

WTAMU serves entire region

Walter Wendler, West Texas A&M University President and John Sharp, The Texas A&M University System Chancellor

Regional universities in the US educate 70 percent of the nearly 17 million students pursuing an undergraduate degree at public institutions, according to the American Enterprise Institute. Regional campuses are referred to by Brookings as “the workhorses” of higher education, and they are not dead.

Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board (THECB) data show that Comprehensive Regional Universities (CRU’s) enroll 40 percent of Texas college students. Texas has the most universities, public and private, of any state in the nation. One in four public universities are either research universities or emerging research universities and collectively rank fifth nationally in terms of quality. These “flagship” institutions are large. Student populations rival modest-sized cities, millions of dollars are spent on research (Texas A&M University recently crossed the billion-dollar mark - the first Texas university to do so), play college sports in the most competitive NCAA conferences in the nation, and claim thousands of alumni whose allegiance to their alma mater is legendary. However, according to the Washington Monthly, regional universities are still workhorses, and without them and community colleges, the research university quality is surrendered.

Half of the Texas students receiving Pell grants in 2019 attended a CRU. At research universities, that number drops to one-third. The workhorses provide educational opportunity to students from the two lowest quintiles of family income and propel them to the two highest by the time they reach their thirties, according to Jorge Klor de Alva; game changers impacting family trajectory for generations. Good bang for the buck that we see daily. Slightly over one-third of the students enrolled in regional universities are in the top quartile of their class. In research universities, it is two-thirds. In other words, capable students aspiring to personal and family enrichment opportunities often choose the workhorses for safety, (WT is ranked safest in Texas, 10th nationally) teaching, size, location or program selection. Three of four students considered to be “at-risk” enroll at CRU’s.

Nationally public enrollments are similar. Surprisingly, slightly over half of the at-risk students attend research universities despite higher costs and admissions standards. Over half of the undergraduate degrees awarded to at-risk students were awarded by research universities. All this according to the THECB. Time it takes to earn a degree at regional universities is slightly over five years, on average. For research universities, it’s slightly under five years. The difference in time to degree is approximately five months. According to the CDC, Americans’ life expectancy is about 80 years, so the additional five months to graduation is less than .005 percent of a lifetime. And, according to a Yale study, college graduates live longer. If the extended time allows students to work and reduce indebtedness that may be a sound investment.

Nationally, indebtedness in comprehensive regional universities is less than that at national universities, according to US News. Pell grants and high-efficiency help reduce indebtedness at comprehensive regional universities. At research universities, scholarships afforded through large endowments minimize debt for many.

Many Texas’ CRU’s seek to serve our state at the regional level. It is critically important as an extension of educational reach into every corner of Texas with high-quality educational experiences available for all Texans. There are 27 CRU’s in Texas. Legislation under consideration in this legislative session seeks to recognize the CRU’s in Texas for their distinctive missions. We use WT as an example because we know it well. Here’s what it means:

First, our commitment is to serve the top 26 counties of Texas as WT’s primary purpose. Our sustenance and excellence are owed to the Panhandle as our number one job.

Second, all WT research efforts will address regional challenges—regional intelligence, to meet regional needs, promoting individual and wide-spread economic benefit.

Third, relationships to the Texas Panhandle’s high schools and additional relationships with neighbors in the South Plains are proof positive of “walking-the-walk.”

Fourth, principled working relationships with community colleges engage students who enter WT with associate’s degrees at low cost and high accessibility. Community colleges are not competition, but compatriot’s graduating developed, fully transferrable students with low to no debt.

Fifth, pipelines for advanced graduate study are in place to provide an opportunity for doctoral work at Texas A&M University.

Sixth, although online offerings currently represent 40 percent of the courses taught at WT, we strive to create an environment where 100 percent of faculty members live in the Panhandle. Faculty members teaching online are more effective when they also teach on campus and actively engage the regional community they serve. This is not COVID-19 driven but mission-driven and has been since the turn of the century.

We believe our view of a regional research university makes sense and capitalizes on regional and organizational strength. This view is enlivened by WT 125: From the Panhandle to the World and The Pioneering Spirit: Pursuit of WT 125.

All of this is realized by being proud of who we are, what we do and for whom we work.

