City takes action on four properties

Clarendon's Building Standards Commission took action on four properties following a public hearing last Thursday, June 27.

City Administrator David Dockery said one citizen, Martha Harris, was the only person to speak at the public hearing, and she discussed her property at 102 S. McClelland.

Dockery said one structure in question on Russell Keown's property at 713 E. Second has already been demolished and is now just ready to be cleared.

Those two properties along with 623 E. Second and 818 E. Fourth were all given an additional 60 days to abate non-compliance issues.

The commission also received updates on four properties that had previously been given 60 days to come into compliance. Those locations were 705 E. 5th Street, 200 S. Kearney Street, 701 E. Second Street, and 313 E. Browning Boulevard.

One property, that of Brandon Goodwin at 705 E. 5th, has been brought into compliance, and the commission expressed its appreciation for this. The other properties were given another 30 days to come into compliance.

Also last Thursday, the City Council took action to approve $1,000 in funding for the Bread of Life Food Ministry.

District court hears El Paso man's plea

The district court accepted the plea of an El Paso man when it met in Clarendon June 20.

District Attorney Luke Inman, along with Assistant District Attorney Harley Caudle, prosecuted the case, with Judge Stuart Messer presiding.

Benjamin Ram pleaded guilty and was placed on deferred adjudication community supervision for two years for the Class A misdemeanor offense of unlawful use of a criminal instrument.

Ram, 54 from El Paso, was arrested in Childress County by DPS Sergeant Coby Lomax on August 9, 2018. Ram pleaded to an information filed by the State on March 18, 2019.

Pursuant to the plea, Ram was required to pay an up-front fine of $4,000 to Childress County, $329 in court costs, $300 in attorney fees, $180 in drug lab restitution, and complete 100 hours of community service.

If Ram violates probation, he could face up to one year in jail.

City welcomes visitors to 142nd celebration

Clarendon is welcoming visitors this week to its 142nd annual Saints' Roost Celebration on July 4, 5, and 6.

The big day will be Saturday, July 6, beginning with the Arts & Crafts Fair on the square at 9 a.m. sponsored by the Donley County 4H.

The Chamber of Commerce's Old Settlers Reunion and the Kids' Bicycle & Tricycle Parade also begin at 9 a.m. The Kids' Parade will line up and register at 8:30 at Keith Floyd's shop at Third and Sully. Ed Montana will provide music and serve as master of ceremonies on the square.

Line up for the Herring Bank Parade will also start at 9 a.m. on Sixth Street north of Prospect Park. At 10:00, the parade will then take its usual route – north on Kearney to Third Street, west on Third to Sully, south in front of the Courthouse, and then wind back to the ball parks.

The Herring Bank Parade features $850 in cash prizes with $200 available for the best float, $100 for the best car or truck entry, $100 for the best animal or riding unit, $100 for the best tractor or farm equipment entry, and $100 for the best "other" entry.

From those first place winners, judges will select a Grand Prize winner who will receive an additional $250. Pre-registration is required for entrants to be judged for the prize money and was due July 3. Late entries will be accepted to the parade but will not be in the judging.

The Al Morrah Shrine Club barbecue will follow the parade at about 11 a.m. Tickets are $12 each and will be available at the Visitor Center and the Enterprise.

Boots v. Badges

Clarendon Chamber Manager Bob Weiss sports a commemorative t-shirt and displays the trophy that will be up for grabs during the community Boots & Badges blood drive next Tuesday, July 9, from 1:30 to 6:00 p.m. at the Mulkey Theatre. Donors will be able to cast a vote for either the Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department or the Donley County Sheriff's Office. Last year, the firefighters claimed the trophy. In addition to the t-shirt, all donors will receive a free Mulkey movie pass, a voucher good for one admission to the Discovery Center and a Wonderland WOW ride pass as well as a beef stick courtesy of Clint & Sons and Caviness. For each donor who gives blood, a beef stick will also be donated to Snack Pack 4 Kids. To make an appointment, call 331-8833 or visit YourBloodInstitute.org.

