...we try to break the words into parts.

Magically Unlocking Meanings

Have you ever seen a magic trick performed?
Did you figure out how it was done? One key to performing a trick smoothly is to break it into parts, think about each part, and then put the parts back together into one, complete trick.
It's the same with understanding words.
Whenever I read a book with hard words, I look at the parts of those words to see if I understand them. Then - Presto! - I "magically" can reveal the meanings of those pretty tricky words!

If looking at parts of words can help me unlock their meanings, it can help you too.
It's almost like magic!

Use my tips to fill in the crossword:

- What word would make good sense in this sentence?
- Look at pictures for clues.
- Small groups of letters that are added to the beginning of a root word are called prefixes.
For example: "un" = not Un + happy = unhappy so unhappy means that someone is not happy.
- You can check for small groups of letters added to the end of a root word too. These are called suffixes, and they can also help unlock new words.

That cat
is so unhappy.

- sad (un = not)
- get ready (pre = before)
- in a disguise (under = beneath)
- the inner part (in = in, into)
- your signature (auto = self)
- not made up (non = not)
- underwater boat (sub = under)
- single horned horse (uni = one)

- tool to see tiny things (micro = small)
- accident (mis = wrongly)
- great strength (super = above)
- to like very much (en = cause to)
- warm once more (re = again)
- sprouting out of control (over = too much)

What do you mean that I'm too big?
