Sen. Perry to meet citizens next week

State Sen. Charles Perry (R-Lubbock) is hosting a town hall meeting at Clarendon College in the Bairfield Activity Center from 9:30 a.m. until 10:30 a.m. on October 19.

The Texas legislative districts have changed through redistricting and take effect when the Texas legislature convenes in January. Senator Perry is pleased that he will be representing Donley County.

At the town hall, Sen. Perry will discuss the upcoming 88th Legislative Session, and most importantly, answer questions from the community.

Perry was elected to the Texas Senate in 2014 and represents 51 counties in West Texas.

Health Fair set for next Thursday at CC

The annual Donley County Health Fair will be next Thursday, October 20, at the Bairfield Activity Center from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Among the free health screenings and services at the fair will be flu shots; blood pressure checks; hearing screenings; vision screenings; disability service; and blood screenings for PSA, A1C, lipids, and glucose. Those interested in blood screenings should fast before coming to the fair.

This year's fair is sponsored by the Texas A&M AgriLife Extension, Clarendon Family Medical Center, Mike's Pharmacy, and the Donley County Hospital District.

Free smoke alarms available in October

The American Red Cross and Panhandle Community Services are teaming up with local volunteers to install free smoke alarms for local residents.

To register for your free alarm and have it installed by local volunteers, call 806-342-6176 or go online at RedCross.org/NTXHomesMadeSafer.

Scarecrow contest sign-ups underway

Sign-ups for Clarendon's Scarecrow Contest 2022 are now open.

The Friends of the Burton Library are bringing back the popular community event, with two categories: Businesses/Organizations and Family Residences. Registration should be completed by October 14 at the Burton Library, with a $20 entry fee. Scarecrows should be displayed outdoors at the address registered.

Community voting will begin October 20-27 in person at the library or via the Library's Facebook page.

Call the Burton Library for more information at (806) 874-3685.

Fire damages old grocery store Sunday

The Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department contained a blaze at the old laundromat on East US 287 Sunday afternoon.

Fire Chief Jeremy Powell said property owner Russell Keown reported he had started a Corvette, which he keeps in storage there with other vehicles, to charge up the battery when a fire started under the hood of the car.

Powell said firefighters were dispatched at 2:44 p.m. and stayed on the scene for about three hours. The department saved the structure, but the area where the car was in the southwest corner was heavily damaged. The remainder of the building suffered heat and smoke damage, Powell said.

Seven units and 13 firemen responded to the blaze, and traffic on US 287 was reduced to two lanes of traffic for a time.

Longtime residents will remember the structure as Ruby's Grocery in the 1960s and 1970s, which was known for being the only store open on Sundays for the many years.

Man airlifted after Wednesday accident

A Leesville, Louisiana, man was impaled by a handrail last Thursday morning, October 6, when his eastbound 2020 Nissan Altima went off the road on US 287 at the Jefferson Street intersection. The Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department and Associated Ambulance Authority were able to extract the gravely injured 78-year-old Darrell Westmoreland from the vehicle. Lifestar was called in and landed within a couple of hundred feet from the accident on Sully Street to airlift the man to Amarillo. He was later transported to Lubbock where he remained hospitalized at press time Tuesday.

CC hosts Stampede this week

Rodeo fans and contestants will make their way to Clarendon College's Livestock & Equine Center this week for the Stampede NIRA rodeo.

The Stampede will host 633 cowboys and cowgirls from 17 different colleges and universities this Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, October 13-15.

The National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association event will have qualifying rounds held all day with nightly performances being held at 7:00 p.m.

Tickets for evening performance are $5 in advance from Clarendon College and the Clarendon Visitor Center and will be $10 at the gate. All activities will be held under the roof of the CC Livestock & Equine Center.

Activities will include bull riding, barrel racing, bareback riding, saddle bronc riding, and more.

Clarendon College officials are excited to be hosting the Stampede rodeo, which is now to be held here every two years.

Rodeo coach Bret Franks and the staff at CC have been working for weeks to make sure the event comes off without a hitch.

"We are especially grateful for the support of the community for this rodeo and for our program," Franks said. "This should be one of the largest events to impact the local economy."

