USDA picks WTAMU as training center

The US Department of Agriculture (USDA) this week announced West Texas A&M University (WTAMU) as one of three regional USDA Cattle and Carcass Grading Correlation Training Centers.

These centers will educate and train stakeholders across the country in the grading of feeder cattle, fed cattle, and beef carcasses.

The current Farm Bill includes a provision authored by Congressman Mac Thornberry (R-Clarendon) with the assistance of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association (TFCA) to establish "Cattle and Carcass Grading Correlation and Training Centers," which will help ensure that federal beef graders are interpreting and applying the USDA standards in the same way so that cattle and carcasses across the country are graded uniformly.

"Rep. Thornberry played a key role in bringing this training center to the Texas Panhandle. We'd like to thank him for his hard work," said Levi Berry, TCFA Chairman

Thornberry won't seek re-election

Congressman Mac Thornberry said Monday "the time is right" following his announcement that he will not seek re-election in 2020.

The Clarendon Republican referred to the people of the 13th District as his employers and, in his official statement, he expressed his gratitude for the people who had repeatedly elected him since 1994 and to those he worked with.

"It has been a great honor to serve the people of the 13th District of Texas as their congressman for the last 25 years," Thornberry said in a statement released Monday. "We are reminded, however, that 'for everything there is a season,' and I believe that the time has come for a change. Therefore, I will not be a candidate for reelection in the 2020 election."

Thornberry sat down with The Clarendon Enterprise Monday afternoon and said there were three main points that led him to the decision not to seek a 14th term in office with the first reason being term limits.

"We did not get limits on terms in office, but we did put limits on committee leaderships," Thornberry said. "You can't serve more than six years."

Thornberry became the chairman of the influential House Armed Services Committee in January 2015, the first Texan to hold the position. Even after the balance of power shifted to the Democrats in the 2018 election, Thornberry remained in a leadership role on the committee as the Ranking Minority Member.

"The rule applies whether you're in the majority or the minority," Thornberry said.

Secondly, the congressman said just the time in office itself makes him think it is time to step aside.

"I've been doing this for 25 years," he said. "It'll be 26 years, and that's longer than I expected."

And the third reason? Politics.

"The political environment makes it more difficult to get things done," he said.

Thornberry has seen a lot of changes over the years, but the biggest change has been the level of discourse in the nation's capital. And the animosity is not just for show or publicity. This, he said, is "a time of personal vendettas," and he doesn't see that changing anytime soon.

"It is different even behind closed doors," Thornberry said. "Both parties have moved further into their ideological corners over time."

The disappearance of conservative or "Blue Dog" Democrats and moderate Republicans has increased the level of partisanship, he said. That rancor has also crept into traditionally bi-partisan areas of policy making.

"For 58 straight years, the president, whoever it was, signed the defense authorization bill," Thornberry said, "but this year we had a partisan vote in the House. Armed Services and Agriculture have been two of the most bi-partisan areas, but that's changing now."

C Bar C Ranch wins chuckwagon cookoff

The C Bar C Ranch team from Hartley was the overall champion of the 25th annual Col. Charles Goodnight Chuckwagon Cookoff last Saturday, September 28, at the Saints' Roost Museum.

Twelve wagons prepared food for 600 people for the sell-out event, and the C Bar C placed in three out of five food judging categories and placed third in Overall Cooking and third in Wagon & Camp to take home the custom cutting board designed by Clarendon artist Jack Craft.

The 12th annual Junior Cookoff the day before the big event drew six contestants, who were paired with experienced wagon teams to prepare potatoes for the cooks' dinner Friday night. Haylin Bivens from Clarendon won first place and was teamed with the DT Wagon from Watertown, South Dakota.

McKenna Williams of Clarendon was second, working with the Honey-Do-Spoiler of Pampa; and Addy Havens was third and worked with the Crosstimber Ranch of Mustang, Okla.

