THIS WEEK

- 2 Integrity is a critical quality to the Clarendon College Board.
- 4 Greenbelt Lake gets a fresh infusion of new Walleye.
- 6 Clarendon High School students advance to district in UIL.
- 7 The Clarendon Broncos pitch their way to another district win.

All this and much more as The Enterprise reports in this week's amazing edition!

Local sales tax revenues drop

Sales tax revenues fell this month for all Donley County cities when Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar distributed April sales tax allocations to local governments.

The City of Clarendon was down 1.12 percent to $25,700 for the month and down for the calendar year-to-date 1.32 percent at $124,731.04.

Hedley dropped 37.74 percent to $517.66 for the month and down 25.08 percent for the year at $2,436.01.

Howardwick was almost even, dropping only 0.91 percent for an allocation of $1,047.46 this month. That city is down 1.11 percent for the year-to-date at $4,427.73.

Statewide, Hegar distributed 705.3 million in local sales tax allocations for April, 8.4 percent more than in April 2018. These allocations are based on sales made in February by businesses that report tax monthly.

Library Friends plan bake sale this week

The Friends of the Burton Memorial Library will hold a Bake Sale this Friday, April 19, starting at 9:30 a.m. The fundraiser will be held at Lowe's Family Center and benefits the programs of the Library.

St. Mary's Day BBQ to be held April 28

The 23rd annual St. Mary's Day s BBQ will be held Sunday, April 28, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Donley County Activity Center.

The all-you-can-eat meal features barbecue beef and ribs with all the trimmings, and the cost is $15 for adults and $7 for kids ages six to 12. Carry-outs are available.

The event will also include the St. Mary's Country Store, a quilt raffle, and a 50/50 raffle. All proceeds will benefit the St. Mary's Parish Building Fund.

Clean-up day set for Citizens Cemetery

The Citizens Cemetery Association is asking everyone who is willing to help with a clean-up day on Saturday, April 27, at 9 a.m. Volunteers are asked to bring trailers, landscape tools, and muscle to help trim trees, knock down weeds, and generally improve the appearance of the cemetery. All help will be greatly appreciated.

Sunrise service to be held in Groom

A Welcome to the Cross sunrise Easter service will be held at 7 a.m. this Sunday in Groom.

Reverend Dr. Jerry Lane of White Deer will lead the service as worshippers celebrate the risen Lord and enjoy refreshments and fellowship. For more information, contact Barbara Homer at 806-248-9006.

Accrediting body reviewing CC board actions

The governing board of Clarendon College's accrediting agency will consider in June whether CC's Board of Regents has violated as many as four accreditation standards.

Documents obtained by The Clarendon Enterprise through a Public Information Request show that the Southern Association of Colleges & Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC) notified the college in February that a complaint had been filed against CC's Board of Regents alleging repeated violations of the Texas Open Meetings Act and that members of the board had "harassed college employees who were trying to uphold the law and institutional policy."

"This is a very serious issue," CC President Robert Riza said this week. "Sanctions from the SACSCOC board can be anything from a monitoring report to a warning to probation to removal from membership. The State of Texas requires us to be a member of the accrediting agency to operate."

The notice came in a letter from SACSCOC Vice President Chrystal A. Baird, Ph.D., to CC President Robert Riza on February 20.

"A review of the documentation submitted with this complaint has raised questions regarding Clarendon College's ongoing compliance with four SACSCOC accreditation standards as follows," Baird wrote.

The complaint, filed by then CC Vice President of External Affairs Ashlee Estlack, followed almost two years of rising tensions between Regents Jerry Woodard and Darlene Spier and members of the college administration.

SACSCOC was specifically interested in the following standards: Governing Board Characteristics, a Core Requirement which speaks to the board not being controlled by a minority of board members; Board/Administrative Distinction; Conflict of Interest; and Board Self-Evaluation.

Governing Board Characteristics

In the first standard, Baird's letter requested that the college show that it had provided appropriate notice of meetings for the last two years. She also asked for an explanation of two subcommittees of the board that met in 2017 prior to being formally appointed by the board — one a renovation committee (following the purchase of the Charles Deyhle residence) and an audit committee.

"This would appear to be in violation of the board's policies and bylaws and to provide an opportunity for a minority of the board to have undue authority," Baird wrote.

In the college's response, Riza wrote that there had been "a minimal number of irregularities with the posting of agendas" but confirmed that a meeting of the board on February 23, 2017, in which the college purchased the Deyhle house, CC "did not post the meeting with the appropriate time necessary" and that "actions taken in this meeting were later ratified in a regular meeting May 18, 2017."

Riza told The Clarendon Enterprise that both then Chief of Staff Ashlee Estlack and he as president had told Woodard prior to the February 23, 2017, meeting that buying a house did not meet the requirements to hold an emergency meeting, which would allow the board to meet with less than 72 hours' notice as required by the Texas Open Meetings Act.

"He said his opinion was the only one that mattered," Riza said.

Riza's response to SACSCOC See 'CC Board' on page 5.

WHAT IS SACSCOC?

The Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges is Clarendon College's regional accrediting agency, recognized by the US Department of Education.

WHAT IS ACCREDITATION?

According to the SACSCOC website, "Accreditation is intended to assure constituents and the public of the quality and integrity of higher education institutions and programs, and to help those institutions and programs improve."

