THIS WEEK

2 Texas cattlemen get ready to lobby the Legislature next year.

4 The Cub Reporter reveals his favorite pot of chili from the cookoff.

5 Clarendon College names students to its fall honor lists.

6 And the Clarendon junior varsity squads local tournaments.

All this and much more as The Enterprise reports in this week's Christmas edition!

Sheriff asks kids to end chasing games

Donley County Sheriff Butch Blackburn is asking local kids to knock off a game of chase or cat and mouse that has riled some residents.

Blackburn said kids have been chasing each other through people's yards at night and have also sometimes banged on doors and yelled before running off. Some older residents have been scared by the activity, and some kids even got chased by one resident in a vehicle.

"We need to end this before a kid gets run over or, worse, gets shot by someone thinking they have an intruder at their house," the sheriff said.

Churches set plans for Christmas Eve

Several Clarendon churches are planning to hold Christmas Eve services next Wednesday, December 24, and the Enterprise has been notified of the following schedules.

St. John the Baptist Episcopal Church will have services at 6:00 p.m., and the First United Methodist Church will also have a Candlelight Service in the sanctuary at 6:00 p.m.

The First Christian Church will have a Candlelight Communion with special music by Katie Askew at 7 p.m., and the Agape Christian Church will also hold a service at 7 p.m.

St. Mary's Catholic Church will hold its Christmas Eve service at 9 p.m.

Other local services may be planned but not listed here. Check the church directory located elsewhere in this issue for contact information and addresses for the church of your choice, and remember the reason for the season.

Enterprise to close for Christmas week

The Clarendon Enterprise will be closed for the Christmas holidays next week December 22-26 to allow our crew time to spend with their families.

The office will re-open Monday, December 29, at 9 a.m. We wish you and yours a very Merry Christmas.

Watson takes plea in district court

One plea took place when the 100th District Court met in Clarendon on Thursday, December 4, 2014.

Matthew Zachary Watson was placed on probation for a period of three years for the third degree felony offense of possession of marihuana. Watson pleaded guilty and was placed on deferred adjudication for the offense.

Watson, 26-year-old resident of Lenexa, Kan., was arrested in Carson County for the offense that took place August 13, 2014.

If Watson violates probation, he could face up to 10 years in the Institutional Division of the TDCJ.

Jobs well done

Donley Judge Jack Hall and Precinct 2 Commissioner Donnie Hall were honored with a reception Saturday at the Donley County Activity Center to celebrate their service to the county. Judge Hall (left) will retire at the end of this month after leading the county since 1997. Commissioner Hall began his service in 1999 and is also retiring this month.

Final night of late shopping is Friday

Christmastime activities continue this week with Late Night Shopping as local merchants stand ready to fill your last minute Christmas wish lists..

In a move from the traditional Thursday schedule, Late Night Shopping this year is being held on Fridays at downtown merchants.

Local businesses are grateful for the support of all their customers and provide great deals with exceptional service.

Holiday shopping is easy and affordable with a Christmas Cash loan from the Donley County State Bank and enjoy interest free shopping at a dozen participating establishments. There is still time to take advantage of the program as the shopping season draws to a close.

The program, organized by the Chamber of Commerce, allows anyone to make application for a loan of up to $3,000 interest free with the Donley County State Bank. Once a loan has been approved, the borrower will be issued Christmas Cash Dollars, which may be spent like US currency toward new purchases at all of the participating businesses. Christmas Cash must be spent by December 31, 2014.

As of Tuesday morning, participating Christmas Cash merchants this year are: Cornell's Country Store, J&W Lumber, Osburn Appliance, Country Bloomers, Ronna's Creations, Stavenhagen Video, Henson's, Every Nook & Cranny, Straight Off The Ranch, The Clarendon Enterprise, Mike's Pharmacy, Lowe's Family Center & Ace Hardware.

Chili Champion

Sales tax revenue ends calendar year down

Sales tax revenues dropped this month for all three Donley County municipalities when Texas Comptroller Susan Combs delivered her December allocations last week.

Clarendon's revenues dropped 2.21 percent for the month to $31,455.18, bringing the city's calendar year-to-date figure down 3.21 percent to $398,447.17.

Hedley's sales tax check dropped 71.95 percent to $393.55. That city is now 7.42 percent down for 2014 at $7,037.24.

Howardwick's allocation was also down, falling 44.18 percent compared to the same month one year ago at $787.23. The yearly total is down 23.37 percent at $13,317.05.

Statewide, Comptroller Combs said that state sales tax revenue for the month was $2.66 billion, up 10.7 percent compared to November 2013.

"The growth in sales tax collections was fueled by increased remittances from both business and consumer driven sectors," Combs said. "The gains were led by oil and natural gas-related sectors, while collections from retail trade and restaurants also rose strongly."

