Local man is sentenced by district court

The district court heard three pleas when it met in Clarendon on Monday, April 22.

District Attorney Luke Inman, along with Assistant District Attorney Harley Caudle, prosecuted the cases for the State of Texas, with the Honorable Judge Dale Rabe, Jr., presiding.

Daniel Clay Sawyer, 41, from Clarendon, was placed on probation for four years for the third degree felony offense of assault of a family member by choking.

Sawyer was arrested on December 4, 2023, by Donley County Sheriff's Deputy Bernard Rivera. Sawyer was indicted by the Donley County Grand Jury on January 22.

Sawyer was also ordered to pay a $500 fine, $290 in court costs, and $450 in attorney fees, along with the completion of 200 hours of community service.

If Sawyer's probation is revoked, he faces up to 10 years in prison.

David Lynn Carr, 38, from Childress, was sentenced to two years in prison for the state jail felony offense of driving while intoxicated with a child under fifteen years of age. However, his sentence was probated for three Carr was also ordered to pay a $500 fine, $400 in attorney fees, $340 in court costs, and $60 in restitution. He was also ordered to comply with all mandatory DWI conditions.

Ramiro Duran, 35, from Childress, was placed on probation for four years for the second degree felony offense of failure to register as a sex offender.

Duran was arrested on January 20, 2023, by Childress County Sheriff Matt Bradley. Duran was indicted by the Childress County Grand Jury on March 26.

Duran was also ordered to pay a $500 fine, $340 in court costs, and $500 in attorney fees, along with the completion of 300 hours of community service.

If his probation is revoked, Duran faces up to 20 years in prison.

Lions to host annual Jones 5K Saturday

Runners and walkers will gather in Clarendon this Saturday, April 27 to raise awareness about child abuse during the 12th annual Chance Mark Jones Roar & Run 5K.

More than 70 people have registered for the event, which is hosted by the Clarendon Lions Club and coincides with Child Abuse Prevention Month.

Sign-ins start at 8 a.m. in front of the Donley County Courthouse. The race will begin at 8:30 a.m. Race packets will be available for pick-up all day this Friday, April 26, at the Clarendon Visitor Center from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Proceeds from the race will benefit the charitable community activities of the Clarendon Lions Club. The race honors the life of four-year-old Chance Mark Jones, who died from abuse in 2011.

CASA of the High Plains reports in 2023 there were 17 cases of child abuse or neglect reported in Donley County.

For more information about this weekend's Chance Mark Jones Memorial 5K, contact Lion Ashlee Estlack at 806-662-4687 or Lion Roger Estlack at 874-2259.

Sheriff and prosecutor give raises with grants

The Donley County Sheriff's Department and County Attorney have received state grants that are helping boost salaries and purchase vehicles without putting additional burden on the local taxpayers.

Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar announced last week his office has delivered nearly $126 million in financial assistance to rural law enforcement and prosecutor offices as part of a grant program that is addressing challenges faced by these groups in counties with small populations. The Donley County Sheriff's Department received $250,000, and the county attorney's office received $100,000.

Sheriff Butch Blackburn said local deputies and jailers/dispatchers saw the new money starting with their March 15 paychecks. County Treasurer Wanda Smith said dispatchers' salaries went up almost $13,000 a year and deputies' salaries went up $4,650 thanks to the grant.

"The dispatchers got to see a sizable increase, and they earned it," Blackburn said "They should have been getting it all along. I appreciate the grant and appreciate the commissioners letting me use it this way."

Blackburn said the grant will also allow his office to put about $100,000 per year toward vehicles.

"We won't have our vehicle expenses on the I&S (interest and sinking) tax rate anymore," the sheriff said.

County Attorney Landon Lambert said due to the terms and requirements of the grant, his office likely won't be able to use the full $100,000, but he was able to create a full-time position for his assistant.

"We're going to make that position a Victim Assistance Coordinator," Lambert said. "We've never been able to offer that service in our office; we've always had to rely on an interlocal agreement with the district attorney's office."

Smith said the grant will give Lambert's assistant a bump of $21,250 for this fiscal year, moving from a part-time position to a fulltime Victim Assistance Coordinator.

"That position was $17,785, but will be $42,500 in the new budget year," Smith said.

The grants will have to be renewed to keep the salaries at the new levels, but Blackburn said he thinks the state will keep providing the money.

