TxDOT to close 203 intersection in Hedley Friday

The Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) will close the SH 203 and US 287 intersection in Hedley on Friday, January 17, to allow for construction of new concrete pavement in and around the intersection.

According to Childress District Area Engineer Matt Herbstritt, the closure will last an estimated two to three months, weather permitting.

"Local traffic is encouraged to utilize the railroad crossings at Bailey Street or McDougal Street, which will both remain open throughout this construction phase," stated Herbstritt.

Turning movements off US 287 at the SH 203 location will not be allowed until the construction in the area is complete.

"As always, TxDOT reminds drivers to reduce their speed in the work zone, avoid all distractions and obey all posted warning signs," Herbstritt said.

Chamber seeking award nominees

The Clarendon Chamber of Commerce is seeking nominations for its annual awards banquet.

Honorees will be announced during the banquet on February 13. Nominations are due by noon on January 23.

Nominations are sought for Man of the Year and Woman of the Year – individuals who have made a significant contribution to the community in the last year, and the Saints' Roost Award – honoring a lifetime of service to the community.

Nominations can be mailed to the Chamber at PO Box 986, Clarendon, TX 79226, or delivered to the Visitor Center.

New City Hall to be open on January 27

The City of Clarendon is making preparations to move its business offices to a new location this month.

City Administrator David Dockery says Monday, January 27, is the move-in day for the new City Hall in the former Lowe Office Building at 313 S. Sully across from the Courthouse.

Telephone and internet communications will be down that first day as the appropriate utility companies make the necessary changes.

City officials are planning an open house event at the new location on February 3.

Tucek, Ehlert win beef division Thirty-nine local youth participate in stock show

The top animals in the Beef Division were exhibited by Koyt Tucek and Taylee Ehlert when the annual Donley County Junior Livestock Show was held last Saturday, January 11, at the Donley County Activity Center.

Tucek showed the Grand Champion Steer, and Ehlert had the Grand Champion Heifer.

Other top winners were Mya Edwards and her Grand Champion Sheep; Kaitin Ehlert with the Grand Champion Goat; Maloree Wann and her Grand Champion Gilt; and Calder Havens with the Grand Champion Barrow.

Reserve Champion honors went to Grant Haynes, steers; Lane Hinton, heifers; Madison Smith, sheep; Laney Gates, goats; Maloree Wann, gilts; and Harrison Howard, barrows.

A total of 39 kids from the Donley County 4-H Club and local FFA chapters exhibited 71 animals during the show. Last year 50 young people showed 80 animals.

The livestock auction following the show generated an estimated $41,400 as of Monday morning, and that number will increase as donations continue to be received. The 2019 premium sale totaled about $41,225 at this point last year.

Showmanship awards this year went to Koyt Tucek – Senior Beef,

District court gives Amarillo man 150-year sentence

An Amarillo man was sentenced to 150 years in prison during a contested hearing before the district court in Panhandle January 10.

District Attorney Luke Inman along with Assistant District Attorney Harley Caudle, prosecuted the case for the State of Texas, with the Honorable Judge Stuart Messer presiding.

Joseph Anthony Johnson, 34, from Amarillo, was convicted and sentenced to a total of 150 years in the Institutional Division of the TDCJ for two counts of the first degree felony offense of sexual assault of a child, enhanced.

Johnson was indicted by the Carson County Grand Jury on November 10, 2016, for the offenses which had occurred on June 5, 2016.

After a jury trial was scheduled that Johnson did not appear for, he was originally placed on eight years of deferred adjudication when he pleaded guilty to both charges on February 8, 2019.

The State filed its motion to adjudicate for each count on October 23, 2019, alleging seven violations of community supervision. Johnson pleaded not true to each of the violations.

The State called three witnesses, Carol McKay, Micah Melton and Troy Timmons, during its case in chief.

Melton, the probation officer responsible for Johnson's supervision while on probation, testified regarding Johnson's failure to abide by certain required probation conditions.

Timmons, a Licensed Professional Counselor and Sex Offender Therapy provider, testified to Johnson's failure to fully participate in Johnson's court-ordered Sex Offender Therapy program.

Timmons testified that in his 25-year career, he had rarely dealt with a sex offender like Johnson who was simply incapable of feeling remorse or empathy for his victim.

After hearing the evidence in the first case, Messer found that Johnson had violated the terms of his community supervision, fully and finally convicted him of two separate counts of the first degree felony offense of sexual assault of a child, enhanced, and sentenced him to 75 years in the Institutional

Division of the TDCJ for each count. In addition, Messer ordered that the defendant's prison sentences to run consecutively.

"This defendant's consecutive 75-year sentences is what justice looks like in the 100th Judicial District," said Caudle immediately following the hearing. He added, "With these stacked sentences, the defendant will not even be eligible for parole until he is 104 years old. With the tools available to us as prosecutors, this is the best outcome possible for both the victim and

More winning after end of impeachment

With the first partisan impeachment vote since the Civil War complete, the spotlight will now shift to the U.S. Senate. Taking part in an impeachment trial is a solemn responsibility, and one I take extraordinarily seriously. But beneath the never-ending stream of headlines about impeachment, it’s been easy to miss the stories about everything else happening in Washington. This was a busy year, and together, we’ve notched a lot of wins for Texas.

Last week, Congress passed two major pieces of legislation to strengthen America’s military. The defense funding bill will provide a nearly $20 billion increase over last year’s funding levels, 98 new F-35 aircraft, which will be built by Texans in Fort Worth, and the largest pay raise in a decade for our troops.

This bill complements the National Defense Authorization Act, which invests in military modernization, and fully funds the B-21 bomber program for future deployment out of Dyess Air Force Base in Abilene. It also approved funds for military construction projects at Corpus Christi Army Depot, Fort Hood, Camp Swift, and Joint Base San Antonio, totaling $400 million.

Beyond the investment in our troops, this legislation also includes a number of bills I introduced to improve the quality of life for our servicemembers and veterans.

