City enacts new garage sale permit ordinance

Garage sales in the city limits will now require a permit following the meeting of the Clarendon Board of Aldermen last Tuesday, October 28.

City officials began looking at garage sales after complaints about a "perpetual garage sale" being held on US 287 last month. That sale, being operated by Lynn Floyd, has since been resolved, but city leaders wanted rules in place to prevent future problems.

In drafting Ordinance 439, aldermen rejected requiring any fees to be collected for a permit and also struck requirements that would have limited the hours of operation of a garage sale.

Alderman Larry Jeffers said he saw enforcement issues with a permit.

City Secretary Machiel Covey said the state comptroller's office limits the number of garage sales per address to two per year, and sales may not exceed three days.

The city ordinance covers all sales entitled "garage sale," "lawn sale," "attic sale," "rummage sale," "flea market sale," or "any similar casual sale of tangible personal property, not associated with a commercial business properly licensed to do business in the City which is advertised by any means whereby the public at large is or can be made aware of the garage sale."

The free permit from City Hall is obtained by filling out an application stating the name of the person who is having the sale, the address of such person, the location of the sale, and the dates of the sale. A copy of the permit shall be posted in a conspicuous place during the time and at the place where the sale is being held.

Sale items must be removed from the yard, lot, driveway, or other location in view of the public no later than 24 hours after the garage sale ends.

Violators can face a fine of up to $50.

Red River Inn undergoing $400k makeover

Clarendon's Best Western Red River Inn will soon have a new look inside and out as hotel owner Steve Hall carries out a $400,000 renovation of the facility.

The hotel which opened in February 2004 was upgraded to Best Western Plus status about two years ago. The improvements to the hotel are part of that rating, but Hall said he would have wanted to renovate the 10-year-old facility anyway.

"It's necessary to this business to stay fresh and new and give the consumer what they deserve," Hall said. "The consumer today is also a lot more discerning now than in the past."

Planning for the renovation began in the middle of 2013, and much of the interior has been renovated since that time.

Wallpaper has been replaced by new textured and painted walls, and new tile has been laid in the lobby and breakfast area. New furniture is currently in storage waiting to be installed, and other new finishes such as curtains are on the horizon.

"The interior is being entirely with the exception of the pool area," Hall said.

The first exterior work was done earlier this year when the driveway was replaced with stamped and colored concrete.

Workers on scaffolding are now resurfacing the exterior EFIS to give the building a new color scheme that is expected to be completed in two to three weeks.

Next on the remodeling agenda, stonework will be added to the façade of the building, and then LED uplighting will be added to the east side of the hotel.

"This will give us a fresh, updated look," said Hall, who has owned the property since 2005.

Hall says he's built a lot of repeat customers over the years, and the Red River Inn has a commitment to customer satisfaction that is reflected in surveys of Best Western guests.

Out of some 2,000 Best Western properties in the United States, Clarendon's Red River Inn is ranked in the top ten percent for overall guest satisfaction.

Hall's personal philosophy drives that commitment to service.

"I want to operate the best, nicest place we can," he said.

Hysinger leaving CISD for Dumas

Clarendon ISD Superintendent Monty Hysinger was named the lone finalist to be the next superintendent at Dumas by the Dumas ISD Board Wednesday night, October 29.

Hysinger, who is in his 16th year at Clarendon, told the ENTERPRISE that the move is a good opportunity for him but that moving will be bittersweet.

"It won't be easy leaving Clarendon," Hysinger said. "The staff here are like family. I feel like the district is in good shape, and we'll just need to find a good person to take it and lead it."

Dumas must wait 21 days to before formally hiring Hysinger. That's expected to happen on November 19.

Clarendon school trustees will hold their next regular meeting November 13 and will meet with Region 16 officials to discuss search options.

Hysinger said he will start in Dumas sometime in January, but the exact date will be coordinated with Clarendon ISD so that interim superintendent is in place here.

"We want to make sure we transition in a good way," Hysinger said.

Hysinger has spent 27 years in education and has been in Clarendon since 1999.

The move to Dumas will take him from a school system here with 480 students to a district with about 4,500 students. But Hysinger said he plans to stay in touch with the people of Clarendon and the community that will always be his kids' hometown.

"It's been a great ride and an exciting time."

