Hall will not seek reelection as judge

Donley County Judge Jack Hall announced Tuesday that he will not be seeking reelection in 2014.

Hall, who has served as county judge since 1997, said it has always been his pleasure to serve, but it was time to let it be known.

"It's that time in my life," he told commissioners during their regular meeting.

Hall's term will expire at the end of next year. He has won four elections since he was appointed to the office when former judge W.R. Christal retired.

City sales taxes up 18% this month

City coffers continue to benefit from increased economic activity this summer resulting in higher sales tax revenues.

Texas Comptroller Susan Combs made her monthly report last week, and the City of Clarendon received $31,103.91, an increase of 18.14 percent over the same period in 2012 when $26,327.62 was collected.

Clarendon is now up 24.41 percent for the calendar year-to-date with total sales tax revenue of $341,422.30 compared to $274,415.32 at this point last year.

Hedley was up 57.46 percent for the month at $274.90 and is now ahead 35.53 percent on the year-to-date at $5,469.57.

Howardwick was down 5.29 percent this month with collections of $1,472.69 but remained slightly ahead for the year, up 2.82 percent at $14,533.42.

Combs said statewide sales tax revenue in September was $2.01 billion, up 2.7 percent compared to September 2012.

"State sales tax revenue collections continued to grow at a moderate pace," Combs said. "Growth was led by collections from the construction, telecommunications and retail sectors. State sales tax revenue has now increased for 42 consecutive months."

The sales tax figures represent monthly sales made in August.

City voters can cast ballots early Oct. 21

Early voting for the City of Clarendon's special election begins Monday, October 21, to elect three new people to the Board of Aldermen.

The election will fill three vacant positions on the board. Doug Kidd is the sole candidate for one term that expires in May 2015.

Three people are vying for two other positions which expire in May 2014. Those candidates are Beverly Burrow, Wayne Cole, and Larry Jeffers.

Early voting continues through November 1 at the County Clerk's office in the Courthouse Annex.

Election Day will be Tuesday, November 5.

County to consider wind farm abatement next month

Donley County Commissioners again took no action on a proposed wind farm tax abatement when they held their regular meeting Tuesday, October 15.

The court met in closed session for about 45 minutes before reconvening in open session and taking no action. The matter will be brought up again at the court's November 12 meeting.

Prior to the closed session, Cielo Wind Power representatives Robert Peña and John Robertson met with the commissioners.

Robertson reviewed the proposed wind farm project and said that wind development opportunities are really limited to the northwestern part of the county, and the project will require a 25-mile transmission line to tie in to the power grid.

Cielo is seeking a tax abatement that commissioners seem favorable to granting, but the payments the wind power company would make to the county in lieu of taxes appears to be a point of negotiation.

The project would be at least 80 megawatts and up to 160 megawatts with a maximum of about 36 turbines, depending on their capacity. More turbines could be added in the future, but those would have to be under a separate agreement with the county.

Part of the project will be built in Gray County, where Cielo is currently working on a separate tax agreement.

Robertson said Cielo intends to either start construction or purchase five percent of the equipment for the project by January 1, 2014, in order to qualify for federal tax credits.

Safety first

Clarendon Fire Chief Jeremy Powell demonstrates how a small kitchen fire can be extinguished by simply putting a lid on it during an open house at the Clarendon Fire Hall Saturday morning. Firemen also showed how to put out larger grease fires with an extinguisher, and they also demonstrated the Jaws of Life and other rescue equipment.

Early voting starts Oct. 21 on alcohol

Donley County voters will begin going to the polls Monday, October 21, to begin deciding a local option election on the sale of alcoholic beverages in the county.

Election Day will be Tuesday, November 5, and there are several basic facts that voters need to know before going to the polls.

The Language: The alcohol question will appear on ballots countywide along with several proposed amendments to the state constitution. Voters will be asked to choose FOR or AGAINST the following option: "The legal sale of all alcoholic beverages including mixed beverages." The election for the Clarendon Board of Aldermen will be on a separate ballot.

Early Voting: Early voting on the issue begins Monday and continues through Friday, November 1, and early ballots may be cast at the Donley County Courthouse Annex.

Absentee Voting: Those

unable to vote in person during early voting or on Election Day can apply for a ballot by mail by contacting the county clerk's office or by downloading the application from <http://www.sos.state.tx.us/elections/forms/pol-sub/5-15f.pdf>. The completed application must be received (not postmarked) by October 25. Photo ID is not required to vote by mail.

Panhandle veterans take honor flight to DC

By Jeff Blackmon,
County Star-News, Shamrock

Two Donley County men were among several Texas Panhandle veterans recently who were able to see firsthand just how appreciated they are for their service to America.

In September, an Honor Flight made up of area veterans made the trip with family members to Washington, DC, to lay wreaths at war memorials, fellowship, swap war stories, and make new friends. Among those honored veterans were Joe Robinson and Bufford Holland of Donley County, both of whom fought in World War II.

The trip was made possible through America Supports You Texas, an organization committed to supporting American troops currently serving in the military and military veterans. The organization spends time throughout the year raising money for honor flights, which are designed to take veterans on a trip to Washington, DC, to visit the war memorials there and enjoy the camaraderie of other veterans.