WHY IS IT IMPORTANT?

Accreditation by SACSCOC ensures that credits earned by Clarendon College students transfer to other colleges and universities and it also ensures CC can receive federal financial aid funds.

Kaylanth Mendoza and Kenny Overstreet (front) were the overall female and male finishers during the annual Chance Mark Jones Roar & Run 5K last Saturday at Clarendon College hosted by the Clarendon Lions Club. Also shown here are the other medalists in different age categories.

Overstreet wins 2019 Chance Jones 5K

Kenneth Overstreet and Kaylanth Mendoza were the top men's and women's finishers of the seventh annual Chance Mark Jones Roar & Run 5K last Saturday, April 13, at Clarendon College.

Overstreet, age 17, was the first to cross the finish line with a time of 19:39, shaving almost a minute off his winning time from last year and giving him the best overall time, the best men's time, and best time for those ages 11-19.

Mendoza, age 16, ran the race in 24 minutes, 24 seconds, finishing before all other women and placing third in the 11-19 age group. Second place in that group went to Ryder Robison with a time of 20:41.

The race sponsored by the Clarendon Lions Club in conjunction with National Child Abuse Awareness Month, drew more than 75 registrations, but rain and cold temperatures kept many people indoors Saturday. Thirty-six people actually ran or walked the 5K the day of the event, which was also attended by several spectators, supporters, and workers.

The annual Roar & Run 5K is held to raise awareness of child abuse and to honor the life of four-year-old Chance Mark Jones, who died in 2011.

Complete results of this year's race are as follows: Top Men's Time — Kenneth Overstreet 19:39; Top Women's Time — Kaylanth Mendoza 24:24; 10 and under — 1st Anna Balogh, 2nd Kutter O'Keefe, and 3rd Addy Havens; Ages 11-19 — 1st Overstreet, 2nd Robison, 3rd Mendoza; Ages 20-29 — 1st Tamra Burnam and 2nd Shelby O'Keefe; Ages 30-39 — 1st Daena Santos 25:35, 2nd Haley Vance 26:09, 3rd Andrew Brown 35:26; Ages 40-49

— 1st Tanya Word 25:00, 2nd Tim Hooks 27:10, 3rd Anne Dushay 35:44; Ages 50-59 — 1st Michelle Branigan 26:56, 2nd Shaun O'Keefe 40:41, and 3rd P.J. O'Keefe 45:43; and Ages 60-69 — 1st John Howard 40:24 and 2nd Martha Smith 43:19.

Proceeds from this year's Chance Mark Jones Roar 'N Run will help support the the charitable activities of the Clarendon Lions Club, including eyeglasses for local school kids, Christmas food baskets for local families, scholarships, and hosting the area office of The Bridge — Children's Advocacy Center.

Early voting starts Monday for H'wick, Clarendon, CISD

Early balloting starts Monday, April 22, for voters in Howardwick, Clarendon, and the Clarendon school district.

Howardwick citizens will be selecting a new mayor as four people seek to succeed Mayor Greta Byars, who is not seeking re-election. Those candidates are Alderman Brice Hawley, Tony Clemishire, Coy Cooper, and Jeremy "J.D." Kindle.

Also on the Howardwick ballot, five people are running for two positions on the city council. Alderman Johnny Floyd is joined on the ballot by Beverly McCaskill, Erica Mills, Tammy Jordan, and Jerry Mullanax.

Four candidates are also seeking three positions on the Clarendon CISD Board of Trustees. Incumbents Robin Ellis, Chuck Robertson, and Will Thompson are joined on the ballot by challenger Zack Robinson. The top three candidates will be elected to that board.

Clarendon citizens have no candidates to choose from but are being asked to decide a sales tax question. If voters give their approval, the ballot measure would redirect the city's current 0.5 percent sales tax that is dedicated to property tax reduction and reallocate that with a 0.25 percent sales tax going exclusively to street maintenance and 0.25 percent sales tax going to the city's general revenue. The city's overall sales tax rate of 2.0 percent will not change regardless of the election outcome.

Clarendon and public school voters will cast ballots at the Donley County Courthouse Annex, and Howardwick citizens will vote at their City Hall.

Early balloting continues through April 30. Election Day will be Saturday, May 4.

Evaluations show regents' opinion rift on president

Evaluations of Clarendon College President Robert Riza show stark differences of opinion about his performance among members the Board of Regents, according to documents obtained by The Clarendon Enterprise through a Public Information Request.

All nine regents submitted their ratings of the president for their March 28 meeting, at which time they were scheduled to conduct Riza's annual evaluation and consider his contract. Instead, the board engaged in almost no discussion and took no action, pushing the subject to this week's meeting on April 18.

The Enterprise obtained copies of each regent's evaluation of the president as they scored Riza on a scale of zero to five on 34 criteria in six areas. Zero indicates "not applicable" or "no opportunity to observe," one indicates "does not meet objectives," and five is "exemplary performance."

The newspaper also got copies of the regents' self-evaluation forms in which they scored themselves and the board on a similar scale in response to 19 criteria.

Regents Ruth Robinson, Jack Moreman, and Dr. Bill Sansing had the highest praise for the president, giving him fours and fives in every criterion with Moreman offering the most positive comments.

