CEDC okays program for mural funds

A new program by the Clarendon Economic Development Corporation is designed to encourage mural art in the community.

The CEDC board approved guidelines for the Mural Grant Program at its December meeting and posted the guidelines on its website this week.

The purpose of the program is to enhance Clarendon's appearance, increase employment opportunities in the arts, raise awareness and appreciation of the value of art, create civic pride, reduce blight, and encourage tourism.

Grant recipients can be eligible to receive reimbursement for up to one-half of the mural project cost based on funds available each fiscal year.

The program rules were modeled on a similar program in Amarillo and stipulate that proposed locations for grant-funded murals must be high-traffic areas that are readily visible and must be in the Central Business District or along the US 287 corridor.

Grant recipients must agree to maintain murals for five years, and murals must be a minimum size of 10 feet by seven feet.

For fiscal year 2024, funded grant projects must be completed by August 15, 2024.

Mural grant applications are available online at ClarendonTX.com/CEDC or from the Clarendon Visitor Center.

US political parties in the American Gilded Age

For many, the Gilded Age (1877-1900) is the most boring part of political history. All the presidents were bearded white men from New York or Ohio who are hard to distinguish.

historically speaking by dr. james fink

Elections were always exciting as the contests were very close and because there was still no secret ballot, both parties did everything they could to influence voters including massive picnics with great deals of alcohol.

It's surprising how large voter turnout was in the Gilded Age considering the lack of differences between the two parties. Republicans remained the classic conservatives of positive government, which simply meant they just did a little more.

As for parties, Republicans looked closer to today's liberals than conservatives. They were the party of big government; their constituency was comprised of businessmen because the party pushed for economic growth and protective tariffs to help American businesses.

As for Democrats, they were the reverse and more closely resemble today's Republican Party. They believed the best form of government is one that governs the least.

The biggest issue for Democrats was that they were the party of white supremacy. This was not something they shied away from, but they openly supported segregation, Jim Crow laws and ending Reconstruction (the era between 1865 and 1877 where the government abolished slavery, reintegrated once-seceded states and rebuilding the South after the Civil War).

Even though elections were always close, Republicans dominated during Reconstruction and the Gilded Age. After Republican Ulysses S. Grant completed his presidency, another Republican, Rutherford B. Hayes, from Ohio, won in 1876.

This last election of the Gilded Age was held in 1896. Officially part of the Gilded Age, it is my third favorite election and is a game-changer in American politics.

In the future, this series will resume with the 20th century and how the modern-day Republicans and Democrats came into being.

Sometimes it pays off to be late

In August 1854, a horde of grasshoppers swarmed the fields in and around Lehi, Utah, devouring everything green. Fortunately, most of the crops had already been harvested, and no appreciable damage was done.

The farmers tried everything they could think of to stop the invasion. They dug ditches, filled them with water, and drove the grasshoppers into the ditches.

brushed the grasshoppers into the holes, and covered them with earth. Nothing worked; the grasshoppers still came and devoured almost everything. Relief finally came in the middle of June when the grasshoppers developed wings and inexplicably flew away.

The farmers then planted corn and potatoes in their devastated fields, and because the frost and snow arrived late that year, they found success with those crops.

Of the small number of successful

vignettes tales of the old west by george u. hubbard grain crops that year, one belonged to Sister Canute Peterson. Brother Peterson was away on a church mission, and the responsibility and labor of producing a crop in 1855 fell on Sister Peterson's shoulders.

In the end she harvested sixty bushels of wheat along with sixty bushels of corn and some potatoes as a result of being late and planting too deeply.

Remembering a lad gone to soon

At commencement exercises several decades ago, the speaker droned on about the attributes of a graduate whose mark on the school was incomparable.

A mother - unknowingly standing next to the esteemed graduate's mom - whispered, "I'd give 20 years of my life to have a son like that."

"You didn't miss it far," responded the proud woman, whose only son was at her primary focus since his birth....

This memory jarred like bold-face type early on the chilly morning of Tuesday, December 19, 2023, when a phone call from a distraught mother struck a mighty blow.