CISD okays Bronco Gym cooling units

Bronco basketball fans face of future of air-conditioned comfort after Clarendon CISD Trustees approved almost $300,000 in bids for HVAC improvements at the school during a called meeting June 24.

Superintendent Mike Norrell said an anonymous donation was received earlier this year and will cover the portion of the work that will add a cooling system to the Bronco Gym.

"We already have heating and two exceptionally large ceiling fans in the gym," Norrell said. "This will install four air-conditioning units that will hang inside the gym."

The total cost for the gym project is about $122,000, the superintendent said. The contractor, Larry Baker Plumbing of Pampa, has been chosen, but work has not started yet pending structural engineering report on the gym.

Norrell said trustees also approved Fogg Mechanical of Amarillo to install about $155,000 worth of rooftop units in various locations. That project will replace aging systems that heat and cool the junior offices, the library, the home economics department, the cafeteria and kitchen, the girls' locker rooms, the second grade class rooms, and the elementary offices.

Money for that project has been set aside in the school's fund balance for this purpose, the superintendent said. Work has already commenced and will hopefully be completed before students return to class in August.

Norrell said the combined projects also have contingency funds available of $16,600, bringing the total combined budgets to $294,906.

In other school business, trustees approved purchasing 80 Chromebooks for the Kindergarten, Third Grade, and Sixth Grade classes that are participating in a MIZ grant.

Franks qualifies for NHSF Rodeo

DENVER – Clarendon High School graduate Cole Franks has earned a position on the Texas state National High School Rodeo team and will be traveling with fellow teammates to Rock Springs, Wyo., July 14-20 to compete at the 71st annual National High School Finals Rodeo (NHSFR) in the Bareback Riding competition.

Featuring more than 1,650 contestants from 43 states, five Canadian Provinces, Australia and Mexico, the NHSFR is the world's largest rodeo. In addition to competing for more than $150,000 in prizes, NHSFR contestants will also be competing for more than $375,000 in college scholarships and the chance to be named an NHSFR World Champion. To earn this title, contestants must finish in the top 20 – based on their combined times/scores in the first two rounds – to advance to Saturday evening's final round. World champions will then be determined based on their three-round combined times/scores.

Again, this year, the Saturday championship performance will be televised nationally as a part of the Cinch High School Rodeo Tour telecast series on RFD-TV. LIVE broadcasts of each NHSFR performance will air online at www.RidePass.com. Performance times begin at 7 p.m. on July 14th and competition continues daily at 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. through July 20. Make sure to catch the action.

Along with great rodeo competition and the chance to meet new friends from around the world, NHSFR contestants have the opportunity to enjoy shooting sports, volleyball, contestant dances, family-oriented activities, church services sponsored by the Fellowship of Christian Cowboys, and shopping at the NHSFR tradeshow.

Survey tests knowledge of freedoms

By Gene Policinski, First Amendment Center

Americans know more about their First Amendment freedoms than in many years previously – but if we’re honest about it, it may well be because we’re now worried about keeping them.

The 2019 State of the First Amendment survey, released today by the Freedom Forum Institute, shows the highest awareness of those basic rights than at any time in the 22-year history of the national sampling.

Ok – we should always know a good deal about those core freedoms of religion, speech, press, assembly and petition. The First Amendment defines those unique qualities of what it means to be an American. But in most years of the survey, we failed miserably on even naming them ... often with more than one in three adults unable to even name a single one of those five, 226-year-old freedoms that begin the Bill of Rights.

This year:
71 percent named at least one freedom, up from 60 percent in 2018;

The number of respondents who couldn’t name even one dropped to 21 percent from 40 percent last year;

More of us, across the board, could name specific freedoms than in years past. Comparing 2019 to 2018, speech rose to 64 percent from 56 percent; religion rose to 29 percent from 15 percent and press rose to 22 percent from 15 percent.