Enacted by Senate Bill 22 during the 88th Texas Legislature, Regular Session, the program provides for qualified counties and prosecutor offices to apply for grants up to 30 days after the start of their fiscal year. But to jump-start the program in its 2024 inaugural year, the Comptroller's office allowed all eligible counties to apply for grants from Jan. 1-31, regardless of their fiscal year start date.

The Legislature appropriated $330 million for the 2024-25 biennium to fund the program. The first year saw 502 grant applications.

Eclipses that Changed the Trajectory of US History

On April 8 our nation finally unified around a cause important to us all: posting pictures of the solar eclipse on social media.

This was a huge event as people planned a year ahead to get hotels that were in the path of totality. Even if you were not able to travel, schools across the nation passed out special glasses and communities celebrated this celestial phenomenon that will not be repeated for another 20 years. While this eclipse was fun to watch, historically speaking there are at least two eclipses that changed the course of history as we know it today.

The first example deals with Christopher Columbus. While Columbus is controversial for many of his actions, he was also brilliant. It was he who convinced the Spanish that he could sail west and reach Asia. Most of Europe believed such a trip by dr. james fink was impossible – not because the world was flat, only people today believe that – but because Earth was too large to sail around. At that historically

time, any voyage of such magnitude would run out of supplies and the crew would die. Columbus disagreed with the circumference of the globe, wrongly believing the Earth was much smaller. Had it not been for the New World, he and his crew would have died painfully. Instead, Columbus did find the New World and began exploiting it. On Columbus' first voyage he landed on San Salvador in the Caribbean where he set up a colony for Spain as he searched for riches. After a year he left a few men behind and took back some gold and natives he thought would make good slaves. The Crown was impressed and later that year sent Columbus back. When he returned to San Salvador, he found his men dead and decided to retaliate against the natives by killing many of them. It was about this time that natives as well as his own men began to find Columbus' actions repugnant as he was making himself into a small dictator. He did not stay around long. After conquering and colonizing Hispaniola, Columbus left his brother in charge and returned to Spain again with more wealth.

Columbus returned a third time but found his brother had been overthrown because of his cruelty. Columbus tried to reclaim power but was arrested, chained and sent back to Spain being told he would be killed if he ever returned. Yet threats did not deter him. He received permission to return one more time in an attempt to find a passage to the Pacific Ocean but was told not to return to Hispaniola.

On his fourth journey, he eventually shipwrecked in Jamaica. Columbus sent some of his crew back to Hispaniola asking to be rescued. Not wanting to help, it took a year for Columbus to be rescued.

While in Jamaica, his knowledge of the stars served him well. Columbus had survived by being fed by the natives, but after some of his men went on a rampage against the locals killing many, the natives decided Columbus should die. However, like all good sailors of his time, Columbus carried an almanac written by Johannes Müller which predicted an upcoming lunar eclipse.

He told the natives that God was upset with them and would show his wrath by blocking the Moon. When the eclipse happened as predicted, the natives feared Columbus' god and continued to supply his needs until he was finally rescued.

A second grim example from American history deals with an eclipse in 1831 in Southampton, Virginia. A slave and self-proclaimed prophet and preacher named Nat Turner believed the Holy Spirit told him, "The time was fast approaching when the first should be last and the last should be first." He was told there would be a sign given that would signal Turner to throw off his oppressors and begin a slave

Over the next couple of years Turner plotted with a few trusted conspirators on how best to follow through with their plan. The idea was to start small, with just a few men so as not to arouse suspicion. They would kill their owners with their own weapons then start to move on killing more while gathering more slaves along the way until they grew an army.

The revolt was scheduled for July 4, 1831, but at the last moment Turner backed out, fearful of its success. However, on Aug. 13, 1831, a solar eclipse occurred convincing Turner that it was a sign from God to commence His work. On the night of Aug. 21, 1831, Turner killed his owner's family and with the few recruits he had would go on to kill 55 white men, women and children.

Turner's plan failed as most slaves refused to join and some even protected their masters. Eventually the white population raised the alarm, gathered a militia and tracked down the small slave army.

Over the next week more than 30 Blacks were killed over suspicions of their violent intent. Eventually the government cracked down on the indiscriminate killings and began to hold trials. About 30 slaves and some free Blacks were convicted and sentenced to death; about a fourth of those were eventually pardoned by the governor.