The CC rodeo program in the last few years has produced five individual national champions, and the men's rodeo team were the national champions in 2021. The Stampede represents a rare opportunity for Clarendon and surrounding area to see the CC teams compete in person.

"We hope a lot of people will come out and see these kids compete and generate even more support for our program," Franks said.

For more information about the Stampede, call Clarendon College at 874-3571.

CC launches fund to help employees

Big laughs, high fives, and hugs will be shared between students, faculty and staff of the Clarendon college campuses at the Inaugural Student-Faculty/staff basketball game on Tuesday, October 18 beginning at 6:00 pm at the Bulldog gym on the Clarendon campus.

A friendly competition between the Lady Bulldogs basketball team and a group of faculty and staff from the college will be held to launch a new college fund to help full-time employees throughout the college system meet the financial strain of copay obligations for cancer treatments.

The event has been named the Martha Smith Classic and the intention is to hold it annually at the start of the basketball season as a fundraiser for the newly created agency fund called the PAC fund - Paws Against Cancer fund.

There is no admission to the event, although it is hoped that attendees will make a donation to the PAC fund. A college representative will be at the game to receive pledges and donations to the fund.

The goal is to collect $6,000 to kick-off the fund in January 2023. An anonymous donor has pledged a dollar for dollar match up to $3,000. And if the fund achieves $10,000 in support, the President of Clarendon College will shave his head.

"It's all about the community and people," organizer Dr. Ken McIntosh said.

For additional information, contact McIntosh at 432-466-5034.

WT impacts economics of families and region

By Walter Wendler

All universities have an economic impact on the regions and communities in which they are located. University education is a combined public and private good, benefiting everyone in the public square while simultaneously directly benefiting the recipient of the degree and the family to which they belong. A UCLA study of freshmen states that students attend college to get a better job. That is a personal benefit, and if the job is close to the university, a public benefit through increased tax collections and quality of life.

The values of people in the rural regions of our nation and its heartland are epitomized by the people of the Texas Panhandle. Rural values are the products of enterprise and industry essential to economic survival and prosperity. These are rooted in the history of our region, often in families, while providing products that help our nation.

When embodied in lived experience, these particular rural values create a culture necessary to produce the food, fuel and fiber that energizes, feeds and clothes the people of our state and nation. The geography of the regions that produce food, fuel and fiber demand a widely dispersed population in regions where daunting day-to-day challenges consume daily life. A rural population of frontier-minded folks willing to take risks produces something of value. People in these pursuits are tough-minded, rely on each other, believe in something larger than self, work hard and live by essential values.

Free moral agency is an enduring moral principle. Individual responsibility, personal achievement and the willingness to work for something are essential to liberty. The power of a public university in a free society and constitutional republic is supported by embedding values into the educational experience. Free thought and individual expression are the grist of an enlightened society.

Fuel – Our national energy security relies partly on oil and gas production as a key component in the immediate future for the energy required to sustain a free society. Texas produces slightly over 5.07 million barrels of oil per day. That is 41% of the total United States crude production. Texas leads the nation in natural gas production, producing nearly 24% of the U.S. total. While many factors lead to Texas' standing as the furnace for American energy production, national and world standing is diminished without workers and leaders who appreciate and hold rural Texas values. The concept that we can do away with fossil fuel utilization at any time in the near future is a pipe dream. According to Brookings, fossil fuels will be necessary for a long time into the future.

Food – Texas dwarfs all other states in the nation in the number of cattle produced, with over 4.6 million. Next in line is Oklahoma, with 2.2 million. This includes both fed beef and cow-calf operations. Texas ranks fourth nationally in milk production, producing 15.6 million pounds of milk in 2021. It lags behind California, Wisconsin and Idaho. However, the Texas dairy market's growth has led the nation with a nearly 70% increase over the past decade.

Fiber – Texas leads the nation in the production of cotton, with 6.5 billion bales produced in 2020, according to the USDA. Most of this cotton is produced on the south plains. United States production is third globally behind India and China and leads the world in cotton exports, all according to the United States Department of Agriculture Economic Research Service.