The sales tax figures represent October sales reported by monthly tax filers.

Burglars run into trouble

Two men were spending time in the Donley County Jail this week after they were caught burglarizing a barn west of Clarendon and became the subjects of a short manhunt.

Sheriff Butch Blackburn said his office was notified of criminal activity at the property about 6:30 a.m. Monday, December 15. When the subjects realized they had been spotted, they drove off through a pasture and through a fence before getting their vehicle wedged in some mesquite trees.

The first subject, 52-year-old Lionel Ray Harris of Amarillo, was picked up near the Clarendon College Livestock & Equine Center, and the second subject, 49-year-old Terry Wayne Cash of Quanah, was captured in an alley on the east side of the city.

Blackburn said city and county workers along with some local firemen helped look for the men before their capture. "We had a lot of help from the community," he said.

Both Cash and Harris have extensive criminal histories, the sheriff said. The men had stolen a John Deere riding lawnmower that morning but ditched it before going across the pasture.

Blackburn reminds everyone to be very aware of their property and possessions right now. Criminal activity is on the rise in terms of burglaries and thefts.

"We usually see this leading up to Christmas and through the holidays, but it seems worse," he said. "These guys were from out of town. Everyone just needs to stay alert and watch out for their neighbors."

City exploring grant funded water project

The City of Clarendon is exploring grant opportunities to fund up to $3.9 million in water system improvements following last Tuesday's meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

Grant funding for the project could pay for between 40 and 75 percent of the project, and work could be scaled back depending on the level of grant funds the city qualifies for.

The project, if funded and pursued, would include replacing the standpipe water storage on the east side of town, improving waterlines throughout the city, and installing water meters that can be read electronically, reducing errors and lost work time.

Aldermen last week approved advertising for engineering services on the project, which is the first step in pre-applying for the funds.

After determining what level of grant funds the city qualifies for, officials will determine what size project to pursue and options for funding the city's match.

In other city business, aldermen continued to look at Clarendon's sign ordinance and what changes they would like to make to it. The board will continue to look at this.

Aldermen also reviewed bids for the city's health insurance coverage.

In light of rising premiums and given a bid with better benefits, the board elected to end its FirstCare coverage after nearly two decades and take out coverage through the Texas Municipal League.

In council comments, Alderman Sandy Skelton urged the city to expedite removal of the non-operational elevator on the front of City Hall, and Mayor Larry Hicks said he would see that was done. Workers have since removed the elevator.

Growth means shrinking size of Government

By James A. Dorn

There is a growing body of evidence that bigger government means slower growth of real GDP. Once the level of total government spending as a percentage of GDP reaches a tipping point, estimated to be from 15 percent to 25 percent of GDP, additional expansion crowds out private productive investment and slows economic growth. When government overreaches, economic freedom is diminished and private exchange opportunities are lost — that is, the range of choices open to individuals is restricted.

In a pioneering study of the link between the growth of government and the wealth of nations, which appeared in the fall 1998 issue of the Cato Journal, economists James Gwartney, Randall Holcombe, and Robert Lawson found that a 10 percentage point increase in government spending as a percentage of GDP decreases real GDP growth by 1 percentage point. Thus, if government spending went from 25 percent of GDP to 35 percent, real GDP growth would slow over the longer term by a full percentage point. They also found that a 10 percentage point increase in the government’s share of GDP lowered private investment by 1.6 percentage points.

One of the key findings of their study was that secure property rights — which includes a legal system that protects persons and property, enforces contracts, and limits the power of government by a just rule of law — play an important role in promoting economic growth.

The positive relationship between property rights and economic growth was developed more fully by the late Bernhard Heitger, an economist at the Kiel Institute for World Economics, in his path-breaking article in the winter 2004 Cato Journal. In that article, Heitger distinguished between proximate and ultimate determinants of economic growth. The former are well known: additions to physical and human capital and technological progress (also known as total factor productivity). But Heitger was interested in the question of what drives capital accumulation and innovation. His answer: the structure of property rights and the associated incentives.

Today, the size and scope of government in the United States would be beyond the imagination of America’s Founding Fathers. For more than a century after the ratification of the Constitution and Bill of Rights, limits on government power were taken seriously. At the start of the 20th century, total government spending was less than 10 percent of GDP, with the majority of spending taking place at the state and local levels. In 1900, federal spending was a mere 2.8 percent of GDP compared to 21.1 percent in 2014. Meanwhile, state and local spending stood at 5 percent of GDP in 1900, but reached 11.5 percent in 2014. Overall government spending now stands at nearly 33 percent of GDP (see www.downsizinggovernment.org).

That tectonic shift is largely due to the growth of entitlements and the regulatory state. Nearly half of federal spending goes toward Social Security, Medicare, and Medicaid; huge regulatory costs are imposed on the private sector; and the higher taxes needed to finance big government erode economic incentives to work, save, and invest.