Veterans services planned

Veterans who have served America's armed forces will be honored next Tuesday, November 11, and several local activities have been planned in connection with that national holiday.

Clarendon Elementary students will hold a special music program at 12:15 p.m. next Monday, November 10, in the Bronco Gym.

The American Legion Post 287, Adamson-Lane Post at Hedley, will have its annual Veterans Day Service on Tuesday, November 11, at 10 a.m. at Rowe Cemetery west of Hedley.

The ceremony will take place at the American Legion Veterans Memorial located at the north gate of the cemetery, where 234 veterans are buried.

The Post will place American flags on each veteran's grave to honor each and every veteran.

The program will be a patriotic event to honor all veterans, living or deceased. There will be a special event to honor those that are still prisoners of war, still interned in a foreign country, or those that are still declared missing in action. The public is invited to attend this special event.

In the event of adverse weather, the ceremony will move to the Hedley Lions Club building on Main Street in Hedley.

Following the Legion service, Hedley Public School will also recognize veterans at the school.

Also on Tuesday, the Donley County Memorial Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will hold a service at 11 a.m. at the Donley County War Memorial on the Courthouse Square.

Tuesday night, the public is invited to attend a Veterans Day service at the Clarendon College Harned Sisters Fine Arts Center at 7 p.m. Donley County Judge-elect and US Navy Capt. John Howard will be the featured speaker for the evening.

Give a roar!

The Clarendon Lions Club held its 92nd annual Charter Banquet Tuesday, October 28, and several Lions were recognized for their service to the club. Shown here are District Gov. James Mahaffey, past president and Lion of the Year Ashlee Estlack, Lion Sweetheart Abby Johnson, 30-year member Lion Jerry Woodard, and 10-year member Lion Russell Estlack.

A Sabbath remembered, kept smoky Surely they were not actual sounds from a flesh-and-blood ox with nostrils flared, disrupting the order of a Sunday morning. But the bellowing – imagined or not – sounded like a wounded beast reduced to his knees in surrender to a “week that was.”

Yelling to be heard above the bellows, I informed my wife, kids and grandkids – all scurrying about to make church on time – that I’d remain at home.

Bone weary, I claimed “king’s X” – ox in the ditch, you know. It’s a card I’ve rarely played. I’d remain pajama-clad at home, comforted by coffee refills and Sunday morning sports pages. I volunteered to have lunch ready, though – two truly giant pizzas and a tossed salad....

Shakespeare warned of slips ‘twixt cups and lips. Still, the perfect storm – which could have resulted in a house reduced to ashes – seemed severe penance for missing a single church service.

My misadventure had such innocent beginnings. I was a bit careless placing the pizzas on the oven racks, not realizing that Aldi’s giant pizzas are two inches wider than other brands. Therefore, each pizza must be placed perfectly on the rack. A three-inch overhang – out of view in back – can have serious consequences.

The family’s return home coincided with smoke curling from the oven. That’s when my world – in fast forward mode – turned to mush....

Just as they arrived, I flicked on the fan above the oven.

This made the combusting pizza drippings combust faster, and in the next couple of minutes, son-in-law Kyle scattered a box of baking soda over flames lapping from the oven’s innards, emptied a fire extinguisher and suggested a call to the fire department.

My wife dialed 9-1-1, daughters Jana and Jeanie corralled dogs and kids, and I mostly wrung my hands....

Kyle subdued the fire about the time the Burselon Fire Department truck arrived, some three minutes after the call. The firemen inspected the area, congratulated him for expertly extinguishing the blaze, carried the stove into the garage and bade us farewell.

Massive cleaning of residue from surfaces began; an order was placed for take-out tacos.

I rescued a couple of pieces of pizza – the ones I’d placed green olives on as grand substitutes for black ones – and urged others to join me. Alas, despite the pizzas miraculously “done to a turn” status, their “nays” drowned out my “aye.” There were mutterings about dangers of ingesting food where names could be written in the ash-coated residue....

It was a dreadful way to end a homecoming weekend, one in which my wife and I had crowded a half-century of memories into two days. We don’t often have the opportunity to celebrate 125 years of anything, but so it was in Brownwood for Howard Payne University’s observance.

It is a place I have loved for almost half of its existence, one which granted my first collegiate degree. I served on its Board of Trustees, and ultimately as president and later chancellor.