His life ended unexpectedly and way too soon - hours before his 20th birthday - when his potential to serve humankind seemed endless.

Immediately, I joined her in the dark of misunderstanding that only parents can begin to fathom. (My wife and I, too, had been jolted by the loss of a child in 2020.

Within minutes - when top-sided again with a modicum of composure - the lyrics of a century-old Christian hymn, Farther Along, offered comfort.

The words? "We'll understand it, all by and by."

For the next few hours, my memory in overdrive, I reflected on a friendship with Bryson and his mom Chris that began 17 months ago. We met at a baseball game where Bryson's team was competing against one whose line-up included our grandson, Jonah McDaniel.

We visited briefly after the game. I had never met a young man with more poise, respect and determination. At a strapping 6-2, his sea-blue eyes and piercing smile invited friendship.

A few days later, I received the nicest letter - ever. He was grateful for our visit and was eager to visit the campus where he'd enroll a year later.

Always goal-oriented, Bryson needed only a part of COVID's first year to lose 100 pounds. He went out for both football and baseball, organized a student Bible study and initiated a debate team that qualified for state competition, even without a sponsor! With sports

the idle american by don newbury came injuries, however, but he was regarded as the team leader, even if on the bench in slings or casts....

We were in his hospital room one year ago, where he was recuperating from shoulder surgery, when Chris mentioned, "He's spent more birthdays in the hospital than out."

Determined to play college sports, he was eager for August workouts to begin. Guess what? In the first practice, he injured a little finger and ankle, admitting to neither injury until workout's end.

Soon, he'd undergo ankle surgery back in Keller, with rehab to extend into December. No matter. He forged on, completing part of his courses remotely, with junior status nailed down by semester's end....

A "Go Fund Me" account has been set up for Bryson. Within hours, more than 300 had contributed. Further, the Bryson Burks Endowed Scholarship has been established at HPU.

We feel privileged to have Bryson and Chris in our circle of friends.

We are promised to understand tragedies such as his in the "sweet by and by." In the meantime, we'll promote friendship and understanding, urging everyone to keep - and share with others - the importance of keeping phone numbers to the suicide prevention hotline close at hand....

Dr. Newbury, longtime university president, continues his regimen of writing and speaking. Contact: 817-447-3872. Email: newbury@speakerdoc.com.

There will be an option to attend remotely via Zoom if individuals are not able to attend in person.

“The Basic Mediation Training

offers skills that are required to perform duties as a Mediator, but also offers vital personal and professional skills that anyone will find beneficial,” said Jerri Glover, Dispute Resolution Center Program Coordinator.

“Therefore we encourage employers to consider providing the training to employees as a benefit to both the employee and the employer.”

The Dispute Resolution Center operates under the direction of the Program Coordinator and Panhandle Regional Planning Commission. However, the mediations are often conducted by volunteer mediators.

The training costs are Attorneys - $600 or $400 with pledge of one mediation per month for 12 months. Employee sponsored and individuals $400 or $200 with pledge of one mediation per month for 12 months. All prices include materials and resources.

“We don’t want the cost to be a barrier to anyone attending the training,” Glover said. “If the cost is going to prevent you from attending, please call and we will be happy to discuss options for you.”

Individuals interested in the training can register for the training at: <https://bit.ly/4411xWj>.

Lady Bronco JV shuts out Wheeler; earn district win

The Lady Bronco junior varsity may be slim on players, but they are strong on both ends of the court. The ladies hosted the Wheeler Mustangs last Friday night and won 64-0.

Dominating from the beginning, the Lady Broncos stopped everything the Lady Stangs tried to do. Wheeler struggled to put points on the board over the Lady Bronco defense and committed too many turnovers against the tough Clarendon defense.

Kimbrasia Ballard led the team on the scoreboard with 25 points. Ballard’s speed allowed her several break-away points. The Lady Bronco defense played with quickness and strength that allowed them to convert points from steals.