I’ve heard from active duty soldiers who thought the absentee voting process was too complicated, so they weren’t able to vote. This defense spending bill included a provision I introduced to simplify the process so we can remove the barriers preventing men and women in uniform from casting a ballot.

I’ve also talked with Texas veterans who have fallen on hard times, and had to fight for their VA and Department of Defense disability benefits in bankruptcy proceedings, because unlike Social Security disability benefits, they aren’t exempted. This legislation righted that wrong too. No veteran should be penalized for receiving the disability compensation they are rightly due.

On top of the gains for our military, I’ve been proud to help corral a long list of wins for Texas. It’s been more than two years since Hurricane Harvey, and folks continue to rebuild and prepare for future disasters. Sadly, some of the federal funding has gotten tangled in the Washington bureaucracy. In February 2018, Congress approved more than $4 billion for disaster mitigation in Texas, but after more than a year, folks at home still hadn’t seen a dime. This summer, Congress passed a provision I introduced requiring the Office of Management and Budget to send those, and any future funds approved by Congress, within 90 days. Earlier this year, we also approved $4.6 billion to support communities nationwide recovering from natural disasters, including those in Texas.

Another challenge we’ve faced over this past year is the humanitarian crisis at the border, which hit its peak in May. Communities throughout the state were quick to lend a hand, and help do a job that should be the responsibility of the federal government. I helped secure $30 million for local governments, states and charitable organizations to receive reimbursements for their work in response to this crisis, and nearly 40 percent of the initial funding went to Texas.

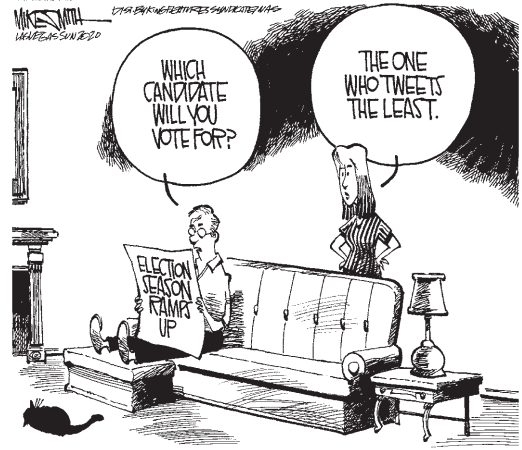

Last week the House also passed the U.S.-Mexico-Canada Agreement, or USMCA, which replaces NAFTA and modernizes trade with Mexico and Canada. Once the Senate completes the impeachment process, this will be the first item on our to-do list. I’ve been working with the Trump Administration to ensure this agreement benefits Texas, and I secured funding for the North American Development Bank, which will provide $215 million to improve infrastructure in our border communities.

On top of all this, we’ve grown the number of well-qualified federal judges confirmed under President Donald Trump to 185, including 20 outstanding Texans. We’ve taken steps to secure American’s voting systems ahead of the 2020 election. We strengthened our fight to end the rape kit backlog, passed a landmark bill to fund autism research, and made the most significant reforms to the IRS in two decades.

I’m proud of the work I’ve done in Washington this year on behalf of Texans, and as soon as the Senate has concluded its role in the impeachment process, I’m eager to keep our list of accomplishments growing.

Hocky ‘mongst the bowl games

My ancient Uncle Mort claims only fuzzy memories of Texas’ first hockey games. He said something about chipmunks competing on 50-pound ice blocks, or something equally absurd.

Suffice it to say that the sport has fully arrived. When 86,000 fans showed up at Dallas’ Cotton Bowl for the “hockey classic” featuring the Dallas Stars and Nashville Predators, he was “goggle-eyed.” His voice cracking, skin crawling and lips quivering, he noted that the “classic” drew the second largest crowd in National Hockey League history in a facility previously known only for football.

Further, it was scheduled smack in the middle of the nation’s bloated 40-game spate of football bowl games. Times, they are a’ changin’

Big D hockey fans have even more to crow about. Their team handily defeated Nashville, while two of Dallas County’s bowl games held little interest to local fans. In fact, the Frisco Bowl attracted 12,120 folks, and the Servpro First Responders Bowl a few miles away at SMU’s Ford Stadium had an announced crowd of 13,164.

These two Dallas County venues were dead last in attendance at the country’s bowl games. Only the Rose Bowl crowd of 90,000 exceeded the hockey event, and then by only 4,000.

Had I attended the hockey game, I wouldn’t have known the players even if I had a program, would have yelled only when I heard others cheering, probably needed help ordering a hot dog, and may have been most fascinated by the pre-game pig races....

Like millions of others, I “channel-hopped” and “fast-forwarded” to watch pieces of most of the games on TV. Two vignettes brought smiles, and neither was connected with game action. In one, a receiver who thought the pass he bobbled in the end zone was declared a touchdown. He “high-fived” the surprised game official, who “sort of” held up his hand to complete the gesture.

And one of the TV announcers at the Famous Idaho Potato bowl game – promoting the Mobile Bowl in Alabama – pronounced the name “Mow’bull” instead of “Mo’beel”....

Lone Star State football fans are moaning about the Big 12 Conference’s poor showing in bowl games.

Fans like to argue about relative strength of conferences, with many criticizing Texas A&M for bolting to the Southeast Conference several years ago.

It is noted that the SEC members won nine of 11 games, while the Big 12 managed just two wins in nine games....

One more sports item about Dallas: Cowboys owner Jerry Jones was beyond deliberate in his dismissal of Jason Garrett as head coach after a mediocre nine-year stint. When it was all said and done, they didn’t offer “high fives,”

the idle american
by don newbury

but likely are continuing a friendship spanning almost three decades.

Until a new coach is named, jokes will continue, one suggesting that Garrett should check schedules for the next bus leaving Dallas, and to “be under it.”