Other junior participants included Haughton Bivens, Henry Bivens, and Chelsea Wright, all of Clarendon. The Junior Cookoff is sponsored each year by the American Chuckwagon Association.

Following the Junior Cookoff, 160 people enjoyed a delicious steak dinner Friday night on the museum grounds, compared to 165 the year before.

The invitation-only event was held exclusively for Chuckwagon teams and members of the Saints' Roost Museum and their families as well as members of the Goodnight family.

The trade show was held throughout the day Saturday, and live entertainment was provided. Relatives of Chuckwagon inventor Charles Goodnight also were present for their annual reunion.

Competing wagons served a menu of chicken fried steak, mashed potatoes, gravy, biscuits, beans, and cobbler. Wagons came from as far as Tennessee and South Dakota to attend this year's cookoff.

Prizes totaling $3,250 were paid out to the winners. Complete results were:

Overall Wagon & Cooking: 1) C Bar C Ranch.

Overall Cooking: 1) Camp Cookie of Germantown, Tenn., 2) Cross Wagon, 3) C Bar C, and 4) J Bar D Ranch of Amarillo.

CC rodeo teams bring home several honors

Clarendon College's rodeo teams had a busy September posting good results at two rodeos.

The teams competed in Portales September 19-21 at the Eastern New Mexico University rodeo. The team fared well with five members of the men's team competing in the finals.

Cole Franks, a freshman from Clarendon, qualified 5th in the Bareback Riding, 8th in the Saddle Bronc riding, and 10th in the Team Roping with partner Rafael Dominigo, a freshman from Citra, Florida.

In the Saddle Bronc Riding, Taylor Russell, a sophomore from Lipscomb, tied for second-third, Riffin Smith a sophomore from Winterset, Iowa, was fourth-fifth, and Keene Justesen a sophomore from St. Cloud, Florida, was 6th. Franks also placed fourth in the finals and finished 5th in the average in the Bareback Riding.

In the saddle Bronc Riding, Riffin Smith was 2nd in the finals and finished 2nd in the average, Taylor Russell finished 5th, Keene Justesen finished 6th, and Franks finished 8th. In the Team Roping finals Franks and Dominigo placed 2nd, which was good enough for 2nd in the average.

The team finished in Portales with 305 points placing them 5th out of 17 teams in the Southwest Region.

Clarendon College teams traveled to Alpine, Texas, September 26-28 for the Sul Ross Rodeo with seven of the men's team qualifying for the finals on Saturday night.

In the Bareback Riding, Justin Opatrny, a sophomore from Cochran, Penn., split first-second in the first round, placed 6th in the finals, and was second in the average. Cole Franks split fourth-fifth in the first round, was second in the finals, and was in the average, and Josh Green, a sophomore from Wetumpka, Ala., placed 10th in the first round, 5th in the finals, and 8th in the average.

In the Saddle Bronc Riding, Riffin Smith placed 1st in first round, 1st in the finals and was the Champion Saddle Bronc rider of the rodeo.

NOW OPEN NEW HOURS

Friday thru Monday: 9 a.m. to dark Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday: 3:30 to dark

At the Red Barn two miles east of Clarendon on US 287.

Thornberry will leave big shoes to fill in DC

In a little more than a year, Clarendon will lose one of its distinctions... a hometown boy as a member of the United States Congress.

US Rep. Mac Thornberry's announcement Monday that he will not seek re-election in 2020 was a sad day not just for our community but also for the entire Panhandle and, really, for America as well. Some may see that as an overstatement, but in all honesty, Mac Thornberry has been one of the good guys in Congress since we first elected him to that position in 1994.

As a member of the College Republicans at Texas Tech University, I well remember the debates that people had about that crop of Republican upstarts, led by Newt Gingrich, as the worked to wrest control of Congress from the Democrats. Opponents would say that the GOP would undermine Social Security, for example. But I would set them straight. "Mac Thornberry won't let that happen," I'd tell them. "I know his grandmother, and she'll get after him."