The loss of economic freedom in the United States is revealed in the annual Economic Freedom of the World Report, published by the Fraser Institute along with the Cato Institute and a number of global think tanks. In 2000, the United States was the second most economically free country in the world, based on data from 1998. Today it is ranked 12th, based on 2012 data.

To move up the freedom ladder, the United States needs to change the climate of ideas and recognize the importance of private property rights and the rule of law. A legal framework that safeguards persons and property means incentivizing individuals to take responsibility for their actions and allowing people to learn from their mistakes. It means cutting back the size and scope of government and not bailing out businesses.

The nature of government is coercion; the nature of the market is consent. The “great constitutional charter” that George Washington referred to in his First Inaugural Address (April 30, 1789) was intended to bind Congress to the powers enumerated in Article 1, Section 8 of the Constitution. Thomas Jefferson reiterated Washington’s admonition by stating in his Frist Inaugural Address (March 4, 1801): “The sum of good government” is “a wise and frugal Government, which shall restrain men from injuring one another, shall leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned.”

The challenge for the 114th Congress is to return to “a wise and frugal government.” A first step would be to understand the detrimental effects of expanding government power on economic liberties — especially on private property rights. If history has taught us anything, it is that the size and scope of government matters, both for freedom and prosperity.

The role of turkeys in the holidays

Turkeys, I suppose, are unaware that their “jobs” in life are to gobble down granular foodstuff in a timely manner that will render them prime menu targets for us to gobble down — particularly at Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners. They do so with little fanfare — save the one that is “spared” by presidential decree.

Chicken — the meat Chick-fil-A’s advertising cows urge us to eat more of — make far more “news” if only in ads throughout the year. But turkeys? Not so much. Mostly, we use their name in derisive manners. When we label others as “turkeys,” they may consider themselves put down.

The “we-give-it-all” birds are at the center of platters, artistically depicted on school bulletin boards, included in plays and central to conversations during these festive days....

My Uncle Mort, 102, admits that he “made a plumb fool of himself” at the Thanksgiving table. “I ate three servings of turkey, two of everything else and four slices of assorted pies,” he groaned.

I can imagine a rotund Sumo wrestler putting away this much food, but Uncle Mort? His soaking-wet weight is usually around 145 pounds.

“I stared at the last four bites of mincemeat pie, afraid I was already 100 percent full,” he explained. “But, I wasn’t about to let it go to waste. Luckily, by flossing my teeth between each bite, I licked the saucer clean,” he bragged....

Sometimes, unexpected memories are made by children well-drilled in school trap-pings associ-ated with the holidays. Kyra, six-year-old granddaughter of Dr. Harry and Marsha Krenek, remembered last year’s kindergarten class had a “Thanksgiving Feast.” They dressed as Pilgrims and Indians, dining on tradi-tional holiday fare — the kind purportedly served at the very first observance.

This summer, as the Kreneks drove up the mountain to Mesa Verde, CO, it was mentioned to Kyra and her nine-year-old brother Colin that they might get to see some “real Indians” there.