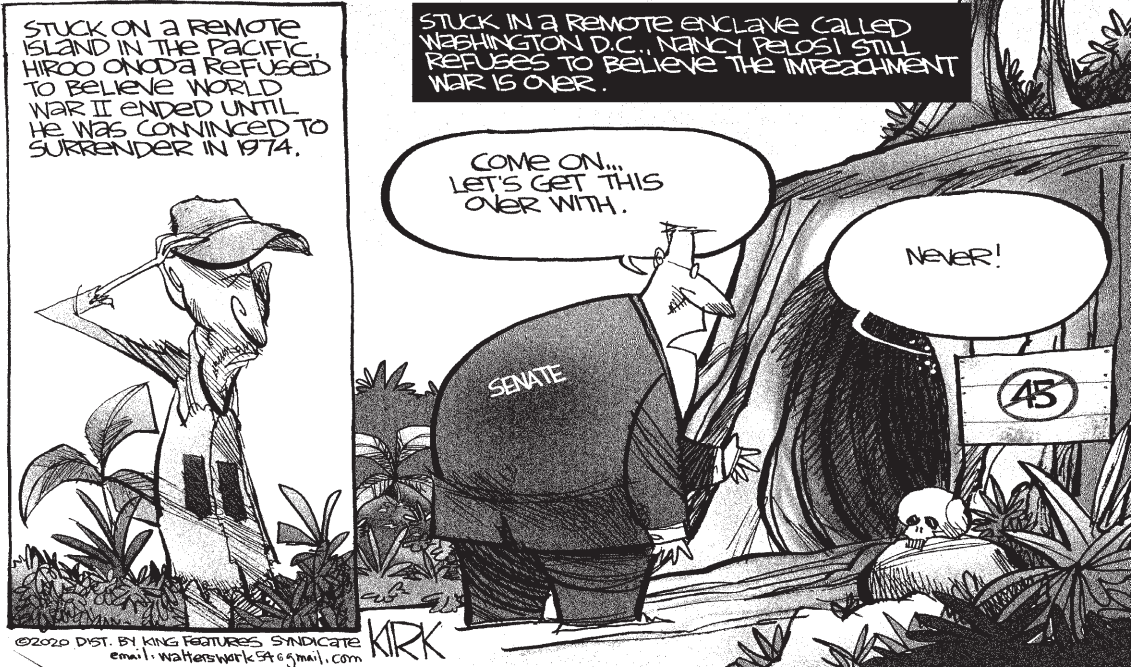

One old story is about a coach who was hired with much enthusiasm. TV cameras recorded every aspect of the hiring, and sportswriters recorded both “jots and tittles.” The coach stumbled through five seasons, and was dismissed. Again, the cameras and reporters recorded it all. His opening remark: “I am leaving the same way I came in here – fired with enthusiasm.”...

Meanwhile, in St. Peter’s Square, Pope Francis slapped a woman’s hand when she attempted to pull him into the crowd. TV cameras conveyed the visual image to millions of viewers around the world.

Later, the pontiff apologized, acknowledging his “bad example.”

To me, the pope showed himself to be human. Perhaps he’d had a bad day, or ongoing heartburn. Who knows? Maybe he was a bit miffed that he was unable to attend the Camping World Bowl in Orlando, where Notre Dame humbled Iowa State, 33-9. I’m guessing that if he’d been there, he would have grown weary of the opportunities for “high fives” on this grand day for the Irish....

‘Back 40’ of the folklife festival

I was one of the early ambassadors of the Texas Folklife Festival that started 48 years ago on the grounds of the Institute of Texan Cultures in San Antonio. It was designed to show off the state’s diverse cultural population. Jo Ann Andera was hired as a bilingual tour guide at the start and now she is the director of the festival, a post she has held for 39 years. “The festival was all about unique characters getting together in one place,” says JoAnn. “The festival became a family and participants looked forward to their annual reunion.”

The Lebanese belly dancers drew a big crowd. So did the crawfish races put on by the Cajuns from Port Arthur. So did the stage where storytellers told outrageous stories, most of them based on their own experiences. Spot Baird, Professor of Possumology, used to parade around holding a silver platter with a baked possum, sweet potatoes and various garnishes on it. Possum Queen Daisy Potter accompanied him dressed in regal attire complete with tiara. They were promoting the annual Yamboree in

Gilmer. Cowboy Williams of Chappell Hill was there with his hog dogs telling about his adventures hunting wild hogs and demonstrating how he calls up his dogs. Bill Brett, former postmaster of Hull, Texas made rope from horsehair and hung out at the back forty where pioneer crafts were demonstrated. JoAnn says Bill brought moonshine to the festival. “He called it his fortified Vitamin C and offered it so people could taste real moonshine.”

JoAnn went to Bill’s funeral. “He built his own coffin. When he was depressed or wasn’t feeling too good he’d go lie down in his coffin and just kinda think about the world. At his funeral he was wrapped in his grandmother’s quilt and carried to his final resting place in a horse-drawn

carriage.” Hondo Crouch of Luckenbach was a popular figure at the festival. He used to dance with the belly dancers. “One of the racing crawfish died and Hondo got a funeral together. They had this huge funeral procession complete with a couple of nuns and laid the little crawfish in a burial plot on one of our berms.”

The festival takes place the first weekend in June. None of the original characters are around anymore but there are new ones to take their places. JoAnn says it was just the best time when all the extraordinary characters were there. “They were just wonderful people who had an unusual hobby or talent or love of something. We truly miss them. The festival is preserving the history of these people. I’m very proud of what this event has done. I know people who met at the Folklife Festival and have been married for 40 years. I know friendships made here that have lasted. It’s a very unique event.” JoAnn’s office is full of festival memorabilia and photographs.

West Texas A&M names fall honors

Clarendon residents received academic honors and one earned a degree from West Texas A&M University at the close of the fall semester last month.

Degrees were granted to 1,150 students of West Texas A&M University during the fall commencement ceremony on Dec. 14 at the First United Bank Center. The University awarded 762 baccalaureate degrees, 387 master's degrees and one doctorate.

