Howardwick death ruled as a suicide

The death of a Howardwick woman from a gunshot wound has been ruled a suicide, Donley County Sheriff Butch Blackburn said this week.

Forensic results from a Department of Public Safety laboratory confirmed recently that 53-year-old Karla Bartek took her own life on Wednesday, October 8, the sheriff said.

Authorities received a call of a gunshot wound in Howardwick at 425 Janny after 10 a.m. Upon arrival, Sheriff Butch Blackburn found the body of Bartek in the front yard of the home with one gunshot wound to the head. A .380 semi-automatic pistol was found with the body.

Preliminary results of an autopsy found no other signs of trauma, leading officers to believe there was no physical altercation before her death.

Courthouse lighting to be held Nov. 29

Volunteers have spent several hours wrapping trees at the Donley County Courthouse in preparation for a big lighting ceremony this month.

The Christmas Lighting Celebration will be held Saturday, November 29, on the courthouse square. Santa will show up at 5 p.m., and the lights will be turned on at 6 p.m.

Caroling will be led by Charles Clinton, and refreshments following the event will be served by the Clarendon Lions Club in the Lions Hall.

Volunteers sought for Thanksgiving

Plans are being made for the annual Community Thanksgiving Dinner to be held Thursday, November 27.

Donations of time and support are needed to make this free meal happen again. Volunteers are needed to cook turkeys and desserts as well as to serve the meal.

Donations may be made in advance at the Pilgrim Bank or at the door the day of the event. For more information, contact Janet Carter at 806-874-2007.

Applications can be made for Angel Tree

Angel Tree applications are available at the Burton Memorial Library, and angels are ready for adoption.

Kids ages 12 and under, who might not otherwise have Christmas, are eligible for this program. The application period will close December 1, 2014.

For more information, contact Janet Carter at 806-874-2007.

CISD to consider interim superintendent

Clarendon school trustees will meet this week to consider naming an interim superintendent as they prepare for the expected January departure of Superintendent Monty Hysinger.

The board plans to meet Thursday, November 20, in a called session at 7 p.m. The agenda includes possible action to hire an Interim Superintendent of Schools and consideration of Superintendent Search Services, Process, and Timelines.

Trustees met in regular session last Thursday, November 13, and listened to a presentation by Region 16 Education Service Center Executive Director John Bass, who discussed processes for hiring a superintendent.

Bass, a former superintendent himself, said he thinks this is a good time for Clarendon to search for a superintendent.

"I think you'll get a lot of good applicants," Bass said, noting CISD's record of administrative stability, its testing scores, and its finances. "There are about 55 openings across the state right now."

Bass reviewed the legal requirements for filling the school's top job and discussed the pros and cons of different search methods.

Whatever method the school board chooses, CISD must name a finalist or finalists 21 days before the board acts to hire someone.

Trustee Reneé Mott asked Bass for clarification on that point.

"So we could name two or three finalists," Mott asked.

Bass said the district can name more than one finalist but said that it is not often that a district names more than a "lone finalist."

"[An applicant's] star loses some of its luster at home when people find out they're looking," Bass said.

Most districts in Region 16 do the search themselves, Bass said.

Consultants' prices can vary with a search conducted by the Texas Association of School Boards costing in the neighborhood of $7,000 to $8,000.

"This is the biggest job that a school board does, hiring a superintendent," he said.

The board then met in closed session with Bass for more than an hour to discuss names of possible interim candidates before returning to open session and adjourning.

Christmas Bazaar to be Saturday

The second annual Clarendon Christmas Bazaar is set to welcome more than 20 vendors to the Donley County Activity Center this Saturday, November 22.

The event, hosted by the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce, will open at 10 a.m. and run until 5 p.m. with Santa Claus being on hand for photos from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The bazaar seeks to provide local shoppers with all the choices they need to find that perfect gift for everyone on their Christmas list with booths provided by a mixture of local and out of town businesses.