The late Carol McClellan had been a friend of my own grandmother's as I grew up. For a time, she looked after my brother and me, and as we stayed in touch through the years, she kept me apprised of what Mac was up to.

And so it was with no small degree of pride that I, along with much of Donley County, watched Mac Thornberry go off to Washington. It was a thrill to see him on Fox News or C-SPAN or one of the Sunday morning talk shows. And all along, through these 25 years, he has been a steady voice of reason.

While some office holders in our nation's capital clamor for the spotlight or spew venom for attention or generally make fools of themselves, Mac hasn't ever given into that nonsense. His speaking appearances are measured, reasonable, and focused on trying to do what his values tell him are the right things for the people and the nation.

This is not to say that your editor and the Congressman have always agreed on every issue... far from it. But that's okay. Regardless of any differences, this paper has always considered Mac Thornberry as a great representative for Donley County because he reflects the people of this community. He generally votes the way the majority of the 13th District would have him vote, and he provides this nation with a quiet, principled leadership that it so desperately needs in this day and age.

Mac Thornberry is a good, decent man, and those are hard to come by in politics, especially today. As he says, "the parties have moved further into their ideological corners." More than that, members of those parties seem to have little room for differing views at all. You are either a conservative racist or a liberal socialist in the party extremes.

Mac entered Congress at a time when he could work with men like Rep. Charlie Stenholm, a conservative Democrat, to accomplish what was best for the United States in general and Texas in particular. But today there are no conservative Democrats, and a Republican who reaches across the aisle is likely to get his or her hand slapped by party ideologues. Within the Republican Party, there is only one expectation from many voters today... complete and total loyalty to President Donald Trump, whom some believe has been chosen by God to lead this nation. Blind loyalty is no virtue, however. The people deserve better than that.

Who will replace Mac Thornberry? A Democrat? Not likely. A Republican party loyalist? Possibly. Or someone who is willing to work strictly for the best interests of the Panhandle? Let's hope so.

Time will tell who Mac Thornberry's successor will be. Until then, the people of Donley County and the 13th District can continue to enjoy the confidence that they have a voice that reflects their views in Washington and a representative who is one of them and who has never forgotten his roots.

Keep this in mind, voters, as candidates start cropping up and be careful who you support as your next member of Congress. Whoever follows Mac Thornberry will surely have some mighty big boots to fill.

'It has been a great honor to serve'

It has been a great honor to serve the people of the 13th District of Texas as their congressman for the last 25 years. They have given me opportunities to serve the nation in ways I could have never imagined, including as Chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

We are reminded, however, that "for everything there is a season," and I believe that the time has come for a change. Therefore, I will not be a candidate for reelection in the 2020 election.

As I make this decision, I realize how very fortunate I have been in my life in many ways, such as: being raised and supported by a loving family; growing up in a community where neighbor helps neighbor; having had mentors who helped guide me; and especially being blessed with a wife and children whose love and support during this "adventure" have far exceeded what anyone has a right to expect. I am very grateful to all of them.

I am also grateful to those who have worked on my team over the years — both official and political — each of whom has a servant's heart and has brought his or her considerable talents to help our work together be as effective as possible.

I could not have asked for a better group of employers than the people of the 13th District. Their faith, common sense, and work ethic, along with a deep patriotism and devotion to our country, have encouraged and motivated me to do my best on their behalf.

They continue to inspire me with their selfless efforts to make our communities stronger and to lend a hand to our fellow man. I can never thank them enough for the honor of

UT coach and a 20-20 memory

Coaches who take their teams on the road to face storied football opponents usually tip-toe into town, feeling that the less said, the better. This is particularly true when they're fortunate enough to win, and doubly so if they're scheduled to meet the same foes the next year at "their place."

A prime example of what NOT to do occurred a few weeks back in Austin, where Louisiana State University bested the University of Texas, 45-38. Before leaving town, comments in the visitors' locker room are bound to become bulletin board material for the Longhorns when they battle the Tigers next year in Baton Rouge.