"Under Dr. Riza's direction, we've seen new programs developed on all campuses and enrollment has generally increased," Moreman wrote. "He has helped CC to be known in the area as well as known over the state and knows his way around Austin, Texas. Students entering college while still in high school has been an excellent program."

Dr. Sansing also offered commendations for Riza having "established solid relationships in our state legislature and Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board."

Both Moreman and Sansing alluded to friction among the regents in their board evaluation forms, with Sansing writing about the three rating he gave the board for administrative support: "Would have given higher marks if not for some discord caused by a small number of board members."

Moreman was more direct in his comments.

"We of the Board of Regents need to decide to work together and support the president of the college," Moreman wrote, noting that the board should ask more about finances before approving purchases.

Regents Jerry Woodard and Darlene Spier had the harshest evaluations of the president as well as the

Integrity critical to college board

Integrity. People either have it, or they don't, and it's becoming increasingly clear that at least two members of the Clarendon College Board of Regents simply do not.

The Enterprise's coverage of the February meeting of the regents gave readers another close look at the dysfunctional relationship between CC President Robert Riza and two members of the board. That article was followed up on this page with the longest editorial this publication has ever seen, delving into two years of internal and public conflict at Clarendon College between the administration and Regents Jerry Woodard and Darlene Spier.

Three weeks ago, it seemed that the tension was poised to boil over as regents were scheduled to take up the president's contract and evaluation at their March meeting. Then nothing happened. There was little discussion when the topic came up, Woodard gallantly declared that the president, who had not seen his evaluations, should be given time to review them and come back with a plan to address them.

Of course, the president would have seen them before that meeting if the board had followed established protocol and delivered their evaluations to the administration building and let the administration compile them. The egos of Woodard and Spier being what they are, however, that did not happen. Spier as board secretary compiled them herself. Presumably the college staff is too incompetent to do such a complicated task and only Spier, a former 30-plus year college secretary, can do it right.

But what's the root of all this discontent? Why are these folks acting this way? Only they know what's in their hearts, but it seems there may be several reasons. For Spier, it might be a search for relevance or trying to find her place in retirement. She was on her way out the door as Riza came to town. He looked to the future; she looked to the past. It never would have worked if she had stayed employed at the college, and she rode off into the sunset. Then a vacancy came up, and the board foolishly appointed her to take it.

Now she spends her time trying to fit the square peg of Clarendon College present into the round hole of Clarendon College past. The financial reports look different. Investments are done differently. This president is different. They aren't wrong, but they sure aren't the way it used to be, and she can't handle it.

Add to that her penchant for being hypercritical of employees and you have a situation where nobody can do anything to please her. In her evaluation of the president, she gave Riza a two (indicating needs improvement or sometimes meets objectives) on the matter of meeting the requirements of the appropriate accrediting associations. In fact, Clarendon College is fully accredited due to Riza's leadership, but it is the action of the board itself that is now under the accrediting agency's microscope.

Then there is Woodard, who in 2016 as chairman of the board said: "The board is very pleased with our college president [Dr. Riza] and the direction that he is taking the college. We are seeing improvements in all programs and aspects of the college for our general students and for our workforce programs, and we believe we can continue to broaden and capitalize those improvements under this president. He is genuinely interested in our community and the communities the college serves."

And again in 2017 as chairman he said: "The board appreciates the direction the College has taken under the leadership of Dr. Riza. His ability to think outside of the box to place the college in a preferred position and to provide opportunities to students that wouldn't otherwise be reached and benefit the College itself in its future progression."

Quickly after that last statement, things went south. Woodard, as chairman, called an illegal meeting of the board to buy the Dehyle house. He was told he couldn't do it. He didn't like that. He said only his opinion mattered. Later, the board violated college policy and state law with a "renovations committee" that met before it was officially appointed and then it was composed of a majority of the board with final authority when it was appointed. Both those actions had to be "fixed" once this newspaper found out about them.

By summer 2017, members of the administration privately started joking about who should wear a target to the board meetings. Someone was going to get drilled either by Woodard or Spier. Someone was going to get treated like they were incompetent.

The board got open meetings training in the spring of 2017, and Woodard said the rules were open to interpretation. He later called another improper meeting of an "audit committee" in December of that year. No such committee had ever been appointed, but that didn't stop him.

In 2018, when the college's accrediting body ruled that college board chairs can't have a financial conflict of interest, Woodard balked at the letter sent by Dr. Christal Baird, the Vice President of the Southern Association of Colleges & Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC), telling him he would have to step down as chairman. "Who is this woman?" he asked and then said the letter "was just her opinion."

After the college spent money on attorney fees to find out that SACSCOC's opinion was correct, Woodard stepped down as chairman; and from then forward, he has made life hell for the president and his administration. The former chairman and the board secretary now make it their mission supposedly to "do their due diligence" in terms of finances, but it comes across as more of a witch hunt and an attempt by the board to micromanage the college's daily affairs.

Woodard again tried to get an audit committee together last fall to give the auditor "some direction" but balked when Chairman Tommy Waldrop told him the college's attorney said such a committee would have to follow the Open Meetings Act, post an agenda 72 hours before meeting, and meet in public.

"Who is this attorney," Woodard asked and then again commented that it was an opinion.