The production of fuel, food and fiber is accomplished in rural regions worldwide. Rural regions differ from urban regions; according to Pew Research, 70% of rural residents believe people who do not live in similar communities do not understand their challenges. Interestingly, according to the same research, 65% of people in urban regions do not understand the challenges people in rural regions face. People in rural regions believe their neighbors share their values, and people in urban regions do not believe the same about their neighbors. Many of these beliefs are fostered in family life focused on being economically productive.

According to The Urban Institute, one in five Americans live in rural communities, and 22% of the nation's rural residents are people of color. Increasingly, Hispanic populations are growing in rural regions. Therefore, Hispanics in rural regions comprise a growing portion of the fuel, food and fiber workforce. The notion that rural people live in poverty, and accept the culture poverty creates, is antithetical to the slowly evolving economic reality of many individuals and families. Family units and diverse rural business enterprises produce goods and services invaluable to the region, state and nation.

Understanding and expounding values in the heartland are vital to many people associated with West Texas A&M University. Rural values are the cornerstone of the Panhandle economic life and essential in sustaining a constitutional republic.

The First Thanksgiving in Chickasha

There was no thought of family dinners for Chickasha's first Thanksgiving in 1892 because there were very few people there who had their families with them. But there were a lot of people there who missed the traditional get-together with their families. So Chickasha decided to have a community Thanksgiving dinner.

There wasn't much in the way of material things for which to be thankful. The people had been late in planting, there had been heavy rains, and relatively little had been grown. Still, they were thankful for life and for freedom. One old-timer put it this way: "Well! The cotton is kilt, the corn is beat down. The taters is done rotted, and the house is blow'd away. But Thank God! The Sheriff hain't got nothin' to levy on!"

The Ladies Social Circle of the Presbyterian Church did the cooking, and the meal was served in a frame building still under construction on Chickasha Avenue. Turkeys roaming on Uncle Charley Campbell's place were killed and prepared, and the meal also included cranberry sauce, pies of all kinds, and excellent coffee. The ladies charged twenty-five cents a plate, and they cleared over one hundred dollars.

Many of the men in attendance were used to the boarding house style of serving themselves quickly before the food was all gone. In describing the event, Eugene Hamilton, local lawyer

tales of the old west
by george u. hubbard and pastor, wrote: "A delay of but a few minutes meant getting to the table to find everything eatable gone, so when the opportunity occurred, all the poor fellows who had no home took advantage of it." The men helped themselves almost greedily to a bounteous feast, and when all had been fed, there was still a little food left over. Hamilton added that the food that was left was distributed among the poor. He then explained that there really weren't any poor because there wasn't anyone who was rich.

According to Hamilton, the women were excellent cooks, and the memory of that dinner lasted a long time. It was a quiet, peaceful day for all. "The deputy US Marshall found no work to do."

Good times with good friends

Uncle Mort refuses to give in to what he thinks leads many folks to early graves. He says he'll resort to extreme measures to avoid falling into a trap he calls "terminal boredom."

Mort finds much to merit his attention on his little spread down in the thicket. Sometimes, though, he seeks a scene change by hopping on his golf cart for a spin to the general store and a game of dominoes.

If his buddies don't show up, he leans back in his cane bottom chair – pencil in hand – to jot down clever stickers on bumpers of cars getting gas tanks replenished....

With election season now just weeks away, many of the stickers are intended to be serious. "Some candidates in political races at all levels wouldn't recognize 'serious' if it slapped them in the face," he claimed. "Too many of them are the biggest jokes of all."

One he noticed merits a chorus of "amens." It reads: "Vote Conservative. If Liberalism Worked, You'd Still be Living in California."

Another message: "I wrote the Constitution for our Marriage, But I Accepted All of Her Amendments." Still another: "We Tried Divorce, But it Didn't Work Out."...

Bunny Martin, a college classmate, still has his wits about him at age 88. He won the wooden World Yo-Yo Championship at age 16 in 1955. The Toronto contest was the last held for this type of yo-yo, so he remains the "reigning champion" in that division. It is so noted in the Smithsonian.