The comments made by LSU Coach Ed Orgeron are likely already burned into the minds of the UT mentors. Ed wasn't happy with his team's locker room temperature in Austin, and made tacky comments about the heat....

UT Athletic Director Chris Del Conte offered data that cooled Orgeron's comments before they reached the boiling point. It seems that UT has internal sensors that offer detailed diagnostics like air flow and temperature in locker rooms on spreadsheets in 15-minute intervals..

Swampgate has been put to bed," Del Conte said.

UT Coach Tom Herman likely will have "20-20 memory" of Orgeron's comments when the Longhorns keep their 2020 date at LSU....

Volkswagen ad people may be on to something in their current campaign. Their logic seems solid. Their message counters tiring campaigns of others for the world to go ever faster.

There's much to be said about the importance of "flower-smelling," and of taking deep breaths every time possible along life's way.

The ad doesn't mention Volkswagen's zero-to-60 speed. Instead, it brags about how quickly VWs can slow from 60-to-zero....

It's worth the time to "Google" VW ads from the time of the first "bugs" came off the line in 1937.

A common thread seems to avoid our taking ads too seriously. One emphasized that driving a VW "makes you look bigger." Another showed a uniformed officer driving a bug with "POLICE" in big letters on the doors.

Under the photo was a two-word admonition: "Don't Laugh!"...

Each of us probably has favorite commercials. Who can forget Clara Peller's repetitive questions about "where's the beef?" Or, Maxwell House Coffee being "good to the last drop?"

Hallmark Cards scored "when we've cared enough to send the very best," and Coca-Cola did well with its hands-held-across-the-world campaign to "teach the world to sing."

A key to effective advertising, of the idle american

by don neubury

course, is the aim for us to remember specifically the names of products that clever and/or amusing messages are promoting....

"What happens in Vegas Stays in Vegas" has had a good run, and often is jokingly used to assure the "muzzling" of goings-on in other places as well.

A slogan designed for possible use by promoters of Reno, Nevada, was left on the cutting room floor. It claimed Nevada's capital city to be the dairy capital of the world.

Why? That's where the "cream of the crop" used to go to be separated....

Another one was passed over by Pet Milk.

Their ad writers — as well as Pet Milk employees in general — grew weary of Carnation Milk's claim that their milk "comes from contented cows."

Here's what they proposed: "Pet Milk cows are NOT contented. They are always trying to do better..."

Some ad campaigns backfire because they aren't fully "thought through."

There's no better example than defunct Braniff Airlines' slogan that boldly claimed, "We're going to be on time." Planes had large clocks mounted near the door. If arrivals weren't on time — or very nearly — flight attendants handed out silver dollars as passengers deplaned.

The short-lived campaign ended abruptly on May 3, 1968, when Braniff Flight 352 — en route from Houston to Dallas — crashed near Buffalo, killing all 85 persons on board. Some things are far more important than being on time....

Resolve to reduce, reuse, recycle

"Reduce, Reuse, Recycle", in that order, is what we should be thinking. Friday, September 27 was "National Crush a Can Day", which was created to highlight the benefits of recycling. The Clarendon City Council approved a resolution at the Sept. 26th meeting to support National Crush Day by publicizing and encouraging recycling in Clarendon.

The City has already taken the steps to recycle, by setting recycling dumpsters on the N.E. corner of Kearney St. and 1st St., if you didn't already know. They take glass, newspaper, cardboard, clear plastic, aluminum and tin. With the increasing concern over disposal of our waste, and rising costs of dumping, recycling is becoming more common.