Given Woodard's views on state open meetings laws and SACSCOC and college policies, one wonders if his views of bank regulations are equally fluid and open to interpretation.

Looking at their evaluations of the president, it is obvious that Woodard and Spier are tag-teaming their efforts to attack the president. "The board" has asked for this. "The board" has a problem with that. "The board" needs. "The board" wants. Here's a news flash for Woodard and Spier: Two people are not "the board." The majority of the board seems to support the president and it's clear that criticisms that came from other board members' evaluations were nurtured by the ongoing comments of Woodard and Spier.

Woodard and Spier ask the most random questions that no administrator can predict, and then Spier writes in her evaluation that the president isn't prepared for meetings.

Woodard and Spier ask repeatedly for "explanations" about the same financial issues, but even though the answers don't change, they don't accept them.

Woodard continually brings up the copier contract that was canceled and cost the college $30,000. It's an issue from 2017. It was brought up when it happened. He didn't have an issue with it... until he wasn't the board chair anymore.

Woodard in his evaluation gives the president zeroes on several categories (indicating "not applicable" or "no opportunity to observe"). Riza says Woodard has never given him zeroes in the past and all the other board members found those items applicable and/or observable. One wonders if the powers that be at Herring Bank give Woodard poor evaluations for not being able to observe him all the time.

Spier claims in her evaluation that she wants what's best for employees, but her actions say otherwise, interfering with promotions and preventing staff from effectively doing what they've always done, such as typing board minutes and compiling evaluation forms.

But now things have gone to a whole new level. SACSCOC has gotten involved, and that's something you never want to happen if you're a college or university. The agency is looking into whether members of the board of regents have violated four standards of accreditation, including one Core Requirement.

SACSCOC sets the principles by which all colleges and universities in this state and several others operate. Something may be a matter of opinion to one board member, but SACSCOC's opinion is the only one that matters if you intend to keep your college open for business.

The agency's website says: SACSCOC expects integrity to govern the operation of institutions and for institutions to make reasonable and responsible decisions consistent with the spirit of integrity in all matters. ... Failure of an institution to adhere to the integrity principle may result in a loss of accreditation or candidacy.

It is pathetic that two regents have allowed their hurt egos and self-righteousness to bring Clarendon College to this point. They alone are now a threat to not just what Dr. Riza has built but what everyone at Clarendon College has worked for. Through their actions and their vindictiveness, they have demonstrated a lack of that most basic quality that cannot be replaced... integrity.

Did government spy on Trump?

By Noab Elam

Attorney General William Barr has finally confirmed that spying did occur on President Trump's 2016 presidential campaign. Despite the conflicting coverage by the mainstream national media, nothing as big as this scandal has ever occurred in American history. Barr put the news out to the public during a testimony before Congress on Wednesday morning.

Barr's quote, "I don't - well, I guess you could - think that there was - spying did occur. Yes, I think spying did occur. I'm not suggesting that it wasn't adequately predicated, but I need to explore that." He also said, "I think spying on a political campaign is a big deal. It is a big deal."

His quote, while not exactly stating that it was wrong, shows that the government actively spied on the Trump campaign and used a law enforcement agency as a partisan tool in their attempts. This is an absolute disgrace. A law enforcement agency should never be used as a partisan tool by anyone, regardless of the party or the outcome. It was absolute abuse of power.

The leftist media, though, doesn't think that Trump was spied on. Instead, they use Russia as the scapegoat again. James Clapper stated, "No, they were not. They were spying on - a term I don't particularly like - but on what the Russians were doing, trying to understand were the Russians infiltrating trying to gain access, trying to gain leverage and influence, which is what they do." Jennifer Rubin of the Washington Post even called Barr "Trump's toady". However, there's evidence of spying on Trump. In 2016 and 2017, Paul Manafort, Trump's former campaign chairman, was wiretapped by the FBI along with Carter Page. Trump even complained about being spied on, but no one listened. Now it turns out that Trump was right again and, of course, the media is hiding it. Plus, there are now reports that Obama could've been behind it, paying people to spy on Trump.

Barr also stated, "There were a lot of rules put in place to make sure that there's an adequate basis before our law enforcement agencies get involved in political surveillance. I'm not suggesting that those rules were violated, but I think it's important to look at that. And I'm not talking about the FBI necessarily, but intelligence agencies more broadly."

While President Trump is the victim of this scandal, he still can be effective in finding a solution to if Obama behind the surveillance. He could declassify the documents from the Department of Justice and the FBI. However, he also could take a hands-off approach considering he is the subject of the investigation. Either way, it's a bad situation for the American people.

Children who will turn 4 years old on or prior to September 1, 2019, and meet qualifications will be considered for Head Start.

Head Start is a tuition free class for children who meet federal guidelines. Parents must fill out an application to see if they meet eligibility standards.

Please bring proof of income (income tax for 2018), immunization card, social security, birth certificate and any public assistance you receive.

Pre-K registration will be during new student registration in August.

United Christians Breakfast to be held

The United Christian April breakfast will be Thursday, April 18, 2019. Breakfast will be served at 7:00 a.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church.

The breakfast will be followed by a program given by Bobby Ellerbrook, pastor of the Body of Christ Church.

Come out for a good breakfast and start the Holy week off with a great devotional given by Bobby. He will have you out by 8:00 a.m.