I had planned to write of alumnus Dr. Dan Crawford’s clever remarks at the luncheon for 50th anniversary graduates, and other fun things. The kitchen mishap has caused postponement....

A story provided by new friend Dan Russo will be shared now, however. A former FBI official who served 27 years – and knew five US presidents “up close” – recounted a tale of legendary J. Edgar Hoover, the FBI’s first director.

Mr. Hoover redefined eccentricity. His foibles were many and well known by others in the Bureau. Few along his trail ever crossed him, and the few who tried did so at their peril.

All FBI figures knew well that their director decreed that all correspondence sent to him must include wide margins, 1.5 inches at top, bottom and sides, to be exact. This allowed him room to make marginal notes before returning to sender....

On one occasion, the Special Agent in charge of the Dallas Field Office sent a memo, momentarily forgetting about wide margins. It was almost devoid of margins.

Hoover returned it with this single notation: “Watch the borders.”

The agent sent 50 agents to the Rio Grande, where they awaited further instructions.... My “further instructions” are to stay out of the kitchen....

Self-interest drives our voting habits

Now that we’ve completed yet another expensive, divisive, and exhausting election, it’s easy to view our society as being divided into warring factions of liberals, conservatives, and wacky outliers. However, this view may oversimplify the reasons behind our political differences and motivations for voting.

Very few people, especially the ones I know, are ideologically pure, and most of them certainly don’t base their opinions on abstract ideologies and principles. Most people are more strongly swayed by the effects of policies on their lives, their family’s lives, and the lives of their wider circle of friends. Our views, for the most part, are based on self-interest.

My point may make sense to most folks, but it is pretty much ignored by many political scientist types who focus on other explanations: such as parents and friends, colleges and universities, political parties and leaders, and that abstract and nebulous catchall - “values.” Even so, the most honest explanation, demographics, is also the most persuasive.

Consider the following: Unemployed people are more than twice as likely as people working full time to want unemployment benefits increased. No great surprise here. Also, it seems that black folks are by far the most likely supporters of affirmative action, and lots of government help for black folks. Rich white men, on the other hand, are highly likely to oppose income redistribution. Granted, there are many exceptions, from black conservatives like Ben Carson and Herman Cain, to wealthy folks like Warren E. Buffett and Bill Gates, as atypical as they are.

Of course, self-interest is not limited to economics. For example, people who want to make love but don’t want babies are likely to support policies that ensure access to birth control and abortion. Immigrants often favor easier immigration policies. Gays and lesbians are far more likely to oppose discrimination based on sexual orientation. Non-Christians are more likely to oppose discrimination based on religion. Those who flourish under meritocracy — smart people who are well educated and excel on tests — are much more likely to want to reduce racial-based preferences - programs like affirmative action.

Focusing on self-interest goes a long way to explaining why seventy-five percent of people who went to church as children don’t attend church in their 20s. The young people most likely to abandon the church are those engaging in lifestyles involving the use of alcohol, recreational drugs, premarital sex, and people living together that religious conservatives frown upon.

Self-interest also explains the economic views held by college-educated people. Most end up leaning to the right on tax-and-spend issues, and primarily thanks to the advantages that a college education provides they usually have higher incomes. Despite their early socialization, as people age and start making their own decisions, their religion and political beliefs usually align with their interests.

Democrats and Republicans also have another big difference: their commitments to policies that favor some groups over others; Democrats usually favor policies that offer advantages to racial minorities, immigrants, gays, and non-Christians. Therefore, they attract members of these groups. Republicans, on the other hand, usually support policies that offer advantages to the middle and upper classes, and most white folks.

Which brings us to the question: What about working-class whites who vote Republican? Research re-affirms what previous scholars have pointed the quick, the dead, & fred

by fred gray

out: those voters do not ignore their economic interests. Over the past 10 years, among whites with household incomes in the bottom fifth, there have been roughly four Republican voters for every five Democratic ones. Among the top fifth, there are around eight Republican voters for every five Democratic voters.

Basically, when native-born white folks, who are less-educated and heterosexual Christians, vote for Republicans, they’re not necessarily ignoring their best interests. They are simply simultaneously holding conservative views on discrimination issues, and liberal views on tax-and-spend issues. They usually don’t vote, but when they do, they often split evenly between the parties.