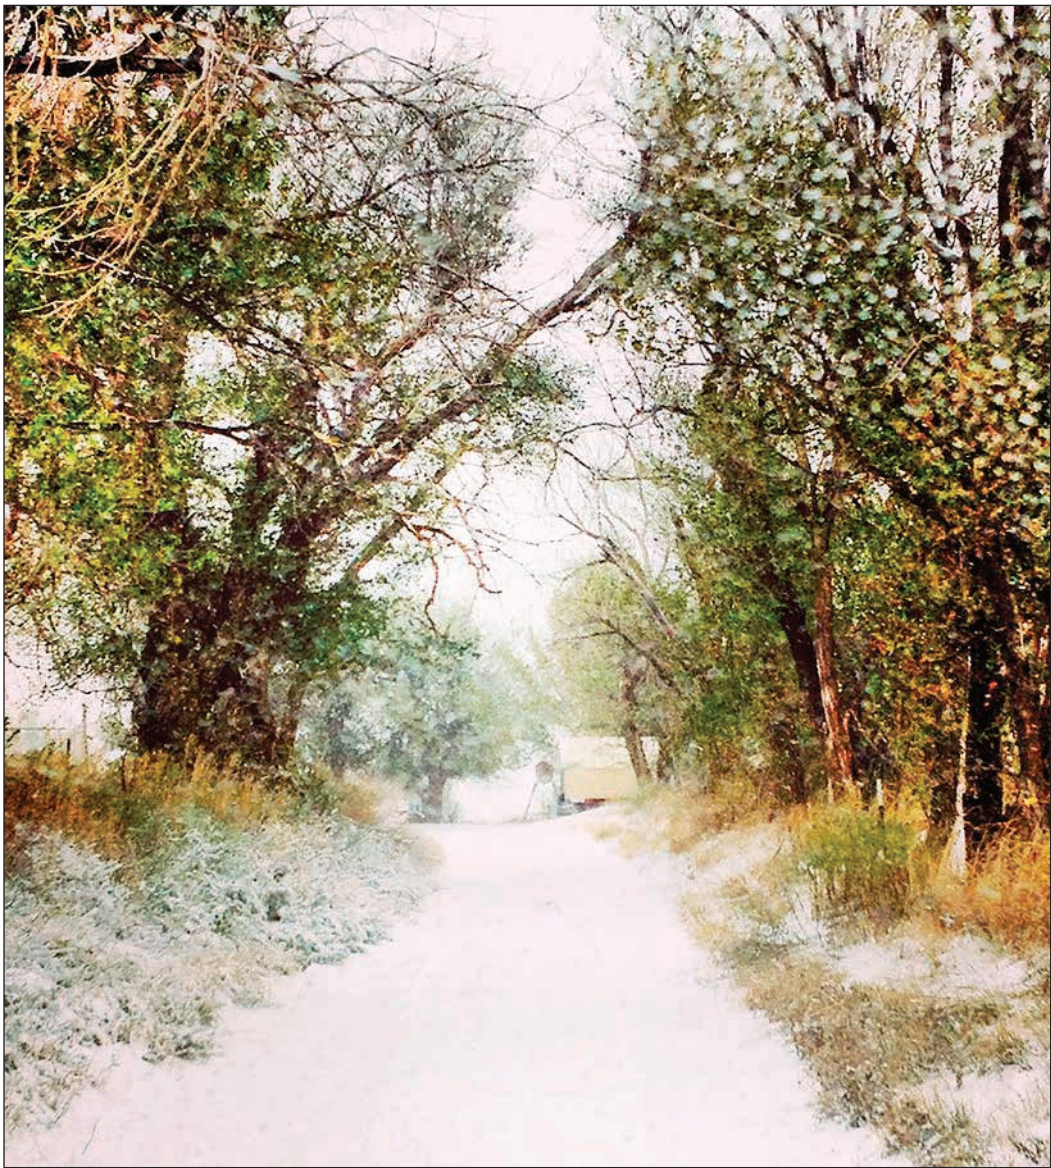

Drawings will be held throughout the day for door prizes and gift certificates.

Vendors this year include Matthew Ryan Photography, Every Nook & Cranny, Straight Off The Ranch, Ronna's Creations, Henson's, Morrow's Wood Design, Alisha Early, The Clarendon Enterprise, Delightful Lil Treasures, The Cowgirl's Home, Amanda's Country Whims, Carolyn Butler, Cathy's Cookin', Mary Linn Bills & Becky Hillman, Joanna Jarvis, Jewelry-In-Candles, Campbell Online Marketing, Farm Girl Frosting, Scentsy, Theresa Dronzek Limu Products, and Debra Hubbard Fabric Crosses..

St. Mary's Catholic Church will have a concession stand and will be serving throughout the day.

For an afternoon of family fun and shopping, visit the Clarendon Christmas Bazaar this Saturday.

Call Chamber Manager Bonnie Campbell at 806-205-3150 for more information on this or other Chamber activities. Or check out the Chamber website at www.ClarendonChamber.com or follow the organization on Facebook at www.facebook.com/clarendonchamber.

Woman faces two felonies

A Clarendon woman is facing felony charges from a June 26 accident that resulted in the death of a longtime local businessman.

Gina Canon was arrested last Friday, November 14, and charged with intoxicated manslaughter, a second degree felony, after medical experts agreed that C.W. "Dude" Cornell died from injuries he sustained in the accident.

Canon also was charged with intoxicated assault, a third degree felony, because Cornell's passenger, Ruth Hancock, was also injured.

Donley County Sheriff Butch Blackburn said Canon was arraigned by County Judge Jack Hall on Friday with a total bond set at $60,000. She was released from jail after posting bond Saturday.

Cornell, a former county commissioner, died July 7 at the age of 86 while being treated in an Amarillo hospital for injuries he sustained 11 days earlier.

Reports show that Cornell had been eastbound on US 287 in Clarendon on June 26 when his vehicle was struck from behind by another vehicle driven by the 34-year-old Canon.

CEDC approved Phase Three work on Mulkey Project

Phase Three work on the Mulkey Theatre project is expected to get underway next month following a called meeting of the Clarendon Economic Development Corp. Board Monday, November 17.

Jake Scott of Pioneer General Contractors outlined work to be done in Phase Three, which will focus on finishing out the Clarendon Visitor Center office in the former Mulkey barber shop and development of a handicapped accessible bathroom in the vestibule of the theatre.

Workers will also put a new ceiling in the Visitor Center office, install central heating and cooling, and also put new lights in the office.

The scope of work also calls for a gallery rail to be installed in the visitor center office for displaying the work of local artists on a rotational basis.

The cost for Phase 3 is expected to be $76,763 with funds coming from the sales tax and Hotel Occupancy Tax revenue administered by the CEDC board.

In other business this week, the CEDC formally declared the property at 100 S. Kearney an EDC project. The move does not commit the CEDC to any action on the property, but it allows the CEDC to study the old hotel building to see if there are any possible uses for the structure.

The board also met in closed session to interview Laura West and Linda Williams-Holt as finalists for the position of executive director. The board will meet on December 1 to make a final decision on that job.

Mason takes office

Donley County Judge Jack Hall administers the oath of office to Precinct 1&2 Justice of the Peace Pam Mason on November 12 after county commissioners appointed her to fill the vacant position following the November 4 election.

