Active COVID cases total 45 Tuesday

Donley County's total COVID-19 case count crossed the 200 mark Tuesday with 45 people having active cases of the disease under the care of the Clarendon Family Medical Center as of late Tuesday afternoon.

In the last seven days, the local clinic has conducted 91 tests, and the total of known positive cases grew from 164 to 201.

Clinic spokesperson Marsha Bruce urged everyone to take the precautions that everyone by this point knows about.

"Do what you know you should," she said, "and understand that there doesn't have to be a fever to have COVID."

Bruce said symptoms of the disease also vary widely and said the clinic has seen a lot of cases with gastrointestinal issues — nausea, vomiting, and diarrhea as well as people who think they just have a sinus infection.

"We have four people in the hospital, and that's bad," she said. "We have never sent that many to the hospital, and there are no beds in Amarillo right now."

Rising cases also saw some local businesses and facilities again changing the way they do business. City Hall was again closed to the public, and the Burton Memorial Library will also be closed to the public for two weeks, according to City Administrator David Dockery.

The Donley County Senior Citizens put out a call for volunteers to help prepare meals after some staff had to be quarantined this week, and The Clarendon Enterprise also again closed its office to the public last week.

The actual number of COVID-19 cases in Donley County is believed by local officials to be higher than the numbers reported. The Enterprise receives regular updates from the Clarendon Family Medical Center, but positive test results on local residents from medical facilities in Childress, Amarillo, and elsewhere can and do lag behind by a matter of days or weeks before those reports get back to the county level from state officials.

As reported last week, Donley County Judge John Howard, MD, has expressed frustration with the state reporting system, not only for the time lag but also how the state is handling the results of rapid tests like those now being conducted at the local clinic. The state, Howard said, will not count a positive rapid test as a confirmed COVID-19 case unless it is backed up by the more invasive swab test.

"They will report those as 'probable' or 'pending,' but I assure you the only way you're going to get a positive rapid test is if in fact you have COVID," Howard said. The state's online dashboard, therefore, will not show the same number of "confirmed" COVID cases in Donley County as reported in the Enterprise, and Howard also said the online dashboard of the Childress Regional Medical Center is "in no way official."

Regarding the number of active cases in Donley County, Howard called that a "rolling number," noting that patients who test positive for COVID-19 should come off the active list ten days after their test unless they are still showing symptoms.

In the spotlight

Donley County Judge John Howard (center image) was one of four elected officials on a special Texas Tribune virtual symposium on rural issues. Howard appeared with (clockwise from lower left) Tribune CEO Evan Smith, Kilgore City Councilmember Merlyn Holmes, Abilene Mayor Anthony Williams, and Real County Bella Rubio. Giving Tuesday to benefit Donley community fund

As part of a national day known as GivingTuesday, the local Donley County Community Fund (DCCF) is participating in The Panhandle Gives campaign.

For nine days from November 23 through December 1, all funds raised locally will be increased through a match from the Amarillo Area Foundation.

"Participating in this campaign is an opportunity for our local fund balance to grow," DCCF chair Jacob Fangman said.

The DCCF is a local board whose purpose is to raise money for a perpetuating fund while contributing a portion of the money to local organizations. Over the past four years, the DCCF has been able to give $5,000 to local charities while increasing its own fund balance.

So that the local DCCF can benefit from the match, anyone wishing to participate will need to give their donation by Monday, December 1, so that the final deposit can be made on GivingTuesday.

Contributions can be mailed to Donley County Community Fund, c/o Jacob Fangman, PO Box 906, Clarendon, TX 79226. Checks should be made out to The Panhandle Gives, with DonleyCCF written on the memo line.

Other board members are Shauna Herbert, Sherol Johnston, Diane Skelton, and Roger Estlack.

City council takes action on three public nuisances

The Clarendon City Council declared three properties as public nuisances during their regular meeting last Thursday, November 12.