Black churchgoers are similarly divided — conservative on lifestyle and social issues, liberal on economic ones — but tend to favor Democrats.

If the United States actually set policy simply by polling its citizens, it would look much different. There would be more spending on the poor, health care, Social Security, and education. Immigration would be dramatically reduced, school prayer would be allowed, and anti-American speech by Muslims would be banned. Abortion would be legal in cases of rape and fetal deformity, but illegal if the abortion was a form of birth control, by being poor, or by being single.

Why doesn’t America look like this? Mainly because decisions at the federal level often result in conservative economic policies, and liberal social policies. That’s because they are the result of one group of highly educated, wealthy representatives negotiating with another, similar group - and the policies that result reflect their own core interests.

The men with the gold make the rules, with very few exceptions. Next up is the 2016 presidential election. Gird yourselves.

Honor bravery of American heroes

By Trey Appfel

Our nation is founded on the principles of law and is proud of the military tradition it continues through the men and women who gallantly serve us. Every day, they put their lives on the line and fight with valor, tenacity, and loyalty to preserve the freedoms that we are accustomed to.

Yet, through their many sacrifices, these honorable members of our Armed Forces face many challenges. On a single night last year, researchers counted nearly 58,000 homeless veterans across our nation, including almost 4,000 in Texas. Veterans also face a lack of affordable housing options, suffer symptoms of post-traumatic stress disorder, and experience difficulty with legal issues pertaining to disability benefits, corrections of military records, and compensation and pension claims.

Sensing that need, then-State Bar President Terry Tottenham of Austin, a retired Marine, helped launch Texas Lawyers for Texas Veterans, a program to develop and assist with pro bono legal clinics throughout the state for military veterans who otherwise cannot afford or lack access to the legal services they need. Since the project’s launch four years ago, approximately 4,000 volunteer attorneys have assisted more than 13,000 veterans through local bar associations’ legal clinics, addressing issues such as bankruptcy, housing, employment, wills and estate planning, and landlord-tenant disputes. In Texas, more than 55 local bar associations host weekly, monthly, bimonthly, or annual legal advice clinics for veterans, and the State Bar has shared the program with attorney organizations and pro bono groups in 25 other states.

Last year, the Texas Young Lawyers Association, part of the State Bar of Texas, produced two informative pamphlets – Resources for Veterans Seeking Help and Resources for Lawyers Assisting Veterans – and distributed them to more than 13,000 veterans and nearly 3,400 lawyers. To reach veterans in rural areas, the association hosted two free legal advice clinics in Gillespie and Van Zandt counties, where members of the TYLA Board of Directors offered legal counsel and informational guides and drafted medical and financial powers of attorney to more than 30 veterans.

In May, the Texas Access to Justice Commission raised more than $351,000 through its annual Champions of Justice Gala to help provide civil legal services to veterans with limited incomes. The State Bar of Texas paid expenses at the event to make sure every penny of the proceeds went to help veterans get the legal help they need.

Also, as part of the Library of Congress Veterans History Project, the State Bar is joining with the Texas Court Reporters Association and local bar associations to record veterans’ oral histories. To date, the partnership has resulted in more than 200 interviews with veterans in Austin, Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Dallas, Edinburg, Fort Worth, Hillsboro, Houston, Rockwall, and San Antonio.

Attorneys play a crucial role in helping our veterans as they provide the legal assistance they need. Attorneys are always welcome to get involved in a legal clinic in their community. For a complete listing of upcoming legal clinics and other resources, visit texasbar.com/veterans.

In 1919, President Woodrow Wilson declared Nov. 11 the first Armistice Day, commemorating the agreement between the Allied Nations and Germany that brought an end to fighting in World War I. Armistice Day became a legal holiday in 1938, and since 1954 we have known it as Veterans Day.

John F. Kennedy once said, “As we express our gratitude, we must never forget the highest appreciation is not to utter words, but to live by them.” As we celebrate Veterans Day this year, let us honor the bravery, heritage, and tradition of America’s heroes – the men and women who tirelessly risked their lives for our freedoms. We owe it to them to make a huge impact in their lives as they justly have in ours.