Pulpwood queens and timber guys

When Kathy L. Murphy had her hair salon/bookstore in Jefferson (Beauty and the Book) some women invited her to a meeting of their book club. When the meeting was over, Kathy said, “This is fun. What book do we read next month?” The hostess apologized and told Kathy she was just an invited guest, that there could only be 8 women in the club because that is all that fits around the table.

“Unless someone dies or moves away,” said the hostess, “we can’t have any more members.” So in 2000 Kathy started her own book club and called it Pulpwood Queens and Timber Guys. “Pulpwood comes from the industry in this area and honestly I just love to say the word. It makes people laugh.” Kathy wrote a book titled THE PULPWOOD QUEENS’ TIARA WEARING, BOOK SHARING GUIDE TO LIFE. She is now working on a sequel 21 years later.

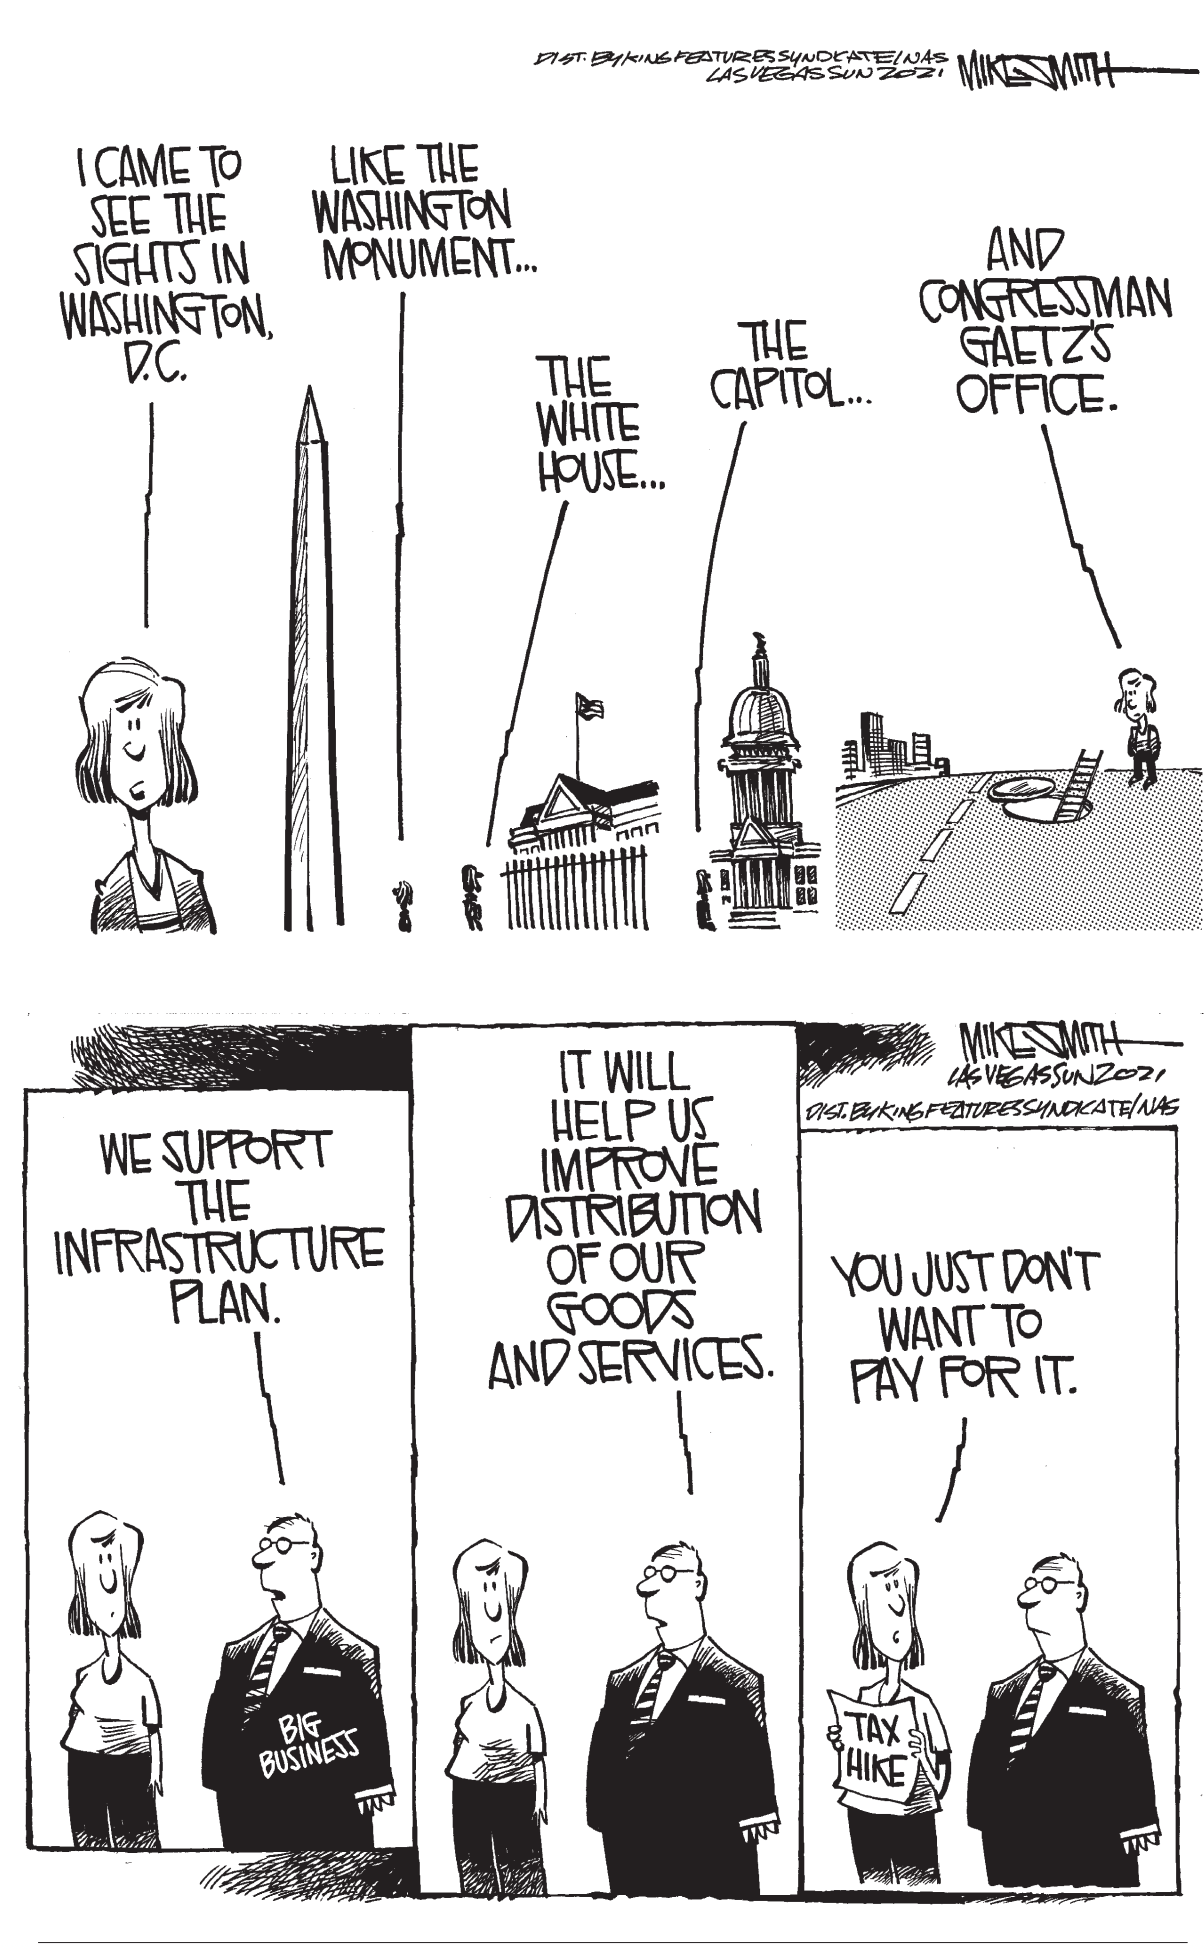

She says her book club grew by word of month, mostly. But Kathy is a character deluxe and knows how to get things done. She’s been on Oprah and every major network plus numerous television and radio stations. Newspapers and magazines have done feature articles on her and her book club, which now has 800 chapters in 20 countries. People are joining every day (www.thepulpwoodqueens.com).