For 68 years, he entertained – nationally and internationally – his programs featuring magic and humor, in addition to masterful spinning of stories and yo-yo's. He stepped aside at age 83 when health issues arose.

Bunny called the other day, eager to share an account which, uh, may have happened....

Booked to entertain at a convention of 300 highway patrolmen seated behind desks in an auditorium, he claims that one on the front row placed his revolver atop the desk, pointing it toward Bunny. Then, the guy scribbled a quick note, passing it down the row to be handed to Bunny.

He paused at mid-speech – he claims – to read the message that lessened his fears a bit.

"Don't worry," the note said, "You're safe. I just want the name of whoever invited you here today."....

One buddy called with the story about two nuns who felt called to witness to patrons at a nearby racetrack. Upon arrival, they spotted a man studying a racing form. The nuns examined it, noting that one entry – a long shot – was named Leviticus. Could a Latin-named horse be a sign from heaven for them to bet?

Deeming this to be a possibility, they plunked down $2. Leviticus won, and they claimed the $100 winnings.

They drew straws to see who would confess to Mother Superior. One lost....

"We have sinned, Mother," the loser whined. "But we had two signs from heaven that couldn't be ignored." "What were the signs?" Mother Superior asked.

The nun answered, "We thought the horse with a Latin name clearly was a sign, and when the cashier handed us our winnings, he spoke to us in Latin: 'Jesus Leviticus wrecked us!'"....

Still another caller reminisced about our being friends for a long, long time. "There's nothing I wouldn't do for you, and nothing you wouldn't do for me," he contended.

He wasn't through, adding, "That being true, we've done little for each other." We then went on our way rejoicing.

Finally, this was overheard somewhere in recent days. The speaker admonished, "To the absolute extent that you can, strive to live every day at the speed of joy." This is a simple statement with a profoundly important message. In a day when differences are underscored at every turn, surely we can agree to seek what is good in our world – and there is much – to reclaim the noble art of living joyfully....

Sunken treasure

Local officials pulled a Jeep from the depths of Lake Greenbelt last week offshore from Old Clarendon Point. Donley County Sheriff Butch Blackburn says the vehicle was discovered by two men fishing last week. Tracing the VIN number led to the discovery that the car was reported stolen out of Amarillo in 2015, and it appears to have been submerged since that time.

Birdcage Theatre notorious piece of history

The Birdcage Theatre in Tombstone, Ariz., was called the “roughest, bawdiest, and most wicked night spot between Basin Street and the Barbary Coast.” by the New York Times in 1882.

Opened in 1881, the Birdcage was a popular hang out for Doc Holiday, the Earps, Johnny Ringo, and the gang known as “The Cowboys.” In the Birdcage, hangs a painting of a belly dancer named Fahreda Mazar Spyropoulos, or was best known by her stage name, Fatima. She performed at the Birdcage in 1881, and gave the theatre a lifesize portrait of herself in 1882. There is a legend that she almost gave the author Mark Twain a near fatal heart attack after he watched her dance one time. The Birdcage Theatre entertained some of the rowdiest people in its day, it being a saloon, brothel, gambling hall, and had a stage for traveling actors and performers. The Birdcage was only open 8 years from 1881 to 1889, and was opened 24 hours every day. 26 people were killed in the building and there are 140 bullet holes throughout it. 6 of those bullet holes reside in the painting of Fatima, along with a knife slash at her knees. One murder at the Birdcage involved two women. It was caused by pure jealousy over a man. A prostitute’s “man” was playing poker at the Birdcage, and was loving on another prostitute who was sitting on his lap. The first prostitute was working a another saloon when word got around that her man was with another woman. She angrily crossed the street to the Birdcage, found the other woman flirting with her “man”, pulled out a stiletto knife, and stabbed the other poor girl to death.

The longest poker game in history was played in the basement of the theatre. The buy-in was $1000, which is around $29,000 in modern money. The game ran 24/7 for 8 years from 1881 to 1889. An estimated total of $10 million went through the game over those years.