Turners' Rebellion was the largest in American history and an important part of our story. It scared whites so badly that Virginia debated outlawing slavery. It confused slaveowners who believed their slaves were happy if treated with kindness. Yet Turner said he had kind owners but killed them anyway because he did not want to be a slave. It both cases, if not for the eclipse, then a major part of history would never have occurred. Columbus would have probably died on his last voyage and Turner may have never started his rebellion.

Talking left-handers and Aggies

The Good Book's Chapter 6 of Matthew provides challenging specifics on living the good life, but verse three seems most daunting. It concerns the importance of maintaining a chasm between the works of the left and right hands, perhaps as far as the east is from

In essence, God knows, and that's what counts. As my old mother would often say, "Don't go around 'showing

Maybe I was drawn to that verse early on, what with my being lefthanded. From time to time, I still gaze at a now frayed certificate I received at graduation in 1956 at Early High School. It decreed – by vote of my 25 fellow students – that I was "most likely to remain left-handed." Needless to say, all graduates were voted most likely to be something....

Anyways, in this space the other day, I wrote of the current paucity of Aggie jokes. Most of us lament this omission, and – down deep – I think most Aggies do.

One of 'em – a respected veterinarian who has practiced since 1965 and is still at it part time – called me with a new take on an old joke I've repeated hundreds of times over the past half

"CONSIDERING ITS A DONALD TRUMP TRIAL, A 3-RING COURT ROOM SEEMED APPROPRIATE."

Reader: Vote 'yes' on school bonds

Last night's Howardwick Town hall meeting focused on two subjects, the County Assistance District Election and the CISD Bond Election. Upon leaving the Town Hall I overheard a gentleman state, regarding the Bond Issue, that repairs could certainly be made to the Bronco Stadium facility for a lot less that six million dollars. He's absolutely right. Low budget repairs, band aids, and duct tape would be cheaper.

But why not do it right? Why not give our students updated, functional, and safe facilities and vehicles which would give them a sense of pride in having. Why not create the kind of school resource that people from other towns admire and that young couples with children might consider good motivation for moving to Clarendon? Isn't it true that better facilities produce better programs and attract better personnel and add population?

On a personal note, I look at Bushland, Texas. Twenty-four years ago it had a population of 130 people. Today the Bushland Independent School System has an enrollment of over 1500 students. Several of my family moved there for the school system.

I encourage my Howardwick and Clarendon friends to vote YES and help CISD join Clarendon College in becoming an "Athens" of the Panhandle.

A memorial service was held at First Baptist Church, Clarendon on Friday, April 19. A private burial service followed at Clarendon Citizen's Cemetery.

Beth attended 13 different schools in 12 years of public school. Despite that, she graduated top of her class from Snyder, Oklahoma in 1956. Lester had moved the family there to pastor the small rural church at Pleasant Valley. This move brought Jefferson Lonzo Walker, Jr. into Beth's orbit, and they began a long-distance dating relationship. After high school, Beth attended Jacksonville Baptist College as well as Southeastern Oklahoma State University, Southwestern Oklahoma State University, Texas Tech University, and West Texas State University. On April 25, 1959, Jeff and Beth were married in Jacksonville, Texas. The couple moved to Clarendon in 1964 where they remained until 2020. They had three children, Sherilyn Jan Walker Robinson, Kristen Leigh Walker Musser, and Douglas Jeff Walker. Later, Dee Ann Cook Wilson became a part of Jeff and Beth's family.

Beth spent most of her career in the legal field. She worked for Lowe, Courtney, and Shelton, Attorneys at Law for years as a legal secretary and subsequently, as a legal assistant. In her later career, she became deeply involved in the Texas Association of Legal Secretaries and then the National Association of Legal Secretaries serving in various positions and offices. In 1976, she was awarded Texas Legal Secretary of the Year. Beth was frequently sought out as a speaker across the nation and loved the opportunity to train the younger generation of legal profes-

Thomas Clark Carson was born June 4, 1956, in Borger, the only son of Bill and Juanell Carson and the only brother of his older sister Susan.

Even though a cradle-roll Methodist from the beginning, there is no doubt that the Lord quickly saw the need to break the mold on this one; Tom is truly an original and there is not another like him on earth or now, in heaven.

Tom grew up in two places: Borger during the week and Hedley, at the farm, on weekends. He graduated from Borger High School in 1974. Tried college for a year and then entered the working world as a skilled cabinet and flooring proas many will testify, one the best in Borger and the Texas Panhandle.