Christmas cash available

More local businesses have signed up this week to help make holiday shopping at home is easy and affordable again as the Donley County State Bank and the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce have teamed up to provide zero-percent interest "Christmas Cash" loans for the 18th season.

As in the past, anyone can make application for a loan up to $3,000 interest free with the Donley County State Bank. Eleven local businesses are now participating in the Christmas Cash program this year.

The program has proven popular in the past with many consumers and is seen as way to encourage folks to shop at home.

Once a Christmas Cash loan has been approved, the borrower will be issued Christmas Cash Dollars, which may be spent like US currency toward new purchases at all of the participating businesses.

Christmas Cash must be spent by December 31, 2014.

The Clarendon Chamber of Commerce is currently signing merchants up to participate in Christmas Cash. Chamber members in good standing may register to take Christmas Cash for $25. The merchants then redeem the cash certificates at the Donley County State Bank for 95 cents on the dollar.

As of Tuesday morning, participating Christmas Cash merchants this year are: Cornell's Country Store, Osburn Appliance, Country Bloomers, Ronna's Creations, Stavenhagen Video, Henson's, Every Nook & Cranny, Straight Off The Ranch, The Clarendon Enterprise, Mike's Pharmacy, Lowe's Family Center & Ace Hardware.

Are we useful idiots in the digital age?

Back in the heyday of the old Soviet Union, a phrase evolved to describe gullible western intellectuals who came to visit Russia and failed to notice the human and other costs of building a communist utopia. The phrase was “useful idiots” and it applied to a good many people who should have known better... That’s you and me, folks, and it’s how the masters of the digital universe see us... They hear us whingeing about privacy, security, surveillance, etc., but notice that despite our complaints and suspicions, we appear to do nothing about it. – John Naughton, The Guardian

“Who needs direct repression,” asked philosopher Slavoj Zizek, “when one can convince the chicken to walk freely into the slaughterhouse?”

Speak truth to power

by John Whitehead

In an Orwellian age where war equals peace, surveillance equals safety, and tolerance equals intolerance of uncomfortable truths and politically incorrect ideas, “we the people” have gotten very good at walking freely into the slaughterhouse, all the while convincing ourselves that the prison walls enclosing us within the American police state are there for our protection.

Call it doublespeak, call it hypocrisy, call it delusion, call it whatever you like, but the fact remains that while we claim to value freedom, privacy, individuality, equality, diversity, accountability, and government transparency, our actions and those of our government overseers contradict these much-vaunted principles at every turn.

For instance, we disdain the jaded mindset of the Washington elite, and yet we continue to re-elect politicians who lie, cheat and steal. We chafe at taxpayer-funded pork barrel legislation, and yet we pay our taxes meekly and without raising a fuss of any kind. We object to the militarization of our local police forces and their increasingly battlefield mindset, and yet we do little more than shrug our shoulders over SWAT team raids and police shootings of unarmed citizens.

And then there’s our love-hate affair with technology, which sees us bristling at the government’s efforts to monitor our internet activities, listen in on our phone calls, read our emails, track our every movement, and punish us for what we say on social media, and yet we keep using these very same technologies all the while doing nothing about the government’s encroachments on our rights.

So the government continues to betray our trust, invade our privacy, and abuse our rights, and we keep going back for more?

Sure we do. After all, the alternative – taking a stand, raising a ruckus, demanding change, refusing to cooperate, engaging in civil disobedience – is a lot of work. What we fail to realize, however, is that by tacitly allowing these violations to continue, we not only empower the tyrant but we feed the monster. In this way, as I point out in my book A Government of Wolves: The Emerging American Police State, what starts off as small, occasional encroachments on our rights, justified in the name of greater safety, becomes routine, wide-ranging abuses so entrenched as to make reform all but impossible.

First, the government lures us in with a scheme to make our lives better, our families safer, and our communities more secure, and then once we buy into it, they slam the trap closed. Doesn’t matter whether you’re talking about militarized police, private prisons, red light cameras, DNA databases, surveillance cameras, or zero tolerance policies – they all result in “we the people” being turned into enemy #1.

In this way, the government campaign to spy on our phone calls, letters and emails was sold to the American people as a necessary tool in the war on terror. Instead of targeting terrorists, however, the government has turned us into potential terrorists, so that if we dare say the wrong thing in a phone call, letter, email or on the internet, especially social media, we end up investigated, charged and possibly jailed.

This criminalization of free speech, which is exactly what the government’s prosecution of those who say the “wrong” thing using an electronic medium amounts to, is at the heart of Elonis v. The United States, a case before the U.S. Supreme Court this term.

If you happen to be one of the 1.31 billion individuals who use Facebook or one of the 255 million who tweet their personal and political views on Twitter, you might want to pay close attention, because the case has broad First Amendment implications for where the government can draw the line when it comes to expressive speech that is protected and permissible versus speech that could be interpreted as connoting a criminal intent.

We would do well to tread cautiously in how much authority we give the government to criminalize free speech activities and chill what has become a vital free speech forum. If free speech is not vigilantly protected, democracy is more likely to drift toward fear, repression, and violence. In such a scenario, we will find ourselves threatened with an even more pernicious injury than violence itself: the loss of liberty. In confronting these evils, more speech, not less, is the remedy.

The story of the shirts on his back

Now the story can be told. If necessity is the mother of invention, surely resourcefulness is a first cousin. Sometimes it cuts off anxiety – and other “downers” – at the pass.