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular Tuesday noon meeting April 16, 2019, with Boss Lion John Howard in charge.

We were joined by three sweethearts this week and one guest. Susan Stokes was the guest of Lion John Hellman.

The Boss Lion said that the county judge's office had bid a happy retirement to Rhonda Aveni and that Sharon Braddock had taken her place.

The seventh annual Chance Mark Jones Roar & Run 5K was a success with 76 registered and 36 braving the weather to participate.

Lion Mike Norrell reported on the public school where 13 students went to regional UIL and the science team is going to state.

Lion David Dockery reported on the city, and Lion Robert Riza reported on the college where the Ranch Horse team won the reserve national championship title and baseball and softball are still in action.

Lion Rit Christian brought our program on interesting tax rules from other states.

The club voted for its 2019-2020 slate of officers as follows: President Scarlet Estlack, First Vice President Landon Lambert, Second Vice President Mike Norrell, Third Vice President David Dockery, Secretary/Treasurer Roger Estlack, Lion Tamer Bobbie Thornberry, Tail Twister Jerry Woodard, Fundraising Chairman Tex Buckhaults, and 5K Chair Ashlee Estlack. Officers will be sworn-in this July.

There being no further business, we were dismissed to spread Lionism and good cheer throughout our fair county.

Members of the Friends of the Library meet last Wednesday.

Friends of the Library met last week

Eighteen Friends of the Library met Wednesday, April 10, at the Burton Memorial Library and made final plans for the Easter Bake Sale.

Mary Shields talked about the Donley County Senior Citizens and how many people benefit from the meals served in the dining room and delivered to the door of shut-ins. She reported on the funding of the center and some of the activities. Her talk was very informative and appreciated. A number of the Friends of the Library are part of the daily functions as volunteers.

A report from Treasurer Tommye Duncan was given. Head Librarian Jerri Shields reported on the activities of the daily library functions.

Cookies and punch will be served April 16 for the general public.

“Store Time for Toddlers” is being well attended. This week after hearing a good story, they made Easter crafts and had snacks. All had a great time. This event will be held each second and fourth Tuesday at 10 a.m.

A nominating committee was formed to secure officers for the next year.

Celebrating the life of a little brother

I said so-long for the last time to my little brother this weekend.

I was nine when Ronald Franklin McCracken, better known to family as Ronnie, was born to George Pinkney and Marie McCracken. He was raised at Alanreed, went to school at Alanreed and McLean, graduating in 1964.

Ole Jim joined the Air Force and we moved. Ron later joined the Army, and they moved, so we tried to coordinate our leave time in order to see each other. I have a collection of postcards Ron sent, always saying, “I am fine” along with photos of him and his family.

He retired to Houston, we planned to see each other more often, but bad health raised its ugly head and in January he called me with the news of lung and brain cancer. Six weeks later, on February 25, 2019 he passed away at the age of 72.

A Memorial Service was held Saturday, April 13, a cold and rainy day, at First Baptist Church in Howardwick to tell him so-long. There were tears but also laughter and lots of stories told.

Many thanks to Pastor Jim Fox, George Hall for the military presentation, Nelda Grider for supplying the music, all the people who supplied food, the kitchen staff; Trudie Miller, D,Ann Riddle, Irene Thurmond, and Nancy Fox, Eric Riddle for audio, and especially everyone who joined in the celebration for Ronnie.

He is survived by his wife, five children, nine grandchildren, nieces, nephews, cousins, and friends all over the world.

Love you, Brother. Your sister, Peggy.

Small fry

The Texas Parks & Wildlife Department released about 598,000 walleye fry into Lake Greenbelt Monday afternoon. The baby fish, barely visible to the naked eye, were raised at the Dundee State Fish Hatchery near Wichita Falls.

CC Board: Accrediting agency asking about regents' actions

also confirmed that the renovations committee did “engage in conversations with possible vendors and contractors with no official board action being taken to appoint a committee.”

The second committee, the “audit committee,” met in December 2017 prior to that month’s board meeting. Riza stated in his response that typically a meeting with the auditor is held with the president and the board chairman. This time, however, then board chairman Jerry Woodard invited Regents Darlene Spier and Ruth Robinson to attend.

“After the meeting, two members [Woodard and Spier] stayed behind to discuss the results of the audit and personnel they felt were responsible,” Riza wrote. “Mrs. Estlack caught the brunt of this. We had just made a change in the CFO position. The previous CFO resigned August 31, 2017, and our current CFO began November 1, 2017.

Board/Administrative Distinction
Addressing the second standard, Baird wrote that the complainant said a board member verbally critiqued her job performance on different occasions and “had a bank staff person in his employ call the complainant” to make sure her job was done properly.

“This would appear to be overreach on the part of the board into the administrative duties of the president,” Baird wrote.

In his response, Riza pointed to the December 2017 board meeting, which followed the “audit committee” meeting, where Woodard questioned Estlack repeatedly about the college’s digital marquee and “told her several times to learn to delegate.” Riza further states that before the September 1, 2018, payroll was run, Estlack received a call from Herring Bank “stating they were to make sure that payroll was run correctly over a holiday.”

“The payroll actually was already processed and done correctly,” Riza wrote.

Riza then expanded on the college’s issues with Board/Administrative Distinction.