"These flights are a sincere attempt to restore true patriotism in our country," Gene Miller, a veteran of the United States Marine Corps, said.

It was also a special chance for World War II veterans to make the trek to Washington, DC, and remember friends and family who they served with that are now gone. According to statistics provided by the National World War II museum as many as 600 World War II veterans die each day. These honor flights are a great way to honor these men and women before they are no longer living.

For a veteran to go on one of these trips they must first be nominated. After an application process and approval, the veterans may go on the trip. If a veteran needs someone to go along to care for them a "guardian" may apply to go along with the veteran. No cost is required for a veteran to attend an honor flight but a "guardian" must pay for their trip.

The agenda for the September trip was a fast and furious one. Wednesday morning the group of 143 left Amarillo airport on a chartered Southwest Airlines flight and arrived in Baltimore, Maryland. Once their the group traveled to the World War II Memorial for a wreath laying ceremony followed by a visit to the new United States Marine Corps Museum.

One special guest with the group was 14-year-old Jordan Langehenning of Panhandle, who led the group to each memorial in full dress while playing his bagpipe.

The next day the group spent time at the Iowa Jima Memorial, at Arlington National Cemetery with a wreath laying ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier followed by ceremonies at the Korean War Memorial and Vietnam War Memorial. The group also took time to visit the Lincoln Memorial, the Air Force Memorial and the memorial to Franklin Delano Roosevelt. At the Vietnam Memorial, several members of the party located the names of friends and family and made tracings to take back home.

The final day of the trip the group visited the United States Capitol where they sat on the floor of the House of Representatives and visited with United States Representative Mac Thornberry and heard an address from United States Representative and Vietnam veteran Sam Johnson.

The group then was given a tour of the capitol by Thornberry and then visited the Udvar-Hazy Center, a division of the Smithsonian Institution where several historic airplanes, including the Enola Gay, are housed. Following lunch and a wreath laying ceremony at the United States Navy Memorial, See 'Vets' on page 8.

Bulldogs launch 150+ program

The Clarendon College Men's and Women's Basketball programs are launching a marketing and community outreach campaign this week they call "150 + A Friend."

This campaign aims to find 150 loyal Bulldog fans who will commit to bring a friend to each home basketball game this season for a crowd of more than 300 at each game.

"Our gym is widely known as being one of the toughest places to play in the state, and we want this year to be legendary," Men's Basketball Head Coach Tony Starnes said. "We want the other teams to be in amazement at what kind of community support we get from 'such a small town.'"

The teams have hopes that the games will be loud, crazy, and fun for their supporters and a loud and crazy nightmare for their opponents. "We want the fire marshal to turn people away," Starnes said. "We want you to be part of the 150 and encourage you to get involved with these kids here on campus. We have a great bunch of kids."

For information on the 150 + a Friend program, contact Starnes at 806-874-4833. A schedule of home games for the CC men and women is on page ten. The community is invited to "Meet the Bulldogs" on Tuesday, October 22, at 7 p.m. in the Bulldog Gym.

Government waste stifles the world

By Richard W. Rahn

The International Monetary Fund announced this past week that it expects world GDP growth to be only 2.9 percent this year. This is below the 3.2 percent in 2012, which was below the 30-year average of about 3.6 percent, and far below the one-of-the-best recent four-year periods, from 2004 to 2007, when it averaged 5.1 percent. The differences may seem small, but the rate of GDP growth determines how quickly global poverty declines and real incomes rise.

From the end of the recession in 2009, real economic growth in the United States has averaged less than 2 percent, which means that it will take around 35 years for real income to double. Contrast this performance with the last four years of President Clinton's administration and the four years under President Reagan after the end of the 1981-82 recession, when growth averaged more than 4 percent per year. If those rates had been sustained, real incomes would have doubled in a mere 17 years. The Chinese have been doubling real incomes about every seven years because their growth rates have been ranging between 7 percent and 12 percent per year.

Global economic growth was negative in 2009 because of the almost worldwide recession. It quickly bounced back to 5.2 percent in 2010 as would be expected—but the sharp decline in the past two years is disturbing. Coming off a recession, growth rates normally are higher than average for several years, but not this time.

In America, and now in most of the rest of world, people naturally assume that they are going to live better than their parents; but until the beginning of the Industrial Revolution less than 250 years ago, this was not true for most of mankind. The only one could expect to get richer was if someone else got poorer—and so deep was that mindset we still see the remnants in those who have socialist leanings today. It was not until the later part of the 19th century that the average European city dweller lived better than those who lived in Rome 1800 years earlier. It has only been a few decades since much of Asia has enjoyed sustained real economic growth, and less than two decades since much of Africa has been on a growth path. So, looking into the reasons for the current slowdown in economic growth is much more than an academic curiosity, because slower growth means more people with inadequate food and shelter and with lack of real opportunity.

Real global growth has declined owing to government spending growing faster than the private sector in much of the world, mounting environmental and financial regulation whose costs far exceed the benefits, and monetary policies forcing misallocation of capital in the major economies.