Ballard’s points included three from the arc, and Cambree Smith followed with 11 points. Jayla Woodard connected with one three-pointer and finished with seven, and Gracie Ellis and Madi Benson helped with six points each. Kinslee Hatley posted one from the three-point line and posted five points, while Megan Weathered ended with four.

The ladies will take on Memphis at home on Friday, January 12, and be at home again on January 16 against Shamrock. Both games will be played at 4:00 p.m.

Bronco JV defeats Nazareth

The Bronco junior varsity went up against a tough Nazareth team at home last Friday night and eked out a win late in the game at 25-24.

Foul trouble put the Broncos in a hole early in the game as the Swifts held a six-point lead going into the second half. But a strong offensive effort put the Broncos back in the game going into the final seven minutes. Michael Randall and John Weatheron were able to pull off two three-pointers that allowed them an offensive surge going in the final minutes.

Their defense was able to make stops when they needed them and capitalized on missed shots and turnovers to get the win.

Randall finished with nine points and Weatheron and Anthony Brown added six each. Shane Hagood and Caleb Herbert helped with two points each in the win.

The Broncos will be open on January 9 but will begin District play on January 12 at home against Memphis at 5:00 p.m. They will have another home game on January 16 against Shamrock.

Here's How It Works:
 Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

NOTICE OF RATE CHANGE REQUEST

Southwestern Electric Power Company (SWEPCO or the Company) publishes this notice that on September 29, 2023, it filed its Statement of Intent and Application for Authority to Amend Transmission Cost Recovery Factor (TCRF) with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission) in Docket No. 55438. The filing was made in accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act (PURA) § 36.209 and 16 Tex. Admin. Code (TAC) § 25.239. The TCRF will recover SWEPCO’s reasonable and necessary costs for transmission infrastructure improvements as well as changes in wholesale transmission charges under a tariff approved by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) to the extent that the costs or charges have not otherwise been recovered. In this application, SWEPCO seeks to recover its transmission capital investments from July 1, 2022 through July 31, 2023. SWEPCO also seeks to recover through the TCRF approved transmission charges that are not otherwise being recovered through current rates. This notice is being published in accordance with PURA § 36.103 and 16 TAC § 22.51(a)(1).

STATEMENT OF INTENT TO CHANGE RATES

SWEPCO requests that the Commission approve an increase of $3,461,491 above the revenue requirement approved by the Commission in SWEPCO’s last TCRF proceeding, Docket No. 54040 for its Texas retail customers. This amounts to a 0.86% percent increase in SWEPCO’s overall annualized Texas retail revenue requirement. SWEPCO proposes that its requested rate change become effective on November 3, 2023, which is 35 days after the filing of the Statement of Intent and Application. The proposed effective date is subject to suspension and extension by actions that may be taken by the Commission.

All customers in SWEPCO’s Texas retail rate classes will be affected by this change. The impact of the rate change on various customer classes will vary from the overall impact described in this notice.

CONTACT INFORMATION

Persons with questions or who want more information on SWEPCO’s Statement of Intent and Application may contact SWEPCO at 428 Travis Street, Shreveport, Louisiana 71101, or call toll-free at (888) 216-3523 during normal business hours. 12-week Generation Next: Our Turn to Ranch online course now registering

The Generation Next: Our Turn to Ranch 12-week online course is open for registration. The program, offered by the Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service, takes place Jan. 29-April 21. The course fee is $300, and online registration is required at <https://tx.ag/GenNext>.

The course includes expert instruction on everything from starting a new agriculture business or enterprise to tax implications and insurance needs to developing grazing or wildlife leases.

“Across Texas, we’re seeing individuals who may or may not have experience in agriculture or natural resource management inheriting or purchasing agricultural lands,” said Megan Clayton, Ph.D., AgriLife Extension range specialist, Uvalde.

“The Generation Next curriculum is specifically designed to empower these landowners with the knowledge and resources needed to start a new agricultural operation, improve an existing one or manage the land to meet their specific stewardship goals.”

The online school enables participants to work toward developing a business plan with support from professionals who specialize in each field and topic, Clayton said. Participants can expect to spend roughly two hours per week at their convenience on the lessons and activities.