Members get a newsletter and Kathy selects a book of the month. Some of her authors have made it to the bestseller list. Kathy takes no credit for that. “They have the talent, I’m just the facilitator.” She says it’s all about telling stories. “We are the largest meeting and discussing book club in the world because we bring our authors into our conversations. Before covid, when we had real face-to-face meetings, we’d bring in authors by the dozens to visit with our members. Our annual meeting is usually held during January in Jefferson, but this year we did it by ZOOM. And it worked great because some people who couldn’t make it in person could be there by computer. I

Black Jack Pershing friend of Chinese

In retaliation for Pancho Villa’s raid on Columbus, New Mexico, on March 9, 1916, the United States sent General John J. “Black Jack” Pershing and a United States army into Mexico on a punitive expedition. Their task was to capture Villa dead or alive.

On one occasion while camping near the pueblo of Casa Grande in the Mexican province of Chihuahua, the American soldiers found themselves being supplied with candy, cakes, cigarettes, and other items not normally available. Their benefactors were Chinese who were living in the area. Barred at that time from legal entry into the United States, the Chinese were nevertheless pro-American in their sentiments and were simply waiting and hoping someday to become American citizens. Therefore, they eagerly responded to the opportunity of helping the American soldiers now among them.

As the American soldiers moved from place to place, their Chinese followers traveled in wagons and on foot behind them. At one point when the Mexicans cut off the American supply lines, the Chinese brought food and necessities from the Mormon communities in northern Mexico. They cooked, they did laundry for the soldiers, and on at least one occasion, they actually fought with the Americans against the Mexicans. Pancho Villa was so irate about the situation that he expressed himself as wanting to hang every “Chino” in northern Mexico.

After 11 months of fruitless searching, Pershing and the American army returned to the United States without capturing Villa. A large number of had authors from France, Spain, Malta, Canada and it was very successful. We will always do a virtual meeting from now on. I had to learn how to do it. We’re now doing weekly book club meetings online and I’ve started my own Kathy L. Murphy channel on utube. This year I’ve done more than 100 interviews with authors, film people, celebrities, anybody who has a story to tell and they’re all recorded.”

Kathy grew up in Kansas and got the reading bug in elementary school when teachers read to the class every day after noon recess. Now she keeps a stack of books in her home in the woods near Hawkins, Texas and reads hundreds of books a year. She has just one helper. A woman in Florida, Mandy Haynes, now carries the title of CEO.

Kathy’s day starts at around 4 AM and ends around midnight. She is an artist whose work is in galleries and on items like clothing, table settings and pillows. “I paint first and while the paint is drying I answer emails, then read and write the rest of the day. Right now I’m battling plumbing and roof problems from the winter ice storm.”

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular Tuesday noon meeting April 6, 2021, with Boss Lion "Bocephus" Lambert in charge.

We had 15 members and one guest this week – Michael Newhouse, guest of Lion Anndria Newhouse.

Lion Scarlet Estlack reported on the college where there is one active case of COVID-19 and the big invitational judging contest will be held Saturday.

Lion David Dockery reported on the city, and Lion Sandy Childress reported on the "The 'Wick," where a new convenience store opened over the weekend.

The Boss Lion related how he had been given the nickname Bocephus as a child and that he got to see the more famous Bocephus – Hank Williams, Jr. – in concert at Billy Bob's in Ft. Worth over the Easter weekend. Also in the concert were Kid Rock and Miranda Lambert. The Boss Lion also attended the Olympic wrestling team try-outs and got to meet one of his wrestling icons – Josh Barnett, the Warmaster. All in all, it was an excellent weekend for the Boss and his new First Lady.

Duties were discussed for the Chance Mark Jones Roar & Run 5K & Polar Bear Plunge to be held on April 17. Early registration continues until 5 p.m. Thursday at the Enterprise or the Visitor Center.

There being no further business, we were adjourned to spread Lionism and good cheer throughout our fair county.

Convenience store opens in H'Wick

What a beautiful Easter Sunday we had this year with everyone at my house hanging outside until the dinner bell rang!

Oh, my goodness, the food we had and eggs for five kids to hunt! Thank you, Jesus, for the blessings you have bestowed on me.

This time last year I was sick with COVID-19, but I have recovered and love life again. Ole Jim is feeling better, and Buffy the Wonder Dog still takes her job of protecting us seriously. Flowers are bloom-ing, my Oklahoma red bud tree is in full bloom, and it makes my heart sing. Spring is blooming everywhere, but we have to remember our last average freeze is April 19. Don't plant those tomatoes this week!