A mom well down life’s highway decided to “come clean” on how she’s avoided both “wash day blues” and “ironing day blues.” A system she implemented long ago – well before housewives were rescued by “wash and wear” clothing – saved her countless hours in the laundry room.

She had no aching back, and she got her hubby’s white shirts washed and ironed for nothing – actually at a small profit – when the IRS tax savings were rolled in....

This woman – in marital harness longer than most horses – has seen the snows of many winters and has dealt with a ton of household chores that seem to multiply – all this since Hector was but a wee pup.

Drat it all, she winces, life might have been different if her hubby hadn’t been a professional – the kind calling for fresh white shirts each day. Until she discovered “the system,” she wilted, surrendering to debilitating smothering spells at the prospect of draconian wash-day chores, followed by grueling hours at the ironing board.

Readers may assume I’m writing about my Uncle Mort’s long-suffering wife Maude. But wait. Mort, now 102, has never been an executive, and he wears white shirts only to funerals of next of kin. You’d be right, though, in guessing the ingenious woman was made from the same mold, the one said to have been broken BEFORE Mort was born....

Okay, so you want to know “the system.” She studied the “ins and outs” of Goodwill in considerable detail. Let’s call her “Mrs. Skip-work,” whose creative juices flowed like water rushing down mountains when spring sunshine claimed rivers from deep drifts of snow.

Each Friday morning, she dropped off five soiled white shirts at Goodwill, aware they’d be washed by midday, ironed before closing time and on the sales rack the first thing Monday morning.

She got a $2.50 tax credit for each shirt “donated,” then showed up early on Mondays to buy back the shirts for 50 cents each.

“It worked for decades,” Mrs. Skip-work said, claiming the system freed her up for other more interesting ventures....

The “ventures” reference pretty much nails down her being blood kin of my Uncle Mort. His ventures, though, morph quickly into escapades.

He called the other day, eager to tell me about his “double-feature dream.”

“There were two distinctively different dreams,” he claimed....

Thanksgiving thoughts may have caused the first one. “I dreamed the White House ended the tradition of sparing a turkey,” he related. “They decided – maybe in hopes of salvaging turkey votes – to spare all turkeys this year.”

If my eyes had been turned loose in a pinball machine, they could not have the idle american

by don newbury

rolled more.

He then detailed the “second feature” – the one he thinks perhaps was a vision – concerning handshakes....

With flu season at hand and Ebola scares still dominating many conversations, Mort recalled dreamland signs on every post promoting fist bumps over handshakes.

“I’m against bumping,” he fumed. “Next thing we know, the younger set will add grinding.” He contended that one can tell quite a bit about a man by his handshake – a custom usually in tandem with lookin’ the other guy straight in the eye. He said handshakes used to be as good as contracts, and that “fist-bumping may have its place in the next century, but not in this one.”

He dreamed that he took it upon himself to hop on his golf cart, replacing all the fist-bumping promotions in his part of the thicket. His signs, splashed in bold, black letters on discarded shingles, read: “Shake Hands Anyway.”...

Mort said that life goes on, with most folks already bogged down with worries.

Awash in rants, he defended “good germs,” muttering, “They’ve got to get around, too.” He moaned about the world being engulfed by far too much information.

If you see Uncle Mort at the general store, he’ll be glad to share dreams with you. And if a point of agreement comes up, why not shake on it?” It’s the American way....

Consider the importance of marriage

A large scale study presented in, “Between Two Worlds: The Inner Lives of Children of Divorce,” by Elizabeth Marquardt, shows that children who are raised in intact families, even if the marriage is an unhappy one and with some conflict, are overall healthier, happier, and likelier to succeeded as adults in all walks of life. That is to say, divorce has substantial negative effects on a child’s mental, physical, and spiritual health, as well as a child’s academic success, success in work, and success in relationships.

Mind you, these negative effects are not limited to the first 18 years of a child’s life, but reach well into adulthood. Furthermore, in a recent work, “For Richer, For Poorer: How Family Structures Economic Success In America,” Robert I. Lerman and W. Bradford Wilcox have convincingly shown that the retreat from marriage, and thus the traditional family, is having harmful effects on the nation’s economy:

1. ... We estimate that the growth in median income of families with children would be 44 percent higher if the United States enjoyed 1980 levels of married parenthood today. Further, at least 32 percent of the growth in family-income inequality since 1979 among families with children and 37 percent of the decline in men’s employment rates during that time can be linked to the decreasing number of Americans who form and maintain stable, married families.
2. Growing up [in an intact family] is strongly associated with more education, more work, and more income among today’s young men and women. Young men and women from intact families enjoy an annual “intact-family premium” that amounts to $6,500 and $4,700, respectively, over the incomes of their peers from single-parent families.
3. ... both men and women enjoy substantially higher family incomes, compared to peers with otherwise similar characteristics. For instance, men enjoy a marriage premium of at least $15,900 per year in their individual income compared to their single peers.

4. ... Growing up with both parents increases your odds of becoming highly educated [leading] to higher odds of being married as an adult. Both the added education and marriage result in higher income levels. ... Men and women who are currently married and were raised in an intact family enjoy an annual “family premium” in their household income that exceeds that of their unmarried peers who were raised in non-intact families by at least $42,000 (Lerman, 3).

What do these studies tell us? Divorce is disastrous, and marriage matters.

DPS offers tips to avoid vehicle theft

AMARILLO – The Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) is urging Texans to take necessary precautions to protect their automobiles from possible theft.

More than 65,670 motor vehicles were stolen in Texas in 2013. Almost half of all vehicles stolen had the keys left inside, according to the Texas Auto Burglary and Theft Prevention Authority.