"Reducing" the waste we make in the first place, finding creative ways to "Reuse" what we can, and of course "Recycling" are the best ways to start being mindful of making our world more sustainable for our children and grandchildren. With these steps, lessening air, water, and soil pollution, reducing costs of production and costs to the consumer are inevitable. So in honor of National Crush a Can Day, here are some suggestions for making your home more sustainable:

- Buy Recycled — Purchase products AND recycle them again. This saves money for the producer and you.
- Re-Purpose — Find other uses for used products. School art projects and home use ideas will cut down on waste.
- Recycle Water - Use leftover bathwater or dishwashing water in your yard and garden, or set up a rain barrel.
- Compost — Garden compost left over kitchen scraps, grass clippings, fall leaves, and mulch your Christmas tree.
- Electronics & Appliance Recycling - Help others by donating to organizations that fix and reuse these things like Good Will, Salvation Army, and Habitat for Humanity.

- Sell & Trade - Use Clarendon Buy, Sell and Trade, or Craig's List to give away or sell used things instead of trashing them.
 - Endlessly Recyclable - Buy drinks in aluminum cans instead of paper cups or plastic. The aluminum is forever recyclable! And did you know your television can run for 3 hours from the energy saved by recycling one can!
 - Reusable Containers — Use glass or metal containers that can be washed and not plastic bottles. These plastics aren't meant for reuse and break down in heat, then releasing chemicals into the environment.
- A thought to leave you with: Clarendon received an award for its recycling efforts in 2018. How about that!
- See you at the Recycle Dumpsters!

Retired School Personnel held meeting

The bi-monthly meeting of the Donley County Retired School Personnel Association met on Monday, September 23, at 6:00 p.m. in the Church of Christ Family Life Center.

Garrett Bains, the Superintendent of Hedley ISD, spoke to the group of 12 members and two guests. He spoke of the benefits of attending a small school. Hedley's enrollment is at 116. He commented on the fact that all students have a chance of doing something and being somebody. With a class size of nine or less, no one can fall through the cracks or get lost. There is much one on one teaching with only one teacher per grade in the elementary which are all self-contained, and two per subject in the junior and high schools.

Mr. Bains credits the small size and individual attention to the high ratings on their achievement scores each year. There is a special emphasis on trades education in Hedley because the staff and administration believe not everyone is geared for four-year colleges.

The National Honor Society is very active in their school and community, doing many service projects, one of which is cleaning and fixing up the local cemetery. Mr. Bains also stated that the whole community is invested in the lives of each of these children, which makes them feel very special.

After Mr. Bains spoke to the group, old and new business was conducted, a potluck dinner was enjoyed by all, and the meeting was adjourned. The next meeting will be Monday, November 25, at 6 p.m.

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular Tuesday noon meeting October 1, 2019, with Boss Lion Scarlet Estlack in charge.

We had 14 members and Sweetheart (and Homecoming Queen) Kira Weatherston present.

The Boss Lion thanked everyone for their help with the circus this week.

Lion Tex Buckhaults reported the college will have an eight-week fall mini-session starting October 21.

Lion David Dockery gave an update on city projects, and Lion John Howard complimented the city on its progressive projects.

The Sweetheart reported on the high school, and Lion Bobbie Thornberry reported 600 people were fed at the chuckwagon cookoff.

There being no further business, we were dismissed to spread Lionism and good cheer throughout our fair county.

Les Beaux Art Club met Oct 4

The Les Beaux Art Club will be meeting, October 4, at the Methodist church with ‘pot luck’ dinner, so bring your favorite dish.

Our first meeting in September was at the Baptist church with a ‘tail gate’ party. The hostesses were Mary White, Jan Campbell, Betty Ann Sansing, and Bobbie Thornberry. The meal was delicious and the decorations were perfect with banners and football helmets. Their “kick off” will be a hard act to follow!

We voted to discontinue the art festival and to take up other projects. We are in elementary now with art projects for each class. All of the student’s art will be displayed November 7 and 8 at the old gym. The parents and community will be invited for a reception and presentations of the art project for each student.

Be sure and attend!

It was with sadness and great reluctance that we decided to not have the art festival, but we will continue to expose the arts to elementary, jr. high and high school along with other projects.