Bason Baking Company gets cooking

My friend Mason and I came up with this really good idea to make money for college. Our idea is that we can make baked goods and sell them to people who want them.

We first came up with a burger bun recipe that we tested on burgers and chicken sandwiches. The buns we made were a mix of Japanese Milk Bread and Brioche bread. They were kind of firm, but we came back again to tweak the recipe. The second time we made them, they turned out much better.

Then last Tuesday, we went to my house and made some white

Judd

Mary Willene "Nana" Judd April 2, 2021 Willene took her last breath here on earth and breathed her first breath in Heaven in the presence of her Lord and Savior.

Services were held on Tuesday, April 6, 2021, in the Clarendon Church of Christ with Chris Moore, officiating. Burial will follow in Citizens Cemetery in Clarendon.

Brown

Arrangements are under the direction of Robertson Funeral Directors of Clarendon.

Willene was born January 10, 1927, to Etta and Joe Burgett in Pauls Valley, Oklahoma. At an early age, the family relocated to Texas, where she attended schools at Samnorwood and Wellington.

On November 24, 1942, she married her childhood sweetheart, Oran G. Judd, known to friends and family as John. They were blessed with two sons, Glenn and Eddy Wayne. They moved several times, as necessitated by work for John, finally settling in Clarendon, where John went into business for himself. They made their home and raised their sons there. Willene always made herself available to them and put their needs above her own. John died May 25, 1999 after a long illness where she seldom left his side. They had been married 56 years.

In 1967, she attended the John V. London School of Vocational Nursing, after which she found her niche in the geriatric field and worked the last 20 years before she retired at the Clarendon Nursing Home. She had such a sweet, generous spirit, and always gave her patients the best care possible and loved them as if they were her own family. Nana, she was known by her grandchildren and great-grandchildren, was always involved in their school functions and sports. She was a Clarendon Broncos fan, and rarely missed a game, and found those games even more exciting when her sons, grandsons, or great-grandsons played. She also was a great Dallas Cowboys fan. She was deeply loved by her family and friends, and they were enriched by her devotion to them and to her God.

She loved painting and quilting, but most of all she loved her Lord, and scripture, and was always involved in church activities and assisting her church family any way she could. She was a longtime member of the Clarendon Church of Christ, and her presence will be sorely missed.

Those she left in the caring hands of God are her son, Glenn and wife Claudette of Georgetown, Texas; her daughter in law, Linda Judd of Clarendon; nine grandchildren; 20 great grandchildren; 7 great great grandchildren; numerous nieces and nephews, and a host of friends.

Those eagerly awaiting her arrival in Heaven are her husband, John; her Mama "Bill" Etta Parrigen; stepfather, Cult Parrigan; her son, Eddy Judd; her sisters, Dovie and Caroline; and two great grandbabies. Our loss is Heaven's gain.

In lieu of flowers, Willene requested donations be sent to the Clarendon Church of Christ, Donley County Senior Citizens in Clarendon, or the Citizens Cemetery Association.

SUDOKU

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

ANSWER:

USDA NRCS makes funding available through Texas Partners for Conservation program

The USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) in Texas last week announced opportunities for partners to receive funding through its Texas Partners for Conservation Program. Applications must be submitted through grants.gov by June 1, 2021.

"Conservation of our natural resources can be achieved through effective collaboration with our network of partners to leverage NRCS resources and develop state and community level conservation leadership," said Kristy Oates, NRCS state conservationist for Texas. "This partner-led approach will accelerate the development of conservation plans to address environmental quality issues on agricultural lands within Texas and improve outreach to historically underserved producers."

Priority will be placed on Conservation Technical Assistance projects that:

Provide high quality technical services that help customers achieve their conservation goals.

Increase adoption of conservation in Texas.

Increase easement outreach, training, and education.

Priority will be placed on Outreach projects that:

Provide high quality technical services that help historically underserved producers achieve their conservation goals through NRCS conservation practice standards.

Increase participation of historically underserved producers in conservation programs (technical and/or financial assistance) by at least 1 percent of the total number of participants reached.

Provide training opportunities through one-on-one consultations, workshops, conferences, or any other event that focuses on historically underserved producers.

Provide a method to follow-up with historically underserved producers to measure rate of success of their participation in both technical and financial assistance by NRCS staff.

Provide training opportunities, outreach, and education on easements through one-on-one consultations, workshops, and conferences.