Protect yourself from the flu

By Marshall Dawer M.D. M.S. F.A.C.P. ABEM

Market Medical Director, UnitedHealthcare of North Texas

Cooler weather, football and falling leaves – the classic signs of fall are upon us, which means flu season has also arrived.

Influenza – or the flu, as it is commonly known – is a serious disease that can lead to hospitalization and sometimes even death. About 5 percent to 20 percent of U.S. residents get the flu each year, according to the U.S. Department of Health & Human Services.

The flu costs the United States more than $87 billion annually and is responsible for the loss of about 17 million workdays and substantial classroom time each flu season, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

Unfortunately, the flu is not just a cause of missed work and school. Every year, thousands of people die from Influenza and its complications, and more than 100 of the victims this past year were children - twenty of them here in Texas.

The best way to protect yourself and reduce your chances of getting the flu is to get a flu vaccine. According to the CDC, everyone who is at least 6 months of age should get a flu vaccine. Getting vaccinated is especially important for people who have certain medical conditions such as asthma, diabetes or chronic lung disease, and for pregnant women, young children and people 65 and older.

Despite the evidence and recommendations, many people won't get vaccinated this year – which makes it more likely they will get and transmit the flu. That puts your own personal health and well-being at risk, and it could increase the chances of your family, friends, co-workers and neighbors getting sick, too.

Consider the following:
The flu shot is not expensive.

In most cases, the cost of a flu shot is covered by your health plan, whether you buy health insurance on your own or are covered through your employer, Medicare or Medicaid. More employers are now offering free onsite flu shot clinics at the office. The financial and personal costs and the potential for missed days of work or school from the flu far exceed the cost of the vaccination.

Young, healthy people get the flu, too.

Influenza does not discriminate against age or health habits. Just because you're young or don't typically get sick doesn't mean you can't catch the flu. You can catch the flu from someone who has yet to exhibit any signs or symptoms of being sick.

Getting the flu shot vaccine is fast, easy and convenient.

Getting a flu shot takes no more than five minutes. Most neighborhood pharmacies even offer walk-in options, so you don't need to make an appointment. If you are unemployed or your employer doesn't offer flu shots, you can go to your primary care doctor or nearby wellness clinic, most retail pharmacies or contracted flu shot providers.

To find a list of flu shot providers near you, visit Flu.gov (<http://www.flu.gov/prevention-vaccination/vaccination/index.html>) and enter your zip code.

Take Preventive Measures

In addition to getting vaccinated, please remember to take preventive measures like washing your hands regularly to help reduce the spread of germs. And if you are sick with the flu, stay home to prevent spreading flu to others.

Flu season runs from October through May with most illnesses occurring just in time for the December holiday season. Now is the time to make your and your family's health a priority. Get a flu shot. If you do, you'll likely be able to enjoy the fall and holidays a little more.

Houston will drop subpoenas for sermons

By Edgar Walters, The Texas Tribune

Houston Mayor Annise Parker announced Wednesday that the city will withdraw subpoenas it sent to five pastors who opposed a rule banning discrimination against gays and lesbians.

The subpoenas drew fire from conservative groups across the country, which called them an attack on religious liberty and freedom of speech.

The controversy emerged during a legal battle over the Houston Equal Rights Ordinance, known as HERO, which expanded the city's ban on discrimination to include sexual orientation and gender identity.

At a press conference, Parker said withdrawing the subpoenas was in the city's best interest.

"Protecting the HERO from being repealed is important to Houston, but I also understand the concerns of the religious community regarding the subpoenas," she said in a press release. "Today's move refocuses the discussion and allows us to move forward."

Conservatives said the announcement was a victory for religious liberty.

"Today's decision is welcome news and long overdue," said U.S. Sen. John Cornyn, a Texas Republican. "The First Amendment guarantees a right to free speech and religious freedom for all."

The subpoenas, sent to some outspoken pastors and religious leaders who had opposed the ordinance, had asked for "all speeches, presentations, or sermons related to HERO, the Petition, Mayor Annise Parker, homosexuality, or gender identity prepared by, delivered by, revised by, or approved by you or in your possession."

Parker has said that the controversy was based on a misunderstanding. The goal of the subpoenas, she said earlier this month, was to see if there were any specific instructions given by pastors about how to fill out a petition challenging the ordinance. She suggested that the outrage over the word "sermon" in the subpoenas may have been due to "deliberate misinterpretation."