Following the recommendation of the code compliance officer, the council took action on 802 S. Faker, 222 S. Kearney, and 701 E. Fourth. Owners of those properties will now have a timeline to follow to bring those properties into compliance with local ordinances or the city can take further action.

In other city business, the council accepted a bid from Roy Williams to build a curb and sidewalk along Kearney Street at the new aquatic center for $7,539.

Quarterly reports for Hotel Occupancy Tax fund expenses for the Clarendon Economic Development Corporation and the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce were approved as presented, and the council approved re-appointing Roger Estlack and Chuck Robertson to the CEDC board for two-year terms.

Aldermen approved authorizing the public works department to buy a new fleet vehicle, and the council approved a list of old equipment as surplus available for auction.

The council also approved a request from Cheryl Johnson to abandon six feet of city right of way along South Jefferson Street.

In his report, City Administrator David Dockery discussed code compliance efforts, the aquatic center progress, clean up from the October ice storm, the USDA water project, and the new sanitation contract. M.C. Harris and Landford Henshaw were reported as new or reassigned employees.

Dockery also brought up doing a comprehensive plan for the city in the near future as way to guide the council and employees in the coming years.

How historic was this year's election really?

"In this historic election." How many times have you heard this over the past two weeks? In truth, there are some historic elements. This election had the greatest number of votes cast in history. Is that historic or population growth? It's also a higher voter percentage than we have seen in some time, but nowhere close to the highest. A woman on the winning ticket is most definitely historic, so much in fact that I am stumped on how to make a comparison. This past week most of the attention seems to be on Trump's refusal to admit defeat. But that is not historic either. Many have called this the most important election in our lives, whereas, in fact, it is just the most recent.

First, let's tackle the voter turnout. At 67 percent voting at last count, the 2020 election is impressive for modern elections. The last time we cleared 60 percent was 1968. Historically, however, between 1840 and 1904 voting was always over 70 percent with the elections of 1856 and 1860 going over 80 percent and the highest election percentage of all time was 1876 with 81.8 percent. The elections of 1860, 1876 and 2020 have some similarities; they had either controversial figures or voting irregularities.

The increase in voting percentage is also impressive in 2020. Four years ago, 59 percent of the population voted, an 8 percent growth in 2020, one of the highest of all time. Much of this has been attributed to hatred of Trump more than fondness of Biden. Yet, when we look historically, there is not a clear pattern of controversial presidents being the reason for large differences between votes. There was a 10 percent jump between 1872 and 1876. Though 1876 is one of the most controversial elections, the controversy was the outcome, not the candidates. There was also a 10 percent jump between 1948 and 1952. Again, nothing controversial; in fact, Eisenhower was popular with both sides in 1952. Finally, the greatest difference between elections was 1836 and 1840 with a 22 percent increase of voter turnout. In this case it was the economic Panic of 1837 had hurt the incumbent Martin Van Buren, not anything controversial.

As for Trump's attitude towards conceding, while annoying for the Democrats, this also is not new. Historically speaking, we do not even have to go back very far, only to 2000. Anyone old enough to have gone through this election probably remembers too well the annoyingness of new vocabulary words like "hanging chads." The Election of 2000 saw two new candidates but with familiar names, Vice President Al Gore versus George Bush. As with 2020, it was a close election on election night and whoever won Florida would win the game. As election night came to a close and it looked as if Bush had won Florida, Gore made the concession call to Bush. However, by the next day Democrats had come out with claims of voter fraud and voter suppression in Florida, and Gore called Bush back to recant his concession. Democrats demanded a recount, which was done, but after the recount did not change the outcome, Gore demanded a recount by hand instead of by machines. The issue was that on some punch cards, the wrong names were accidentally hit or were not punched properly. The recount took weeks, this time to the annoyance of Republicans. In the end, it took the Supreme Court to force the recount to end and declare Bush the winner.