We had so many good applicants for our scholarship, but two were so close we decided for this year to award Emily Johnson and Preston Elam with our scholarships, congratulation!

30 years later
Clarendon High School's Class of 1989 had its 30th reunion Friday and Saturday, September 27 and 28. In addition to enjoying the Homecoming festivities, classmates and families reminesed at the Lions Hall and got in a round of golf at the country club. Shown here are Michael Morrow, Roger Estlack, Lisa Burch, Kristal Hill Hooten, Linde Bowling Shadle, Chris Ward, Jenifer Davis Pigg, Glenda Day, David Shaller, Lori Roberson Baggett, Jason Green, Chad Hommel, Jason May, and Richard Graham.

him the sixth Texas Republican to announce to announce an upcoming retirement from Congress. The Tribune called him “the last remaining Texas Republican from the class of 1994 and the dean of the GOP delegation.” It also said his retirement was not surprising due to committee term limits.

Asked about his thoughts on congressional term limits, Thornberry told the Enterprise that he’s always voted for it when it comes up.

“It only makes sense if it applies to everyone equally,” he said. “I think there are more benefits to it than not since people are so disillusioned with their government.”

The congressman did say, however, that it takes time to learn the processes in Washington.

“I served on the Armed Services Committee for several years before I went on the Intelligence Committee, and I was surprised by how much I didn’t know,” he said, “and I’m still trying to understand dairy policy.”

Thornberry chuckles when told that he made headlines with his announcement Monday.

“Some of the things that are being said... You’d think that I died,” he said.

The congressman’s term won’t expire until January 2021; and with 15 months left in office, he’s still got some things he wants to work on.

Not surprisingly, national defense is at the top of the priority list for the congressman who introduced a bill to create a National Homeland Security Agency six months before the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001.

“We still have work to do to restore the readiness of our military and help the Pentagon be more innovative,” Thornberry said. “The private sector is leading on innovation in many areas, and there are a number of steps we can do along those lines.”

Close to home, Pantex, Bell Helicopter, and Sheppard Air Force Base play critical roles in the nation’s defense, and Thornberry said the people employed in those facilities are the ones who make their work significant.

“It will be important for my successor to be supportive of those roles,” he said.

Thornberry isn’t sure what he will do when his term comes to a close.

“I have a longer list of things I don’t want to do than things I want to do,” he said. “I’ll be looking for a job, but there are limits to how much of that I can do before I leave office. I hope to still have some connection to national security. I don’t see myself going back into practicing law. I wouldn’t want to have me as an attorney.”

Looking back on his service, Thornberry is reluctant to point his accomplishments in office or tout his legislative record.

“If people think I have fairly and honestly represented them, then I’m satisfied with that,” he said. “My main goal is to be the representative the people of this area deserve.”

And it is the people of the 13th District and the local community – his employers, he says – that he credits with his success.

“I have such gratitude for being born and raised in this community and for the values and support I have received and continue to receive from the people of Donley County,” Thornberry said. “It’s allowed me to do all I have been able to do.”

Fighting Fires!

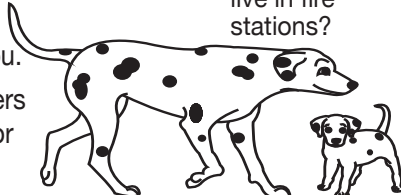

Fire Prevention and Safety

Let's all help to prevent fires. You can start by talking with grownups in your family about fire safety and prevention. Check at your school to see if firefighters can come to talk to your class. Cut out this checklist and hang it on your refrigerator or bulletin board.

