exempt. Texas families also get a sales tax break on most school supplies priced at less than $100 purchased for use by a stu-dent in an elementary or secondary school.

CC Regents approve contracts for Amarillo center

Clarendon College Regents last week approved contractor proposals totaling $129,337 as work continues on an Amarillo cosmetology center that is expected to open this fall. During a called meeting August 1, the CC board approved bids from One Way Electric, 1-800-Plumbers, and a cabinet contractor to prepare the facility, which is being lease-purchased by the college.

CC Vice President Ray Jaramillo also reported that the building's owner had filed an insurance claim from hail damage. That claim has resulted in an unexpected $70,000 worth of improvements to the building including replacing air-conditioning units as well as doing roof and exterior repairs.

Regents asked several questions about the cost of the facility compared to what was originally projected and asked college officials to keep careful tabulation of all the expenses – including employee salaries – related to the preparation startes – related to the preparation of the Amarillo cosmetology center. Jaramillo said he fully expects to have 70 students enrolled in the center when it opens in November. In other college business, regents received an update on planned upgrades to the Livestock & Equine Center for which CC received an anonymous $275,000 gift. CC President Phil Shirley said this week that the college expects to have final drawings on the improvements this week and will know for sure what the project will cost after bids come in hopefully next month.

Also at last week's meeting, it was reported that the college had received five completed applications for the job of president and the webpage with job information had received 283 unique visitors.

Regents again considered moving the college's golf program from Division II to Division III in order to attract more international students. Regent Tex Selvidge said he didn't see how this would help and noted that all the other athletic teams at CC operate in Division I of the NJCAA. Regent Jerry Woodard also asked that college officials keep careful oversight of the athletic program to make sure everything is done correctly. The board approved moving golf from DII to DIII on a 7-1 vote with Selvidge voting nay. Regents were also brought up to date on several summer improve projects and approved the hiring of Dr. Russell Killingsworth to teach chemistry, Scott Mills as director of the Childress Center, and Bonnie Burgoyne as financial aid director.

A budget workshop followed the public meeting last Thursday, and Shirley said this week that the workshop went very well with regents asking several questions and a forum an experiment of the a focus on operating in a fiscally conservative manner and yet keeping an eye on student growth. Regents will hold a public hearing on the budget August 15.

Let's worry about school standards

By Dr. Paul Kengor

There's an intense debate right now over "Common Core," a major effort to implement a set of federal education standards in public schools nationwide. The Common Core State Standards thus far have been adopted by 45 states and the District of Colum-

Though it isn't my area of expertise, I've received numerous impassioned emails on the subject. Among them, one person's concerns particularly struck me. This person is an expert in the field of education.

She is thoughtful, serious, and no foe of public education. Her concerns especially hit how given current fears over privacy intrusions by the federal govern-ment. Those fears have swirled around the National Security Agency, the Justice Department, and the IRS. But they don't end there. There are likewise poten-tially serious privacy problems involving Common Core, which likewise relate to data collection, dissemi nation, and use

To that end, my friend is hoping to at least help kindle some public awareness. "The portion [of Common Core] that I believe is most important for raising public awareness," she writes, "is the changes to the FERPA regulations which have greatly expanded who has access to student data." FERPA is the Federal Education Rights and Privacy Act of 1974. Changes have been made to FERPA that (some believe) will leave parents unin-formed as to how their children's records are shared. "Parents seem totally unaware of what data is being collected," she adds. "In Pennsylvania it is collected under something called the PIMS system, but in other states it has different labels."

There's more. There's also the problem of a rise in "outside vendors and providers to manage stu data—again, without parental consent." How, specifically, would this happen?

For starters, the Common Core standards include avy testing component, which involves a great a h avy deal of data collection on students. Coupled with this heightened collection of student data is the prevalence of so-called "longitudinal state reporting systems." According to my friend, as part of the "Race to the Top" initiative, a prior educational initiative, states were encouraged to create "robust data collection systems." These systems were touted as a mechanism to provide school districts, state governments, and federal policymakers with more data to analyze trends in student achievement and improve educational efforts. While this might seem benign, notes my friend, we cannot ignore the sheer volume of data that will be collected and how that data might be misused. For instance, most parents have no idea that their child's "personal information" includes not just test scores but social security numbers, attendance records, records of interaction with school counselors, identification of learning disabilities, and even disciplinary records. All of this is being collected.

And yet, because such enhanced data collection exceeds the resources of many districts and states, schools will be forced to contract the service to corpo-rations that collect, manage, and store such data—and possibly share it. In other words, outside data managers must be employed to maintain this personal data on your kids. Is there any level of oversight to ensure this data is protected?