Another example is the election of 1876. The election that tells us the importance of one vote. It looked as if Democrat Samuel Tilden would win the election. He had more popular votes and only needed one of the four remaining states to win, as with Biden in 2020. However, there were voting irregularities in those four remaining states. For instance, South Carolina had 101 percent voter turnout. Of the four states, three were southern, Florida, South Carolina, and Louisiana. Why is it always Florida? Why that is important is that the Democratic Party dominated southern states so it was expected Democrats would win all three, let alone just the one needed to win. To solve the issue, Congress was forced to get involved and create a 15-man board to determine the winner. There were five congressmen, five senators, and five judges. Seven of these were Democrats and seven were Republicans with one independent. Perfectly fair, until the one independent judge resigned his position and a new judge had to be appointed. The only judges left on the court were Republicans, resulting in Republican Rutherford Hayes winning the presidency by one vote. Democrats claimed foul play but eventually agreed to the ruling when the Republicans promised to end Reconstruction in the South.

It is always good to see democracy in action and that so many took part of the election process. This was an important election in that all elections are important, However, historically speaking, neither the percentages voting nor the squabbling after the fact are anything new.

With the election past us now, I hope everyone can put politics aside for a day and enjoy your Thanksgiving. I for one am grateful I live in a country where we can have this fight about elections. Not all nations get to do this.

Butch Cassidy, Robin Hood of the West

By George U. Hubbard

Butch Cassidy was different. Unlike most of the other western outlaws, it is believed that he never killed anyone. It is also believed that he outdid all the others with regard to cattle rustling and bank and train robberies. But Cassidy also had a streak of humanity that endeared him to many who were down on their luck or oppressed by others. Butch has often been referred to as the "Robin Hood of the West" as a result of various escapades of taking from the rich and giving to the poor.

Cassidy, who was a Mormon, was actually named Robert LeRoy Parker. His parents and grandparents had come across the plains as pioneers. He was raised in a gospel environment. But the pioneer life, with its drudgery and insecurity, was not for him. He was going to be a noted leader of something, of anything. And so, despite the pleas

Butch did become a leader. He did become famous. To some, he became the best (or worst depending on one's perspective) of the bad men of the west. To others, he was a true Robin Hood, taking from the rich and giving to the poor. And sometimes he was able to combine these two roles in a single escapade. A case in point –