DPS offers the following tips that Texans can follow to help guard against vehicle theft:

- Never leave your car running unattended, even to dash into a business, store, etc.
- Never leave keys in the car or ignition, inside a locked garage, or in hide-a-key boxes.
- Always roll up your windows and lock the car, even if it is parked at your home.
- Never leave valuables in plain view. Put them in the trunk out of sight.
- Always park in high-traffic, well-lighted areas, when possible.
- Install an anti-theft device that locks the steering wheel, column or brakes.
- Never leave personal documents, vehicle ownership title or credit cards in your vehicle.
- In high-theft areas, the vehicle identification number (VIN) should be etched on windows, doors, fenders and trunk lid. This makes it difficult for a thief to market your stolen car parts.

If your vehicle is stolen, report it to the police immediately. DPS also encourages individuals to keep a copy of their license plate and vehicle identification number on hand in case of theft, since police will need this information to take a report.

For information about auto thefts and burglary, visit Auto Burglary and Theft Prevention Authority at <http://txdmv.gov/about-us/abtpa>.

TxDOT helps motorists drive clean for holidays

AUSTIN – As drivers take to the roads for holiday shopping and family visits, the Texas Department of Transportation offers its new “Roadcents” Web app to reduce air pollution and keep vehicles well-maintained.

“We talk a lot about air pollution caused by vehicles during the warm summer months, but it’s also important for people to drive clean during the busy winter travel season,” said Margo Richards, TxDOT Travel Information Division director. “Seemingly innocent habits, such as warming up a car by idling a few minutes or postponing vehicle maintenance, can have big impacts on winter air quality.”

As part of its “Drive Clean Texas” campaign, TxDOT’s “Roadcents” smartphone Web app helps drivers save money at the pump and keep their vehicles road-ready. Along with helpful hints for keeping vehicles operating efficiently, the “Roadcents” app offers tips for reducing tailpipe emissions that contribute to air pollution.

“Roadcents” also gives drivers the tools to track vehicle maintenance and calculate how much they can save by changing their driving and vehicle maintenance habits. Drivers can receive email alerts when their vehicles are scheduled for maintenance; find nearby auto repair facilities and gas stations; and get tips on what to do in case of a roadside breakdown or collision.

A vehicle in peak condition produces fewer emissions, reduces the chance of a roadside breakdown and improves gas mileage. That’s important considering the American Automobile Association estimates 90 percent of holiday travel occurs by automobile.

Drivers can save as much as $845 a year in gas by driving more sensibly and changing aggressive driving habits like speeding and rapid starts and stops. Also, regular oil and fuel filter changes can save motorists more than $100 in annual gas spending.

This fall, TxDOT teamed up with the Dallas Cowboys to support the “Drive Clean Texas” campaign by giving one lucky Texan a donated 2015 Ford Fusion SE Hybrid as part of the “Drive Clean Texas Roadcents Sweepstakes.” Texas drivers age 18 and older have until 11:59 p.m. on Dec. 9, 2014, to enter the hybrid car sweepstakes at roadcents.org. Three finalists will receive two tickets to the Dec. 21 football game between the Dallas Cowboys and Indianapolis Colts. The sweepstakes grand prize winner will be randomly selected on Dec. 21 before the game.

To use “Roadcents,” visit Roadcents.org, create an account and enter vehicle information. For media inquiries, contact TxDOT Media Relations at MediaRelations@txdot.gov or (512) 463-8700.

Retired teachers to meet Monday

The regular meeting of the Donley County Retired School Personnel Association will meet Monday, November 24, 2014, at 6:00 p.m. in the Clarendon Church of Christ Family Life Center.

The program will be presented by Associated Ambulance Authority on “When Emergencies Strike.” It should be a very informative program for all. Please come, bring a snack and enjoy the program and fellowship.

New scam offers the promise of a free pizza

Hi, gang! The Lord willing, Dorthy and I will be headed home from Sipapu, New Mexico. However, a new scam promises a free pizza but delivers some free malware instead.

The Federal Trade Commission warns fake emails are surfacing in inboxes across the country, claiming to be from Pizza Hut. The email says it is Pizza Hut's 55th anniversary and is asking consumers to join the celebration by offering them a free pizza coupon. The FTC said clicking on the coupon link will deliver malware on to your computer instead of free pizza to your door. It is not unusual for Pizza Hut to send emails with deals and coupons, but a quick Google search shows Pizza Hut actually celebrated their 55th anniversary last year. Even then, the company did not offer a free pizza.

Other clues the email is a scam is the sender's email address is not a Pizza Hut email address and when you hover over the coupon link, it does not show pizzahut.com. The FTC recommends referring to a company's real site before clicking on an email link that may sound too good to be true - like free pizza.

One of the legitimate ways of earning money on the Internet is by providing links to other sites and products on your website, which you get paid for when other people click them and buy products.

These are called affiliate links. Perhaps the most common example is the affiliate links to books and other products sold by Amazon. You see them on many websites and when you click through and buy the book or product, the site that hosted the link gets a small sales commission from Amazon.

Scammers have seized on this, not to sell books but to get job seekers to sign up for web conferencing services.

The trick works like this: A person applies for a job usually advertised on Craigslist and is told they've been short-listed. Before final selection, however, they're told they must attend an online teach-in, after which they may have to take a test. The scammer provides a link for the online conference service where the victim is invited to sign-up for a free 14-day trial.