Almost all of the developed countries are members of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD), and with the exception of China, they account for most of the world's GDP. Government expenditures as a share of GDP declined in all but three OECD countries between 1995 and 2006. This period was associated with an increase in growth in most of the developed and developing countries. After 2007, average real government spending as a percentage of real GDP rose sharply in the OECD countries; and even though it has dropped back some, it is still well above the earlier level.

Bigger government has not led to higher growth and more employment as those of the left continue to preach. In fact, just the opposite has occurred, because all too much of government spending wastes resources and discourages productive economic activity.

Extreme environmental regulation in Europe has led to a sharp increase in energy prices, causing Europeans to pay two to three times as much for electricity as Americans. High energy prices have led to lower growth, more unemployment and virtually no environmental benefit. The Obama administration, having learned nothing from the European experience, is pushing these same destructive environmental policies in the U.S. The new financial regulations spewing from the U.S. and Europe have reduced cross-border investment, thus misallocating capital from its highest and best use. Most of these regulations have not even met elementary cost-benefit tests.

The majority of the world's currencies are tied directly or indirectly to the U.S. dollar, the euro or the Japanese yen. During the past five years, all three central banks that manage these currencies have engaged in policies that keep interest rates at artificially low levels, which become, in effect, a tax on savers. The central banks are engaged in capital allocation where governments and large businesses get cheap money, which encourages them to mispend. At the same time, small and entrepreneurial businesses, which are major job creators, are starved for capital.

The reasons for the global economic slowdown are not hard to understand, and the solutions are obvious. The tragedy of our time is that most of the global political leaders have a narrow and short-term outlook, where they seek to maximize their own power at the expense of the governed. The solution to that problem is not so obvious.

Richard W. Rahn is a senior fellow at the Cato Institute and chairman of the Institute for Global Economic Growth.

Fear and loathing in the Tea Party

I often wonder about what Dr. Hunter S. Thompson, one of my favorite journalists, would have to say about the tea party types if he were still alive today. When it came to journalism, Hunter was not shy about putting forth unpopular articles, especially if they rang true, and he felt like the reading public needed to know something, even if it made them uncomfortable. The same could be said of Mike Royko, of Chicago Sun-Times and Chicago Tribune fame.

We need them today, to make it perfectly clear that you when it comes to tea party types, you can't fix stupid. Actually, I've long suspected that the tea party types are a clear and present danger to American economic prosperity. They are simply concerned about lowering their taxes, cutting business regulation, and destroying as much of the government as they can. They do this without regard, or concern, about what is best for the rest of America.

Make no mistake about it, given the chance, the right wing (Tea Party) of the Republican Party will drastically cut Social Security of Medicare. The tea party movements around the country are primarily funded by enormously wealthy individuals. Wall Street, hedge fund operators like J.W. Childs, James Simons, and Robert Arnott are among the chief contributors to these tea party groups, which actually think they are a grass roots movement, but are really honest folks who are being manipulated by the super rich.

Most of these funders (the Koch brothers) espouse an extreme libertarianism. These wealthy men stand to benefit enormously from the kind of drastic reduction in government regulations and taxes that the tea party groups and their candidates advocate. These are the same type of predatory industrialists that President Theodore Roosevelt had to deal with.

hedge fund operators, and folks like Dick Armeey are trying to do is to tap into the spirit of middle American radicalism. They support the tea party's economic libertarianism. They are "champions of economic freedom" who are for "limited government," primarily so they will be able to gouge the American consumer and rape the environment.

Here it is, the 15th of October and our Legislative and Executive Branches of government are still dysfunctional, at the peril of the total destruction of the American economy. You don't think so? Go ask a banker about what would happen if the full faith and credit of the United States was besmirched. All of them need to be taken out and horse whipped. If I was younger and still coordinated, I'd do the whipping myself. This includes the president, who has lost all credibility. Of course both houses of Congress never had any credibility to begin with and have now lost what they never had.

Why is this so, because the American tea party jihadists have taken over the Republican Party and refuse to negotiate or compromise? As one former Republican staffer says of the anti-establishment tea party groups, "They want to go in and (screw stuff) up. These non-corporate non-establishment guys—that is exactly what they are doing. And the problem with this is obvious. What next? What happens after you (screw stuff) up?"

Of course Republicans in Washington could repudiate their radical base and shun the groups that appeal to it. Such action has been suggested.