The ordinance applies to businesses that serve the public, as well as city contractors and municipal workers. The City Council approved it in May after an intense public debate.

In August, city officials announced that an effort by conservative activists and pastors to put the ordinance's repeal to voters failed to draw enough signatures. Opponents of the ordinance later took the issue to the courts, alleging in a lawsuit that the city inappropriately disqualified some of the signatures.

Auto Accident and ID Theft Scams

Hi, gang! Have you ever witnessed an auto accident? If so – or maybe if it happens in the future, you probably won't be surprised to be asked to provide your contact details in case your evidence is needed for an insurance claim or even a court case. But if that happens, beware! You may be being lined up for a new type of ID theft.

In this trick, scammers turn up at accident scenes claiming to be police accident investigators. They may not only speak to witnesses but also to those who are actually involved in the incident, asking to see driver's licenses, insurance and other documents, as well as names, addresses and Social Security numbers.

This is quite a stack of useful information for a crook. An insurance specialist in Las Vegas, who recently stumbled across this scam, said the information could be used for insurance fraud as well as ID theft.

"If some strangers ask you for things, I would be leery of that," the agent said. In most states, the law does not require witnesses to give any information other than their name and address to police; and you can usually be pretty sure who is a police officer – they'll normally turn up in uniform and in a marked car. If they don't, ask to see identification before parting with this information.

If you're actually involved in an accident and have to show your bob's whittlin'

license and exchange insurance information, make sure you only give this and any other required information to the other driver and confirmed police officers.

Alert of the Week

Don't be fooled by a supposed call from your power company saying your meter needs to be replaced with a special new set-up – and that you have to pay for it right now by credit card.

It's the latest variation of the phony power company scam in which victims are told they must settle an unpaid bill, only this one seems more convincing.

If your electric meter has to be replaced through no fault of your own, you won't have to pay – and even if you did, you'd get a bill after it was installed, not before.

Stay safe out there.

'Birthday' changes with age

This week I am writing about birthdays. Everyone has them. I have pictures of the kids' first birthday, the child with chocolate smeared on the face looking at the camera person acting crazy. The word "birthday" means nothing to that child until they are about five years old, then they begin to understand; party, cake, gifts. As a person ages, the birthday doesn't matter as much, and the adult had rather forget they are growing older. As you grow older still, you appreciate that birthday and thank Jesus every morning for waking up.

My oldest great-grandson Erik, is 12 today and is so excited; party, cake, gifts. What gift does a great-grandmother get him? This birthday means he is almost a teen and is growing up in a world almost alien to me with the electronic wish-lists. I hope I give a gift he loves and remembers more than a day, whatever I give will be with love and that is the main gift.

Happy birthday, Erik, and many more.

I hope you remembered to vote. If not, shame on you! Don't complain if you didn't vote!

Helping hands

Cub Scouts clean up city park

Last Wednesday Den 3, Roger Estlack's Wolf den, got together and we brought gloves and we picked up all the trash that was in the park and we put it in trash bags. Me and my cousin Daniel found a shoe on the brick wall by the ally. We also found a lot of plastic bags. The den put the trash in the Dumpster and I had to move a limb. Then we gave our gloves back to my dad, and we got to play for a little bit. I really like the two merry-go-rounds and the new playground equipment.

Last Friday on Halloween, we went to the pumpkin patch and me and Mason got us two pumpkins and a bag of pumpkins that had two small pumpkins in it. Then we went back to class and did our normal thing. During math our teacher called us down to measure our pumpkins. We measured them with string and then used a measuring tape to measure the string. Later in the day we had a Halloween party in my class. We got goodie bags that all kinds of yummy stuff in it.

After the pumpkin activities, they went to the Clarendon Arts Festival and saw all the lovely art work.

Drugs in the News

Needle-Free Flu Vaccine

The PharmaJet is described as a needless device that helps administer one of the injectable flu vaccines for those who are nervous about vaccine administration with a needle. This needle-free technology helps healthcare workers by preventing needlestick injuries, prevents wasting of needles, and creates less anxiety for some people about getting a flu shot. The jet needle technology is designed to carry the vaccine through the muscle or under the fat layer below the skin by a fluid stream injection, at a fraction of a second. Recently, some research regarding this device was published in a journal called The Lancet. It showed that the level of protection was not different in people who received the flu vaccine by the PharmaJet device or by a traditional needle. These findings may help recruit more people who would have a tendency to avoid getting the flu shot because they are scared of the needle.