Tristan Morgan Mayfield of Clarendon earned a BSN degree in Nursing for the fall. Mayfield was also one of five Clarendon residents who were recognized on the Dean's List for the fall.

Also making the Dean's List were Junior Cenicerros, Marshal Johnson, and Clayton Parker.

Students on the Dean's List had an overall grade point average of 3.50 – 3.99.

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular Tuesday noon meeting January 14, 2020, with Boss Lion Scarlet Estlack in charge.

We had 12 members, Sweethearts Kira Weatheron and Mattee Johnson, and one guest this week. Our guest was Jeremy Kindle from Howardwick.

Lion Tex Buckhaults reported that college faculty return this week and students check in this weekend. The Bulldogs beat Frank Phillips Monday night 109-89, and the women lost by seven.

Lion David Dockery reported on the new City Hall and said a grand opening is planned for February 3. The USDA project has moved to Seventh Street, and concrete should start being poured on the pool project in two weeks. Third Street and Jefferson Street on the Courthouse Square will be closed Monday for tree removal.

Lion John Howard said Cleveland pear trees and desert willows will be planted to take the place of those removed.

The Boss Lion reported that the Courthouse Lighting Committee will be un-decorating this Saturday at 9 a.m. and welcomes volunteers.

There being no further business, we were dismissed to spread Lionism and good cheer throughout our fair county.

Johnson was previously scheduled for a jury trial on March 19, 2018 for the offenses. Johnson was later apprehended on another charge out of Laredo and brought back to court where he pleaded guilty to multiple offenses.

Johnson's victim was 15 at the time of the offense but also a registered sex offender herself by the time Johnson pleaded guilty more than two years after the crime, according to evidence.

“Each case is unique, but this one had many obstacles which allowed this Defendant to get probation in the first place,” said Inman. “We had to make concessions during plea negotiations, but justice was ultimately achieved when this Defendant failed miserably on probation.

In pronouncing the sentences, Messer noted the severity of the original offenses and Johnson's disturbing attitude towards both the victim and sex offender counseling in general. According to Messer, all factors combined made it clear that society needed to be protected from Johnson for as possible.

Register to vote by Feb. 3

Well, the rain and snow missed us which makes 13 days without moisture. I have an ominous feeling.

It snowed in Lubbock, Abilene, and McKinney but missed Donley County. According to WeatherBug, there is a chance of rain later in the week.

We don't want another year like 2011 with no rain, wind blowing 24 hours daily, and sandstorms that rivaled the dirty-thirties.

I have found that discussion of politics should not take place around my dinner table. I can't keep enough Tums or Alka-Seltzer around to help digest the food if politics is included. My solution, keep my ideas to myself and let my vote do the talking.

Thanks to the 19th Amendment to the Constitution that was ratified 100 years ago, I have the right to vote, and I do. This is a very important year, a year when the President is elected, and I want to encourage everyone to vote.

Before you vote you must register to vote by filling out a voter's registration card and sending

Snorkeling fun during vacation

Last week, I started my report on my family's cruise by talking about our first stop at Cozumel, Mexico. Now I'll tell you about the rest of our trip.

The third day, we arrived in Grand Cayman, which is the biggest island of the three Cayman Islands. We got on a bus and went to a dock full of little boats. We got on one and went out to a sandbar just off the bay. Once we arrived, we got off on to the sandbar and walked around with a group of stingrays, which was very scary even though they were very calm and docile.

I got touched by one, and I got out. I was just done with them and was very scared.

The next stop we made that day was at a reef to snorkel. This was my very first time snorkeling in the ocean. It was really fun, and I loved getting to see all the fish and coral. We made one more

New twist to Social Security phone scams

The Inspector General of Social Security, Gail S. Ennis, is warning the public that telephone scammers may send faked documents by email to convince victims to comply with their demands.

The Social Security Administration Office of the Inspector General (OIG) has received reports of victims who received emails with attached letters and reports that appeared to be from Social Security or Social Security OIG. The letters may use official letterhead and government "jargon" to convince victims they are legitimate; they may also contain misspellings and grammar mistakes.

This is the latest variation on Social Security phone scams, which continue to be widespread throughout the United States. Using robocalls or live callers, fraudsters pretend to be government employees and claim there is identity theft or another problem with one's Social Security number, account, or benefits.

They may threaten arrest or other legal action, or may offer to increase benefits, protect assets, or resolve identity theft. They often demand payment via retail gift card, cash, wire transfer, internet currency such as Bitcoin, or pre-paid debit card.

Inspector General Ennis urges continued vigilance against all types of phone scams no matter what "proof" callers may offer. As we continue to increase public awareness of phone scams, criminals will come up with new ways to convince people of their legitimacy. Social Security will never: threaten you with arrest or other legal action unless you immediately pay a fine or fee; promise a benefit increase or other assistance in exchange for payment; require payment by retail gift card, cash, wire transfer, internet currency, or prepaid debit card;

it to your county. Howardwick is in Donley County. This must be done before February 3 to be eligible to vote in the primary election March 3. Please make an informed decision, and don't let the loud-mouthed co-worker, Facebook friend, or your spouse make that decision for you.

Google "Texas elections 2020" and read about the candidates which also includes the Congressman replacing Mac Thornberry. I cannot stress enough the power of informed votes. Check your voter registration card if you have one and make changes as needed. Remember, first register, then vote. God Bless America.

stop to snorkel that day. Snorkeling was my favorite part of the trip.

After our adventure in Cayman, we made one last stop in Jamaica but I didn't get off or do any trips. My parents went ashore and bought some souvenirs though. Then after three more days at sea, we ended up back in Galveston. The only bad parts were: 1) our amazing trip was over, and 2) the next day we had to get up and go to school.

I loved our trip, and I hope that sometime me and all of my family could go on one big trip together.

If there is ever a problem with your Social Security number or record, in most cases Social Security will mail you a letter. If you do need to submit payments to Social Security, the agency will send a letter with instructions and payment options. You should never pay a government fee or fine using retail gift cards, cash, internet currency, wire transfers, or pre-paid debit cards. The scammers ask for payment this way because it is very difficult to trace and recover.