“During meetings through the past two years, I have clearly stated to the Regents that they are to have no contact with faculty and staff,” the president wrote. “I am their only employee and [they] should make any and all comments to me. Since the August meetings of 2018, I have had no vice presidents or other staff at the board meetings with me due to the actions, or inactions, of this group.”

Conflict of Interest

Addressing the third standard, Baird wrote that Estlack had provided transcripts of the July 18, 2018, board meeting where the regents considered the college’s bank depository, which included a bid from Herring Bank where Woodard is the branch president.

“While the board member did recuse himself from the vote on the bid, his participation in the discussion prior to the vote would not appear to be in keeping with the board policies and bylaws,” Baird wrote. “His participation also appears to be at odds with a letter submitted to his fellow board members on February 8, 2018, in which he indicates, ‘...I recuse myself from any discussion or vote on the contract....’”

Baird also raised questions about two other board members who have financial interest in the bank, Robinson and Susie Shields, both of whom did participate in the vote for Herring’s bid.

Responding for the college, Riza wrote that CC has clear policies on conflicts of interest and board ethics.

“Clarendon College has paid thousands of dollars for specific training by our legal firm on this topic,” Riza said. “The topic became a heated discussion point in the spring of 2018 due to changes implemented by SACSCOC and conflicts of interest with the chair position of college boards.”

Riza went on to say that the issue of board members that are shareholders in Herring Bank was brought to the attention of the college attorney and that he was awaiting a response “in regard to any state law violations and validity of the current contract.”

Board Self-Evaluation

Baird finally requested the college address how the board addressed challenges with adherence to board policies and bylaws over the past two years and used its self-evaluation to improve board practice. Riza submitted the board’s self-evaluation forms but said he has never been part of the board’s deliberations on that matter.

Baird closed her February letter by stating SACSCOC policy of what would happen following Clarendon College’s response.

“If there appears to be sufficient evidence of significant non-compliance or if Commission staff are unable to determine compliance, then the President of SACSCOC may decide to take one of the following actions: 1) Authorize a Special Committee to visit the institution; 2) Forward the complaint case directly to the SACSCOC Board of Trustees and its standing committees for review and action; 3) Include the case in an upcoming scheduled visit to the institution; 4) Request additional information; 5) Close the complaint.”

The Latest Response

After receipt of the college’s response to the accrediting agency’s inquiry, SACSCOC President Belle S. Wheelan, Ph.D., wrote the following to Riza on March 29:

“After reviewing the institution’s self-assessment of non-compliance with the aforementioned standards, I am forwarding the complaint, your response and documentation, and all related correspondence to the SACSCOC Board of Trustees and its standing committees for review at its meeting in June 2019.”

The letter goes on to say that CC will be notified within two weeks of the meeting about the action of the SACSCOC board.

Evaluations:

Woodard gave Riza no rating higher than a three and rated 13 criteria at zero, including the president’s efforts with the legislature and coordinating board that Sansing had such high praise for. In his comments, Woodard again criticized Riza on his handling of college finances and said he had received negative comments from the public and the Pampa Foundation. Woodard also noted an issue with a copier contract from 2017, as he has done in several meetings, and criticized the president for other board and personnel issues.

In his evaluation of the duties and responsibilities of the board, Woodard gave regents zeros, twos, and threes and gave no response at all to “acts as a policy-making body.” He also commented on the regents needing to be more aware about the college’s finances.

Spier also gave the president no rating higher than a three and attached two full pages of typed criticisms of the president to her evaluation form on a range of topics. Spier claims Riza comes to meetings not prepared, questions whether he is involved in the college community, questions the checks and balances of the college, and claims there is a “barrier between the president and the board which has created a lack of trust.”

Spier goes on to question Riza’s handling of personnel and ultimately says her trust in the president as a leader “has diminished.”

“Unfortunately because of his actions and lack of participation with the board, I as a board member, have become very concerned about his ability or desire to be our leader,” Spier writes.

Spier gives the board itself the highest marks on levying taxes and filling vacancies on the board but gives the board twos on financial issues; and on legal issues, she says the board needs to be more “one on one” with seeking legal advice.

Other board members gave more mixed reviews of themselves and the president.

Chairman Tommy Waldrop gave the president mostly threes and fours with a few fives and a couple of twos. His fellow regents he also gave threes, fours, and fives. He made no comments on either evaluation form.

Regent Edwin Campbell gives the president twos, threes, and fours, comments about finances, says the Pampa Foundation needs attention, and praises the president’s efforts in the legislature and with Texas Tech and West Texas A&M. He gives the board mostly twos and threes.

“Personality conflicts with several board members is evident and needs addressing,” Campbell writes. “Lots of positives in our president and can and will be focused on during the upcoming year.”

Susie Shields gives the president mostly twos, threes, and fours and gives the board mostly threes and fours.

“If the board was advised of problems at the time they occur, they could probably work out a solution and avoid conflict,” Shields wrote.

Regent Lon Adams gave the board all threes with the exception of two zeros and gave the president twos and threes. He did not comment on either form.

The board is scheduled to take action on its self-evaluation as well as the president’s evaluation and contract this Thursday, April 18.

CHS UIL students statebound

Clarendon High School took 12 students to the regional academic meet in Odessa April 13, and four of those students will be headed to the next level of competition, the State UIL Academic Meet in Austin May 3 and 4.