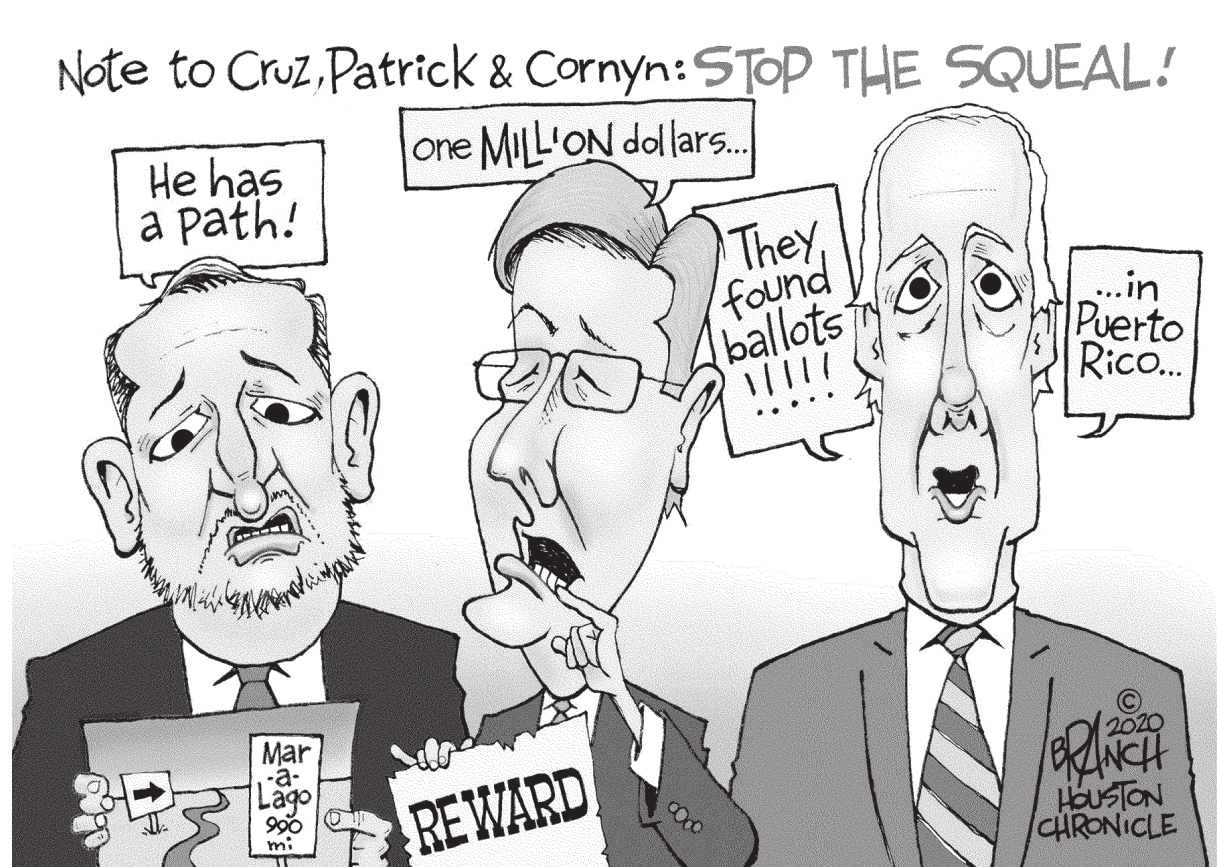

A certain farmer (whose name has been forgotten) for whom Butch had developed a feeling of fondness had fallen on hard times. His crops had not been successful, he was behind on his mortgage to the bank, and the bank had announced a foreclosure on his property. That meant that the farmer and his family would lose everything they had worked for and built over the years. They would be destitute, having lost all. When Butch heard of the upcoming foreclosure, he quickly decided he was not going to let that happen.

So what did Butch do? He went to the bank, and with his own money he paid off the mortgage and obtained the deed and other associated legal documents. He then rode out to the farm and presented the deed to an astonished and grateful farmer and his wife. The farm was now theirs, free and clear. They were the sole owners. The bank had no more claim on their property. The second half of a Robin Hood sequence had been performed.

What do you think Cassidy did next? The next day he went back to the same bank and robbed it. Taking out the exact amount of money he put in the day before, he went on his way. The Robin Hood sequence was now complete.

Lasting influence of Paul Baker

Late in my sophomore year at Baylor I signed up for a history class with a popular professor. I wasn't really enthused about that and one night during a dorm bull session, a student mentioned he had taken a course from Paul Baker in the theater department and it opened his mind. I was the type student that went to college to have fun and did plenty of that during my freshmen year. By the time we had that springtime confab in the dorm and I heard about Paul Baker I was beginning to think about learning something worthwhile. I was a business major and the courses didn't interest me. So I dropped the history course and signed up for Drama 106, The Integration of Abilities. It changed my life.

I began to think, to look at the world with new eyes. Paul Baker was a genius at his peak. His productions attracted people from Broadway and Hollywood. Architect Frank Lloyd Wright frequently came by to visit with Mr. Baker about the Dallas Theater Center that Baker was building. Dave Garroway, the first host of the Today Show, had a Sunday afternoon program called Wide Wide World. In the one-hour show that featured Texas, the Baylor Theater was on it for 11 minutes, longer than any other segment of the broadcast. I played a gate of hell and the right front fender of a Cadillac.

I went to the Army after graduation and was stationed in Europe when the World Fair was in progress at Brussels. As I was approaching the American pavilion, I saw a theater student from Baylor and asked him what he was doing there. He said he was picking up the World's Fair Cinematography Award for the film that was made of our production of Hamlet (I played one-third of Horatio).