If you receive a call or email that you believe to be suspicious, about a problem with your Social Security number or account, hang up or do not respond.

The public is encouraged to report Social Security phone scams using our dedicated online form, at <https://oig.ssa.gov>.

Hall
G a r y Dan Hall, a loving son, brother, father and grandfather, went home to be with the Lord on Friday, J a n u a r y 10, 2020, after a long battle with dementia. Dan was born in Clarendon on April 15, 1960, and lived there until he moved into the Memphis Convalescent Home in Memphis in October of 2017.

Well-known for serving others and serving his Lord through singing, He was preceded in death by his father, Doyle Clayton Hall. He leaves behind his wife, Michelle Hall; four daughters, one son, and one-step daughter: Candice Hall of Amarillo; Brittney Barnes of Dolgeville, New York; MaRae Hall of Panhandle; MimRosz Hall of Newkirk, Oklahoma; Thad Hall of Denton; and MiKayla Shadle Milburn of Dallas.

He is survived by his mother, Carol Hall of Clarendon, and two sisters: Sue Jones of Wichita, Kansas and Janie Taylor of Fort Worth. Dan was also the proud grandfather of three grandchildren: Harleigh, Kighlah, and Daniel and three step-grandchildren: Julian, Liv and Jace all of Dolgeville, New York. He is also survived by many uncles, aunts, cousins, nieces and nephews.

Dan “never met a stranger”. He loved people and enjoyed joking around. Dan farmed for many years with his dad. If he wasn’t on the tractor, he was usually at Floyd’s Automotive, swapping stories. Dan always looked for opportunities to do kind deeds for others. He loved the senior saints at Calvary Baptist Church in Clarendon. In fact, some of them are not too happy with him leaving this earth before them. They planned for him to sing at their funerals.

The funeral service for Dan was held at Calvary Baptist Church in Clarendon, on Monday, January 13, at 2:00 p.m. Interment followed at Citizen’s Cemetery immediately following the service.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests you make a donation to Calvary Baptist Church, Clarendon TX.

Naylor
L o l a Faye (Owens) N a y l o r , age 89, passed away peacefully, December 20, 2019, in New Braunfels, Texas.

F a y e was born June 28, 1930, in Amarillo to Sam and Cassie Owens. She graduated from Hedley high school and went on to business college in Lubbock after graduation. After attending college for a short time, she returned to Amarillo and soon after began dating the future love her of life, TE Naylor, who she would later marry on November 14, 1948. Faye was a true pioneer woman with a love for the farm and ranch that remained with her until her last days. She worked alongside her husband tending to their ranch and farm while being a housewife, bookkeeper and mother to their four children. She was his right hand and continued managing and tending to their legacy long after he passed away. Their homeplace became the gathering spot for many cousins throughout the summer months. She was known for her “Eagle Eyes” and could spot a cow out three pastures away. Faye loved her family and enjoyed big family gatherings. For many years, she would travel near and far to spend time with her family. From the Owens reunions in California to the Bell reunions in Amarillo, Faye loved spending time with and being near her family. Faye’s favorites were fried chicken and strawberry shortcake. She loved cooking and was famous for her rolls, known by all the grand’s as “Mimie’s Rolls”, her hot-water combread, and her fried pork loin breakfasts with eggs sunny-side up. She was always cooking whether it be for family or friends or anyone who happened to show up at the back door. She was a servant to her skill making fresh banana bread or plum jelly on more than one occasion for friends during their times of need. Faye loved to travel and did a lot of it while pursuing her business of selling Home Interiors. She enjoyed meeting new people and fostering friendships all over the Texas Panhandle. She was an excellent host and hosted many successful Home Interior parties throughout the years. She was a strong, disciplined woman who did well pursuing this love and enjoyed sharing her business with her loved ones. For many years, her grandchildren were able to “shop at Mimie’s” for all of their last-minute gifting needs. Later in life Faye found a second love in Sam Hawkins and they spent several wonderful years together until his passing. Faye loved God and her church. For many years, she would end her day while reading her bible and praying in her rocking chair before bed. She was servant of the Lord and continued her service making contributions to those in need until her last days. She would often refer to her favorite verse and made it the foundation from which she lived her life, Psalms 23 – “The LORD is my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name’s sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the LORD forever.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Sam and Cassie Owens; her husband, Thomas Earl Naylor Jr, her son, Tex Wayne Naylor; and her three grandchildren, Thomas Earl Naylor IV, Jamie Frye and Blake Frye. Faye is survived by her two daughters Geneva Lee Naylor and Linda Faye Lewis and her husband Jerry; grandchildren, Seth McAfee and his wife Cara, Fayeth Hall, Matt Naylor and his wife Stephanie, Tara Jackson and her husband Steve, Jared Naylor and his wife Kati, and Ethan Naylor and his wife Danyale; great grandchildren, Ryan Frye and his wife Amy, Riplee and Pyper McAfee, Cash and Mac Naylor, Natalie and Jett Frye, Ava and Madison Jackson, Tex Naylor and Esmae Naylor, and Henry Brown and great great grandchild Sadie Frye. She is also survived by her brothers and sister, cousins and many nieces, nephews and friends.

A celebration of her life was held on Monday, December 23, 2019. Graveside services followed at Rowe Cemetery in Hedley.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to one of her favorite organizations; Cal Farley’s Boy’s Ranch, Samaritan’s Purse or Rowe Cemetery.

Colts drop two games to Wellington

The 7th and 8th grade Colts took on Wellington at home last week and both teams struggled to execute offensively. The 7th grade lost 18-49, and the eighth grade was defeated 22-44.

Both teams had slow first halves and remained in single digits at the break.

The seventh grade attempted a comeback in the third quarter of play but were stopped by a good Wellington defense.

The eighth grade Colts stayed right with their opponent in the final period but could not overcome the deficit.