Afluria is a flu vaccine approved by the FDA. It can be used with the PharmaJet device. Afluria should not be taken by people who have a history of a severe allergic reaction to any ingredient in the vaccine or a previous dose of a flu vaccine.

City searching for new administrator

The search for Clarendon's next city administrator is underway following action of the Board of Aldermen last Tuesday, October 29.

The city will be contracting with the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission to lead the search, but no timetable was put forth last week as to how long the process might take.

Mayor Larry Hicks said the city had gone for two years working to finish what former administrator Lambert Little had started and that a new leader was needed to lay out the next projects.

Alderman Sandy Skelton he believed that an administrator was needed to continue to move the city forward.

Much discussion was held regarding types of city government in Texas. Clarendon has the "strong mayor" form of government, and the administrator's position is called for by ordinance.

The board voted unanimously to begin the search.

In other city business, aldermen reappointed the following members of the Clarendon Economic Development Corp. Board to two-year terms: Roger Estlack, Bill Stavenhagen, Jacob Fangman, and Jack Craft. The board also heard reports from Greenbelt Water Authority General Manager Bobbie Kidd and from the city's Greenbelt representative Gary Campbell.

Grahns, Johnson advance to state cross country meet

By Sandy Anderberg

Bryce Grahns, Allyson Grahns, and Abby Johnson all qualified for the State Cross Country Meet by placing deep at the Regional C-C Meet held in Lubbock at Mae Simmons Park.

The Broncos finished 13th as a team, and the Lady Broncos were 16th as a team. The top four teams earned the right to advance, and the top ten runners that are not part of a team advance as well.

Bryce finished 11th in the field with a time of 16:36.38, which was one minute off the championship time of 15:31.68 for the three-mile run.

Allyson finished in 7th place with a time of 12:35.12 and Abby ran the two-mile course in a time of 12:40.60 for 12th place. The championship time turned in for the girls was 11:23.38.

All three athletes will compete in the State CC Meet to be held Friday, November 8, in Round Rock at Old Settler's Park.

Colt Wood also ran for the Broncos and finished 44th with a time of 17:52.79, and Steven Johnson was 106th at 20:31.6. Lee Buckhaults was 118th at 23:00.30 and Josh Cobb was 120th with a time of 23:32.9.

Also running for the Lady Broncos was Sarah Williams who finished 116th with a time of 14:18.19, Whitney LaRoe 152nd at 15:23.20, Brooke Martin 156th at 16:01.40, and Skyler White who finished 157th with a time of 16:05.96.

Allyson Grahns at the Regional Cross Country Meet held in Lubbock at Mae Simmons Park.

Abby Johnson crossed the regional finish line with a time of 12:40.60.

Colts smash the Jackrabbits

The Clarendon Colts traveled to Ralls last Thursday night and scored a big 34-6 win against the Jackrabbits.

According to coach Brad Elam, the Colts dominated every aspect of the game in the win.

"We had a pretty dominating performance on offense and defense," Elam said. "We started out a little slow on offense and our first two drives stalled after our defense set us up with good field position."

Bear Smith helped to change the momentum for the Colts when he caused a fumble that Cole Franks pounced on and the Colt offense jumped at the opportunity.

Ryan McCleskey hit Cruz Torres from 20 yards out to put the first six points on the board. McCleskey earned the next score for the Colts from 10 yards out and Noab Elam and Bear Smith teamed up for the bonus. Before the break, Franks once again stripped the ball from a Ralls player, which set up another score when Elam hit Torres for a 30-yard touchdown to give the Colts a 20-0 lead at the break.

Ralls finally got on the board in the third quarter, but the Colts quickly answered back when McCleskey scored again from 10 yards out.

"Our defense was able to shut them down for the rest of the game," Elam said. "Noab was able to finish off the game with a one-yard run and the two-point conversion. Our defense played great, led by the tackling of Gavin Word, Smith, Isaac Dunham, and Franks. Offensively, we did some good things and were trying a few new things."