When you are exposed to that level of talent and accomplishment as a teenager, it has a tendency to stay with you and you want to do something meaningful. Charles Laughton, who came to Baylor to direct Hamlet, called Baker irritating, arrogant, nuts and a genius. The Saturday Review, Life Magazine stories of texas

and similar publications did cover articles on the theater. The play, A Different Drummer, written by the Baylor Theater's playwright instructor Gene McKinney, was on CBS TV's Omnibus series, presented live from its New York Studio. Baylor's production of Faulkner's As I Lay Dying brought an invitation to present it at the Theater of Nations in Paris, the only non-Broadway production that had ever played there.

Architect Arthur Rogers says no other person contributed more to theater architecture than Paul Baker. "His architectural visions at Baylor, The Dallas Theater Center and the theater at Trinity University have inspired similar constructions in Manila and Seoul." In his book, Integration of Abilities, Baker tells how a summer in Paris gave him a new way of looking at theater. He began to incorporate impressionistic set design in his productions. His teaching methods were the focus of the Booker T. Washington School of the Arts in Dallas. Although he had offers from universities around the world, he chose to remain in Texas where he was born and raised. He died in 2009.

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

A big week for the Panhandle

What a week for Donley County and the Texas Panhandle! Ole Jim and I usually watch “Two for the Road” on PBS which stars Howard-wick’s own Dusty and Nikki Green each Thursday night at 7 p.m. They are usually in some exotic place such as Thailand, some Caribbean island, Iceland, or some place we have never heard of. They usually bypass the large cities and enjoy the countryside with a knowledgeable guide.

This week the exotic place was the Texas Panhandle, and they were our guide, beginning with Clarendon. I was born in Donley County and love it. I have not traveled as Dusty and Nikki have but spent 20 years living away, and it has always been my home. I love seeing the horizon with sunrise and sunset. I love driving across the plains and coming to one of our magnificent canyons and still thinking, “Wow!”

Thank you, Dusty and Nikki for showing the rest of the world our part of the world and reminding the citizens who live here how beautiful we are.

The same day “Two for the Road” aired, the Enterprise aired “The Texas Tribune” video cast inter-viewing four elected officials in four parts of our state high-lighting unique problems facing the rural counties. Those areas were Kilgore in the east, Real County in the south, Abilene in the west, and Donley County in the Panhandle. County Judge John Howard, MD, was the speaker for the Panhandle and gave us some interesting information such as we are a farming and ranching county, the population of Donley County decreased by 200 from 2010-2020, Donley County has no minerals and no manufacturing and relies on those dreaded taxes for all the budgets.

Dr. Howard had praises for our county, stating because we are a farm-ranch county which is essential, and we had very few closures during the worst part of the pandemic.

Thank you, Dr. Howard, for all that you do for our county.

With COVID spreading fast, Howardwick Baptist Church has closed the Sunday night services but will continue Wednesday night Bible study at 6 p.m. Please folks, stay safe, wear your mask, and keep our country in your prayers.

Our condolences to families of two former residents of Howardwick, Jerry Carter and Gene Johnson, both lost their long battles and passed away in the past month. Jerry Carter was raised in Alanreed and was a classmate of mine when we moved there my 7th grade year 1949-50.

Ole Jim lived at Alanreed before me, you could say the three of us grew up together. God bless you Ruth and girls; He has His arms around you.

I didn’t know Gene as well but as my neighbor I have some funny memories of Gene. God bless you both, Gail and Bert Compton, you know he is telling Anita some tall, tall, tales.

Medicare enrollment thru Dec. 7

It’s that time of year again. Open enrollment for Medicare Part D and Medicare Advantage plans began October 15 and runs through December 7.

It is so important that you review your Medicare Part D plans and your Medicare Advantage plans (if you have one) every year. Plans change and you want to make sure your prescriptions and doctors (for Advantage Plans) are still in your network.