Anthony Cenicerros put in nine for the eighth grade, and Lyric Smith added seven. Harrison Howard finished with five, and Levi Gates added one point.

Aiden Caudle and Grant Haynes each led with six points for the seventh grade; and John Weatherton, Bryce Williams, and Mason Allred put in two points each.

The Colts take on Wheeler at home on January 20.

Seventh grade Lady Colts take down Wellington

The seventh grade Lady Colts gave Wellington all they wanted last Monday night as they pounded them 52-20.

The game was all about the Lady Colts as they were able to execute their offense to put points on the board.

Their defense was spot-on as well as they held Wellington to only six points in the first half.

Hayden Elam was on fire as she pumped in 17 points to lead the ladies in the win. Kennadie Cummins also finished in double figures with 10, and Tandi Cummins helped with eight. Maloree Wann had six, Gracie Clark added five, Kimbrasia Ballard finished with four, and Shelbi Coles added two.

The eighth grade Lady Colts fought hard from buzzer to buzzer but came up short at 22-34.

Both teams had a slow-shooting first quarter, but the Lady Colts could not find their offense to get things going. Wellington was able to grab the lead and hang on until the end.

Aubry Weatherton put in eight, and Anna Randall helped with six. Elyza Rodriguez had four, and Bayleigh Bruce and Courtlyn Conkin added two each.

The Lady Colts will be on the road on January 20 to take on Wheeler.

Hedley Owls compete at Plainview lifting meet

The Hedley Owls competed in the Plainview powerlifting meet this past Saturday.

Representing the Owls were Fette Jackson, Callin Casselberry, and Avery Sawyer. Jackson won the 105 pound class with a 520 total. Sawyer competed in the 114 pound class and finished seventh with a 435 total. Casselberry competed as a 165.

Both Casselberry and Sawyer are first time competitors. This is the first year for the Hedley powerlifting team to compete, and the supporters say the students are not going to let the larger schools intimidate them. The Owls will compete at the Lefors powerlifting meet on January 18.

Hedley Owls fall to McLean

The Hedley Owls traveled to McLean last Friday and came up short against the Tigers.

A strong first half helped boost McLean's position at the break as the led the Owls 11-25. Hedley rallied in the fourth quarter, draining six three-point shots and adding more than 20 points to the scoreboard. The final push was not enough to overcome the Tigers' lead however, and the Owls lost 44-49.

Scoring for Hedley were Harper 10, Upton 14, Carreon 7, Booth 7, Bond 3, and Flores 3.

2020 The Year of the Rat

In 2020 the Chinese New Year starts on January 25th. During the two weeks of the holiday, families eat together, visit and honor their ancestors. People give wishes for good luck, good health, peace, joy and wealth.

This celebration is also known as "Spring Festival."

People born in the year of the rat:

- are very _____ and want to make something of themselves.
- handle _____ well; they can make it grow!
- are good at getting what they want by _____ people.
- can hold _____ and will want to "get back" at someone who has treated them unfairly.
- look for the next big chance or _____ to grab.
- pay a lot of attention to detail and need things to be _____.
- are quick-_____, so they may suddenly become angry.
- are great _____; people look to them for direction and advice.
- will not let anyone or anything get in the way of their _____.
- are very _____ and likeable; they have the ability to make many friends.

One vowel is missing from the words in this list of the animal symbols of the Chinese Zodiac.

Which vowel? Fill it in.

In what year were you born?

If you were born in 2008 then you were born in the year of the rat. Due to its many good qualities, being born in this year is a good thing, not a bad thing!

- Rat (2008, 2020)
- ____x (2009, 2021)
- Tiger (2010, 2022)
- Rabbit (2011, 2023)
- Drag__n (2012, 2024)
- Snake (2013, 2025)
- H__rse (2014, 2026)
- G__at (2015, 2027)
- M__nkey (2016, 2028)
- R____ster (2017, 2029)
- D__g (2018, 2030)
- Pig (2019, 2031)

The Jade Emperor, ruler of heaven, wanted all the animals on earth to come visit him.

The rat was the first animal to show up when the Jade Emperor called them together, so he is the first animal in the Chinese zodiac.

Look for me in my year, 2021.

Lady Broncos open District with hard loss

By Sandy Anderberg

The Lady Broncos struggled in the early part of their game against Wellington last week and fell short at 37-52.

According to coach Korey Conkin, the ladies fought to put points on the board early on. “The girls played hard but never could overcome the first quarter where we struggled to score,” Conkin said.

The Lady Broncos trailed by 12 after one and were able to make it a 10-point game at the break.

“We kept fighting but could never get the stops on defense that we needed to cut the 10-point lead that Wellington held onto the entire game,” said Conkin.

Several ladies scored but not the way they have been used to scoring. Jade Benson led with 14, and Ashlynn Crawford helped with nine. The ladies had trouble stopping two of Wellington’s players who accounted for over half of the Lady Rockets’ points.

Mattee Johnson had five, and Kailee Osburn, Madi Smith, and Makayla Brown finished with three points each.

Conkin is sure the Lady Broncos can turn it around in the second half of District.

“I strongly believe it will be a different outcome when they visit us in Clarendon in a few weeks for round two,” she said.

The ladies will take on Wheeler at home on January 17.

Broncos lose to Dalhart by two

By Sandy Anderberg

The Broncos traveled to Dalhart January 10 and, despite playing a good game, fell short at 71-73.

The teams were fairly matched, and the game was close throughout. The Broncos were outscored in the fourth quarter, which made the difference in the outcome.

The Broncos also struggled from the free throw line, only hitting 33 percent while Dalhart shot 63 percent from the bonus.

Foul trouble also got the best of the Broncos with two key players fouling out.

Jamal Butler was strong inside and finished with 16 points, while Jordan Herndon helped with 14. Sylvester Ballard racked up 13 points and Lamarus Peniger added 10. Jmaury Davis had nine points in the game, Donovan Thompson put in seven, and Collin Butler had two.

The Broncos will begin District play at home on January 17 against Wheeler beginning at 8:00.