Enrollees will learn from experts regarding land management techniques and resources, alternative ranching operations, ecotourism opportunities, insurance and tax considerations, direct marketing and more.

They will also learn how to set goals with measurable objectives for success.

Upon course completion, participants will have a useful business plan for their operation and receive a Generation Next certificate and T-shirt.

While the course curriculum is designed to assist those new to land ownership or agriculture, individuals with existing knowledge also benefit.

“I grew up farming and ranching, but the business and operational details were not discussed,” said Michael Martin, Generation Next alumnus. “I knew that I needed more than just instinct and limited experience to carry on farming and ranching in today’s competitive world.”

Martin is a fourth-generation cattle producer operating his family’s ranch in Central Texas.

“This course helped me understand the why and how to run my operation as a business with ecological and financial goals in mind,” he said.

Martin added that while writing a business plan from scratch is a daunting task, the course breaks the process down into manageable components and helps fill knowledge gaps participants may not be aware of.

For more information, contact Clayton at 830-988-6123 or Megan. Clayton@ag.tamu.edu.

HHSC Encourages Cancer Screenings During Cervical Health Awareness Month

As part of National Cervical Health Awareness Month this January, the Texas Health and Human Services Commission is encouraging women to get screened for cervical cancer.

“Routine cervical cancer screening is the most effective way to detect cervical cancer early,” said Faith Sandberg-Rodriguez, associate commissioner of Family Clinical Services at HHSC. “However, many potentially eligible Texas women may not know about services in their area or experience other barriers to accessing care. HHSC helps low-income women access timely cervical cancer screening and diagnostic services.”

Cervical cancer is the third-leading cancer diagnosis for women ages 20-39 and fifth-leading for women ages 40-49. According to the Texas Cancer Registry, an estimated 1,489 Texas women were diagnosed with cervical cancer. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommend cervical cancer screenings for women ages 21-65.

The HHSC Breast and Cervical Cancer Services (BCCS) program provides low-cost and free women’s health services for uninsured and underinsured Texas women who meet eligibility requirements. Services include cervical and breast cancer screenings, clinical breast examinations, mammograms and breast biopsies.

BCCS helps fund clinics across the state that provide these lifesaving screening and diagnostic services. In fiscal year 2022, BCCS served 30,422 women, including 5,717 women who received cervical cancer screenings.

The BCCS program is partly funded through the CDC. The National Breast and Cervical Cancer Early Detection Program awards funding to states for early detection of cervical and breast cancers. For fiscal year 2024, the federal program awarded BCCS more than $8.3 million. The Texas Legislature appropriated an additional $3.4 million in state funding.

To find BCCS providers or learn more about women’s health services, visit the Healthy Texas Women website or call 2-1-1. For more information on how breast and cervical cancer services are provided to Texas women, view “Breast and Cervical Cancer Services: 2023 Statewide Look.”

National Cervical Health Awareness Month is observed in January in the U.S. Efforts throughout the month raise awareness about cervical cancer and provide education about prevention, screening and treatments. More information about cervical cancer is posted on the CDC website.

Wildlife Conference to be held in Lubbock

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TPWD), the Department of Natural Resources Management at Texas Tech University and the Texas Wildlife Association have rescheduled the Panhandle Wildlife Conference for Feb. 1-2, 2024 at Texas Tech University’s National Ranching Heritage Center in Lubbock.

The conference will be the first of its kind since the 1990s and will explore the diverse landscape and wildlife of the Texas Panhandle, a region rich in both history and natural resources.

“This conference was designed with the Texas Panhandle landowners and land managers in mind,” said Brad Simpson, TPWD Panhandle District Leader. “We wanted to showcase not only what is going on in the Panhandle but also provide land managers the opportunity to see and hear up-to-date information on a variety of topics.”

Topics will include landowners’ perspectives, current management strategies, technical assistance programs available and chronic wasting disease. There will also be sessions with current information on quail, deer, pronghorn, migratory birds, water conservation and rare species.