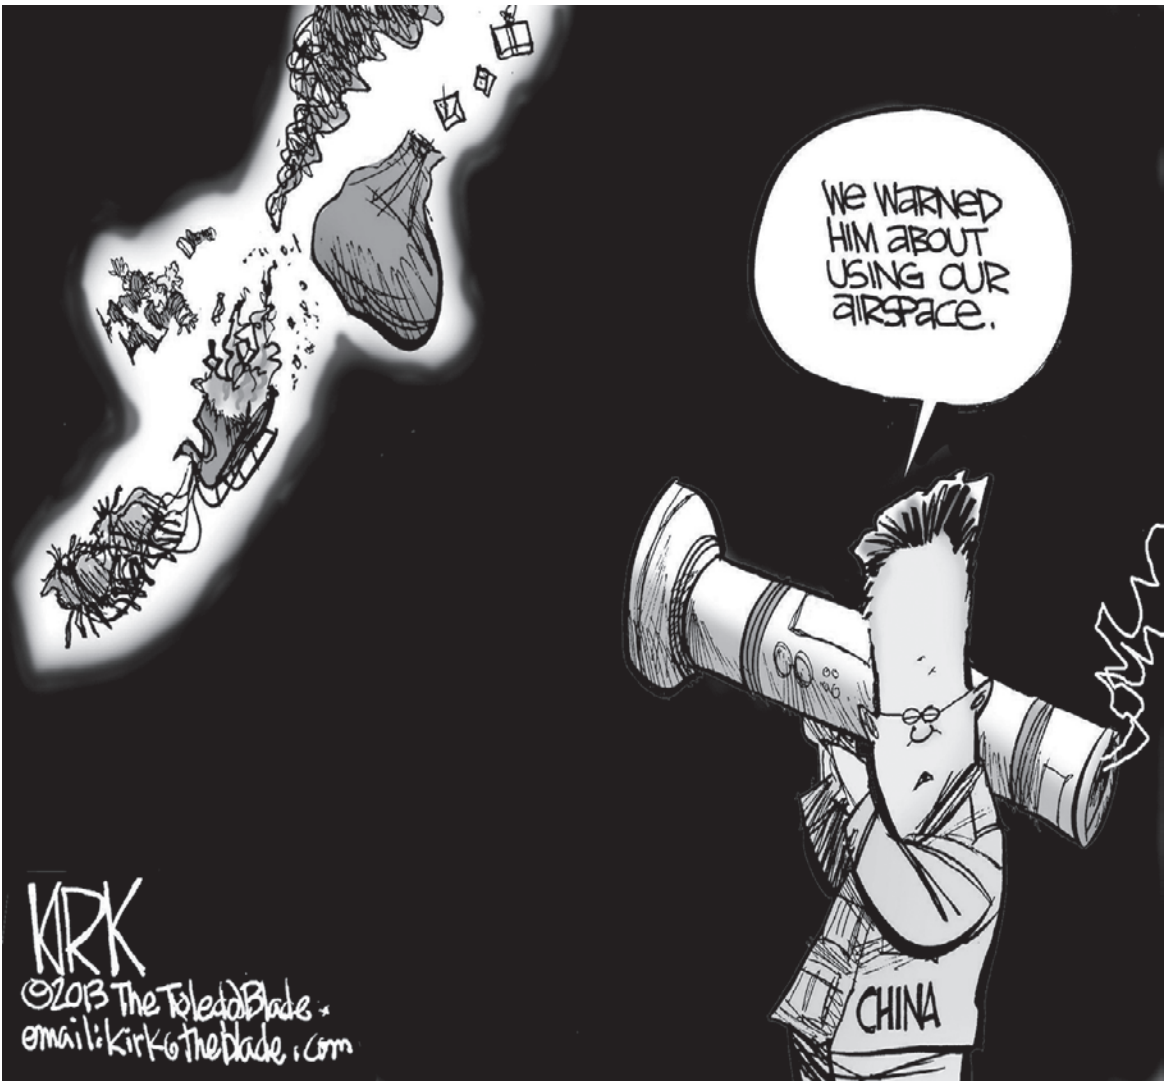

Kyra’s response was quick and emphatic; she didn’t care to see any Indians. “They might want to have a feast with me,” she explained. (Turns out, the Indians were busy selling fry bread and jewelry, so Kyra’s fear didn’t material-ize.)...

Christmas came early for the Ohio State University football team when it was chosen over Texas Christian University and Baylor University for the cov-eted fourth slot for the play-offs leading to a national championship.

A few million Texans are as upset as the parents of daughters who finish runner-up in pageants, festivals and assorted other competitions.

TSCRA prepares for legislative session

By Robert McKnight, Second Vice President, Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association

On January 13, 2015, the 84th session of the Texas Legislature is kicking off in Austin, Texas. The state House and Senate are welcoming back many seasoned legislators, but also adding many freshmen to the halls of the Capitol. The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association (TSCRA) is looking forward to being on the ground working at the state Capitol to make sure cattle raisers and landowners are properly represented.

In past legislative sessions, TSCRA has secured notable accomplishments. We have worked to pass legislation to secure landowners’ private property rights, track animal health issues and strengthen cattle theft laws. We have also worked hand-in-hand with other agricultural and landowner groups to prevent legislation from passing that would not be good for you as ranchers and landowners.

TSCRA has been actively monitoring issues that could come up in this session, as well as meeting new members and their staff and staying in contact with ones we have worked with in the past. We expect to be busy interacting with legislators and keeping an eye on bills that could affect you as stewards of land and livestock.

Some say water may not be an issue this session; however, TSCRA believes this important resource will be a major topic not only this session, but for ones to come. As Texas continues to struggle with drought conditions and the need for water grows in our state, some groundwater ownership issues could come up. TSCRA staunchly believes groundwater is groundwater. If a water resource lies beneath your property, you own it. TSCRA will be active in water rights and ownership issues during this session.

TSCRA will also be engaged should any eminent domain related legislation be filed. We will do whatever it takes to make sure landowners are treated fairly when an entity uses the power of eminent domain to claim land for public use.

Finally, TSCRA will be watching as many other issues important to cattle raisers and landowners come up, and the association will not hesitate to work with legislators to have legislation filed if needed.

We will do everything possible to make sure cattle raisers and landowners have the best outcome at the end of this session, and your help is always welcome.