There is no cost sharing or matching requirement for this opportunity, but this factor is considered in the review process. The funding floor is $25,000, and the ceiling is $75,000. These numbers refer to the total agreement amount, not any specific budget period.

All funding applications for must be submitted via grants.gov by June 1, 2021. For assistance with the registration process, contact grants.gov applicant support at 1-800-518-4726 or support@grants.gov.

Successful applicants are required to have an administrative and technical contact participate in the Texas NRCS training for Administration of Federal Agreements. This training is usually held within six months of the award start date.

Broncos beat Kress 9-4

By Sandy Anderberg

The Broncos had good success at Kress defeating the Kangaroos 9-4. After ending the first inning at 2-2, the Broncos were able to grab the momentum and put runs on the board every inning excluding the third to assure their win.

The Broncos took the lead in the first inning, but Kress was able to answer back with two of their own. Things got rolling when Koyt Tucek was at bat and singled, scoring one run. Brock Hatley came alive in the sixth and knocked down a home run. All in all the Broncos collected 11 hits for the day. Tucek, Harrison Howard, Lyric Smith, and Easton Frausto each had multiple hits in the game to help score runs.

Howard was on the mound for the Broncos and threw seven innings to get the win. He only allowed four runs on six hits and struck out four. The Bronco base-running was on fire with 16 stolen bases that included

Smith leading the way with four.

Earlier in the week, the Broncos had a tough time against Wellington and lost a close one at 0-2.

Hatley got the start and racked up 17 outs in his almost six innings on the mound while striking out ten. Calder Havens did a good job at the plate as he earned the only hit for the Broncos.

The Bronco JV will play Valley at home on April 8. The Varsity will take on Claude at home on April 9.

Lady Broncos squeeze by Sandford-Fritch

By Sandy Anderberg

Clarendon's Lady Broncos took off out of the gate in the opening innings of their game with Fritch last week and led by three out of the third. But Fritch was able to regroup in the fourth inning scoring three runs and holding the ladies at bay.

Early in the second inning, Ashlynn Crawford hit a triple that scored one run. She was joined by Jade Benson and Kaylin Hicks who both drove in runs in that inning. The Lady Broncos racked up 10 hits in the game and held Fritch to only five.

Madi Smith got the win for the ladies and pitched the entire seven innings with nine strikeouts. Despite allowing eight runs on five hits, Smith stayed strong until the finish.

Along with Benson, Crawford and Jentrye Bellar led the Clarendon offense with three hits in three at bats. The Lady Broncos made short work around the diamond as well racking up more than six stolen bases with Smith leading the way with two.

Later in the week, the Lady Broncos stomped West Texas High 20-8. It was a great team effort, but sophomore Jayde Gribble hit lights out at the plate. Gribble only posted two hits, but the bases were almost full each time, which allowed her 6 RBIs on the day. The ladies had eight total hits and only one error in the win.

Jentrye Bellar got things rolling in the starting inning when she singled that sent one run in of the 12 that they would score when the inning was finished. From there the ladies were able to coast and play fundamental softball behind the pitching of Madi Smith who got the win and struck out 10 batters.

Gribble and Bellar's bats were not the only ones working against WT as Senior Jade Benson had several hits as well.

The Lady Broncos will travel to Sunray on April 10 and play at 4:00 and then April 13 they travel to Shamrock and play at 4:30 p.m.

Lady Broncos qualify for Area

Her distance of 31'2" in the triple jump gave her a third-place finish and her time of 1:09.50 in the 400m earned her a fourth-place spot. Senior Jade Benson is also a repeat qualifier and will participate in the 300m hurdles. She posted a time of 51.70 and was fourth in the District Meet. Finley Cunningham will be going to the Area Meet in the high jump. She went 4'4" in the District meet for a fourth-place finish.

PBH announces pilot program

Panhandle Breast Health (PBH) and Uniting Parents (UP) announce a pilot program to better serve girls and women with disabilities. This unique educational program offers information about and access to screening tests that women with disabilities may not find readily accessible to them.

This collaborative effort, funded by Amarillo Area Foundation, offers women, ages 40 plus, breast and cervical health information and tips for healthy lifestyles along with extra help accessing mammograms/cervical "pap" tests. Some medically uninsured women may be eligible for no cost screening by area clinicians. The information and services women receive will empower and enable them to be more self-directed and to make quality health decisions.