Now the conference service is perfectly legitimate and has no direct connection with the scammer, so it probably knows nothing about the supposed teach-in. What it does do though is pay the scammer an affiliate fee of $3 for each person that signs up for the trial, with a further bonus if the victim becomes a paid subscriber.

bob's whittlin' by bob watson

This is just the most blatant example of affiliate-type scams. In other instances, job hunters go through a never-ending series of links, often crammed with advertisements, in their quest to find work, earning a small fee for the scammer for each click.

These tricks may cost you nothing beyond a serious waste of your time but by being alert to them you might be able to save yourself a lot of frustration.

How to Avoid Job Scams:

Before we sign off, here are five simple tips to help you steer clear of phony jobs on Craigslist and elsewhere: In the real world, high pay and "no experience necessary" don't go together so anyone mentioning them both in the same ad is probably a fake. A job offer, or even a shortlisting, without an interview is usually a scam. Genuine employers don't ask you to pay upfront for training, software, kits and materials, credit checks, drugs tests, or other forms of vetting. If you can't verify contact details independently of the ad, it's probably a scam. If the job involves receiving and forwarding payments or goods to another address, it's likely to be part of fraudulent activities such as shipping stolen goods — another well-known job scam.

Alert of the Week: Staying on the Craigslist theme, if you ever place an ad with them that includes your email address, watch out for a bogus message sent to that address supposedly from Craigslist themselves. It claims there's a problem with your ad and asks you to click a link to correct it. But the link takes you to a phony Craigslist page that aims to steal your sign-on details, which are then used for other scams.

Be Safe Out There

Donley County receives first snowfall

I may have to concede to the weather-guessers, this weekend they were right about the snow and cold weather. We received about five inches of the white stuff and the temperature was 8° this morning. This is a little early for snow and we can all quit complaining about allergies, they are frozen.

Of course, the snow brought back memories, most I have written about but enjoy them again with me.

The first big snow I remember happened in January 1948 or 1949 while living 16 miles south of McLean on the ranch. One beautiful Monday morning my sister and I climbed aboard the school bus driven by another cowboy's wife, Bill McClellan, all blissfully unaware of a "Blue Norther" headed our way. Before school was over that day snow was piled high with drifts higher and no way to get home. Mrs. McClellan came to my sister and me saying,"You girls are with me," and we were for the rest of the week. That's right, we finally got home Friday night. In later years I asked Mother if she was afraid for our safety and well-being and her answer was "No, I would have done the same for her".

Ole Jim and I had married and lived in Albuquerque, New Mexico, but made the trip to the Texas Panhandle as often as possible to visit our folks, especially on holidays. This particular trip back to Albuquerque, with three little ones in the back seat, we began encountering snow along the long stretch of highway outside Santa Rosa. As we snaked our way along, the highway became clogged with cars pulling off the highway and unable to get back on but we followed a snow plow up and over the pass into Albuquerque. Snow was piled 8-10 feet along one lane and the normally hour long trip from Cline's Corner to our home was stretched into six hours. We were thankful for a full tank of gas and a food care package sent from Mom's, we were a little more cautious after that.

Living in Idaho in 1973 with National Forests on each side, we were allowed to cut down our own Christmas tree. One bright Sunday morning Ole Jim, our youngest child and I climbed in the Jeep named Mollie to find that perfect tree in the mountains. As we drove higher the snowflakes began falling but we were on a mission, to find that tree and did not stop. If you ladies have gone Christmas tree shopping with your husband at Allsup's or the Boy Scout tree sale in Amarillo, you know most men don't see what you see on that tree; a flat back, empty spaces between branches, crooked trunk. Well, multiply that by a dozen when you are looking for the perfect tree and the man is standing there with a saw in his hand, his job is to cut it down and get it in the truck. After much searching and discussion, we finally noticed the snow and how deep it had become so maybe the perfect tree had to wait until next year and a "It'll do" tree would again be fine. We made it off that mountain, but the memory of the perfect tree and trips in Mollie are still discussed over the family table.

The last snow story I will tell happened over Christmas in 2000, here in Howardwick. We had about 25 people at our house for Christmas dinner including 18 month old Ryan, and about 4 pm it began to snow. This prompted our Yankee daughter-in-law to wish for "two feet of snow when we wake up in the morning". Some people left for their home, leaving about 20 to spend the night and waking to find the wish had come true. We were snowed in. Naturally there was enough food to feed us all for week but our baby boy would soon need diapers and the worst possible disaster, no more toilet paper. Ole Jim rolled his eyes and announced "I can get out!" With some shovels and pushing, he did and the day was saved. We had fun painting and decorating ornaments, playing board games and playing in the snow but when a snow storm is predicted around our house someone is sure to ask if we have toilet paper.

Give thanks

Happy Thanksgiving from Hedley! The Hedley community wants to wish everyone a very Happy Thanksgiving. We pray you enjoy good food, happy family and all the blessings God will allow you. I found this prayer and would like to bless you all with it.

"Heavenly Creator, in this season of gratitude and abundance, we give You thanks for our many blessings as we pray for all who struggle with hunger and want. Be with them in the dark of night when all hope seems lost. Keep their faith strong as they await relief. And let Your goodness flow through our hearts and hands as we reach out to one another in the full, true joy of Thanksgiving in Christ. Amen."

I just want to say that in our world today there are many evil things happening. We need to help others as Jesus would like us to. Be good to each other and pray every day for God's help in our world.

Santa will come visit Hedley at the Hedley Senior Citizens on December 15 at 6:00 p.m. We will have cookies and chocolate milk, sing Christmas Carols and enjoy the Christmas Spirit. Come visit with us and Santa. The Hedley Grade school children will make ornaments for our tree. We are so proud of them.

Happy Thanksgiving and may God bless you and your family.