The changes you can make during Medicare’s Open Enrollment include: Joining a new Medicare Advantage Plan or Part D prescription drug plan; Switching from Original Medicare to a Medicare Advantage Plan; and Switching from a Medicare Advantage Plan to Original Medicare (with or without a Part D plan).

You should always shop for a new drug plan and Medicare Advantage plan each year to ensure you are getting the best coverage for the best price to suit your needs. You can shop and compare plans at www.medicare.gov. Get a family member to help if you don’t use the Internet or call the State Health Insurance Assistance Program at 800-252-9240 and speak to a qualified Benefits Counselor.

Medicare Part D Enrollment Scams to look out for: Medicare or a health plan calls and wants to send you a new health card for $299; You receive a call about a refund from last year’s premiums or your drug plan cost; An agent tries to sign you up for plan that you don’t need, isn’t right for you, or doesn’t even exist; Watch out for fake RX cards offering big discounts with little or no benefits; and You receive a call offering big discounts on a new health insurance plan.

Prohibited Behaviors: Agents may not state they are from Medicare or use the term “Medicare” in a misleading manner; Cannot solicit potential enrollees door-to-door (in person or via leaflet/flyer); Cannot approach beneficiaries in common areas (i.e. parking lots, hallways, lobbies, sidewalks); Agents cannot send unsolicited text messages and leave voicemail messages. However, agents may call or visit beneficiaries who attended a marketing or sales event when prior permission is given and documented; Cannot ask beneficiaries for a referral list (list of friends or family who may be interested in plan); Calls to prospective enrollees to confirm receipt of mailed information; and To learn more: contact the Texas SMP.

Lettuce losses could cause shortage across US

Lettuce crop losses in California could affect availability and prices at Texas grocery stores and restaurants and highlights the fragility of the nation’s food supply chain, said Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service experts.

Lettuce growers in central California experienced unseasonably high temperatures and crop disease that caused severe losses to iceberg and romaine varieties.

David Anderson, AgriLife Extension economist, Bryan-College Station, said the shortage is another instance of the nation’s food supply chain being disrupted.

Anderson said lettuce is one product in a long list of perishable food items that are produced to serve a “just-in-time inventory” for retail grocers, restaurants and ultimately consumers.

“Consumers have dealt with shortages related to COVID-19 disruptions most recently, but it looks like this is weather- and disease-related losses that resulted in supply issues,” he said. “We grow accustomed to seeing lettuce at the grocery store year-round, but a lot of folks don’t know we rely on producers all around the country and beyond to serve that year-round availability.”

Lettuce is a cool-season crop and performs best at 60-65 degrees. The crop requires temperatures stay consistently below 80 degrees, accompanied by cool night temperatures.

Anderson said Texas and the rest of the U.S. rely on growers in specific microclimates domestically, but also in Canada, Mexico and other parts of the world, to produce certain products like lettuce and spinach to meet year-round demand. The heat-wave in California accompanied by leaf spot disrupted the harvest that growers’ in Salinas provide to meet demand now.

The Clarendon Lions Club met Tuesday, November 17, with Boss Lion Landon Lambert in charge.

We had nine Lions; Sweetheart Aubrey Jaramillo; Cory Blais, guest of Scarlet Estlack; and District Governor Henry Wyckoff.

Lion Scarlet Estlack reported on the college and said they are social distancing even more before Thanksgiving. Students have the option of staying home after Thanksgiving and finishing online.

Lion Pam Hill reported on the school and said the local FFA had a leadership training, the girls’ basketball teams will be playing Borger on Friday, and there are only 400 spectators allowed in the gym.

Lion David Dockery said the library is closed for the next two weeks and City Hall is locked, but open. Friday, November 20, there will be a completion inspection on the pool.

Boss Lion Lambert said the courthouse is still standing.

The Club purchased a ticket for the Museum’s upcoming Christmas fundraiser, and the club discussed the upcoming Christmas basket project.

District Governor Wyckoff presented a 15-year chevron to Lion Steve Hall and a 25-year chevron to Lion Roger Estlack.