Why are those figures up? Calls for more education focused on the First Amendment have been sounded for years. More likely, it’s increasing controversies: Hate speech on the web or at public rallies. Bullying via social media or on the job. Protection for religious preferences that some see as a pretense for permitting bias and prejudice. Attacks on a free press, along with disappearing local news media outlets.

Even familiarity with First Amendment freedoms does not guarantee automatic support: 29 percent said those freedoms go too far, compared with 23 percent last year. Still, that’s well below the all-time high of 49 percent who said we have too much freedom, reported in the 2002 survey – about nine months after the 9/11 terrorist attacks in 2001.

Chief among the factors that seem to be driving that “too far” concern: 77 percent see misinformation on the web and the spread of “fake news” as serious threats to democracy.

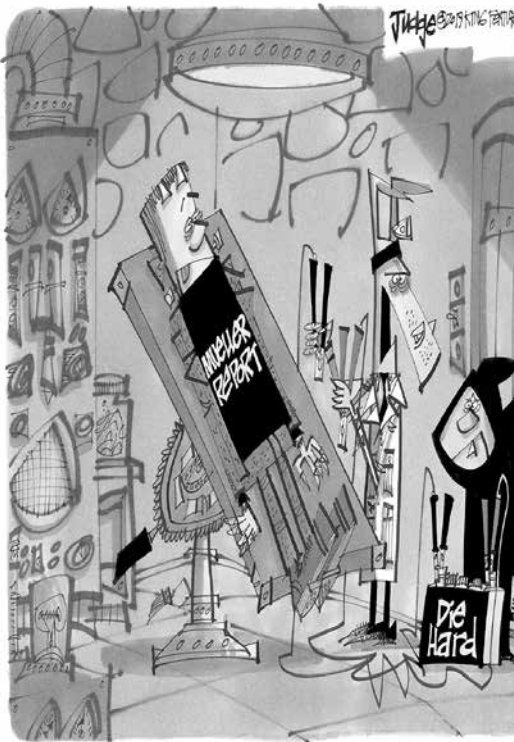

We do seem to be parsing misinformation concerns apart from the institutions that comprise a free press: Despite repetitive, multi-year claims by some politicians – including, most visibly, President Trump – that news operations present “fake news” and are “enemies of the people,” the 2019 survey found about the same level of support for a free press as last year: 72 percent. The all-time low of 68 percent came in 2017, perhaps an echo of the previous year’s election rhetoric led by then-presidential candidate Trump.

Even when it comes to student press – an oft-neglected or excluded part of the free press – and student speech on social media, majorities favored uncensored posts and comments. Fifty-four percent of adults said student journalists should be free to report on controversial issues without the approval of school authorities; 64 percent said students should be able to express opinions on social media without being punished later by school officials.

Let’s not get too giddy about the increase in awareness, though it’s nice to see. Majorities do favor a free press and freedom of expression, but there still are sizeable numbers that would curtail or control those freedoms in some fashion.

Nevertheless, we can take comfort in this year’s survey findings that do seem to evidence the resiliency of our core freedoms and our attitudes toward them: When our freedoms are under attack, we – the beneficiaries of those freedoms – pay attention and push back.

‘Not in my back yard’ out of favor

So awash are we in acronyms these days, we may start tossing them asunder at any time. Such drastic action carries with it results akin to “throwing the baby out with the bathwater.”

Acronyms are everywhere, and youngsters using them – probably throughout the world – are rendering many “tried and true” acronyms obsolete.

We of wrinkled skin, wobbly knees and raspy voices – though sorry to see such obsolescence imposed – won’t protest much. We can abide the status quo, and simply choose not to make waves....

Take NIMBY, for example. The letters stand for “Not In My Back Yard.” Most folks remember the acronym, and perhaps have used it.

Count me among those who are saddened by its demise.

Maybe we feel like it simply is “old hat,” what with all the fresh, new acronyms arriving daily, but there is a more likely reason. Basically, we are tolerating far more in our back yards than we used to, and in the side yards and front yards as well....