You can still visit the Birdcage Theatre in Tombstone today. It is supposedly one of the most haunted places in the United States. Most everything in the building is original, even the wallpaper. I have to say, during my visit to the Birdcage Theatre in 2019, the building was intriguing and eerie at the same time.

Westward Expansion not easy for pioneers

By Cutter Seay

Moving to the West was one of the most difficult things that a family could do during the Westward Expansion.

The most-used piece of equipment during the Westward Expansion was the covered wagon. The wagons also allowed for many things to be moved at once and for speed, along with allowing many people to travel with each other for protection against the Native Americans. The Native Americans did not have wagons, and this gave the settlers a significant advantage. Wagon trains became a staple in American society and allowed the West to be explored by many.

There were many types of covered wagons such as the Conestoga and the prairie schooner. In the Panhandle of Texas, the prairie schooner and the chuckwagon were more common.

The reason was that the prairie schooner was lightweight, making it easier to travel the Oregon Trail quickly. The chuckwagon was used as the primary way of cooking on wagon trains and cattle drives. The chuckwagon was designed for this purpose by one of the largest cattle owners in the Panhandle, Charles Goodnight.

Another type of wagon that was used during the westward expansion was the Conestoga wagon, which was used more for moving cargo due to its sturdy structure. It was usually pulled by oxen, due to its heavy weight. Even though the wagons were modern at the time, neither of them had much of a suspension, which forced the driver of the wagon to walk beside the animal of choice to steer them.

Another wagon that was popular in the West was the surrey. This wagon had a cloth cover that hung from the rear of the wagon, which was used to carry heavy items. It was also pulled by horses and was very popular because it could be easily converted into a carriage.

Without the wagon, America would not be the same as it is today. The wagon reinvented travel across the Plains and allowed for the settlement of the West, for without the wagon the West would still be a ruthless and wild place. Cutter Seay is the Media Development Coordinator of the Saint's Roost Historical Society.

Bronco Band heading to UIL contest

Over the last couple of months, I've become very heavily involved in the marching band at the high school.

We've been working on our marching show, and we went to our first practice contest two weeks ago. We did alright there, but we kept working and then we went to our second practice contest last weekend. We did a lot better there and we were able to do better than a previous state-winning band and a previous state-qualifying band.

We have improved a lot, and there is still a way for us to go, but this week we are going to be perfecting our show. This Saturday we will go to our real UIL contest in Amarillo. We have been putting in a lot of work these past couple of months, and it all will come down to this weekend.

So, I would like to invite anyone from our community to come support us this weekend in Amarillo at our contest in Dick Bivins Stadium Saturday at 11:30 a.m.. We would love to have y'all there to support us, and we would be grateful to have you watch us perform. I am super excited for this weekend, and I hope that we can move on and do very well this season.

DCSC makes plans for Oct.

By Mary Lynn

October is well underway, the weather is changing, and leaves are falling. Your Donley County Senior Citizens Center has plans for some events this month.

Music night returns on the third Thursday of October on the 20th. Trunk or Treat at the Mulkey Theatre will provide a safe and fun Halloween for the children on the 29th. Look for flyers announcing these events around the community and also watch for details in the Enterprise. Visit the DCSC for first-hand information.

Also, look for our entry in the scarecrow contest.

As always, we welcome memorials for your loved ones and remember our continued need for volunteers. Volunteers are essential to carry out our mission: to serve nutritious meals to those unable to cook for themselves or unable to leave to get meals. We also provide daily contact to some who never see anyone else.

Come see us!

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular Tuesday noon meeting October 11, 2022, with Boss Lion Pro Tem Mary Green in charge.

We had 14 members, Sweetheart Laney Gates, and one guest this week – Laverne Pinon, guest of Lion Courtney D'Costa.

We voted to approve the membership application of Laverne Pinon. Welcome, Lion Laverne!

Lion Jacob Fangman reported on the city and discussed plans for the downtown revitalization in the 100 block of South Kearney, and Lion Laverne reported on the county, reminding everyone that today was the last day to register to vote.