the quick, the dead, & fred
by fred gray

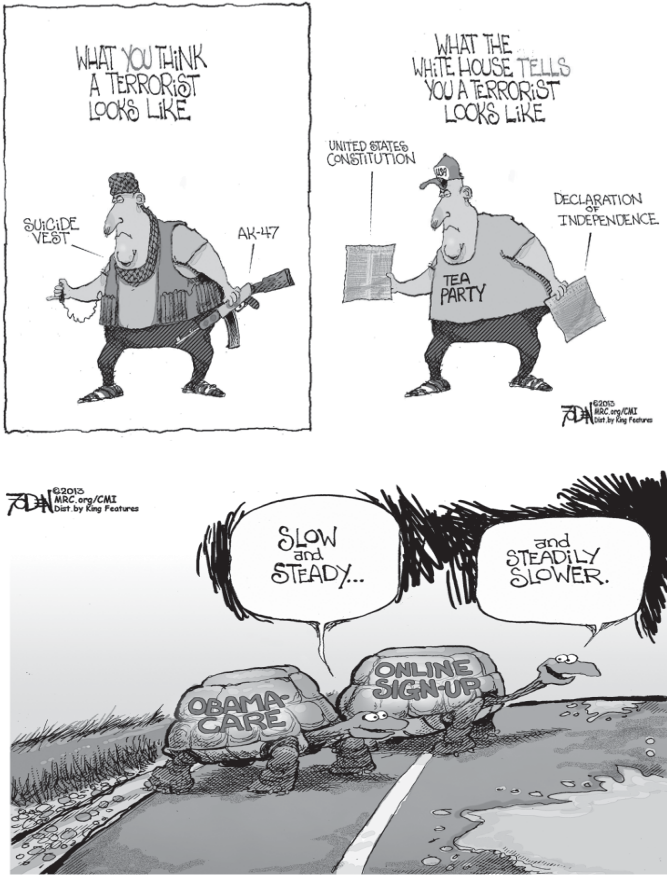

However, the question then becomes what would be the Republican base? How would Republicans win elections? Are there enough rational Republicans to make up for the loss of the radical ones? Not likely.

My Utah soccer friend, Billy Ray van Bastain, a 6'8" Dutchman, once asked me why I disliked the tea party so much. I reminded him that I had met my first tea party group when I attended a Utah Eagle Forum meeting in Provo, Utah, back in 2009. To become a member of the Utah Eagle Forum, as well as a member of the local tea party, I needed to be a Mormon, white, rich, and intolerant of diversity. In short, I had to be "anti." They were so far right that they made Barry Goldwater look like Hubert H. Humphrey.

Well, truth be known, for the most part, I'm a "pro" kind of guy; except in a few specific cases, like tea parties. I'm pro moderation in most everything. "Anti" is a word that often creates a negative frame of mind and attitude. I like most things positive.

It is infuriating that the tea party adherents can continue to disrupt any attempts at compromise. The pressure from grassroots radicals and the new tea party groups has shattered the old Republican coalition. Even the business groups in Washington, who funded the party over the last two decades, have grown disillusioned with a party that appears to be increasingly held hostage by its radical base, and by outsider groups. American newspapers are full of stories about business opposition to the shutdown strategy, and there are now hints of business organizations backing challenges to the tea party candidates. I hope they are successful.

A former aid to Tom Delay reported, "The business community has got to stand up and say we are not going to back the most destructive conservative. We are going to back the candidates that are the most rational."

UPDATE FROM THE INFORMATION SUPER HIGHWAY

Thompson needs to know the facts

Will, you are wrong about the DWIs rising if Clarendon becomes wet [Letter: October 10, 2013]. If you do some research, you'll see that "wet" counties have less DWIs than "dry" counties. You will also see, there are less alcohol related fatalities in a "wet" county than a "dry" county and less alcohol related accidents in a "wet" county than a "dry" county.

As for the alcohol being made available to minors, that part is true. You said you don't want to hear "they'll get it anyway," but obviously you don't want to hear the truth. They will receive alcohol even if the town isn't "wet." I've known parents who gave their kids alcohol which they purchased five miles away, sometimes 60 miles away.

Claude became wet; and then shortly after, a beautiful new convenience store was constructed. Why are we keeping that from Clarendon? The appearance of a town is huge for travelers! I don't know about anyone else, but I don't personally enjoy stopping in an old run down store.

Also, the money that could be made from alcohol sales is a huge amount! Events for Clarendon could be bigger and better! Sponsorships would be easier to receive. Plus, the tax revenue is greatly needed for Clarendon.

Let's take advantage of it! Or at least give it a try? Citizens of Clarendon, don't be afraid of change! Change can be a good thing. If you support the alcohol sales, then go vote for it! If you don't support it, then go vote "no." Just remember, it's an opportunity for Clarendon. Are we going to pass it up?

Gable Furniture and Upholstery closing up shop

By Shari Watson,
Hall County Herald

Eddie Gable became an apprentice under Melvin Blum in 1966. The business was upholstery. They were housed in the building where KLSR is located today in Memphis. The apprenticeship lasted two years. Eddie purchased the old Church of Christ building and moved in during 1968. Down stairs at the old church Eddie located his business. As a sideline to the upholstery business Eddie added a few pieces of furniture. That business grew and grew. So much that the entire second floor of the building became the furniture store. For a number of years Eddie was the man to see to purchase a La-z Boy recliner. Over the years he repaired all kinds of furniture, not just the upholstered pieces.

Lynda was the upholsterer's assistant as well as delivery assistant. In fact Lynda assisted Eddie with most of the different parts of the business as well as raised daughters Rhonda and Robin. The Gables were active band boosters while the girls were in the Cyclone band. Anywhere the band went so did the Gables. They also added flooring to the business. Lynda was great at coordinating carpeting and other flooring with existing furnishings.