In the past TSCRA members have been instrumental in making us aware of critical issues and providing a strong voice over at the Capitol. In fact, last session it was TSCRA members who Biases erupt from fans who feel their respective “school colors” are brightest of all.

Uncle Mort has his own ideas about the selection. “I’m not sure there’s two cents worth of difference in the top six teams,” he claimed. “Maybe the lucky four schools were named so there’d be a wide representation of nicknames — Crimson Tide, Seminoles, Ducks and Buckeyes. And perhaps BU and TCU were left out to avoid religious wars.”

Undoubtedly, Google will get a good work-out. Outside of Ohio, not too many folks know what a Buckeye is. And, the name “Seminoles” — long associated with Florida State — will remind smaller institutions whose mascots formerly were Indians that the NCAA is consistent mostly in its inconsistencies. And the organization chooses its battles carefully....

My criticism of the NCAA is long-standing. Mentioning it again is likely both tiring and pointless.

Mostly, it is a lapdog for TV; the mega-millions generated by Division I football dictate far too much.

Sportsmanship is “out the window” as teams roll up “style points.” And too many coaches’ salaries are beyond ridiculous.

OK, I’ll make my exit here, already having made a turkey of myself....

Stay safe, go shopping in Clarendon

Hi, gang! Let's be extra careful if you shop in the big city. Remember it is not like shopping in Clarendon. It may be a lot of fun while you shop, but you, your presents, packages, and vehicle may be at risk. Thieves and car burglars roam the parking lots looking for easy targets. You know the drill, hide everything, lock vehicle.

There have been several reports of vehicles windows broken out just to get change out of the paper cup that many leave exposed. That's right, just for a little change they break in causing you time and trouble getting the window replaced.

Be safe. Shop Clarendon. This week we have a warning from the Executive Director of The Bridge - Children's Advocacy Center in Amarillo. We now have a branch of the Bridge in Clarendon. As social media grows, it becomes easier for sexual predators to gain access to our personal information. A lot of teens could argue having a large amount of friends on Facebook makes you popular. But sometimes, the friends your children are accepting could be sexual predators. The Internet is a main venue used to gain access to another person's information. That person could be your child who unknowingly accepted a stranger's friend request on Facebook, as a means to gain popularity.

Bridge Executive Director April Leming said she thinks social media has become something for parent's to constantly monitor. "I think with the social media out there, it just opens you up to a much broader friend base," Leming said. "And so it makes it a lot easier. Whereas before, when we didn't have maybe Facebook and things like that, you had emails or you had chat rooms, but people weren't using them as widely as they do Facebook. I mean most people are on Facebook."

bob's whittlin'
by bob watson

The app "Friend Verifier" was developed to identify Facebook friends or requests who are registered sex offenders. The software scans through your friends list and reveals names matching those on the national sex offender registry database. It then uses a three color warning system to alert you every time a name matches an offender. Yellow means only the name matches, orange means the name and location match, and red means name, location and date of birth match a sex offender.

However, Founder and CEO, Joe Penora, said the program isn't full-proof.

"We can't again guarantee every single record, at the very least you can look at "Friend Verifier" as a teaching tool where parents can talk to their kids and say hey, the danger is actually a lot closer than you think online," Penora said. "Most kids aren't going to listen to their parents say don't accept this person, don't accept this person, but if you actually use 'Friend Verifier' you can show them right in front of their eyes, hey sex offenders are out there and they're using social media to find their next victim."

In order to scan your friends, type in "Friend Verifier" in the search bar. Click the app and accept for it to scan through your friends. The app will process through your friends list, and reveal your matches. Click on the names and a mugshot for each person will appear along with their location and offense. You can visit website here: <http://www.friendverifier.com>. As of now the app is only available for Facebook, however a second version to identify offenders through Twitter, Instagram, Four-square and LinkedIn is in the works. Stay extra safe out there.

What happened to old fashion remedies?

I have an old-fashion cold with every orifice in my head dripping along with coughs, sneezing, chills, and sweats. As a kid Mother would give me a teaspoon of sugar with a drop or two of coal oil for the cough followed by a rubdown on my chest with Vick's Vapor Rub and the cold would last 3-4 days.

Now we take some sort of high dollar medicine that makes you feel weird, possibly visit the doctor, and our cold lasts 3-4 days. That weird feeling prevents me from sleeping, and there are only so many games of solitaire you can play at 4 a.m.

Turning on TV is not much better. Have you watched those commercials? Cindy Crawford promises to make me look younger with her skin care, or how about the exercises? All I have to do is buy the product with a 30-day guarantee and I will have a perfectly sculpted body like a 25-year-old.