Lion Scarlet Estlack reported on the college where volleyball will play AC October 12, baseball plays Saturday, and the Martha Smith Classic (students v. faculty) will be next Tuesday. Also, the college is hosting its big Stampede rodeo this Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights.

Sweetheart Laney reported on the public school with the Broncos playing Quanah here Friday and the band marching at UIL contest in Amarillo on Saturday.

DG Roger went over the plans for the District 2-T1 Fall Family Fun Festival next Saturday, October 22, which will culminate that evening with our club's 100th anniversary celebration. Volunteer opportunities were reviewed for that date, and everyone was encouraged to dress up for the banquet that night.

With no further business, we were adjourned to spread Lionism and good cheer.

PBH to celebrate cancer survivors

In recognition of Breast Cancer Awareness Month, Panhandle Breast Health (PBH) is hosting an event from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 11, at The Atrium 6900 I-40.

This occasion celebrating breast cancer survivors will include refreshments, information about breast cancer and door prizes.

Throughout the year, PBH provides breast health education, early detection through mammograms and survivor support. Maintaining a regular schedule of screenings creates the best chance of discovering cancer early on, when it's easier to treat, according to the American Cancer Society. Women ages 40 and up should have the option of an annual mammograms.

In the United States in 2022, an estimated 287,850 new cases of invasive breast cancer will be diagnosed among women and, although breast cancer is predominantly a female disease, approximately 2,710 new cases will occur in men.

No-cost mammograms for uninsured people are made possible by grant funds from the Ryan Palmer Foundation, the Prevent Cancer Foundation and the Louise Bowers Slentz Fund/Amarillo Area Foundation. Anyone interested in learning more about breast cancer may contact PBH at 806-331-4710 or by email at judy@pbh-ama.org.

Bronco Jmaury Davis gains yards for the Broncos last Friday night in Wheeler.

Bronco keep Wheeler out of the endzone

By Sandy Anderberg

The Bronco defense was on fire in the Broncos' District opener at Wheeler last Friday night and helped the Broncos bring home a huge 47-0 win over the Mustangs.

The Broncos seemed to gel on both sides of the ball and never allowed Wheeler to get within scoring distance in the first three quarters. The Mustangs' biggest scoring threats came in the final quarter of play, but the Bronco defense dug in and denied each attempt.

Lyric Smith got things rolling early in the game when he grabbed a 30-yard pass from quarterback Harrison Howard for six points. Smith then threw a strike to stand out Jmaury Davis for the extra points.

Clarendon then made a great defensive stand against the Mustangs causing them to punt after four downs.

Davis received the ball on Wheeler's 15-yard line and ran it back 85 yards for another score. All game long, the Broncos were able to run their offense almost flawlessly and used their speed to stay one step ahead of the Mustangs.

The second half was much like the first as the Broncos had free rein over their opponent and were able to score at will. The Bronco defense was outstanding with Smith posting 13 tackles. Colton Benson and Jared Musick had eight tackles each with Musick sacking the QB twice. Several junior varsity players were able to get in the game and did a great job. Freshman Coulter Wortham earned one quarterback sack and one tackle.

Davis continued his dominance from the back field and averaged a little over 16 yards each time he carried the ball that added up to 269 total yards and five huge touchdowns. Howard was spot on in the air and hit Smith with three passes that racked up 158 yards and two touchdowns. Howard was 4 of 8 passing for 167 total yards.

The Broncos will be back in Bronco Stadium to take on Quanah October 14 with a 7 p.m. kickoff time.

Benson, Williams win CC meet

By Sandy Anderberg

The Clarendon High School and Junior High cross-country runners made a great showing at the Greenbelt Gallop last week at Kinkaid Park at Greenbelt Lake with 28 runners competing.

Freshman Madi Benson led the Lady Broncos, who had six competitors finish in the top 10 runners, to a team win over second place Groom. Benson's time for the two-mile course was 14:58. Bryce Williams had another solid run to top the field with a time of 18:50, and Kaleb Mays finished seventh at 22:06.