Read these clues to fill in the puzzle with people and the things they use to fight fires:

Family Fire Safety Checklist

- ☐ Cook in the kitchen only when an adult is helping you.
- ☐ Don't touch matches, lighters or candles. They are only for adults to use.
- ☐ Do you have smoke detectors on every level of your home? Test them monthly. Change the batteries at least once a year.
- ☐ Do you know two or more ways out of the house?
- ☐ Never use elevators if there is a fire (stairs are much safer).
- ☐ Smoke rises. If there is a fire, stay low: crawl under the smoke.
- ☐ Have you picked a place to meet the rest of your family once you are all out of the house?
- ☐ Once you are out of the house, stay out of the house.

Do you know that some dogs live in fire stations?

- hydrants pump hundreds of gallons of _____ each minute
- a fire _____ should be in every kitchen
- horses of fire carriages in the 1800's were protected by _____, especially dalmatians
- firefighters and equipment are brought by a _____ to the scene
- person who teaches us fire safety and protects us
- a _____ can be used to pick up water from a lake and drop it onto a fire
- _____ are used to chop down locked doors or walls
- _____ extinguish fires without endangering any firefighters

Broncos beat the Cyclones

By Sandy Anderberg

The Broncos racked up 381 total yards of offense in their 34-8 romp over the Memphis Cyclones. The win put them at 3-2 for the season as their district season began on Friday night.

Over half of the Broncos' yards came on the ground with 137 yards in the air. Lamarcus Penigar was only two for six passing but posted 137 yards to his receivers that included two touchdowns. Sylvester Ballard continued to be a workhorse for the Broncos and finished with 91 yards on the ground on seven carries. He scored once for the Broncos. Colin Butler had three rushes for 76 yards and on TD, and Antwan Bassett carried four times for 39 yards. Penigar carried the ball four times for 18 yards, Jordan Herndon posted eight yards, and Jmaury Davis carried once for 19 yards.

Jamal Butler was on the receiving end of a Penigar pass and scampered 85 yards for the score, while Collin Butler made good on a catch for 52 yards and a touchdown.

Defensively, the Broncos stayed in the fight and stopped Memphis with only 154 total yards.

"Our defense played great," head coach Clint Conkin said. Zane Sneathen and Herndon each had 10 tackles with Sneathen getting two quarterback sacks and Herndon recovering a fumble. Brock Hatley and Bassett steamrolled the Cyclones with nine tackles and Robert McGuire added seven tackles.

The Broncos will gear up for their next game which will be Friday, October 4, against Plains in Littlefield beginning at 7:00 p.m.

Overstreet claims fourth in Lubbock

By Sandy Anderberg

Clarendon senior runner Kenny Overstreet continues to run well and better his time as the District Cross Country meet nears.

Jace Cottrell ran 84th with a time of 22:21.4, and Britton Cottrell was 99th with a time of 24:26.1.

The Broncos will run on Saturday, October 5, in Canyon.

The Lady Broncos ran in Lubbock as well and placed 13th as a team in a field of 143 runners. Madi Smith finished with a time of 14:00.6 for 30th place, and Aliyah Weatherton was 74th at 15:16.8. Finley Cunningham was 75th with a time of 15:17.2, Makenna Shadle was 77th at 15:18.7. Aleah Weatherton crossed the line in 110th position with a time of 16:22, Aubrey Jaramillo was 121st at 16:48.3, and Kira Weatherton was 125th with a time of 16:52.2.

The Lady Broncos have an open weekend on Saturday, October 5, and will run at WTAMU on Saturday, October 12.

Correction:

Last week's Lady Colts Groom CC results contained some errors. Tandie Cummins was first in the race over Maloree Wann, who finished second. Gracie Clark was seventh, and Kennadie Cummins was eighth. We apologize for posting the wrong placings in last week's edition of the Enterprise.

Mesothelioma

may occur 30 to 60 years after exposure to asbestos. Many workers were exposed from the 1940s through the 1970s. Industrial and construction workers, along with their families (second hand exposure) are among those at risk for mesothelioma, lung cancer or gastro cancer (throat, stomach, colon). Even if you or your loved one settled an asbestosis case in the past, this may be a new claim, so call now.