Elam also noted that McCleskey ran well, and Torres had a big game for the Colts.

A fifth quarter was played and according to Elam; the players did a good job in this quarter as well.

"Our offense was able to score on an 11-yard run from Franks behind the good running of Jamal Butler," Elam said. "Our defense shut them out led by the tackling of Kenny Overstreet and an interception by Torres."

The Colts will play their final game of the season at home next Thursday, November 6, against Memphis beginning at 5:00 p.m.

Bryce Grahns finished 11th at the Regional meet held in Lubbock.

Broncos stay alive in playoff race

By Sandy Anderberg

The Clarendon Broncos have had an up and down year. It has been a season filled with inexperience and injuries. But the 2014 Broncos have fought hard all the way and stayed true to the maroon and white. Their perseverance paid off Friday night in their last home game as they defeated Ralls 33-14 to keep their playoff chances alive.

Senior Charles Mason racked up 226 yards on 20 carries and three touchdowns to lead the Broncos to the win. Mason put the Broncos on the board first when he scored in the first quarter from six yards out. He struck again in the next quarter on a 10-yard romp.

After the Broncos put up 12 points, Ralls came back with 14 of their own to take a two-point lead. Head coach Gary Jack felt the Broncos could have put the Jackrabbits away early on, but they allowed Ralls to run back a kick off for six points that let them back in the game.

However, the Broncos stayed solid, and Cedrick McCampbell answered the two Ralls' scores with a huge 59-yard score from a pass from Zack LaRoe. Mason scored one more and Keandre Cortez added another six in the fourth quarter from 42 yards out to seal the win for the Broncos.

"It was a good win," Jack said. "It keeps us in the hunt for the playoffs. We played well and I am proud of the guys. Charles is hitting his stride after being sidelined from injuries and Cedrick is doing a good job of catching the ball. Our line is playing well. Montana Hysinger, Cooper Bilbrey, Taylon Knorpp, and Jonathan Taylor played well for us and freshmen Justin Christopher and Raylyn Shelton did a good job, too." Jack gave credit to the defensive line as well and several Broncos racked up a number of tackles. "Clay Koetting and Caleb Cobb finished with 14 tackles each," Jack said. "Keandre had eight, Montana and Nick Shadle each had seven."

Jack knows the Broncos control their own destiny when it comes to earning a spot in post-season play.

"The kids have played hard all year," Jack said. "The scores of the games don't tell the story of how hard they have played. The kids are young, but are playing well. It is really good to see. They are sticking it out and doing a good job. I am proud of the coaching staff for keeping them going. We control what we do. We win (against Memphis) we're in the playoffs."

The game with Memphis next week is crucial for both squads and is a must-win for both teams. Crosbyton has won the District outright, but Clarendon, Quanah, Memphis, and Lockney are tied at 2-2 and to get a spot the Broncos have to fight hard and finish it.

"We really need a good crowd in Memphis next week," Jack said. "It really is going to be like the old-fashioned rivalry of years ago. We need people to come out and fill the stands. We've got something to play for."

The Broncos will take on the Cyclones at 7:00 p.m. in Memphis Friday, November 7.

Lady Bulldogs start season with a victory

By Fred Gray

The Lady Bulldogs opened this year's home games with an 80-49 thrashing of Trinidad State Junior College, out of Trinidad Colorado, last Friday, October 31 – Halloween, no less. The Lady Bulldogs played like monsters, truly appropriate for the evening.

CC used an aggressive, smothering defense to keep Trinidad out of the paint, and controlled the boards when Trinidad was able to get long-range shots off.

Of the offensive side of the court, the Lady Bulldogs were able to hit often and regularly on 3-point shots, and drove into the paint for layups pretty much at will.

CC took a 52 – 20 lead into half-time, and extended their lead in the second half, as they continued their onslaught throughout the game. They continued to dominate the boards, both offensively and defensively, shot well throughout the game, and did an played excellent defense.

The Lady Bulldogs return home again on the 11th of November, when they play host to Western Oklahoma State College. Tip-off is 6:00 P.M.

On November 13, the Lady Bulldogs host Garden City Community College – tip-off at the Dawg House is 5:30 P.M.

Everyone is encouraged to come out and enjoy the superior basketball played by the Lady Bulldogs. They are a treat to watch.