New Drug Approved to Treat Type of MS
Alemtuzumab (Lemtrada) has been approved by the US Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to help treat relapsing forms of multiple sclerosis (MS), or those who have not had an improvement with two or more therapies in the past. The FDA requires that the label have a boxed warning of increased risk for certain malignancies and certain autoimmune disorders. A restricted distribution program is a part of the FDA's Risk and Evaluation and Mitigation Strategy (REMS). REMS requires that healthcare providers and patients be aware of the serious risks and regular monitoring necessary to prevent any concerning side effects. Lemtrada is approved to be given into the veins as an infusion for five days, then for three days twelve months later.
MS is a condition where the body attacks the soft covering around the nerves. The covering is called myelin and it is important to send signals from the brain and spinal cord. In MS communication among the nerves is not coordinated properly causing different severities of potential damage. Symptoms include numbness or tingling in parts of the body, double vision, slurred speech and difficulty walking.

Bronco JV named Tournament Champions

The Clarendon Bronco junior varsity made easy work of three teams in their tournament last week-end and took the first place trophy.

The Broncos took on White Deer in the first round of the tournament and breezed to a 63-17 win. The Broncos completely dominated the court and left the Bucks struggling to get anything going. Clay Koetting had a stellar game with 18 points (4 3-pointers) to lead the Broncos and Kenrick Addington followed suit with 16 points. Damarjae Cortez also had a great game finishing with 14 points and two three-pointers. Keandre Cortez put in eight, Steven Johnson had four, and Payton Havens helped with three.

In game two the Broncos bested Wheeler 43-31. The Mustangs turned out to be a little tougher opponent, but the Broncos held their ground and earned the big win. Wheeler made an attempt to come back in the third quarter, but the Broncos squelched their offensive surge to get the win. Johnson lit up the court with 17 points and D. Cortez had 10. Koetting had eight, K. Cortez had six, and Addington helped with two.

The Broncos took on Wellington in the championship game and defeated them 38-28 for the trophy. The Broncos actually trailed the Rockets by three points after the first quarter of play, but worked their way back to a tie at the break. They were able to put points on the board in the third quarter of play and attacked Wellington with great defense. That defense paid off in the final period of play as they held the Rockets to only two points in the final seven minutes.

Koetting had 12, K. Cortez put in 10, Johnson and D. Cortez had seven, and Havens helped with two.

“It was two days of very good basketball,” coach Alton Gaines said. “It sure was nice to win the championship as we haven’t won our tournament in a long time. I knew they would play a lot better being able to rest in between games. That was a big plus for us due to our number of kids playing. It was a great job by the Broncos.”

Earlier in the week, the Broncos took on Vega at home and defeated them 41-32. Several Broncos stepped up and played hard to help the Broncos get the win. After playing a close first quarter, the Broncos widened the gap and took control of the game. Brothers Keandre and Damarjae Cortez led the Broncos with 16 and 11 respectively. Johnson added six, and Koetting and Addington helped with four each.

The Broncos will play at Fritch after the break and play White Deer at home January 6 at 5:00 p.m.

Lady Bronco JV champions in Tournament

The Lady Bronco junior varsity raced through team after team to earn the Championship of their own tournament last weekend. They played determined and aggressive while defeating three good teams.

The Lady Broncos went up against White Deer in the first round on Tuesday and easily defeated them 42-26. They played solid on both ends of the court, which helped them get the win. Briley Chadwick put in 13 points to lead the Lady Broncos on the scoreboard and Sterling King added 10 shooting 75 percent from the bonus line. Sarah Williams put in four and Allison Hogan, Jensen Hatley, and Shaelyn Owiti turned in three each. Amelia Weatherston, Damara Brown, and Berkeley Alexander each helped with two.

The Lady Broncos dominated their second round team as well defeating them 46-20. Once again the ladies dominated their opponent and the scoring was spread out between eight players. Offensively, the ladies shot well from the outside and nailed four three-pointers as a team and shot well from the free throw line. Chadwick turned in 11 points and King had 10. Hatley put in seven, and Owiti and Brown each had four. Hogan, Weatherston, and Williams, each had two.

The Lady Broncos faced off against Wheeler in the championship game with a 35-23 final score. The Clarendon ladies took a commanding lead in the first quarter of play and stayed solid through the second. Both teams encountered a slow-shooting third quarter, but the Lady Broncos turned up the heat in the final seven minutes to get the win.

“The ladies worked hard for all three wins,” coach Kasey Bell said. “They were able to see lots of different presses and had to adjust offensively to control the ball and the pressure. We are improving in all of those areas. I was very proud of them for coming out on top.”

Bell also would like to thank all of the workers who made the tournament possible.

Earlier in the week, the Lady Broncos defeated Vega at home 37-17.

The Lady Broncos will play at Fritch after the break and take on White Deer at home January 6 at 4:00 pm.