“We are excited to be able to share some of this information with Panhandle landowners and land managers,” said Simpson. “There is something for everyone.”

There will be biologists from state, federal, non-governmental agencies and universities available to network with landowners and hunters. The event will also include a lunch, chuckwagon dinner and social following the evening panel discussions on Thursday.

To register for the event, visit the official conference website at panhandlewildlife.com. The site includes registration information and an agenda for the conference. For more information contact Brad Simpson, TPWD Panhandle Wildlife District Leader, at brad.simpson@tpwd.texas.gov.

Broncos finish strong against Naz in big win

By Sandy Anderberg

The Broncos are beginning to find a rhythm on the court and were able to get a big win over Nazareth at home on Friday night.

The Broncos had a big start and held Naz away from the scoreboard most of the first half of play and finished with the 38-26 win.

The Broncos worked together and built up a nine-point lead after the first eight minutes before opening up a larger lead going into the break. A good offensive presence by the Broncos frustrated the Nazareth defense at times and they were able to put points on the board. Defensively, the Broncos' solid plan allowed them to cause the Swifts to make turnovers and get off their game. The Broncos were able to capitalize on their opponents' mistakes and put points on the board.

Senior Anthony Cenicerros stepped up and nailed four three-pointers in his team high 14 points, and Leyante Prince was strong as well as two from the arc and three of five from the bonus line to help with nine. Lyric Smith put in five, and Mason Sims and Jaxan McAnear added three each. Reagan Wade and Wes Shaw finished with two points each.

The Broncos will be open January 9 but will take on Memphis at home on Friday, January 12, and will host Shamrock on January 16 at 8:00 p.m.

Lady Broncos win district opener 83-31

By Sandy Anderberg

Defense wins games and offense puts the points on the board. The Lady Broncos executed both in their huge win over Wheeler in their district opener at home last Friday night.

Offensively, the ladies pumped in twelve three-pointers from six different players in their 83-31 win. Defensively, the Lady Broncos played outstanding and Graci Smith took an impressive three charges in the game.

The Lady Stangs played a feisty game but struggled to get past the offensive strength of the Lady Broncos. The inside play of sophomore Kate Shaw and senior Smith stopped Wheeler from shooting inside. Shaw finished with four points and shot 50 percent from the bonus line, while Smith shot 50 percent as well and put eight points on the board.

The outside shooting from senior Courtlyn Conkin, sophomores Presley Smith, Berkley Moore, Kenidee Hayes, and Kashlyn Conkin and junior Tandie Cummins was spot on and opened up the Lady Bronco offense. Free throws added to their strong offense as the ladies posted 77 percent from the line. Clarendon led from the tip-off and never looked back as they scored 20 plus points in each quarter of play and stopped Wheeler in their tracks.

C. Conkin and Moore were high scorers with 14 each and Smith added 13. Hayes put in 11 to round out the four players in double figures. K. Conkin finished with nine, G. Smith had eight, Tandie and Kenadie Cummins had five apiece and Shaw had four.

The Lady Broncos will play at home against Memphis on Friday, January 12, at 6:30 p.m. and take on Shamrock at home on January 16.

Kids: color stuff in!

I should be hibernating, but Mom and Dad let me have one weekend in the snow! I love skiing, snowboarding, ice skating, rolling giant snowballs to make snow bears, and building snow forts and igloos. It's a beautiful winter wonderland out here!
I also want to eat "winter foods": thick, hot, potato or chicken noodle soups, beef stews, casseroles of bubbly, golden macaroni and cheese, chicken pot pies and, for dessert, bread pudding!