Lady Bronco JV turns up the heat against Wellington

A strong scoring third quarter gave the Lady Bronco junior varsity the edge they needed to get passed the Wellington Lady Rockets last week in their District opener at 52-39.

A solid first quarter set the tempo of the game with Clarendon taking a six-point advantage. But the Lady Rockets came back strong and only trailed by one point at the break.

The ladies used the half time break to regroup as they found their determination to get the job done in the second half. The Lady Broncos put in 20 points with seven coming from Kaitlyn Davis. Makenna Shadle hit four out of five free throws to help give them the edge they needed going into the final seven minutes.

The Lady Rockets outscored the Lady Broncos but could not steal the win away from maroon and white.

Finley Cunningham hit three three-pointers and shot 100 percent from the bonus line finishing with 15 to lead the ladies on the scoreboard. Davis was right behind her with 11, and Shadle put in nine. Jayde Gribble added five, Shania Brown helped with four, and Aliyah Weatherston, Emeri Robinson, Graci Kidd, and Jentrye Bellar added two each.

The ladies will play at home on Friday, January 17, against Wheeler at 5:00.

Vaquera places first in power lifting meet

By Sandy Anderberg

The Broncos and Lady Broncos began their power lifting season with great results last weekend.

Vinny Vaquera placed first in the SHW class with a total weight of 1040 pounds.

Aubrey Jaramillo competed in the 97.5 weight class with a total weight of 390 pounds. Gannon Broussard also participated in the meet and finished fourth in the 198-pound weight class lifting a total of 545 pounds. Zack Caison lifted a total of 705 pounds in the 148-pound class and finished fifth.

“The lifters have been working hard and performed well in this first meet in Panhandle,” coach Johnny Nino said.

The next meet for the lifters will be January 18 in Childress.

U.S. News recognizes WT online programs

U.S. News & World Report has released its 2020 Best Online Programs, and West Texas A&M University’s programs earned multiple recognitions in the coveted rankings. In addition to the No. 16 national ranking, the undergraduate programs at WT were ranked No. 1 in the state of Texas for the fourth consecutive year.

U.S. News & World Report announced these rankings today as a resource for students seeking information about online programs for degree completion and career advancement.

Only degree-granting programs were considered for the 2020 list, and rankings were based on engagement, faculty credentials and training, services and technology and expert opinion. Academic programs at more than 400 different universities were considered in the 2020 rankings.

Seven WT online programs were recognized in the 2020 rankings and all earned a U.S. News & World Report badge of distinction, which places each program within the top 15 percent of the category ranking.

The 14 programs highlighted for the undergraduate bachelor’s degree program rankings are the B.A.A.S., B.S. in communication studies, B.B.A. in computer information systems, B.S. in criminal justice, B.B.A. in law and economics, B.S. in digital collaboration and economics, B.A.A.S. in emergency management administration, B.B.A. in finance, B.B.A. in general business, B.G.S. in general studies, B.S. in health sciences, B.B.A. in management, B.B.A. in marketing and B.S.N. in nursing.

The graduate programs recognized in the rankings include Master of Science in finance and economics (M.S.F.E.) as a specialized graduate business program, Master of Science in computer information systems and business analytics (M.S.

C.I.S.B.A.) as a graduate technology program, and the Master of Business Administration (M.B.A.) program with concentration options in management, marketing, computer information systems and healthcare management. US News and World Report Grad Computer Information Technology

The 2020 rankings represent the first time WT was recognized in the top 10 for graduate information technology.

The WT online rankings of the bachelor’s, specialized graduate business and M.B.A. programs for veterans were recognized with the No. 1 ranking in the state of Texas in their respective categories. Recognition for serving veterans by U.S. News & World Report is consistent with the Texas A&M University System commitment to providing a welcoming environment, quality education, and path to success for veterans, dependents, and the military community.

“We are pleased by the spotlight U.S. News and World Report annual rankings continue to shine on our online programs,” Dr. Neil Terry, dean of the Paul and Virginia Engler College of Business, said. “Providing innovative degree options that earn national recognition for quality, while maintaining cost effective pricing, is an institutional goal for all online programs at West Texas A&M University. Recognition as the leading institution in the state with respect to serving veterans and military families is also a source of great pride for our faculty, staff and alumni.”

For more information about the online degree programs offered at West Texas A&M University go HERE or contact the Admissions Office at admissions@wtamu.edu or 806-651-2020.

Feed grains, cotton marketing workshop set

Knowing how to grow a crop is important, but learning how to market that crop is equally vital to surviving in today’s agricultural climate. That’s what feed grain and cotton producers should focus on going into 2020, according to a Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service specialist.

The year-long outlook and planning ahead will be the focus of AgriLife Extension’s “Developing This Year’s Marketing Plan for Cotton and Feed Grains” workshop Feb. 6-7 in Amarillo.

“Weather and international market forces made 2019 a volatile year,” said Justin Benavidez, Ph.D., AgriLife Extension economist in Amarillo. “In fact, I would say it was a case study in how valuable a marketing plan can be. So, given that you know you can grow a crop well, we want to have a plan in place to make the most money possible on that crop.”

The workshop will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. both days at the Texas A&M AgriLife Research and Extension Center, 6500 W. Amarillo Blvd. The registration fee is $125, which covers the cost associated with instruction, breaks, meals and materials.

Traditionally, the spring marketing workshop has focused on feed grains. This year, the workshop will cover both feed grains and cotton for the 2020 marketing year.

“We’ve had more than one producer ask about the fundamentals that drive cotton marketing in the Texas High Plains,” Benavidez said. “As we continue to learn to produce with less water on the High Plains, producers are turning to cotton, and in turn, we want to provide education on the unique aspects of marketing cotton.”

The course is limited to 50 participants. To register and pay for this course, go to <https://agriliferegister.tamu.edu/Grain> or call 979-845-2604. While this is the preferred method of registration and payment, payments also will be accepted at the door. However, all registrations must be completed by Jan. 31, either online or by phone.