It takes fewer “wheezes,” of course, to yell “NIMBY” than to say the words. Some folks dissect the news thoroughly – whether fake or real – and a few “leather of lung” old-timers sometimes shake gnarled fists at goings-on in today’s world.

Some gestures are interpreted as “brags” when the intent actually is to register an attitude of protest. Oh, well.

This is true of both left-handed and right-handed fist configurations. (Since this is my column, I can list us lefthandlers first if I want to.)...

Take the “good news, bad news” content of many current news stories. Let’s cite recent accounts of whales. The good news is that the whale population, in general, is the highest it has been in some 40 years.

The bad news is that for the total whale population, more are dying for lack of food. (In former years, we’d have said “starving.”) Some are beaching themselves on the coasts of California, Oregon and Washington. Crisis proportions have been reached, and officials are crying out for private owners of beach property to allow carcasses to, uh, decompose naturally. During one recent week on Oregon beaches, deceased whales were found daily. You are spared additional details that could quickly become offensive, but I must add just one: For every beached whale, there are 10 others who simply sink to ocean floors for ending of life.

To this account, Texans may rightly scream, “NIMBY,” assured of being quite correct. One rarely hears of beached whales on our coastlines....

It is with some hesitation that I respond to findings posted by “Flip-Give,” a Toronto based company aimed toward lessening the burden of parents with youth athletes. The company seems dedicated to defining stresses experienced by such parents. For youngsters’ participation in multiple leagues, seemingly in all sports, much is required of both the kids and the parents, including patience. All are treading water in ponds not entered by previous generations.

the idle american by don newbury

But, wait! According to “FlipGive,” Texas ranks NUMBER ONE! Wait again.

Remember, we’re talking STRESS....

Granted, the “results” seem loosely based on a survey of only 600 families nationwide. Topics sound familiar, however. Reasons for stress are many. Leading reasons cited include “too expensive, team and league fees, time commitment and cost of travel.”

In short, Texans are “most stressed,” barely edging out California.