Colts add two wins over Shamrock

Both the seventh and eighth grade Colts earned big wins over Shamrock last Monday night on the road. The seventh grade won 25-16 and the eighth grade won big at 39-9.

“The seventh grade played an outstanding game,” coach Brad Elam said. “We opened up a 6-2 lead after the first quarter and extended the lead to 14-4 at half time.”

Elam said the Colts struggled a little during the third quarter and allowed Shamrock to cut the lead to five.

“But we were able to regroup and extend the lead and held on to win,” Elam said. “So proud of the way these guys played. I am definitely seeing improvement.”

Elam gave the team credit for their outstanding defense in the game.

“Except for the third quarter, we held them to only five points in those three quarters,” Elam said. “Trent Smith and Jamal Butler played great defense.”

Butler had 10, Clay Ward 6, Trent Smith 4, Tanner Burch 4, and Jadon Monds 1. The eighth grade continued their strong play and stopped Shamrock every inch of the way. According to Elam, the Colts began the game somewhat slow, but found their rhythm quickly.

“We started off a little slow, but were able to pen up a commanding 16-2 lead after the first quarter and extended the lead to 28-5 at halftime,” Elam said. “Unfortunately, we were only able to score 11 points in the second half and only two in the fourth quarter. I thought our defense played well holding them to nine points, but we struggled shooting the ball.”

Preston Elam 12, Bear Smith 10, Caton Grahn 7, Ryan McCleskey 2, Noab Elam 2, Cole Franks, 2, Isaac Dunham 2, and Ryan Ward 2.

The Colts will continue their season after the Christmas break on January 8 at home against Quanah at 5:00 p.m.

Lady Colts earn wins over Shamrock

The eighth grade Lady Colts earned a big win over Shamrock at home last Monday night with a 25-20 final. The ladies worked hard to get the win and played solid defense on the night.

The Lady Colts held a one-point advantage after the first quarter, but opened it up somewhat in the second period of play. The teams were fairly even in the second half, but the Lady Colts maintained the lead to get the win. The scoring was only spread out between two players. Emily Johnson put in 13, and Sandra Smith had 12.

The seventh grade Lady Colts won by a bigger margin at 35-19. They began slowly, but picked up the pace and the tempo of the game worked in their favor. They held a huge 16-point lead after three quarters of play and were able to stay focused to get the win.

Mattee Johnson had a big game for the Lady Colts with 17, and Darcie Hunsaker put in eight. Madi Gay helped with six, and Kira Weatherston and Samara Johnson each had two.

“Both the 7th and 8th grade girls had good hustle and great defense, which helped with both teams coming up with wins against Shamrock,” coach Sandi Johnson said.

The Lady Colts will travel to Quanah January 8 and play at 5:00 p.m.

Broncos stop Vega at home

By Sandy Anderberg

Solid play with only eight team turnovers helped the Broncos get a huge win at home against the Vega Longhorns last Tuesday night. Four players finished in double figures in the 73-52 win. Clarendon upped their record to 6-3 for the year and also went eight for fourteen from behind the arc in the win.

The Broncos led from the onset and expanded their lead to 15 points at the break. They rode that momentum into the final half of play and depended on solid offense and strong defense to get the win.

“We did a good job of pushing the ball down the court and taking care of it,” coach Brandt Lockhart said. “We had a season low of eight turnovers for the game. It was a very good win against a good team.”

Cedrick McCampbell came on strong with 19 points and seven rebounds on the night. Bryce Grahm had 15 points and nine rebounds, six assists, and four steals. Charles Mason had 12 points and Junior Cenicerros put in 11 points and had four steals. Colt Wood made good on eight points, and Riley Shadle and Chance Lockhart each had four points. Lockhart also had five assists.

The Broncos will participate in the Canadian Tournament over the holidays and travel to Fritch January 2.

Lady Broncos drop game to Vega in OT

By Sandy Anderberg

The Lady Broncos fought hard at home against Vega last Tuesday night, but fell short in the overtime period losing 57-63.

Clarendon led through three periods of play, but the Lady Longhorns worked their way back into the game to send the game to overtime at 50-50 at the end of regulation. “It was a tough loss in overtime,” head coach Kalen Grahm said.

“We lost Allyson (Grahm) in the Championship game of the Claude tournament due to a sprained ankle, so that forced some of the other girls into different roles. They played a very good game and Taylor Gaines played a great game for us running the offense and being our floor general.” Grahm said Taylor DeGrate led the Lady Broncos with 23 and Hannah Howard went six for six from the free throw line. Carlee Johnson had a huge night for the Lady Broncos scoring 14 points and attacking the rim.

“We need more balanced scoring to win down the road,” Grahm said. “We hope to see Vega again; they are a good, solid club and are very well coached.”

The Lady Broncos will participate in the Canadian Tournament over the holidays and travel to Fritch January 2.