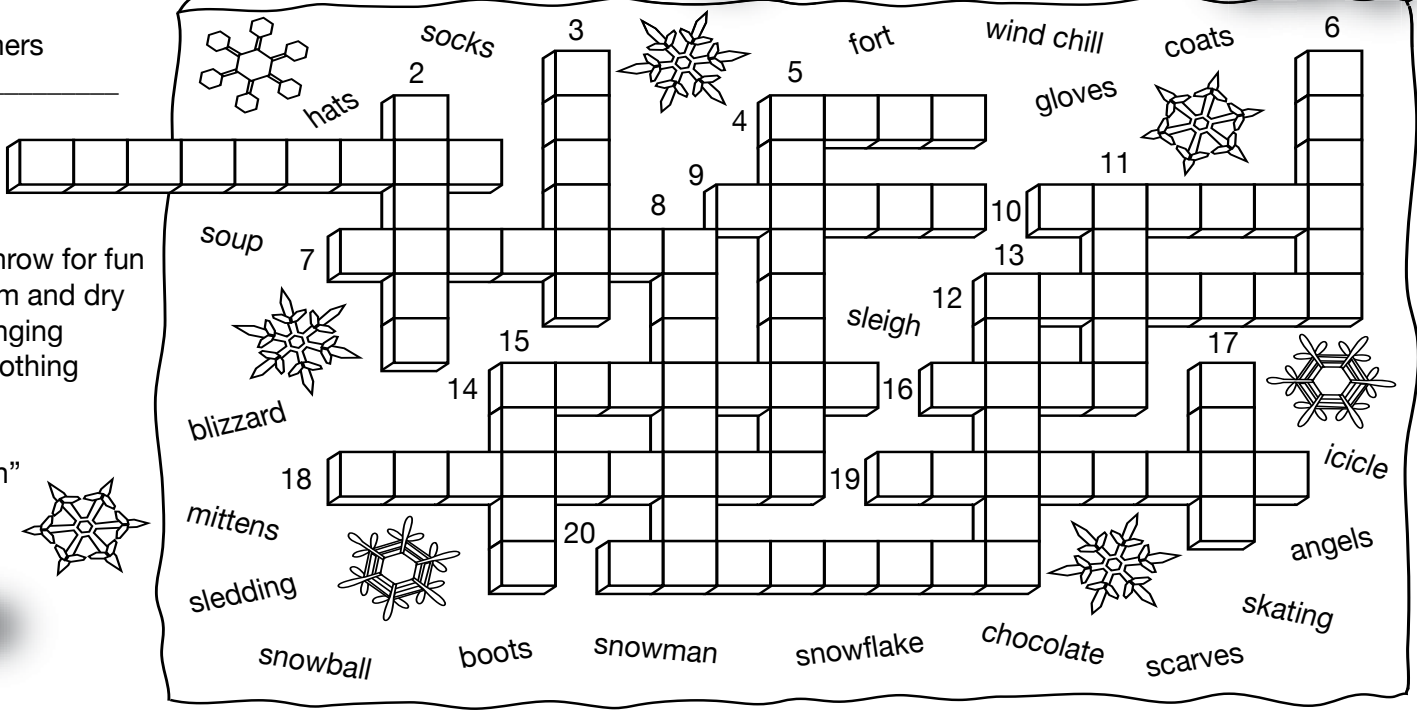

Winter Wonderland!

Can you find the three snowflakes that are the same?

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular Tuesday noon meeting January 9, 2024, with Boss Lion David Dockery wielding the gavel.

We had 10 members present, one member attending virtually, Sweetheart Emma Roys, and two guests this week – Ben and Ella Estlack, guests of Lion Roger Estlack.

The club discussed the upcoming Lions Mid-Winter Convention in Canyon January 19-20. Sweetheart Emma will represent our club during the District Sweetheart Presentation.

Plans were discussed for Lions to help build a ramp for a local resident on January 20. Those wishing to help with that project should contact Lion Machiel Covey.

The 2024 state Lions convention was also discussed. It will be held May 16-18 in Amarillo.

The Sweetheart gave a report on the high school where the UIL Congress team left for Austin today and the Lady Broncos continue to dominate on the basketball court.

Lion Richard Green reported on the 'Wick, Lion Jacob Fangman reported on the city, and Lion Landon Lambert reported on the county.

With no program, we were dismissed to take down our Christmas decorations before going forth to spread Lionism and good cheer throughout our fair county.