The Science team, led by senior Marquis McGuire, won the regional title to advance. McGuire won the regional Chemistry championship and placed second overall to pace the team, but every team member placed in a category as well.

Tessa Lutters finished third in Physics, Josiah Howard was fourth in Biology, and Shylee Morrow was sixth in Biology.

In overall individual standings Howard was seventh and Morrow ninth.

This is the first trip to Austin for three of the members, so they are understandably excited. Lutters qualified last year for the meet.

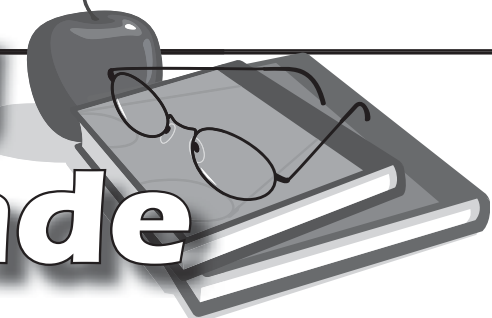

Noab Elam placed fourth in Current Issues and Events, just missing a return trip to Austin, Gavin Word was 5th in Computer Applications, and Harm Drenth placed sixth in Social Studies to round out those placing at the regional meet for Clarendon.

The Texas UIL competition comprises the largest academic contest in the world for high school students, involving tens of thousands of students in over 30 contests from all over the state in every school classification.

Congratulations to those students who qualified to compete.

Broncos pitch a district win

By Sandy Anderberg

The Broncos rebounded after their loss with Wellington to demolish the Irish 11-1 last week.

According to head coach Brad Elam, the Broncos had an outstanding game on the mound.

“We followed our worst game with a best game in many phases,” Elam said. “Pitching was outstanding. (We) might have set a Clarendon record only having to throw 50 pitches in six innings.”

Pitcher Preston Elam threw 42 pitches in five innings and Ryan Ward threw eight pitches in an inning.

“Very well pitched game with a lot of strikes,” Elam said. “In order to pitch so few pitches, defense had to play well and they did.”

Elam feels his team possibly played their best defensive game of the year, noting that Payton Hicks making a highlight worthy play in the infield. Despite the win, Elam says he is still not satisfied with the team hitting.

“Some of the players had good games,” he said.

Hicks reached base three times and scored three runs and Noab Elam had two hits while driving in three. P. Elam had two hits, scored three runs, and drove in one, and Ward had two big hits and drove in three runners.

Last Monday the Broncos defeated Memphis 11-1 and only recorded one defensive error in the game.

“We had a good game against Memphis,” Elam said. “Defensive wise, only made one error and that was after the game had already been decided. We had several players hit well.”

N. Elam had a big day at the plate and on the mound where he gave up only one hit and struck out 10 throwing 62 total pitches in five innings of work.

Brock Hatley had a big two out two rbi hit in the first inning. P. Elam and Hicks each had rbi singles and scored one run each, while Elam stole three bases.

The Broncos will host Claude on April 18 at 4:00 p.m. and travel to Memphis on April 24.

Lady Broncos’ beat Memphis

By Sandy Anderberg

The Lady Broncos fell short at 12-14 against Sanford-Fritch last Tuesday.

According to coach Carrie Hicks, the girls played well until; the fifth inning.

“We were tied the first and second inning,” she said. “We kept them from scoring in the third, then stayed ahead until the sixth. We had too many errors in the infield in the fifth and we didn’t get anyone on base.”

Sandra Smith made two good plays in center field catching two pop flies and Kira Weatherton also snatch one in right field.

“Raynee Newsome, Ashlyn Newsome and Madi Smith each caught an out in the infield, and Madi Smith pitched a great game,” Hicks said.

“Emily Johnson hit an out-of-the-park three-run home run and Madi had one homerun,” Hicks said. “Maid, Kira, Kaylin Hicks, and Raynee all hit a double and Sandra Smith hit two doubles in the game.”

Hicks went on to say that S. Smith, Emily, Makayla Brown and Hicks each had a single and Jade Benson and Ashlynn Newsome hit two singles each.

The Lady Broncos made up for their loss by defeating Memphis at home on Friday at 14-4.

“We played well defensively,” Hicks said. “We got 11 ground outs at first and Madi Smith struck out four batters.”

Kira was credited with catching a couple of balls in right field and Raynee Newsome caught a couple at third base.

“We hit well, also,” Hicks said. “Emily, Kira, Makayla, Raynee, Madi, and Kaylin all hit singles and Makayla and Sandra both had doubles. Sandra and Ashlynn each had a triple in the sixth inning.”

The Lady Broncos are nearing the end of their regular season and will play at Sunray on Fri., April 19.

Butler named Area Champion

By Sandy Anderberg

Clarendon’s Jamal Butler has been jumping great all season and he continued his winning ways in the Area Track Meet in Panhandle by claiming the District Championship in that event.

Butler’s lead of 6’2” put him the mix for the Regional Meet that will be held in Levelland April 26-27. Butler also competed in the triple jump finishing fifth at 41’11”, but did not advance. The top four in each event earned the right to advance to the Regional Meet.