House passes annual government spending bill

WASHINGTON, DC – The U.S. House of Representatives passed a spending bill last week that provides funding for nearly all of the government’s operations through the end of the fiscal year, September 30, 2015. The exception is the Department of Homeland Security, which will receive funding for less than 90 days, expiring on February 27, 2015. Under the agreement, overall discretionary spending has been reduced by $165 billion since Fiscal Year 2010. The legislation passed with a bipartisan vote of 219 to 206.

Congressman Mac Thornberry (R-Clarendon) voted in favor of the bill.

“This bill fulfills our constitutional responsibility to fund the government, while also reining in spending and executive and other federal overreach,” said Rep. Thornberry. “We have been able to reduce spending by $165 billion since 2010. We plan to build on this progress with additional meaningful cuts and changes when Congress returns in January with Republican majorities in the House and the Senate.”

The bill funds important Department of Defense programs and projects, offers a pay raise for troops, and provides resources to help prepare for current and future threats. The defense portion of the bill also includes funding for local national security facilities, including missions at Sheppard Air Force base in Wichita Falls. In addition, it contains nearly $2.8 billion for Bell Helicopter’s V22 and other aircraft programs, much of which is done in Amarillo. It also increases funding for nuclear weapons activities—much of which is performed at Pantex—to $8.2 billion. To help address the backlog of deferred maintenance on physical infrastructure in the nuclear weapons facilities, the agreement provides $37.4 million specifically for recapitalization projects at Pantex.

The BLM Red River land dispute issue is addressed in the funding bill as well. It includes language to help ensure that the Bureau of Land Management defers any final decisionmaking regarding land use plans along the Red River in Texas until appropriate surveys have been conducted to determine ownership.

Notably, the legislation provides no new funding for Obamacare; cuts $345.6 million from the Internal Revenue Service and $60 million from the Environmental Protection Agency; gives states the power to relax Obama Administration’s onerous school lunch rules; also, includes many provisions to rein in regulatory overreach.

The bill also offers emergency funding to help combat the Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant (ISIL) and to address the domestic and international Ebola crisis. Bill Highlights: Spending Cuts: Cuts total discretionary spending for the 5th year in a row, which reduces spending to levels lower than under George W. Bush in constant dollars. Limited Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Funding: Funds DHS only until Feb. 27, 2015, (less than 90 days) so the new Republican Congress can tackle the issue of Obama’s immigration action in February.

Defense Spending: Funds our nation’s security, military readiness, support for our troops at home and abroad, and care for military families. It also includes emergency funds to pay for operations against the Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant (ISIL).

• Military Personnel and Pay: The bill fully funds the pay raise for the military and provides $215 million above the request to fully fund the costofliving allowance for military retirees.

• Pantex: Increases funding for the National Nuclear Security Administration’s weapons activities including Pantex. The bill also provides $37.4 million specifically for recapitalization projects at Pantex.

• Bell: Includes about $2.8 billion total for Bell V22 and helicopter programs, much of which is done in Amarillo, including procurement of 19 new Ospreys and 28 new helicopters for the Marine Corps.

• Sheppard AFB: Includes funding for activities at Sheppard AFB in the personnel account and operations and maintenance account.

Red River: Includes report language to help ensure that the Bureau of Land Management does not make any final decisions regarding land use plans along the Red River in Texas until appropriate surveys have been conducted to determine ownership.

Internal Revenue Service (IRS): Cuts IRS funding by $345.6 million and includes extensive oversight requirements, bringing IRS funding to below FY 2008 levels. The bill also prohibits funding to target organizations for regulatory scrutiny based on their political beliefs.

Restricts Clean Water Act (CWA): Restricts the application of the CWA in certain agricultural areas, including farm ponds and irrigation ditches.

GIPSA: Includes restrictions on the Grain Inspection, Packers and Stockyards Administration (GIPSA) from implementing regulations harmful to the livestock and poultry industry.

Light Bulbs: Bans the Administration’s onerous “light bulb” standard.

NOTICE OF INTENT

The City of Clarendon, Texas, intends to file an application for a loan/grant within the next 30 days with the USDA-RUS in the amount of $4,000,000 for design and construction for removing an existing standpipe and construct an elevated storage tank or a standpipe replacing existing water lines, installing new water lines and replacing existing water meters. The standpipe we currently have on the south east side of town on Hwy 70 is inoperable due to lack of height to operate correctly with the new standpipe on the west side of town. Replacing the standpipe on the east side will greatly increase water pressure and water quality. Engineers have completed a water study and concluded that a new stand pipe would greatly benefit the city, based on the lack of pressure and problem areas for water quality. Existing water meters will be replaced with auto-read meters for a more accurate and efficient means to read and maintain monthly utility billing.