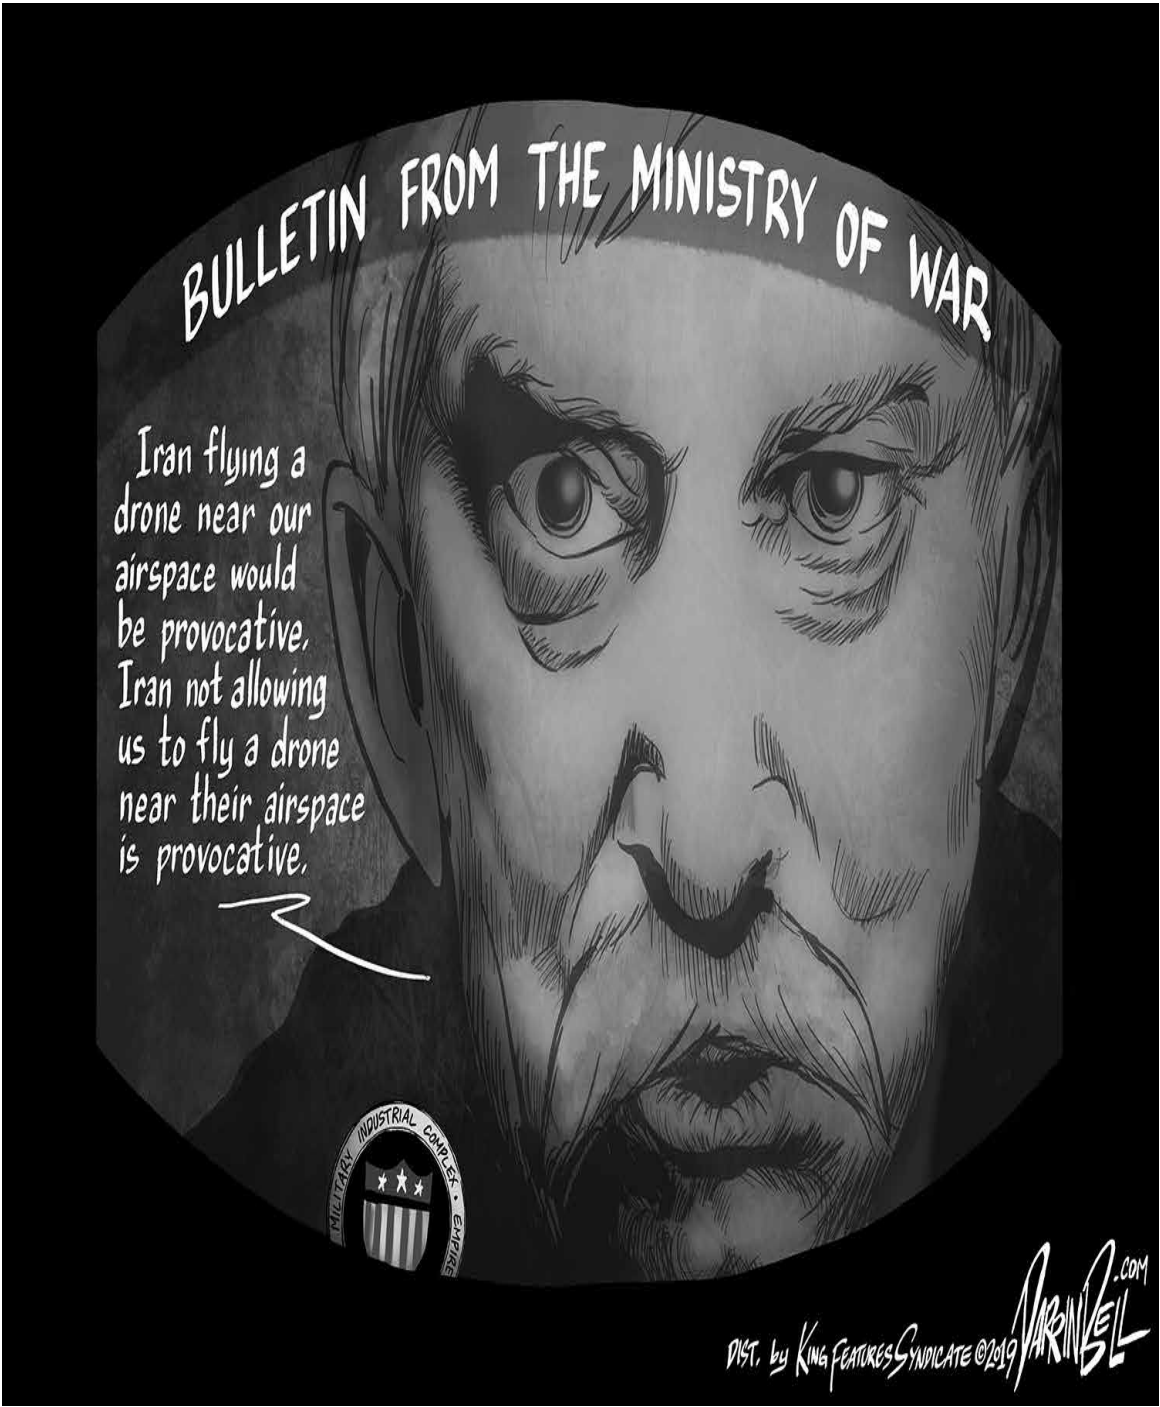

Last in the “top 10” are Kentuckians. They might have finished higher, but some dropped out of the “rat race,” leaving on the same horses they rode in on....

Fists in general should be lowered to half-mast about the nation’s biggest “cocaine bust” of more than 16 tons confiscated recently in Philadelphia.

In Merle Travis’ song “16 Tons,” the late Tennessee Ernie Ford warbled about our getting “another day older and deeper in debt.”