Makayla Brown finished second in the 200m at 26.94 to advance, and Sandra Smith ran third in the 100m at 13.20. Kenny Overstreet qualified in both the 1600m and 3200m runs to advance. He was third in both events and ran a 5:00.87 in the 1600m and 10:52.89 in the 3200m.

The Lady Bronco 400m relay blazed to the finish line and finished second with a time of 51.74. Members are Jade Benson, Sandra Smith, Makayla Brown, and Ashlynn Newsome. The same foursome advanced in the 800m relay finishing fourth with a time of 1:52.05.

Those not advancing was Madi Smith in the 1600m with a time of 6:05.48 for sixth, and Brooke Duncan coming in seventh in the 100m hurdles at 21.13. Kailee Osburn was sixth in the high jump at 4’8” and Benson was seventh at 4’6”. Mattee Johnson, Kira Weatherton, Shania Brown, and Osburn ran sixth in the mile relay with a time of 4:44.57. The Bronco sprint relay finished seventh with a time of 45.36 and was run by Ryan McCleskey, Bear Smith, Collin Butler, and Dalton Benson.

CHS played in District Tennis Meet

By Sandy Anderberg

Jayden Monds and Tanner Burch each went as singles players with Monds losing a dog fight in his first match.

“Monds played the #2 seeded player Andres Garcia from Wheeler,” coach Korey Conkin said. “Garcia won the first set 6-4 and Monds won the second in a tie-breaker at 7-4. Garcia narrowly outed Monds 4-6 in the third.”

The game lasted almost three hours.

“It was a great game,” Conkin said. “Jayden was very dedicated to becoming a better tennis player this season and he accomplished that goal. I was very proud of him for fighting for every point at the district meet.”

Burch drew up against the #1 seeded player, Gustavo Andrade from Wheeler who placed second in last year’s State Meet.

“Tanner stayed strong and played hard, but fell to the future District Champ 0-6, 1-6,” Conkin said. “Tanner plans to work hard and improve his chances for next season.”

Emily Johnson and Jade Benson had a great meet in ladies’ doubles according to Conkin. They defeated Wheeler’s Foreman and Lopez 6-1, 6-0.

They had to go up against Kane and Sessions from Wellington who became the District Champions in the second match and were defeated 4-6,2-6. They then went up against the Memphis team of Monroe and Vela and were narrowly defeated 4-6, 3-6.

Natalie Monds and Lilly Shadle played in the junior varsity doubles division and because of the small amount of JV teams, had to play a mixed team from Panhandle and lost 3-8.

“They played another JV girls’ doubles team from Panhandle of Choate and Satterwhite and lost a close one to them at 6-8,” Conkin said. “Monds and Shadle are young, but eager tennis players. I look to see them improve and be great players in the years to come.”

Free chuckwagon breakfast planned for Easter in Canyon

CANYON – If you’ve never enjoyed biscuits and gravy or an egg friend over an open fire as part of a chuckwagon meal, you have a chance to do exactly that on Easter morning this coming Sunday.

The Palo Duro Cowboy Church, located at 12200 W. Highway 60, a few miles west of Canyon, will be preparing a chuckwagon breakfast for all those who attend the 7:30 a.m. sunrise service.

The service will be held in the church’s arena. Live music will be played and a short, horseback message will be provided by Pastor Tadd Mann.

This event is open to the public and everyone is invited. Horseback riders are welcome and encouraged.

If you bring a horse, make sure you have proof of a current negative Coggins test with you. There is no charge for the breakfast but a free will offering will be welcomed.

The Palo Duro Cowboy Church chuckwagon crew will serve breakfast at 9 a.m. Cowboy coffee will be available during the service.

A cowboy church service will be held in the barn at 10:30 a.m.

To close out this Easter morning event, an egg hunt will be held in the arena, free to all attending children. Children age 10 and under, should bring their own basket for the hunt.

For more information, visit the Facebook page at Palo Duro Cowboy Church, or call Barbara, 970-580-6670.

All in the family
Shelby, Kutter, P.J., and Shaun O’Keefe all earned medals in their respective age categories during the seventh annual Chance Mark Jones Roar & Run 5K Saturday. The O’Keefe’s have been longtime supporters of the 5K and its mission to raise awareness of child abuse.

On a mission
David Robison of Amarillo (left) stands with Lion Scarlet Estlack at the annual Chance Mark Jones Roar & Run 5K. Robison is the self-styled “Fat Man on a Mission” as he seeks to run a 5K in all 254 counties in Texas on a journey of health. The Donley County race marked his 75th 5K.

I learned the sounds of alphabet...
...letters, then started to read words.
Kids: color stuff in!

Ready to Read?

Thanks to the 'eagle-eyed' teacher who noticed my cousin squinting, he went to have his eyes examined. He needed glasses or contact lenses to help correct his vision. Now, he can read all of the books, screens and boards in his classroom. He is ready to read everything and loves it!

What other things or people help us get ready to learn how to read? Study the clues to fill in the crossword:

- book of words and their meanings
- the classics make for good
- words of a language; a list of words
- printed pages bound between two covers
- 26 letters, A-Z
- the order of letters that make up a word
- a way to teach reading by learning the sounds of letters or groups of letters
- person at home who reads with you
- helps people find information and books
- reading begins for most people when they use their
- a person trained to help children learn how to read
- what one needs to do every day to get better at something

Fun at the Library!