Young girls ages 12-21 will learn about changes that happen when they start becoming adults. They will learn what to expect, how to discuss changes with trusted adults and how respond to these normal changes.

Group presentations are available in-person and online. Contact Panhandle Breast Health at 806-236-4539 of Uniting Parents at 806-337-1700 ext. 212.

This program provides information that will help females of all ages make healthier choices, address health concerns, prevent illnesses, and seek appropriate responses or treatment. Breast screening rates for U.S. women with disabilities are lower than women without disabilities and the same is true of cervical test rates. Additionally, the screening rates in rural areas are typically lower than urban area. In the 26 counties of the Texas panhandle there are approximately 54,750 persons with disabilities such as hearing, vision, mobility, and cognition (those unable to solve problems/ make decisions).

For more information contact: Leticia Goodrich 806-236-4593 or email Leticia@panhandlebreast-health.org

Appraisal district accepting property tax renditions

Donley County residents and businesses are reminded to turn in their personal property tax renditions by April 15, according to information from the Donley Appraisal District.

Almost everyone with personal property in the Donley Appraisal District has been mailed rendition forms. A rendition is a report to the appraisal district listing all the taxable property you owned or controlled on January 1 of this year. Residents are asked to complete the listing of your taxable personal property and return the forms by the April 15.

All personal property must be rendered each year even if there has been no change from the previous year. You should include cars, pickups, trucks, RV's, motorcycles, travel trailers, and airplanes.

If you own a business, you should also render your business inventory held for resale and other business-related equipment. Separate rendition forms have been mailed to business owners. Business owners not filing renditions by the April 15th deadline will be assessed a penalty of 15 percent.

Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar's office explains for businesses, a rendition is a list of the taxable inventory, furniture and fixtures, machinery, equipment and other property owned or managed as of January 1 each year. The appraisal district may use the information to set property values.

A rendition allows property owners to record their opinion of their property's value and ensures that the appraisal district notifies property owners before changing a recorded value. Exempt property, such as church property and equipment used for farming, is not subject to rendition.

Owners whose property was damaged by storm, flood or fire last year may file a special decreased value report that indicates the property's condition on Jan. 1, 2021. Filing the decreased value report could lower those owners' final tax bills for 2021.

Rendition forms and decreased value report forms are available from county appraisal district offices statewide and can be downloaded at the Comptroller's property tax forms webpage.

Renditions must be signed, and residents may, although it is not required, list an opinion of market value.

If the owner gives an opinion of your property's value and the appraisal district believes the value is higher, the owner will be notified in writing of the higher value and told how they can protest that value to the appraisal review board.

Renditions in the Donley Appraisal District can be filed with the district office at 304 S Kearney or mailed to PO Box 1220, Clarendon TX 79226.

Do you know what word is used the most in written materials?

There are 3 letters in my puzzle. Connect dots in the first one by following the numbers.
Then, follow the alphabet in the middle one.
Finally, connect the numbered dots of the last letter to see the word we use the most.

We read using our eyes. We use the alphabet. People who cannot see well or are blind can read Braille, a system of raised dots, with their fingers. People who are deaf may read lips or fingers spelling out hand signals, in addition to the printed word.

SWEPCO starts safety program

Southwestern Electric Power Co. (SWEPCO) has partnered with The National Theatre for Children (NTC) to educate students and their families about electrical safety with a new livestream program called “Captain Wattage.”

The superhero-themed livestream performance is available for grades K-5 in SWEPCO’s three-state service territory. Students will learn about how electricity is made, the uses of electricity, how to identify dangerous electrical situations, and ways to stay safe around electricity.

While SWEPCO and NTC have presented theatrical performances in schools for many years, fall 2020 was the first time the program shifted to an all-digital alternative, thanks to the pandemic and the difficulty of hosting in-school assemblies.

“The brand new ‘Captain Wattage’ performance is an exciting educational resource for remote learning,” said Carey Sullivan, SWEPCO director of Communications. “The program provides an excellent opportunity to bring vital safety information to students, their families, schools and the community.”

The livestream event features a live host who introduces the program, sets up and recaps a series of educational videos, and leads a Q&A in which students and teachers can submit questions for the host to answer live in real time. The livestream events are supplemented by a complete online curriculum including games, hands-on lessons, interactive activities, e-books, graphic novels and more.

For more information about the Captain Wattage virtual program, visit <https://nationaltheatre.com/Program/captain-wattage-livestream-special/>.