They have also been very active in their church. The Memphis Church of Christ rarely meets without the Gables. Eddie is one of several song leaders at the local church.

Eddie and Lynda Gable

As the girls grew up and became a little more independent, they too spent many hours at the furniture store. When their parents made the decision to sell out and close, they experienced many mixed emotions. They were thrilled for their parents to begin a new chapter in their lives but sad to say good bye to the business that was such a huge part of their growing up. So many of their childhood memories were wrapped up in the furniture store.

Gable Furniture and Upholstery made their final move in 1998. The business took off. The new building had it all. Location, location, and accessibility. Not to mention the increase in space and storage.

People traveled from all over the south eastern Panhandle and beyond to purchase furniture from the Gables. Eddie can say he even received a few emergency furniture calls. New mothers with babies to rock and a broken rocker, the elderly that had a lift chair out of order were just a few of the stories about emergency calls. Lynda kept a line of crystal and accessory pieces that shoppers were always looking for. She also kept Farberware and other kitchen essentials in stock at the store.

For the past five years the Gables have been looking for a buyer for their business. There was some interest but no one really had the desire to take over the furniture selling and service business. Three weeks ago the sale began. They are open extended hours and on weekends as they work toward retirement.

Eddie and Lynda are looking forward to going home to Gables La-z Acre. They want to sit and enjoy the quiet. Sleep in on those days that are custom made for sleeping in. The Gables are looking forward to a different routine. A routine without a schedule.

Eddie has a story for every situation and so many of them are based on events that surrounded his business. After retirement settles in, he will have more time for those stories. They are looking forward to the day when going to work will no longer be their excuse. The Gables are looking forward to retirement. Their customers will now have to travel a little further for their furnishing and appliance needs. Just like the car dealers, and TV stores now you will have to travel a little further for one more thing.

Area Code scams emerge

Hi gang. Well the scammers are always targeting us of the "older generation". So now is a good time for you of the "younger generations" to check on your parents, and older friends and remind us to watch out and make sure we haven't already been scammed. Let's all walk out and not be scammed by the folks that are supporting alcohol sales for Donley County. Clarendon will be main point of sales and Clarendon residents will see most of the negative results. There are a lot of rumors floating around and one is that the Bible does not condemn alcohol. I found thirteen verses, twelve in New Testament and one on the Old Testament that do. Christians think about it.

Rumors are circulating about so-called "scam area codes." According to emails, blog posts and social media on the subject, consumers are led to believe that they will be charged thousands of dollars for accidentally calling scam numbers. That's not true. While you should always check an unfamiliar area code before dialing, here's the real story.

How the Scam Works: You get a voicemail from an unknown number. The person on the message claims there is an emergency and urges you to call a number starting with an 809, 284, 649, or 876 area code. The "emergency" varies, but common scenarios involve either an injured (or arrested) relative, an overdue bill or a cash prize to claim. When you return the call, a variety of things may happen. The scammer may try to keep you on the line for as long as possible, racking up fees on a toll number. Other times, the scammer may ask you to send money or share personal information. It seems like a normal phone scam, but what's so special about these area codes?

What's Really Happening: The 809, 284, 649, or 876 area codes are actually for international calls. (809 is the area code for the Dominican Republic). Sometimes calls between neighboring countries do not require the usual "011" international prefix; for instance, calls between the U.S. and Canada, or calls from the U.S. to the Caribbean. Callers may not realize they are dialing an international phone number. Operating outside the US provides scammers with many of benefits. For example, scammers don't have to inform callers in advance of any special rates or fees. This means that when consumers think they are dialing a normal domestic number, they may actually be calling the international version of a 1-900 number. Other times, scammers use these numbers to pretend they are based in the U.S., lending credibility to their claims. If you call a 809, 284, 649, or 876 phone number, you will be charged for an international call and potentially extra fees. However, you will not automatically wrack up thousands of dollars in charges.

How to Protect Yourself Against This Scam: Only return calls to familiar numbers. As a general rule, only call familiar area codes or do a quick Google search before placing a call.

Read your telephone bill carefully. Make sure that you have authorized all additional fees on your bill. Like with any other phone scam, the best way to protect yourself is to just hang up. If you believe that you have been scammed: Contact the carrier with whom the charge originated. The name of the carrier and the telephone number should be printed on your bill. Often, the problem can be resolved with a single phone call. If the carrier with whom the charge originated does not agree to resolve the problem, contact your carrier. They should work with you to help remove fraudulent charges.

Scammers are exploiting the Affordable Care Act (ACA) as a way to fool Americans into sharing their personal information. Many key provisions of the ACA went into effect on October 1st, so don't let confusion around the new law cause you to fall for a scam.

How the Scam Works: You receive a call from someone claiming to be from the federal government. The caller informs you that you've been selected to receive insurance cards through the new Affordable Care Act ("Obamacare"). However, before he/she can mail your card, the caller needs to collect personal information. Scammers do a lot to make their requests seem credible. For example, they may have your bank's routing number and ask you to provide your account number. Or, they may ask for your credit card or Social Security number, Medicare ID, or other personal information. Sharing personal information with a scammer puts you at risk for identity theft. Scammers can use the information they obtain to open credit cards in your name or steal from your bank account.