My friend writes that "this trend of data collection relates to changes in the FERPA regulations by the Education Department in 2011. These changes, made without congressional approval, now allow third party access to student dat without the consent of parents. For example, vendors, seeking to market par-ticular products, can access this data."

And there's still more, relating specifically to pri-vate religious schools. My friend adds: "One particular concern that I think speaks to Catholic interests is the rush on the part of some dioceses (and other private schools) to adopt the Common Core and buy-in to the assessments connected with such systems (and as such the data collection)."

Indeed, the Catholic press is hot on this issue, realizing the distinct impact that Common Core can have on Catholic schools—the nation's largest seg-ment of private/religious schooling. Nationwide, groups of Catholics have sprung up in protest. The National Catholic Education Association hasn't endorsed the standards, but is helping Catholic schools prepare for implementation.

Perhaps nost troublesome, all of this derives from federal/national influences, even as Common Core is instituted at the state level. As my friend states: "the push for the adoption of the state longitudinal data systems and the Common Core assessment col-lection all stem from national influences. Certainly, the changes in FERPA were undertaken through the U.S. Department of Education.

My friend sums up: "I find the level of data col-lection on individual students to be excessive, and the transparency ... to be lacking." Such data collection methods "put the federal government in a position to track student achievement in ways that have been previously unavailable due to the sheer size of data mining, and have been (until recently) safeguarded by privacy regulations. As an educator I care deeply about the ability for our nation's school children to achieve high levels of learning, yet I believe the decisions for student learning are best accomplished at the class room and school level, not the federal level." We're facing, in essence, unchecked data col-lection as part of a significant and sweeping federal educational mandate. Are we ready for this, and all its cuucauonai mandate. Are we ready for this, and all its repercussions? My friend pleads for some "public awareness and dialogue in this area." Who could object to that? — Dr. Paul Kengor is professor of political science at Grove City College.

Information War on We the People

Last week, Roger wrote an excellent editorial piece on our government's attacks on our civil liberties. After read-ing it, yours truly decided to dig a little deeper and look a little closer at our gov ernment's activities in this area. Unfor-tunately, the results of my investigation are alarming and disappointing.

There is actually a silent war afoot that the corporate media does not cover, actually the most pervasive war that could ever be waged - against us - we the people. It uses high-tech equipment and involves the largest, most powerful corporations on earth; it is vastly more profitable for these corporate allies of the US government than any previous war that has been fought or ever will be fought. It's actually scary

This war's battlefield has no barriers, and it is being fought everywhere and anywhere, including in cyberspace, and involves anyone, and everyone, who has the power to think. This war is the acquisition and control of the rich supply of information growing exponentially with the advances of science: a para noid, vigilant campaign by government (our government), across borders to ensure that no one has the franchise of knowledge, except the highest levels of national command and control. Not only is this an all-out war on anyone who has information, it is a war on the freedom to possess information, to keep it confidential, to communicate freely, and to publish. It is a war against the First Amendment rights to freedom of speech, press, and assembly. All these previously protected modes of communication are quietly under attack, and we need to be aware of what is going on. Like all wars, there is a pretext for fought to free the Iraqis from Saddam Hussein's tyrannical rule – never mind the profits amassed by the military-industrial complex (yes, the military-industrial complex that President Eisenber repeatedly warned us about).

The war in Afghanistan, we were led to believe, was a war to destroy al-Qaeda and the Taliban – never mind that the international oil companies, particularly Chevron, sought to make billions through construction of the Trans-Afghanistan Pipeline for natural gas transport across the region, and the just be another coincidence that Obama is withdrawing (most of) the US troops by 2014, when that pipeline is slated for completion Never forget that the first job of the pres ident is to help the rich get richer.

Most Americans, being naïve and trusting, have believed these pretexts, and have supported or helped to fight these wars. Well, the war to acquire and control information is the same. Most Americans believe they need to surren-der their privacy to be safe. They believe that mass, warrantless surveillance of all their e-mails, telephone calls, and Inter-net searches is intended to protect them from another 9/11 attack – or, heaven forbid, worse. They believe that they should willingly surrender their right to privacy and allow the National Security Agency (NSA) to access even their most intimate and personal electronic correspondence. They do not ask questions because it would be unpatriotic, and who would want to sell out the safety and security of a "free" nation.

The paradox of giving up one's freedom to defend one's freedom quietly perpetuates with no vigilant media to drive home the self-defeating nature of the expectation. "National security" has become the buzzword for trumping the right to control one's personal information. Yet, hardly anyone asks whether there is a more balanced approach to national security. Is it really a matter of all or nothing – either we are safe, or we retain control over our personal informa-tion, but not both?