Curtain call

The Clarendon College theatre department will take the stage Friday, November 21 and Saturday, November 22 at 7 p.m. for their performance of “The Americanization of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde,” at the Harned Sister Auditorium.

CC to present fall production November 21, 22

If you like silly fun comedy, you are going to love “The Americanization of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde,” at Clarendon College this weekend.

Performance dates are Friday, November 21, and Saturday, November 22, at 7 p.m. at the Clarendon College Harned Sister Auditorium.

This comedy theatre production takes the greatest of liberties with the original story written Robert Lewis Stevens. Clarendon College Theatre Director Leslie Schnauer has adapted a play that tells the tale of outrageous situations with inept people as they act out their most violent and evil fantasies. This family production has a wonderful dose of good clean comedy thrown in to add a whole new flavor to the well-worn story.

The play centers on Dr. Jekyll, a mad scientist played by David Bell of Quail, who realizes the sinister side of his ego. We quickly meet the entire Jekyll family, Mother Jekyll is being played by Yesi Rodriguez of Stockton, California, and Miss Jekyll will be Kayla Adair of McLean. Alexandra Castaneda of Amherst, will be the society matron, and Samantha Green of Shamrock, will be playing the beautiful and shy girlfriend.

From Lefors, Brian McBee will be portraying the funny and disorientated side kick. The dual role of the twins will be wonderfully acted by Samantha Sanderson of Clarendon. Also, from Clarendon will be Tyler Smith as the golden-hearted butler.

Other characters that will bring light hearted fun to the production are the maid portrayed by Whitney Lane of Amarillo, law enforcers Shawn Willoughby of Ft. Elliot, and Riley Wilson of San Antonio, with a special guest appearance by Ben Estlack of Clarendon.

Student Directors for the college production are Kacee McGraw of Turkey, Christi Smith of Memphis, and Tyler Smith of Clarendon.

Special effect, lighting, stage design and music will be conducted by Mathew Martinez, Amanda Powell and Adam Topper, all of Clarendon. Other technical staff members include Kyle Lindsey of Hedley, Will Stubbs of Corsicana, Heather Brandenburg of Garland.

Mikeyla Martin of McLean is the costume seamstress for the production.

Guest art and photography will be on display in the theatre foyer by Green Masque Drama Club Students Scottie Rodrigues of Memphis and Matthew Martinez of Clarendon.

Tickets are $5.00 for Adults and $1.00 for children. For reservations call 806-874-4826.

Vaccine Approved for This Meningitis Type

The FDA recently approved the first vaccine to help protect the body against a particular type of meningitis, serogroup B, caused by the bacteria Neisseria men-ingitidis. Meningitis is an infection of the lining of the brain and spinal cord which may lead to serious illness requiring immediate treatment. Meningococcal vaccines currently available only protect against other strains of the bacteria. This is the first vaccine to protect against serogroup B. Trumenba (meningococcal group B vaccine) received an accelerated approval by the FDA to help protect against the four serogroup B strains that are likely to be found in the US.

Trumenba is only approved for use in persons ages ten through twenty-five at this time. The clinical studies conducted in the US, Europe, and Australia included over six thousand participants. The studies showed that the vaccine worked by inducing an immune response by measuring a particular response called the serum bactericidal activity. The side effects of this vaccine that have been reported in the clinical trials included swelling and pain at the injection site, headache, watery stools, and muscle pain.

Donley County 4-H competed at District 1 Super Quiz Bowl

AMARILLO – The District One 4-H Super Quiz Bowl was held Nov. 8 at Panhandle High School in Panhandle. More than 100 4-H members, including several Donley County teams, gathered to compete in Beef Quiz Bowl, Horse Quiz Bowl, Swine Quiz Bowl and Swine Skillathon.

The Quiz Bowl competition is used as a motivational tool to provide a fun way of encouraging members to learn project information said Shawnte Clawson, AgriLife Extension 4-H and youth development specialist. Quiz Bowl offers opportunities for youths to enhance and demonstrate their knowledge and skills related to 4-H projects in a semi-competitive setting where attitudes of friendliness, cooperation and fairness prevail, Clawson said.

The Donley County Senior Beef team made up of Blaine Ellis, Kati Adams, Clint Franks and Joseph Watson placed 1st and will advance on to State 4-H Roundup that will be held in June on the Texas A&M campus.

Also competing in the beef category was the team of Madison Smith, Ryan Ward and Cole Franks. The beef teams were coached by Dr. Guy Ellis.

Competing in the horse quiz bowl categories were the following teams coached by Shelly Hunsaker and Jenifer Pigg; Senior 1 placing 2nd and advancing to State Roundup Emilie Thompson, Sam Spillers, Shelby Musick and Easton Goodpasture; Senior 2 placing 3rd and also advancing were Alysse Simpson, Kelsey McAnear, Kade Hunsaker and Payton Havens; Intermediate 1 placing 1st Emily Johnson, Brandalyn Ellis, Darcie Hunsaker and Malerie Simpson; Intermediate 2 placing 3rd Braylee Shields, Tanner Burch, Clay Ward and Jayden Monds.

Also competing were the Intermediate teams of Brenna Ellis, Laney Gates and Hadleigh Halsell and Cutter Goodpasture, Calder Havens and Jodee Pigg.

The Junior team competing was Hailey Wilson, Levi Gates and Jared Musick.

Cedrick McCampbell helps with a lab at West Texas A&M University's Engineering Day.

CISD students attended WTAMU Engineering Day

Five students recently attended West Texas A&M University's Engineering Day recently, learning about careers ranging from Mechanical Engineering to Civil and even Environmental Engineering.