How to Spot a Scam and Protect Yourself: Con artists are taking advantage of the confusion and buzz surrounding the Affordable Care Act implementation. Here's what you can do to protect yourself: Hang up, don't press any buttons and, if you received a voice mail message, don't call the scammer back. We all like to have the last word, but returning the phone call may just give the con artist information he can use. The government typically doesn't call, text or email. Government agencies normally communicate through the mail, so be very cautious of any unsolicited calls, text messages or emails you receive. Also, if the government is contacting you, they should already have your basic personal info, such as your Social Security number.

Don't Trust Caller ID: Scammers have technology that lets them display any number or organization name on your screen. There is only one place to shop for a qualified health plan: www.HealthCare.gov, which is run by the FTC's Center for Medicare and Medicaid Services.

Who is Being Targeted? Anyone can be the victim of this scam, but some groups are more likely to be targeted than others. The new law has special provisions for the following groups: People 65 years or older, Persons with disabilities, Owners of small businesses.

Be safe out there.

Government officials need to wake up

Do you remember "Columbus sailed the ocean blue in fourteen hundred and ninety-two aboard the Nina, the Pinta, and the Santa Maria"? I think my second grade teacher taught that, the basis for that history lesson.

I know kids turn on their iPad or some such device and can find the story at their fingertips while I had to go to the library, check out the encyclopedia, and look up the story. With the effort it took I think the information I learned stays longer than those now. I remember paintings of those ships, Queen Isabella and her jewels and how brave Christopher Columbus was. We were taught he thought he was in India and did not realize he found a big new land mass of two continents and new oceans. What an explorer, his discovery opened the doors for the new world so I say, "Thanks, Chris."

Monday morning, three days until the debt ceiling is hit and where is the president and our congress? They must be grabbing a game of golf, out jogging or checking their stock market report because they aren't in the chambers working on a solution.

By the way, when I say "congress," I am following the meaning put down in the United States Constitution. Article one: Legislative branch section 1 reads, "All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States that consist of a Senate and House of Representatives." If some poll-taker asks me if I want to kick out members of congress and I say yes, I mean both but they seem to interpret it as only members of the house.

Let me make myself clear. The reason for this debacle lies with the lack of leadership of our president. He rejected a compromise Saturday, but he gives no plan to follow. I saw a quote from JFK that ran something like, "This is not a democratic problem or a republican problem but a United States problem. Let's work together to fix it". Well Mr. President, get out of bed, go outside past the barricades you have erected, and talk to your people and fix it.

Our condolences go out to Roy Monroe on the loss of his father known as Curly Monroe. He was a character and loved telling stories and will be missed. God Bless this family.

Hedley Cotton Festival another success

The Hedley Cotton Festival was a big success! The City of Hedley, the Lions Club, the Lioness Club, Hedley Senior Citizens and the school appreciate everyone for their support.

The winner of the Hunting Package was Andrew Vanbanel from Midland (grandson of Mark White), winner of the Lioness Club quilt was Don Springer, and the necklace set made and donated by Kathryn Ward for Lioness Club was won by Pat Chesser, who gave it to Patsy Spier for all the times she took the kids to ballgames and being a room mother to all the kids in the 60s.

Callie Hairgrove won the "Prayer Table" made and donated by Jeri Hanna. The Bake Sale for the Rowe Cemetery was also a big success.

The Lions Club BBQ went over very well along with the Hedley Senior Citizens hamburgers, corn dogs and Frito pie. The Booster Club doing the bingo games did a great job. There was a float in the parade for the Class of 1953, and seven members rode the float (Mary Ruth White's class). The Ex-student Reunion was a big success and there was a BBQ Dinner Saturday night for them catered by Steven Maddox from Memphis. It was very good and everyone had a great time.

We, as a Cotton Festival, may be small, but we are really looking forward to next year. Everyone really enjoys coming home to help our small community and to visit people that they don't get to be around very often.

Drugs in the News
Steroid Nasal Spray May Soon Be OTC
An FDA advisory panel recently voted that triamcinolone acetonide nasal spray (Nasacort AQ) can be used safely without a prescription, thereby making it an over-the-counter (OTC) medication. Nasacort AQ is a nasal spray that contains corticosteroids to primarily help reduce nasal passageway swelling associated with seasonal allergies. If the FDA approves, this will be the first corticosteroid nasal spray available over the counter in the United States. A concern that was brought up by some panel members included the lack of adequate safety information about the possible use of Nasacort AQ in children. A warning on the label may be related to potential risks for children.
Corticosteroids can be used in many different forms to help reduce swelling and inflammation. This medication can cause many bothersome side effects such as upset stomach, high blood sugar, high blood pressure, mood swings, hunger, and difficulty with falling asleep. Corticosteroids may negatively impact disease states such as diabetes, heart failure, high blood pressure, and kidney disease.

Area Red Cross issues call for new volunteers

PAMPA – The Eastern Texas Panhandle Chapter of the American Red Cross is in need of local volunteers to help serve the 13 counties in the chapter's coverage area. A new volunteer training will be held in at the Eastern Texas Panhandle Chapter on Monday, October 21, from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. The chapter is located at 108 N. Russell in Pampa.