Today’s tonnage of drugs carries much worse results. Instead of clenching fists, let us fold our hands and pray....

Antifa obviously a violent group

By Noab Elam

During the violent rioting by Antifa protesters in Portland, Oregon this weekend, two men attending a “Him Too” gathering were viciously beaten by the far-left activists.

The two men, identified as John Blum and Adam Kelly, both suffered head wounds during the riot. Blum was apparently beaten with a crowbar. Kelly had his head split open causing a concussion and requiring 25 stitches.

Blum and Kelly were both taking part in the “Him Too” movement, which claims to raise awareness for male sexual assault victims and men falsely accused of sex crimes. The two men supposedly were beaten by the Antifa members because they were trying to “help a gay man in a sun dress being chased down the street.”

Journalist Michelle Malkin, who was present at the event and covered the incidents, reported, “While John was being pummeled by the mob in the center, Adam was struck in the head with nunchucks, metal water bottles, some sort of metal rod, and fists. John was sprayed with mace and blinded. He was led away as blood dripped down his face, then dragged to a sidewalk. Another observer notes that one of Adam’s attackers appears to wield something like a sock and padlock.”

Since the Antifa members were in mask to hide their identity, Blum and Kelly took it upon themselves to come forward and reveal their identity telling Malkin “I’m not afraid.”

Since the incident occurred, at least three Antifa members - two females and one male all in their early 20s - have been arrested for their alleged antics. While two marchers were assaults during the event, journalist Andy Ngo was also viciously assaulted and robbed while covering the demonstrations this weekend. Videos have emerged of Ngo being kicked, punched, and had milkshakes thrown all over him by Antifa members. Apparently, some of these milkshakes even contained quick-dry cement. According to Ngo’s lawyer, he suffered a brain hemorrhage because of the attacks.

Ngo’s Attorney Karmeet Dhillon promised to sue Antifa via Twitter on Monday: “Goodnight everyone except Antifa criminals who I plan to sue into oblivion and then sow salt into their yoga studios and avocado toast stands until nothing grows there, not even the glimmer of a violent criminal conspiracy aided by the effete impotence of a cowed city government.”

Of course, that’s the right thing to do. Antifa is obviously a violent organization that is given too much leeway by the local politicians because they share the same belief system. It’s a disgrace that some in America would get violent because people have a different opinion than them.

Red Cross provides July safety tips

The American Red Cross wants everyone to have a safe and fun July 4th holiday and offers several important safety reminders.

Barbecue safety: Keep perishable foods in a cooler with plenty of ice or freezer gel packs. Don't leave food out in the sun for prolonged periods. Wash your hands before and during food preparation. If you are going to cook on a grill: Always supervise the grill when in use. Don't add charcoal starter fluid when coals have already been ignited. Never grill indoors — not in a house, camper, tent or any enclosed area. Keep children and pets away from the grill. Keep the grill out in the open and away from the house, deck, tree branches or anything that could catch fire. Use long-handled tools made for cooking on the grill. Heat safety: Never leave children or pets in your vehicle as the inside temperature of the car can quickly reach 120 degrees. Stay hydrated, drink plenty of fluids and avoid drinks with caffeine or alcohol. Wear loose-fitting, lightweight, light-colored clothing. Dark colors absorb the sun's rays. Avoid extreme temperature changes. Postpone outdoor games, activities and strenuous exercise during the hottest part of the day.

Use a buddy system when working in excessive heat and take frequent breaks when working outdoors. Check on family, friends and neighbors who do not have air conditioning, who spend much of their time alone or who are more likely to be affected by the heat.

Water safety: Children and adults should learn to swim so, at a minimum, they achieve the basic water competency skills including, being able to enter the water, get a breath, stay afloat, find an exit, swim a distance and get out of the water safely. Prevent unsupervised access to water.

A person who is drowning has a better chance of survival if these steps are followed: Rescue and remove the person from water without putting yourself in danger; Call 9-1-1; Begin rescue breathing and CPR; and Use an AED, if available, and transfer care to advanced life support.