Folks, the feds (including the Congress) are not interested in preserving citizens' rights to control their personal information. The government prefers to maintain full control of all information in their massive databases, whether or not it has anything to do with potential terrorist plots

So, be advised that the government is not merely interested in stopping ter-rorism, and it is certainly not about pro-tecting privacy. The government seeks the acquisition and control of informa-tion. With Laforentia Auronava "Total Information Awareness" tion - and it is willing to give itself the legal authority to obtain it through domestic spying on citizens of the US.

Until we the people come together, as a strong grass roots movement, and demand that the congress restore our freedoms and civil liberties, we will continue to lose precious rights. If we don't do this, it is our fault that we are no longer a free people. Remember the wise counsel of Benjamin Franklin, "Those who give up their liberties for security deserve neither."

Just last year, in May of 2012, the Obama administration permitted itself to infect the reservoir of public informa tion with government propaganda. The Smith-Mundt Modernization Act of 2012 trumps prior antigovernment propaga legislation and gives the government legal authority to spread propaganda domestically as well as abroad. In short, it is now legal for our government to lie to us

All American must insist on our privacy. We should all be willing to join petitions and class action suits to stop steady government encroachments on our privacy. We must build a strong uni-versal voice, and a public consciousness that speaks unequivocal of the urgency to protect our reservoir of information tion - both public and private. We must preserve our hard-won freedoms and the constitutional rights that protect it. Passive acquiescence is not an option.

We could use many more Edward

The Clarendon High School Cheerleaders attended camp at Tarleton State University June 17-20. The girls learned new material for the school year to help cheer the Broncos on. Bronco mascot Sarah Luttrell received an All-American nomination. Senior Emberli Holland, junior Abby Johnson, and sophomore Sterling King also received All-American nominations. The team received a bid to Nationals and got a Superior rating on the cheer they performed. The Bronco Cheer Squad is looking forward to leading the crowds this year. Clarendon Church of Christ DO YOU REMEMBER?

Do you remember drinking water from a hose and the taste of Do you remember drinking water from a hose and the taste of rubber? I do I My mother wouldn't let us drity a glass for water and didn't want us traipsing around her house. "Get outside" she would tell us during the summer. Of course we had chores to do. We worked in the garden, hoeing and picking. We hung out clothes to dry. We cut our firewood during the summer so it would be good and dry when winter came. That meant splitting and stacking also. Our yard needed mowing every 5-8days because of the amount of rain we got in the South.

because of the amount of rain we got in the South. I bet many of you can remember those "good ol' days." My parents always knew where their kids were. At dark, we knew we had better be home. Neighbors were good "spies" and would help to keep all the kids in check and safe. The biggest "crime" as a kid was for someone to sneak a dip of souff out or a cigarette that would choke us half to death as we might take a puff when it was "our turn." While we certainly weren't perfect, we just weren't involved in anything "heavy" like drugs and other harmful things that we see today. Many of us never "experimented" with anything and if we did it was around college age, where our folks couldn't see us. What has happened over the years?

For whatever reason, our standards have changed. When For whatever reason, our standards have changed. When I was young, a girl being pregnant out of wedlock was a scandal and embarrassment. There was going to be a wedding and you could bank on that! When we were old enough to have that "birds and bees" talk, I was always told that I would take care of my responsibility or be discomed. A child was to be born "with a name" and not left just for the girl to fend for. Not only does it not bother anyone but often the young man doesn't take care of big racenegibility. of his responsibility.

or his responsibility. Drugs are accepted now as if they were candy. Minors drinking alcohol often don't even try to hide the fact. Parents often enable the situation as this is the new "norm." Parents are enabling their children to have sex by providing the place and "protection." Some only provide the place and raise the grandchildren when they come. What has happened?

Jeremiah 13:25, "This is yourlot, the portion of your measures from Me," says the LORD, "Because you have forgotten Me And trusted in falsehood." We have put our trust in man's opinions and stopped walking in God's paths and we now reap the rewards. May we return to a much simpler time, made simple because of our long ago faith in God.....

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular Tuesday noon meeting August 6, 2013, with Boss Lion Ashlee Estlack in command.

We had 17 members and four guests this week – Fred Gray, guest of Lion Roger Estlack; and Savannah Topper, Minnie Buckhaults, and Jacy Hill - all candidates for Sweethear and guests of the club. Lion Chuck Robertson reported on activities at the public school, and Lion Phil Shirley updated the club on college activities.