"Our mission is critical to the communities we serve, and it is local Red Cross volunteers that make that mission possible," said Steve Pair, Executive Director, American Red Cross.

Just this year, more than 200 people across the Panhandle have been helped by the Red Cross following emergencies like home fires. "It's really a great way to give back, help serve your community and be there for those who have just had their lives turned upside down," Pair said.

The chapter is currently looking for new volunteers for its Disaster Action Team, Logistics Team and overall office help in Pampa and Borger.

"One really awesome thing about the Red Cross is that there are a variety of volunteer opportunities, if you are looking for a way to give back, we have a need and place for you," said Pair.

Anyone interested in the training is encouraged to visit www.red-cross.org/texaspanhandle and fill out the volunteer application or contact Karen Tomlinson at (806) 376-6309.

Clarendon Church of Christ MORE FACTS ABOUT BARS AND ALCOHOL

According to NCAAD (National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence):

"5.3 million adults or 36% of all people under correctional supervision (either in jail or on probation) were drinking at time of crimes committed.

"Alcohol is a factor in 40% of all violent crimes today. "Alcohol use by the offender was a factor in: 37% of rapes and sexual assaults; 15% of robberies; 27% of aggravated assaults; and 25% of simple assaults.

Now, I've heard the arguments that "People are going to drink anyway." I've heard cherry picked statistic about dry counties have as much or more DUI's because they have to drive so far to get their alcohol (which proves that many drinkers will drive under the influence). Here's a stat for you, Clarendon has 0% bar fights as of right now. Clarendon has 0% shootings in bars and their parking lots right now. There are no drugs being sold in Clarendon bars as of now.

Let me share with you just a microscopic sliver of what goes on at the bars in Amarillo:

"March 12, 2013, employee of Midnight Rodeo in Amarillo shot in back. March 25th, gunshots were fired in the parking lot of Midnight Rodeo. An arrest was made with the shooter and there were underage drinkers involved. April, 2013, two people are shot, one dies at Rounders Club in Amarillo. Records show that 40 calls to police over the last 3 years at this establishment alone for: disorderly conduct ranging from fighting, assault with deadly weapon, shooting, etc. July 2010, Shooting at Sorority House nightclub. Fighting led to police called and 17 year old (underage drinking) waving a gun at police until shot 4 times in parking lot. Neighbor told reporters they were scared to live near there as there is fighting and shooting frequently. Records show that from January to July at this establishment there were 20 calls for the police.

Sept. 14, 2012, four were arrested at Tatum's Night Club. Police were attacked and a riot ensued. Many officers were struck until riot was put down. August 12th, 2013, police respond to a call from Las Chakalozas Night Club. Two men were beaten, one of them died. August 2011, police were called to Wild West Tejano Club. A fight was in progress during the call. One of the men leave the scene, thought to be carrying a gun. Later the man was picked up with 3 bags of Ice (illegal drugs) and a pistol.

I could have gone on and on. These are facts, not innuendo. You can Google this, call the police station in Amarillo as I did, go on news' outlet sites, online, and get tons more of this garbage. And, this is what you want in Clarendon? God help Butch and all of his deputies who will have to put their lives in danger for a few to have a drink. I beg someone to defend this in print, don't cower in the shadows. Let your voice be heard! Even better, maybe some of the proponents of this will ride with Butch and Randy or others when they respond to "shots fired" at one of our new bars. Sarcasm, you bet! I don't want to attend a funeral or go to visit folks at the hospital who are innocently hurt or just doing their job. Remember this, most of the shootings take place in the parking lots. Bullets don't have GPS and don't care who they hit.

Now, if you believe that you can defend this and that the Lord is ok with it, you're fooling yourself. You didn't read about fights, assaults, or shootings in Fred's commentary on the Lord attending a wedding feast, did you? Folks do what's right for your community and your own loved ones. The next generation doesn't need to grow up in Clarendon having to get used to what goes on with the bar scene. Matthew 7:12 is the Golden Rule. Please don't do this to your neighbors. Thank you.

Brady plans to attend Texas Tech University and major in Graphic Design.

This year the TILF awarded 411 new scholarships and will renew 179 multi-year awards for a total of 590 scholarships being distributed during the 2013-14 academic year, with a value of over $1.1 million. Recipients must attend any approved college or university in Texas.

Eighth grade Colts pull out win against WT

The eighth grade Colts dug in deep last Thursday in their game with West Texas in Bronco Stadium and pulled out an 8-6 win.

That was the score of the game at halftime as neither team added points to the board in the second half of play.

The lone score came for the Broncos when Colt Wood took it in from five yards out for the touch-down and added the two-point conversion as well.

According to coach Brandt Lockhart, Randy Aguilar and Wood each had a fumble recovery, and Zach Caison, Aguilar, Andy Davis, and Damarjae Cortez did a good job on defense. Lockhart also added that Josh Cobb, Nathan Shadle, and Caison did a good job running the ball.