West Texas A&M professors led discussions on various topics, and students participated in construction of a project designed to demonstrate how wind energy could be used to do work.

Wind energy is now a major field of study in the panhandle region, with WT professor Matt Jackson telling students that 40 percent of electric energy in the Panhandle is now wind-generated. He broke the news that the largest wind generator in the world is planned for construction in the Panhandle within the next year or so, and WT engineers will test the generator in association with Excel Energy.

Cedrick McCampbell, Chesson Sims, Cooper Bilbrey, Chance Lockhart, and Riley Shadle got an in-depth look at the requirements for engineers and the options in the engineering field.

One WT professor is at work developing nanomaterials that would coat biomedical devices to make them germ-free, which would be an enormous boost to hospitals in their endeavor to reduce infections.

G/T program will be held Dec. 8-19

Nominations for the Gifted and Talented Program for all grade levels will be open December 8-19, 2014. The program serves students who perform at or show potential for performing at a remarkable high level of achievement.

A Gifted and Talented Awareness meeting will be held on Thursday, December 4 at 5:30pm in the Video Conference room of the CCISD Technology Building. An overview of the assessment procedures and services for gifted and talented students will be discussed. This is a mandatory meeting for parents who would like their child to be tested for the G/T program.

Nomination forms are available in the administration office at each campus. All nomination forms must be completed and returned by December 19, 2014.

Lady Broncos’ season underway

The Lady Broncos kicked off their 2014-2015 basketball season at home last Tuesday night. Despite the 43-64 loss, the Lady Broncos gained valuable insight as to what they need to work on in practice.

Follett led the game in its entirety, but the Lady Broncos fought hard throughout. Clarendon only trailed by four points after the first eight minutes, but Follett opened up an eight-point lead at the break. The Lady Panthers rode that momentum until the final buzzer as the Lady Broncos could only get within 21 points of their opponent.

Carlee Johnson led the Lady Broncos with 13 and Taylor Gaines added 12. Hannah Howard finished with nine, Taylor DeGrate helped with seven, and Allyson Grahn and Hannah Hommel each had one point in the game.

On Friday night, the Lady Broncos went to Panhandle to take on the Pantherettes and fell short at 39-57. Clarendon led the entire first half, but a big-scoring third quarter for Panhandle changed the momentum for the Clarendon girls. The Lady Broncos made 10 out of 14 at the bonus line, but it was not enough to overtake Panhandle to get the win.

Grahn led the ladies on the scoreboard with 13. Gaines had 12, DeGrate added 10, and Hommel had 4.

The ladies will take on Highland Park at home on Friday, November 21, and host Perryton November 25. All Lady Bronco games will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Four Bulldogs selected as All-Stars

Four sophomore baseball players represented Clarendon College at this year's Texas-New Mexico Fall All-Star game in Round Rock recently. Shane Clement, Sammy David, Miguel Cintron, and Michael Cruz were selected as all-stars by the conference coaches following their freshman season.

Shane Clement, Wimberley, posted a 7-3 record and a 3.76 ERA as a starting pitcher for the Bulldogs in 2014. In 69 innings pitched, Clement struck out 48 while only walking 16 and holding opposing hitters to a .291 average.

Sammy David, Guayama, Puerto Rico, hit .386 in 140 at-bats with 8 home runs, 13 doubles, 3 triples, and 38 RBI. David finished the season ranked second on the team in batting average, home runs, and RBI's.

Miguel Cintron, Guayama, Puerto Rico, hit .362 in 138 at-bats with 5 home runs, 8 doubles, and 28 RBI. Along with his offensive success, Cintron was among the top infielders in the entire conference in posting a .981 fielding percentage with only 2 errors on the season at third base.

Michael Cruz, Aguadilla, Puerto Rico, hit .442 in 172 at-bats while leading the team in each of the following categories: homeruns-10, doubles-17, triples-3, RBI-47, and on-base percentage-.508. Cruz was a 1st team all-conference and all-region selection as well as a 2nd team All-American.

"I am very proud of the accomplishments of these four players" said head coach Devin McIntosh. "All of them worked hard throughout the year and are deserving of the all-star selection. Each of them represented both the program and college in a positive manner in Round Rock and I look forward to more success in the 2015 season for each of them."

Persons who wish to intervene in the docket must also mail a copy of their request for intervention to all parties in the docket and all persons that have pending motions to intervene, at or before the time the request for intervention is mailed to the PUC. The only way to fully participate in the PUC’s decision on where to locate the transmission line is to intervene in the docket. It is important for an affected person to intervene because the utility is not obligated to keep affected persons informed of the PUC’s proceedings and cannot predict which route may or may not be approved by the PUC.

The deadline for intervention in the docket is January 2, 2015, and the PUC should receive a letter from anyone requesting intervention by that date.

The PUC has a brochure titled “Landowners and Transmission Line Cases at the PUC.” Copies of the brochure are available from B. Cameron Fredkin at Cross Texas Transmission, LLC, 3469 S. Loop 335 East, Amarillo, TX 79118 or may be downloaded from the PUC’s website at www.puc.state.tx.us. To obtain additional information about this docket, you may contact the PUC’s Customer Assistance Hotline at (512) 936-7120 or (888) 782-8477. Hearing-and speech-impaired individuals with text telephones (TTY) may contact the PUC’s Customer Assistance Hotline at (512) 936-7136 or toll free at (800) 735-2989. In addition to the intervention deadline, other important deadlines may already exist that affect your participation in this docket. You should review the orders and other filings already made in the docket.