For the registration brochure or more information, contact Lacreacia Garza at 806-677- 5600 or lacreacia.garza@ag.tamu.edu.

“I expect producers to face continuing challenges in 2020,” Benavidez said. “We’ve taken the first step in alleviating trade tensions between the U.S. and China, but there are still plenty of forces to be concerned about in the cotton and grain markets. Stocks and supplies continue to rise year over year.

“It will be critical for producers to manage costs and take advantage of marketing opportunities as they occur in order to have a successful year.”

Benavidez, Mark Welch, Ph.D., AgriLife Extension grain marketing specialist in College Station, and John Robinson, Ph.D., cotton marketing specialist in College Station, will be the primary instructors during the workshop.

Segments will cover developing a marketing plan, marketing tools and strategies, cost of production, basis and technical analysis, crop insurance considerations, seasonal weather forecast and marketing, as well as supply, demand and technical factors that influence the feed grains market. Additionally, an industry panel will provide their insights.

“We want producers to walk away with the ability to make informed marketing decisions for the 2020 production year,” Benavidez said. “Our goal is for producers to have the knowledge they need to take advantage of opportunities when they present themselves.”

Landowner responsibilities, rights workshop set Feb. 12

AMARILLO – Landowners in the High Plains have a chance Feb. 12 to make sure they know their legal responsibilities and rights when it comes to their property.

“Owning Your Piece of Texas: Agricultural Laws Texas Landowners Need to Know” is a program designed by Tiffany Dowell Lashmet, Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service agricultural law specialist in Amarillo.

Registration for the program will be at 8:30 a.m., and the workshop will be from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Texas A&M AgriLife Research and Extension Center, 6500 W. Amarillo Blvd., Amarillo.

The fee is $75 per person and preregistration is requested at <https://agriliferegister.tamu.edu/landowners> or by calling 979-845-2604 for planning purposes.

Lunch will be sponsored by Ag Workers Insurance. Plains Land Bank is underwriting the costs of printing materials, including a copy of the “Owning Your Piece of Texas” handbook, which outlines some of the important laws of which landowners need to be aware.

“Agriculture has become more complicated, regulated and litigated,” said Steve Donnell, Plains Land Bank senior vice president of lending, Amarillo. “Producers have to know the law to protect themselves today, to be honest.”

Donnell said their tagline is “own a piece of Texas,” so it only made sense to team up with Lashmet on this workshop.

“Tiffany is sharp, and she knows what she is doing,” he said.

“Anybody involved in agriculture, whether you are the tenant or landowner, producer or recreational, it doesn’t matter, this program offers something for all.”

Lashmet said there are a number of legal issues that face Texas landowners.

“From water law to eminent domain, landowner liability protection to fence law, being aware of the potential issues and the steps that should be taken to protect one’s operation is critical,” she said.

“This program and handbook were designed to allow people to understand the basics of these important legal issues and to offer practical tips and advice to take home and put to use,” she said.

Contact Lashmet at 806-677-5681 or tdowell@tamu.edu.

Volunteers needed for COC of Amarillo homeless count

Each year the Continuum of Care (COC) of Amarillo conducts a point in time count of homeless individuals in the city.

This year the COC will be conducting two counts. The first count will be held on January 24 and the second will be held in the later part of July. The count takes place over a 24-hour period.

Teams of volunteers will be canvassing the city and conducting a count and survey of homeless individuals and families. Those will be offered transportation to the Guyon Saunders resource center for a resource fair with services, food and essential items for survival during the cold winter months. Items such as toiletries, water, warm hats, scarves, etc.

The point in time will be conducted by multiple volunteers from local nonprofit agencies, the City of Amarillo, and the community at large.

All volunteers will be canvassing the city in reflective vests for easy identification and will be counting throughout the night looking for homeless individuals and families. If the general public or businesses personnel see the volunteers looking in alleys, behind dumpsters etc., we want them to know what we are doing.

The point in time count helps to give a more accurate number of individuals and families who are homeless in Amarillo. The count also helps agencies who provide services for the homeless population to know what services are needed to help them become more self-sufficient thereby reducing the number of individuals who are homeless in our community.

If you would like to volunteer at the Guyon Saunders Resource Center the day of the count or form a team of searchers to go out into the community to count individuals, contact Jolene Barreras at joleneb2003@gmail.com or Amy Dixon at amy.dixon@amarillo.gov.

Volunteer training will be offered on: Wednesday, January 15, 10 a.m. –noon; Monday, January 20, 2-4 p.m.; and Wednesday, January 22, 10 a.m. –noon.

A Dream, A Movement, An Inspiration to the World

Martin Luther King, Jr.’s dream of equal rights for all Americans inspired millions to challenge racism and change the fabric of a nation. A leader of the American civil rights movement, Dr. King encouraged progress through non-violent resistance to unjust laws. He created a campaign of dignity and discipline that spoke to people of all ages across America and around the world. His words and actions sparked a progression toward racial equality that truly let freedom ring for all Americans.

Today, Dr. King’s dream continues to inspire positive change, the powerful legacy of a man committed to making our world a better place, with liberty and justice for all.

THANK YOU

THANK YOU TO EVERYONE who blessed Ken and me with a much needed update to our home for wheelchair accessibility so Ken can come home from the Claude rehab center.
Bobbie Kidd donated the wood to build a ramp across the front yard. Jerry Mulanax and Roy Monroe did the building labor, and April
St. Clair (our daughter) furnished the tractor to move the dirt. A gate was donated and installed.

The Howardwick Fire Flies donated $400 toward the purchase of a beautiful powered wheelchair that will be shared by the community when needed. There were monetary donations that finished paying for the wheelchair and enough to purchase a transport chair that will also be shared. Thank you all for your prayers and food. Thank you, Brenda Lightfoot, for starting the search for a local wheelchair.
We have an awesome God, and we have an awesome community, a little city with a big heart. We love each and every one of you. God Bless you all.