We were adjourned to spread Lionism and good cheer!

Happy Thanksgiving!

It's Thanksgiving! What do you know about the people we call the Pilgrims – who we think about on this day? The Pilgrims left England in search of a place where they could worship God in their own way. They went to Holland where they found more religious freedom, but life was hard there. Also, they didn't like seeing their children begin to take on Dutch customs, language and ways of life. They decided to travel to the “new” land called America, where they could get a completely fresh start.

The Pilgrims had enough people to fill two ships. One ship was called Speedwell, the other Mayflower. The Speedwell was found to be leaky and unsafe, so it was left behind for repairs. One hundred and two people crowded onto the larger Mayflower to set sail.

After a rough voyage, the Pilgrims spotted land and went ashore at Cape Cod to explore, do laundry and exercise. They lived on the ship until December 11, 1620, when they pulled into a cove and (it is said) stepped out onto Plymouth Rock. They settled near that cove, building a common house to share. Through the harsh winter many fell sick and died. By spring only 53 people were still alive to start the new colony!

When spring arrived a Native American named Samoset walked into the Pilgrim's colony and welcomed them. By the next fall, the 53 Pilgrims celebrated the harvest with 90 Native Americans, including the Wampanoag chief Massasoit. They feasted for three days on fish, waterfowl, wild turkey and deer. This “First Thanksgiving” is what we think about as we celebrate our Thanksgiving with family and friends.

Broncos’ season comes to an end

By Sandy Anderberg

The Broncos were looking to go deep, not only on the field, but also in post-season play. Things were going their way, until turnovers and missed extra points hindered their chance to advance. The Broncos lost their bi-district game with Stratford last Friday in Borger, 18-20.

“We lost a heartbreaker to Stratford, (but) I thought our kids played great on defense and offense,” head coach Clint Conkin said.

“We ended the season 7-4 with some young kids getting experience for the future.”

The Broncos came out and worked the field exactly how they wanted and took an 18-7 lead at the break. Quarterback Brock Hatley threw two touchdown passes, one to Lyric Smith from eight yards out and one to Koyt Tucek for a five-yarder TD.

Jmaury Davis added to the point total with a four-yard run for six. Jordan Herndon was running on all burners as he compiled 208 yards on 25 carries, which was a personal best. Davis carried 19 times for 107 yards.

The Broncos finished with 348 yards rushing and 68 yards in the air. Hatley accounted for the 68 yards connecting on eight of 15 passes. He was also credited with throwing two touchdown strikes. Davis had three catches for 26 yards.

Lamarcus Penigar carries the ball for the Broncos against Stratford last week.

Ladies stop White Deer

By Sandy Anderberg

Lady Bronco varsity newcomer Finley Cunningham hit four three-pointers in the game with White Deer to help in the win. She finished with 13 points in the game right behind veteran senior Jade Benson who put in 14 points.

Offensively, the numbers on the board speak for how well they executed their game plan. Defensively, the ladies played aggressive basketball and held the Does to single digits in the first eight minutes. A great third quarter put the Lady Broncos at a great advantage and they stayed strong to get the ten-point win. They finished at four out of seven from the bonus line compared to eight out of twelve by their opponent.

Rounding out the score was Ashlyn Newsome with 10, Madi Smith with three, and Makenna Shadle with two points.

On Saturday, the ladies traveled to Childress and were met by a strong team. Despite playing hard, the Lady Broncos lost 37-61.

Clarendon struggled to get anything to happen early on, which put them in an offensive hole they were unable to dig out of. The Lady Cats stayed strong and never let up on the defensive end.

Kaylin Hicks hit two three-pointers to lead the ladies with nine points. Benson had eight, Shadle put in seven, and Newsome had five. Smith and Cunningham had four each.

Also playing for the Lady Broncos is Kailee Osburn, Emeri Robinson, Graci Kidd, and Jentrye Bellar.