Berkley Moore was right on Benson's heels with a third-place finish at 15:13, and Kenidee Hayes was fourth with a time of 15:17. Presley Smith was amongst the leaders with a sixth-place finish at 15:34, and Avery Sawyer and Gracie Ellis was seventh and eighth at 16:07 and 16.13 respectively. Aliyah Weather was 14th at 17:33, Gracie Wilkins 15th at 17:51, Kimbrasia Ballard was 19th at 19:36, Laney Rummel was 20th at 19:48, and Trystan Brown was 22nd with a time of 20:14.

Havens leads Lady Colts to CC win

The Clarendon Lady Colts' Addy Havens led her team to a first-place finish in the Greenbelt Gallop at Greenbelt Lake last week.

Havens' first-place time was 15:16. Eli Rodriguez was fifth with a time of 17:57.

Kinslee Hatley was eighth at 19:59, and Jayla Woodard ran the course in a time of 20:02 for ninth place. Landry King was 11th at 20:05, and Makynna Williams was 14th with a time of 22:18. Jaxon Robertson was the lone Colt to run, and he finished eighth in his division at 22:26.

Colt and Lady Colts' cross-country team competed well at Greenbelt Gallop.

Colts fight hard against Wheeler

The Clarendon Junior High Colts fought hard and never gave up in their 20-30 loss to the Wheeler Mustangs last week. They fought to the end and are improving each week.

Parker Haynes played an outstanding game running the football and racked up 162 yards on 33 carries averaging just under five yards each carry. Haynes was able to find the endzone for the Colts' first score on a two-yard run, and Kreed Robinson hit Caleb Herbert for the two-point bonus. Jaylen Butler also gained eight yards on four carries.

Robinson played a solid game from his quarterback position and was two for seven passing for 16 yards and he also ran the ball eight times for 41 yards scoring a 10-yard touchdown. Haynes earned the final score for the Colts on another two-yard run.

Defensively, the Colts did a great job against the much bigger Wheeler team and made some good stops.

"I am really proud of the way our kids played," coach Boston Hudson said. "We will continue to get better and look to get the win this week."

The Colts will be in Quanah on Thursday, October 13, beginning at 5 p.m.

That way...er... this way!

Chatter and I are at a dinosaur dig. We're visiting a paleontologist, a person who studies prehistoric life (from a time before things were written down and recorded). She tries to figure out what the earth and animals were like and how animals lived long, long ago.

How is this done? People look for, dig up and study fossils. Fossils are bones, footprints or other traces of animals and plants in rocks or in the ground that have been under a lot of pressure for long periods of time. One scientist, Sir Richard Owen, used the word "dinosaur" to name the giant animals that were alive during the Mesozoic Era: Triassic, Jurassic and Cretaceous periods. Dinosaurs died out by the Era's end.

Read the clues to learn about each dinosaur. Then, fill in the puzzle:

- Spinosaurus - was the largest meat-eating dinosaur (about three times larger than the T. Rex!); had large "fan" of _____ on its back
- Stegosaurus - bony plates stuck out of its back; had a _____ tail
- Archaeopteryx - name means "_____ bird," oldest bird discovered
- Velociraptor - only about 2 feet tall; middle _____ is large and sharp
- Pteranodon - not truly a dinosaur, _____ lizard with 25-foot wingspan
- Deinonychus - name means "_____ claw," up to 5-inch long claw
- Ankylosaurus - four-ton dino was almost 35 feet long; its back was covered with _____ plates; its tail could smash things with 43,000 pounds of force
- Parasaurolophus - amazing sense of _____ helped this dino notice sounds of predators from miles away; made a loud foghorn-like noise to warn its family of danger
- Tyrannosaurus Rex - best-known dinosaur; its bite was 15 times stronger than an _____
- Triceratops - one of largest _____ dinosaurs; has three on its head
- Sinornithosaurus - this dino's name means "Chinese bird lizard"; was only the size of a _____
- Sauroposeidon - largest dinosaur; 60 feet tall; 100 feet long; one neck _____ is 4 feet long.

Golden Peanut processed its first load of the 2022 harvest last Wednesday, October 5, with Jim Cabbell bringing in the first Spanish peanuts of the season. Golden officials say this year's crop looks decent for as dry as it was.