But it was in his avocations, the things he loved most, where he really excelled. When he was younger he was really good at golf, but ALL his life he was a superb hunter and woodsman.

His dad said, even as a kid, he was the fastest shot on a covey break he ever saw, bringing down more birds than anybody in the hunting party with his single-shot 20 gauge. Later, it was turkey and deer. He was the BUCK MASTER for sure as all my kids learned to call him at an

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Pantex, Y-12 earn eight Defense Programs awards

The National Nuclear Security Administration (NNSA) recognized eight teams at the Pantex Plant and the Y12 National Security Complex with Defense Programs Awards of Excellence.

The winning teams contributed to national security by meeting or exceeding the mission criteria established for the sites.

More than 200 Consolidated Nuclear Security (CNS) employees were honored for their work on the team projects.

The Defense Programs Awards of Excellence were established in 1982 to recognize significant indisupport of the NNSA nuclear weapons program. An executive review panel meets annually to select the winners.

At a ceremony to recognize the winners in Amarillo, Pantex Field Office manager, praised the Site Manager Colby Yeary said, "Because of the mission that we have been assigned to fulfill at Pantex, to making things work, and you're excellence is not an expectation, committed to doing it in an excellent but a requirement. The recipients of these Defense Programs Awards are a prime example of meeting that here is the value of continuous requirement."

At a similar ceremony, Y-12 Site Manager Gene Sievers said, "Representatives from Defense Programs select Awards of Excellence nation," Robbins added. winners from a large number of applications from across the Nuclear John Evans, NNSA Principal Assis-Security Enterprise. These folks know the positive impacts of your work, and the awards you're receiving today are a clear recognition that you are making a difference for our nation."

CNS President and CEO Rich that took place in 2022. Tighe said, "If we ever needed a reminder that the nuclear deterrent projects included standing up a new is the foundation of our nation's defense, it was reiterated in October with the report of the Strategic Posture Commission showing just how

Specific information about the projects follows:

Pantex was able to stand up scaled production of a new explosive material for the first time since 2006 with the help of the High Explosives Pilot-Scale Manufacturing team. The group helped support milestones with manufacturing readiness of explosive material reproduction inhouse at Pantex, producing quality products that are vital to the mission in a timely manner.

The Weapon Material Program team implemented new tools and process improvement to face material demands. The site and operations have already greatly benefited from the team's efforts.

The Organizational Develwork and sacrifices, have continued opment and Training Support of Training/Onboarding Enhanced The awards recognized work team created a more effective and efficient training plan for production technicians. By enriching lesson plans and reducing training times, the team's efforts resulted in production technicians being able to start work on mission deliverables more quickly.

DEADLINES

News & Photos Monday @ noon Ads & Classifieds Monday @ 5 p.m.

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular Tuesday noon meeting April 23, 2024, with Boss Lion David Dockery in charge.

We had 12 members present, one attending virtually, Sweetheart Emma Roys, and three guests this week - Ben Estlack, Ella Estlack, and Karly Keen, guests of Lion Roger Estlack.

Lion Jacob Fangman reported on the city, and Lion Landon Lambert reported on the county. Sweetheart Emma said regional UIL is coming up, and Lion Richard Green said the annual Howardwick citywide garage sale is next month. The Boss Lion discussed purchasing more trees to continue replace the trees that died and were removed in front of the Lions Hall.

Plans were discussed for Saturday's Chance Mark Jones Roar & Run 5K. Runner/walker packets will be available for pick-up Friday at the Visitor Center. Lions then assembled pinwheels and signs to raise awareness for Child Abuse Awareness Month. Those were then placed along Fourth Street in front of the Lions Hall.

Volunteer Families needed to host foreign students

American Cultural Exchange Services, a non-profit educational exchange organization designated by the U.S. Department of State to administer the high school exchange program is seeking people to volunteer as a host family for a high school student from Korea, Japan, China, South America, Europe and Thailand for the August 2024 - 2025 school term or semester. Our Students do not arrive until August 2024. What a great experience for American Families to learn languages, cultures, customs and make international friendships!! Your Student does not require his/ her own room, will help chores, attends local area high schools, church, has own spending monies for all of their personal needs, complete medical insurance and speaks good English. All families, single families and single adults are welcome to host!! For more information on this and other programs call your local dependable Area Coordinator, Kevin Foster immediately at 1-806-335-5857 or call the ACES national office at 1-800-661-2237 or visit us at our website at www.ExploreTheWorld.org.