The Boss Lion said District Governor Ryan Hodge will be at next week's meeting to talk about next April's District 2-T1 Convention, which will be held in Clarendon. Club members were also asked to mark October 18 as the date for this year's Pancake Supper.

There being no further business, we were adjourned.

Clarendon schools announce lunch policies

Clarendon CISD has announced policy for providing free and reduced-price meals for children served under the attached current income eligibility guidelines. Each school campus office has a copy of the policy, which may be reviewed by anyone on request. Application forms are being distributed to all households with a letter informing households of the availability of free and reduced-price meals for their children. Application forms will be available during reg-istration on August 12 and 13 from 6:00-9:00 p.m. in the School Cafeteria (new students on August 14 from 8:00 a.m.-12:00 p.m. and 1:00-3:00 p.m. at the respective campuses). Applications also are available at the principal's office in each school. To apply for free and reduced-price meals, households must fill out the application and return it to the school

The following criteria will be used to determine a child's eligibil-ity for free or reduced-price meal benefits:

Income - 1. Household income that is at or below the income eligibility levels; Categorical or Automatic Eligibility - 2. Household receiving Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF); or Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations (FDPIR); Program Par-ticipant - 3. Child's status as a foster child, homeless, runaway, migrant, or displaced by a declared disaster; and 4. Child's enrollment in Head Start or Even Start.

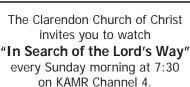

For those households that qualify for free or reduced-price meals based on income, an adult in the household must fill out free and reduced-price meal application and return it to Mike Word, Elementary Principal, PO Box 610, Clarendon, 79226, 806-874-3855. Those ΤХ individuals filling out the application will need to provide the following information: Names of all household members; Amount, frequency, and source of current income for each household member; Last 4 digits of the Social Security number of the adult household member who signs the application or, if the adult does not have a social security number, check the box for "I do not have a Social Security number;" and Signa-ture of an adult household member attesting that the information provided is correct.

Clarendon CISD is working with local agencies to identify all children who are categorically and program eligible. Clarendon CISD will notify the households of these children that they do not need to complete an application. Any house-hold that does not receive a letter and feels it should have should contact Mike Word, Elementary Principal, PO Box 610, Clarendon, TX, 806-874-3855

Applications may be submitted anytime during the school year. The information households provide on the application will be used for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may also be verified the school officials at any time ring the school year. Under the provisions of the free and reduced-price meal policy, Mr. Word will review applications and determine eligibility. House-holds or guardians dissatisfied with a request either orally or in writing to Mr. Monty Hysinger, Superinten dent, P.O. Box 610, Clarendon, TX 79226, 806-874-2062.If a household member becomes unemployed or if the household size increases, the sehold should contact the school

Workers' Compensation to offer educational session in Amarillo

The Amarillo Office of the OSHA estimates over five million Texas Department of Insurance, workplaces and 43 million employ-Division of Workers' Compensa-ees are going to be affected by the brinkin Gruphana (Compensa-tion (TDI-DWC) is hosting an edu-cational session entitled Changes to Hazard Communication Labeling and Safety Data Sheet Format on and Satety Data Sneet Format on Thursday, September 19, 2013. The educational sessions are for all Texas workers' compensation participants, including: employees, employee employee organizations, risk manag-ers, safety professionals, insurance carriers, health care providers and etternave attorney

This free session will be held from noon to 1 p.m. at the Ama-rillo Field Office, 7112 I-40 West, Building D. This training will assist employers in complying with train-ing requirements associated with recent changes to the Occupational Safety and Health Administration's (OSHA) Hazard Communication Standard, which now aligns with Standard, which now aligns with the Globally Harmonized System of Classification and Labeling of Chemicals (GHS). Employers sub-ject to the federal Occupational Safety and Health (OSH) Act must provide trai provide training to employees on the new label elements and safety data sheet format by December 1, 2013.

ees are going to be affected by the revised Hazard Communication Standard. The sessions will provide information on the labeling and safety data sheet format changes to the Hazard Communication Standard, 29 Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) 1910.1200 (also known as the "Right to Know" law), which requires manufacturers of chemicals, employers and employees to take measures to prevent illness or injury that could occur when working with hazardous materials. Employers not subject to the OSH Act must comply with the Texas Hazard Communica tion Act, Texas Health and Safety Code, Chapter 502, which references the most current requirements of the OSHA standard. Due to limited space, registra-tion is required. To register online, visit the TDI website at http://www. tdi.texas.gov/alert/event/dwceduca-tional.html.

For more information, contact the TDI Public Information Office or Teresa Rodriguez at 806-351-1222 extension 500 or Teresa.Rodriguez@ tdi.texas.gov.