"We did a good job of moving the football but were unable to put it in the end zone," Lockhart said. "The defense played well for four quarters against a good West Texas team."

The seventh grade Colts played a great game as well, but fell short 0-14. Despite the loss, coach Brad Elam thought the Colts are making progress.

"I was proud of the way the kids played hard," Elam said. "We are playing some kids out of position and played a couple of injured kids who gutted it out so we could play. We did some positive things on offense, just were unable to score. We completed several passes to different players. I thought our defense played well. Dalton Benson picked off a pass and Cameron Smith and Ryan McCleskey added many tackles."

Both Colt teams will take on Panhandle on the road Thursday, October 17, at 5:00 p.m.

Hedley Owls shred Kress Kanagroos

By Fred Gray

Last Friday, the Hedley Owls travelled to Kress and commenced to shred the Kangaroos, 57-12.

After a slow start, the Owl offense swooped and soared, around, over, and through the Kress defense, pretty much scoring at will. They gained over 300 hundred yards on 40 carries, and ran the ball for five touchdowns. In the air, the Owl offense covered 90 yards on four pass attempts, resulting in three completions and two touchdowns.

Klaton Moore ran wild, gaining 207 yards on 9 carried, putting him up there with Johnny Football, down in Aggie Land. He also scored 4 touchdowns. Seth Ruthardt pretty much ran over the entire Kangaroo defense while bulling his way for 32 yards on 5 touches, most of it in a cloud of dust. Denver Chambliss slashed his way for 55 yards on 3 carries.

The passing game enhanced the running attack by keeping the Roo defenders honest. Sophomore Clay King was 2 for 4, for 35 yards and a touchdown. Rooster Moore, also a sophomore, was 1 for 1 for 55 yards. Both Seth Ruthardt and Denver Chambliss caught touchdown passes, the former was for 25 yards and the latter was a 55 yarder.

Special teams contributed to the victory too. Klaton Moore returned a kick-off for a 56 touchdown.

Defensively, the Owls continued to swarm to the ball, aggressively gang tackling the Kangaroo ball carriers. Rooster Moore had 2 tackles and 2 assists; Denver Chambliss added 2 tackles and 10 assists (leading the team in assists); Seth Ruthardt pounded out 3 tackles and 9 assists from his linebacker position; Arden Haught was aggressive all night with 5 assists; Kyle Lindsey added 3 tackles and 8 assists from defensive end position; Jake Owens added both a tackle and an assist to the Owls' defensive efforts.

Coach Shely said that the Owls played a good all-around game.

This week is a bye week, and the Owls travel to Motley County on Friday, October 25th.

Broncos cream West Texas

By Sandy Anderberg

The Clarendon Broncos traveled to Stinnett to take on the West Texas High Comanches and came home with a huge 34-6 win to go 1-0 in District play. The Broncos are 2-3 overall. Quarterback Chance McAnear got things going for the Broncos early in the first period when he scored on a three-yard run. JoJo Cartwright answered back with a great interception and ran it back 35 yards for another touchdown to go up 14-0 in the first quarter of play.

"It was a good win for us," head coach Gary Jack said. "We jumped on them early in the first quarter and never looked back."

Caleb Cobb added another six on a 1-yard run in the second quarter, and Charles Mason finished out the scoring for the Broncos in the second half on short runs to give the Broncos the win.

"We got going early," Jack said. "And that helped our confidence. It was good to see."

Defensively, the Broncos held WT to 89 total yards while their offense racked up 312 total yards. McAnear passed for 143 yards going 15/28. According to Jack, several Broncos played great defense.

"Bryce Hatley, Dustin Crump, Taylon Knorpp, David Johnston, Cartwright, Brandon Miller, Zack Watson, Zach Cornell, and Cedrick McCampbell had good games defensively. Miller and Johnston each caused a fumble in the game to help give Clarendon the edge."

Jack knows next week will be a test for the Broncos when Panhandle comes to town.

"This was a good week for us, but next week will be a big challenge. But we'll just keep getting better."

The Broncos will take on Panhandle at home Friday, October 18, beginning at 7:00 p.m. in Bronco Stadium.

Bronco JV beat West Texas

The Clarendon Broncos were the stronger team last Thursday night at home as they took on and soundly defeated West Texas High, 16-0.

Chance Lockhart and Joseph Jaramillo teamed up to strike first when Lockhart threw a 20-yard pass to Jaramillo for six points. Lockhart was then on the receiving end on a pass from Riley Shadle to add the bonus, which gave the Broncos the halftime lead. After a scoreless third quarter, Clint Franks scored on a five-yard run and Shadle racked up the two-point conversion.

"Shadle and Franks did a good job running the ball," coach Brandt Lockhart said. "The offensive line of Marshal Johnson, Seth Greer, Nicholas Shadle, Cooper Bilbrey, Jonathon Taylor, and Jack Moore did a good job of blocking. Our defense was outstanding for the entire game."

Riley Shadle grabbed an interception and Greer had a fumble recovery.

"Our defensive player of the game was Nick Shadle," coach Alton Gaines said.

There will be no JV game this week due to low numbers for the Broncos.