Go to www.redcross.org/water-safety for water safety courses, tips and resources.

Download the free Red Cross First Aid App for instant access to information on how to treat bleeding, burns, insect bites and stings, and more.

Obituaries

Dozier

Farris “Red” Dozier passed away on April 7th, 3 days’ shy of his 99th Birthday.

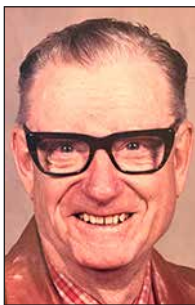

Services will be held at Ft. Logan National Cemetery in Denver, Colorado on July 5. at 1:00 p.m. at Committal Shelter A.

He is survived by his three children Carl Dozier, Mary Meyer, and Ed Dozier, six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

He was born in Clarendon in 1920 where he survived a harsh, poverty-stricken childhood. Those hardships fostered strength and ingenuity which served him well throughout his life. Red lived a long interesting life. He was a veteran of WWII, stationed in New Guinea and Japan. He worked alongside Jonas Salk, renowned medical researcher who developed the Polio vaccine.

Red was also part of the medical team at Fitzsimons Hospital that cared for President Eisenhower after he suffered a heart attack while in Denver. In his later years he had the honor of meeting President Obama, and Prince Charles in Washington DC. Red loved his family, dogs, fishing and the Denver Broncos.

He will be missed and so will his many amazing stories of his life and times.

FSA Nominations Open June 14

USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA) will begin accepting nominations for county committee members on Friday, June 14, 2019. Agricultural producers who participate or cooperate in an FSA program may be nominated for candidacy for the county committee. Individuals may nominate themselves or others as a candidate.

"I encourage America's farmers, ranchers, and forest stewards to nominate candidates to lead, serve, and represent their community on their county committee," FSA Administrator Richard Fordyce said. "There's an increasing need for diverse representation including underserved producers, which includes beginning, women and minority farmers and ranchers."

Committees make important decisions about how federal farm programs are administered locally. Their input is vital on how FSA carries out disaster programs, as well as conservation, commodity and price support programs, county office employment and other agricultural issues.

Nationwide, more than 7,700 dedicated members of the agricultural community serving on FSA county committees. The committees are made of three to 11 members and typically meet once a month. Members serve three-year terms. Producers serving on our FSA county committees play a critical role in the day-to-day operations of the agency.

Producers should visit their local FSA office today to find out how to get involved in their county's election. Check with your local USDA service center to see if your local administrative area is up for election this year.

Organizations, including those representing beginning, women and minority producers, also may nominate candidates.

To be considered, a producer must sign an FSA-669A nomination form. The form and other information about FSA county committee elections are available at fsa.usda.gov/elections. All nomination forms for the 2019 election must be postmarked or received in the local FSA office by Aug. 1, 2019.

Election ballots will be mailed to eligible voters beginning Nov. 4, 2019. Read more to learn about important election dates.

PCS to host conversation on poverty

Panhandle Community Services (PCS) will host an inspiring event titled "Conversation on Poverty" on next Thursday, July 11, 2019, that seeks to engage all twenty-six counties of the Texas Panhandle on a conversation about the issues of poverty in area communities.

Each county will be participating in various locations throughout the Texas Panhandle. The Donley County conversation will take place at 10 a.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church in Clarendon.

Poverty estimates show that 14.88 percent of the total population or 62,691 persons of the Texas Panhandle are living below the poverty level, which is higher than US averages. The purpose of this event is to gather feedback from various groups of individuals engaging in discussion on the contributing factors of poverty in each community, and develop solutions to reduce poverty in each area. PCS hopes to engage 1,000 people or more to create the largest conversation in the Texas Panhandle and encourages community members to participate.