The Lady Broncos will travel to Groom on November 21 and travel to Claude November 24.

CJH Lady Colts storm Panhandle

The seventh and eighth grade Lady Colts stormed into Panhandle last Thursday in their season opener and brought home two wins. The seventh grade won big at 46-24 and the eighth grade persevered to win by one at 23-22.

Making their junior high debut, the seventh grade Lady Colts jumped out to an early lead over Panhandle with a 23-9 halftime score. Three players finished in double figures with Berkley Moore leading the way with 16 that included one three-pointer and a 50 percent shooting average from the free throw line. Kenidee Hayes followed with 12 and Kashlyn Conkin added 10.

Not only was their offense outstanding, the Lady Colts stopped the Pantherettes on the defensive end as well.

Clarendon was able to stop everything Panhandle tried and their aggressive defense paid off. They held every player on the opponent’s team to single digits.

Finishing up the scoring was Elliot Frausto with four and Whitney Williams and Madi Benson with two points each. Also playing for the Lady Colts is Kyndall Osburn, Presley Smith, and Mary Jo Dushay.

The eighth grade Lady Colts squeezed out the win with determination and perseverance. Offensively, Kimbrasia Ballard was unstoppable and led the team with 11 points. Defensively, the ladies were able to keep their fouls somewhat low keeping the Pantherettes away from the bonus line. They were able to come together as a team and fight for the win.

Hayden Elam added six points to the win and Maloree Wann, Kennadie Cummins, and Gracie Clark each added to points to the scoreboard.

Also playing for the eighth grade Lady Colts is Gracie Wilkins, Tandie Cummins, Shelbi Coles, and Sidda Thomas.

The Lady Colt basketball teams will travel to Wellington next week on Monday, November 23, and play at 5:00 p.m.

Smith runs in XC Regional contest

Clarendon High School junior Madi Smith made her third run at a spot in the Regional Cross Country Meet last week and finished in 22nd place with a time of 13:48.50 for the two-mile run.

The first-place time was 12:26.80 set by Kyla Kane from Wellington.

Smith’s time was not fast enough to make the State Meet, but she has been in the top placings all season.

Lady Bronco JV beats White Deer

The Lady Bronco junior varsity defeated White Deer at home last week by the score of 36-28. Anna Randall put in 14 points going two for two from the bonus line to lead the ladies on the scoreboard.

The Lady Broncos jumped out to the early lead and played strong defense on allowing White Deer four points in the first quarter of play. A strong offensive second period gave the ladies the edge they needed before the break to cushion their lead. But a slow third quarter only netted the Lady Broncos two points, which allowed White Deer to sneak back into the game. The Lady Broncos stayed strong in the final minutes to get the win.

Aliyah Weatherton put in 10 points and went four for four from the free throw line, and Courtlyn Conkin added six. Avery English had four, and Bayleigh Bruce put in two.

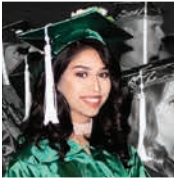

Also playing for the Lady Broncos is Emberli Gonzalez.

The ladies took on Childress last Saturday and earned a 48-29 win over the Lady Cats. Once again the ladies played aggressive basketball and executed on both ends of the court. They hit 13 out of 21 free throws for 62 percent, which helped their cause on the scoreboard. Once again Randall led the way with 14 points, and Aubrey Weatherton added 13 going seven for nine from the bonus line. Jayde Gribble put in eight points, and Conkin hit a three-pointer. Aliyah Weatherton, Avery English, and Laney Gates put in two each in the win.

In their first game of the season, the Lady Broncos stopped Perryton, 36-28. They set a great tempo early on and were up by 18 points at the break. Perryton outscore the Lady Broncos in the fourth quarter, but it was not enough to overtake Clarendon.

Randall finished with 14 and Aliyah Weatherton had 10. Conkin put in six, English had four, and Bruce added two.

The Lady Broncos will travel to Groom on November 21 and travel to Claude November 24.