"This is event is important to the Panhandle of Texas because it will help bring light to a true issue within all of our communities as well join together a cross-section of people including those who are experiencing poverty with community leaders," said Magi York, Executive Director. "Conversation on Poverty hopes to create a dialogue focused on uncovering the true of issues of poverty and potential solutions within their own community."

For more information, visit www.pcsvcs.org or the PCS Facebook page.

Panhandle Community Services is a non-profit, community-based organization offering a variety of programs and services to assist low-income individuals and families. Our programs and services are designed and implemented to target specific poverty-related issues with the goal of bridging the gap between poverty and self-sufficiency. As a whole, PCS provides a broad base of support for the residents of all twenty-six Panhandle counties. For more information about PCS please visit www.pcsvcs.org.

DPS ramps up traffic enforcement for Holiday

AUSTIN – The Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) will conduct two traffic operations simultaneously this week to help keep drivers safe over the Fourth of July holiday.

Starting Wednesday, July 3, through Friday, July 5, DPS Troopers will increase traffic enforcement as part of Operation CARE (Crash Awareness and Reduction Effort) and Operation Holiday. DPS Troopers will be looking for those violating the Move Over, Slow Down law, as well as other traffic violations such as DWI, speeding and failure to wear a seat belt, during these enforcement operations.

“As we celebrate our nation’s independence, it’s important to remember to do so safely and responsibly,” said DPS Director Steven McCraw. “We want to remind everyone to follow posted speed limits, wear your seat belt and designate a sober ride home. Remember, if you see an emergency vehicle or tow truck on the side of the road, slow down or move over. By celebrating responsibly, you can help ensure we all make it home safely.”

Operation Holiday runs in conjunction with the Fourth of July and is geared towards individuals who violate traffic laws. During last year’s holiday enforcement campaign, DPS Troopers issued more than 57,000 citations and warnings, including 1,023 seat belt and child safety restraint citations. DPS enforcement efforts also resulted in 256 DWI arrests, 212 fugitive arrests and 204 felony arrests.

Operation CARE focuses on violations of the state’s Move Over, Slow Down law, with the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) assisting DPS Troopers in a non-enforcement capacity. From Jan. 1 through June 25 of this year, DPS conducted 13,988 enforcement actions for Move Over, Slow Down violations.

The law, originally passed in 2003, requires drivers to move over or slow down when certain vehicles – including police, fire, EMS, TxDOT vehicles and tow trucks – are stopped on the side of the road with emergency lights activated.

Drivers are urged to follow these safety tips during the Fourth of July holiday:

Do not drink and drive. Make alternate travel plans if you are consuming alcohol.

If you can Steer It, Clear It: If you are involved in a non-injury crash and your vehicle can be moved, clear the traffic lanes to minimize the impact on traffic. Leaving vehicles in a traffic lane not only increases traffic congestion, but it also leaves those involved with an increased risk of harm and chance for a secondary collision. On some highways, it is actually a violation of the law to not move your vehicle over when it is safe to do so.

Move Over or Slow Down for police, fire, EMS, TxDOT vehicles and tow trucks stopped on the side of the road with emergency lights activated. Also, show the same courtesy to fellow drivers stopped along the road.

Slow down – especially in bad weather, construction areas, heavy traffic and unfamiliar areas.

Eliminate distractions while driving, including the use of mobile devices. Texas law prohibits using a portable wireless device to read, write or send an electronic message unless the vehicle is stopped.

Buckle up everyone in the vehicle – it’s the law.

Drive defensively, as holiday travel may present additional challenges.

Don’t drive fatigued – allow plenty of time to reach your destination.

If you see a road hazard or if you observe anything suspicious, report it to the nearest law enforcement agency.

On multi-lane roadways, use the left lane for passing only. Not only is it courteous driving and avoids impeding traffic, Texas law requires slower traffic to keep to the right and to only use the left lane for passing (when posted).

Before your trip begins, make sure your vehicle is properly maintained and always double check to make sure all cargo is secure.

Monitor weather and road conditions wherever you are traveling. For road conditions/closings in Texas, visit Drive Texas.
